

St. Johns teachers first to sign contract

By RON KARLE
Editor

With less than two weeks remaining before the opening of classes, St. Johns teachers ratified a contract calling for a closed shop and salary increases aimed at encouraging teachers to seek advanced degrees.

It was the first teachers' contract to be signed in Clinton County.

The St. Johns Education Association adopted the pact Thursday night in an unanimous vote, says Charles Agerstrand, association president. Earlier, the Board of Education had given tentative approval pending ratification by the teachers' union.

One feature of the contract is an 11-step scale of salary advancements in three classifications compared to a 10-step scale under the old pact.

Thus, a teacher with a bachelor's degree starts at $7,000 annually, may advance to a salary of $10,500 over an 11-year period.

Under terms of the old 10-step contract, the range spanned $6,500 to $9,400.

"We went one step beyond," says Supt. Earl Lancaster, "because before when you got to the 11th year, you stopped but the economy hadn't stopped."

The 11-step wage schedule also includes two other classifications —teachers with a bachelor's degree plus 20 additional semester hours, and those with a master's degree.

The range for those with a degree plus 20 hours is from $7,280 to $11,130 compared to $6,780-$9,945.

For teachers with a masters, salaries begin at $7,560 and increase to $11,900 over the 11-year period. Under terms of the old contract the range was from $7,020 to $10,400.

Although the wage schedule shows a marked increase for teachers with master's degrees, Lancaster says this presently concerns only about seven persons on the staff.

"We're trying to get more people to go on for education and stay here," he says.

Non-degree teachers in the system receive a flat $500 increase. This involves about 14 people says Lancaster.

One major provision of the new pact is the agency or closed shop clause which requires all teachers to join the association—affiliated with the Michigan Education Association—or pay equivalent dues.

Although Lancaster is "opposed to the principle" of a closed shop, he admits he understands why the association would press for the clause.

Association President Agerstrand terms it a "financial responsibility clause." He reasons that "Our association is the only bargaining agent for all the teachers and we incur an expense which must be paid by members."

"We are legally responsible for all teachers whether they join or not," says Agerstrand. "All we ask of them is to pay their fair share of expenses."

Agerstrand, recently elected to his post, says local dues run about $25 annually but that teachers may pay as much as $100 when dues to the state and national associations are added in.

Another major provision of the one-year agreement is what Lancaster terms a "clarified evaluation process."

This clause, says Lancaster, establishes a basis for evaluating teachers with the school administration and the association working together.

It is hoped this clause will provide a satisfactory method of examination involving both sides in cases concerning the dismissal of a teacher.

6 other districts negotiating under pressure

By RON KARLE
Editor

Only one of six school districts in Clinton County had concluded teacher contract negotiations with a signed contract early this week. That contract was signed last week in St. Johns.

Signs for agreement were hopeful by mid-week in DeWitt where teachers have given tentative approval to a one-year pact. Supt. James Ritchie said Monday that he would recommend acceptance at a meeting of the School Board set for Tuesday night. He appeared confident that the board would approve.

The major change in the new DeWitt contract concerns wages, he said.

Under a 10-step plan, teachers with a bachelor's degree would receive salaries ranging from $6,900 to $10,000. This compares with a range of $6,500 to $9,600 under the old agreement.

The range for teachers with master's degrees spans $7,300 to $10,500 compared to $6,900-$10,100 last year.

The remaining four districts—not including Fulton which is in Gratiot County—all remained unsettled early this week with school openings a week off.

The most serious problem appeared to be in the Fowler School District where Walter Steward, association president said, "We have yet to even engage in any meaningful negotiations on major issues."

Steward saw as major issues an agency shop clause, salaries and a binding arbitration agreement for settlement of grievance procedures.

No bargaining has taken place since Aug. 12, said Steward and nothing was scheduled until Thursday.

"We have repeatedly requested in writing more negotiating sessions, especially with the start of school so near," said Steward. "Our requests for additional sessions were denied because the superintendent is out of town."

"Fowler schools suffered a teacher loss rate of over 50 percent," he added. "This is more than four times the national average. The loss of this many experienced teachers is an indication that a change in conditions is warranted."

George Brown, spokesman for the parent teachers' group, the Michigan Education Association, termed the situation in Fowler as "very difficult" and "making little progress."

It's also "slow going" in the Pewamo-Westphalia District, said Brown.

He offered encouragement in the Bath District negotiations where he said both sides are "very close to settlement."

Brown said in the Ovid-Elsie District, both sides are in recess by mutual agreement until next Wednesday. Plans call for resumption of negotiations after school opens.

"Apparently, there are no problems," he said.

No settlement had been reached in the Fulton School District in Gratiot County, early this week, said Brown. Included in this district is the Maple Rapids school system located in the northern part of Clinton County.

Progress has been "very slow" in the Fulton District, said Brown and mediation has been requested.

When asked what the major obstacle was in Fulton, Brown said "pretty much the whole contract."

EDWARD ROBINSON

Fired police chief seeks public hearing

Former Ovid police chief Edward Robinson, recently fired by the village council, says he will appear at a regular meeting Monday to seek a public explanation of charges which led to his dismissal.

Robinson was fired at a special council meeting Aug. 6 without a public hearing of the charges against him.

George Grag, village president says only, "Robinson didn't cooperate with councilmen." He says that Robinson will not receive a public hearing.

Robinson says he has been accused of "spotting houses" in connection with the delivery of a death message one night. He says he used a spotlight to attract attention because the house was dark, a large dog was in the yard and a sign cautioned "be aware of the dog."

After determining the home was vacant Robinson says he delivered the message to a neighbor's home. Records show such a message was delivered for the address.

He says another charge concerns the use of the patrol car outside of the village. Robinson, a bachelor, says he used the auto for a trip to a restaurant in St. Johns so he could keep in radio contact with his base in Ovid.

County wins honors in soil conservation

Members of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District received outstanding recognition last weekend during a two-day gathering of districts throughout Michigan. Along with awards presented the local group went a plaque to Clinton County News for the annual soil conservation report which appeared as a supplement to the paper January 29, 1969.

The award presented Clinton County News represented the second consecutive time the paper has received the honor. All but one county in Michigan supports a soil conservation district.

The two-day session held at Lake Superior State College at Sault Ste. Marie was attended by Mr and Mrs Clarence Manning, Mr and Mrs Stanley Baird, Robert Moore and Mr and Mrs Lloyd Campbell.

In addition to being named the outstanding district in the state and receiving the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. annual Soil Conservation Award, the local district received a plaque for newsletter publication. This award was accepted by Stanley Baird.

Along with the Goodyear recognition went the announcement that Ray Warner and Clarence Manning were selected to participate in a four-day visit to Goodyear Farms at Phoenix, Ariz.

Warner was named the outstanding farmer-cooperator in the state and Manning will accompany him to Phoenix as a representative of the Eagle district board of governors. The trip will be made in December.

All of the local members attending the meeting shared in acceptance of the outstanding state award and Baird pursued a note of friendly bantering. Before the top award was announced, the Kalamazoo Soil District delegation commented favorably on their top standing in state judging but in accepting the Goodyear award Baird replied, "Kalamazoo may think they're best in the state, but Goodyear knows how to pick them!"

The newspaper award, sponsored by Cheney Limestone Co. was accepted on behalf of Clinton County News by Publisher Rollin Huard Jr. He was accompanied to the dinner by his wife, Jeanette.

Holiday deadline

The post Labor Day issue of Clinton County News will appear as usual on Wednesday, however, because of the holiday some changes are necessary to meet production schedules.

Classified ads for the Wednesday September 3 issue should be in the News office by 5 p.m. Friday August 29.

Voters reject 5.83 mills for Fulton schools

Residents of the Fulton School District Monday rejected 5.83 mills for a proposed new middle school.

Unofficial returns showed 223 in favor while 366 were opposed, and six ballots spoiled.

In addition to the new middle school, the millage would have financed an addition to the Maple Rapids Elementary School.

Had the voters approved it was hoped the new school would have been ready for students by the fall of 1971.

Over crowded conditions was the major reason why officials sought the additional millage. Under present conditions, officials say the district is heading for half-day sessions.

Officials say the district can expect an increase of 220 students by 1972.

They say that six portable classrooms are in use and two other classrooms are considered fire hazards.

A new facility would have eliminated the need for the six mobile units. Officials said before the election the renovation estimates are prohibitive.

New facilities would have relieved crowded conditions at the high school by allowing eighth grade students to attend the proposed middle school.

The 5.83 mills would have covered the cost of equipment, construction, site improvements and all fees.

Millage costs to a taxpayer owning a home valued at $5,000 would have been $29.15 annually.

Flag may offer police protection

Shoot if you must this old gray head, but spare my country's flag, she said.

—From the poem Barbara Frietchie

The plea from the old Civil War poem demonstrated man's respect for the flag—even the enemy's.

Not a hair was harmed on that old gray head and her country's flag was indeed spared.

This interesting bit of human behavior has not gone unnoticed as a possible asset in modern police methods.

So last week, policemen in Bath Township had flag patches sewn on their uniforms above their badges.

The idea was born in Macon, Ga., where it is believed to have had a significant influence in the reduction of assaults on police officers.

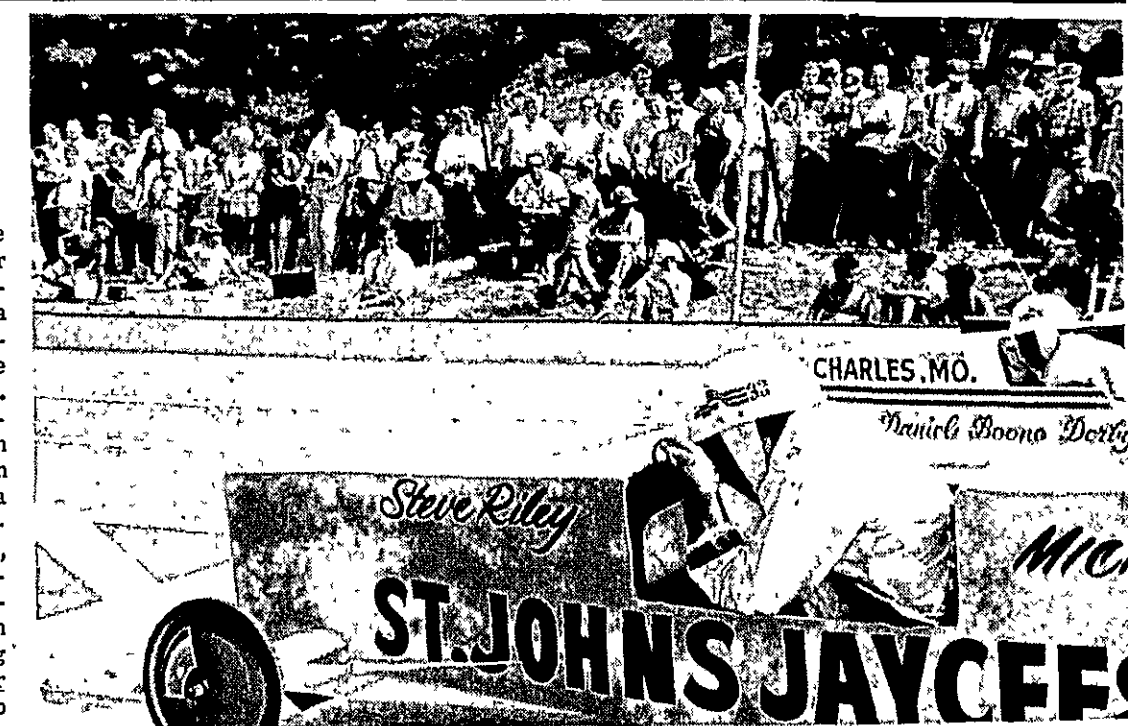

Comments newsmen Pat Harvey, "I guess we can't prove a connection but since Macon, Ga., policemen began wearing American flag patches like our astronauts do, there has been a sharp decrease in assaults on Macon policemen."

Macon Mayor Ronnie Thompson says 29 assaults on policemen were reported for the six months before the department issued the patches to men on the force.

No assaults were reported for the following six months.

"It seems if a guy is about to hit a policeman and see the American flag, something stops him," says Duane Smith, Bath Township Supervisor. They haven't quite figured it out yet, but most men have a deep inner respect for the flag and I feel this is the basis for it."

No millage vote before February

According to information presented to the city commission Monday night St. Johns residents won't be faced with other financial decision much before February 1970.

City Clerk Tom Hundley advised the commissioners that following a meeting last week with bonding attorneys there is little chance of presenting a ballot to the voters for a capital improvements millage assessment before next February.

"Hmmm" was the almost unanimous comment from commissioners at the end of Hundley's report and after a few low pitched questions the meeting moved on to another item on the agenda.

Hundley indicated to the commission that much of the delay would be brought about because of administrative processing through the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission which he explained would consume approximately 90 days.

Much more time would be involved in preparing the issue for a public vote.

The commission considered

Water bills are mailed

City Clerk Tom Hundley Monday night advised members of the city commission that statements for water usage would begin to be mailed out this week.

Dr James Grost queried the clerk as to the processes involved in preparing the statements and he was assured that effective with this billing, all statements would reflect results of accurate readings.

"In other words," Dr Grost pursued, "some of the bills will represent higher amounts and others will be smaller?"

Hundley indicated that would be the case because of previous estimates made when water bills came due. He explained that the estimates will cause some bills to be out of line but in the future all statements will be sent only after actual readings of meters.

Freshmen-to-be view College hopes Sewer plan has support

By CLAUDIA McLOUGHLIN

"It's more serious" "I worry about what kind of a roommate I'll have."

"A college education is so important today."

These are the thoughts reeling through thousands of young minds as the challenge of being a college freshman approaches with the first days of September.

Four Clinton County youths were interviewed last week for expectations of their upcoming college days.

Carol Morriss, Rodney B. Wilson Graduate, will enter Lake Erie College in Painesville, Ohio, this fall. She had an older sister who attended the all girls school. "I visited her a couple of times and really liked it," Carol said.

"The campus is lovely and I think Ohio is one of the most beautiful states I have ever visited. The campus is small and I think I'll get a good education," she added.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morriss of St. Johns.

"I applied to Michigan State, but I wanted to go to a smaller school," said Shari Liszewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Liszewski, who will be attending Aquinas College in Grand Rapids this fall. She also graduated from Rodney B. Wilson.

"I went over catalogues of eight or 10 colleges before I decided on Aquinas," Shari said, "Art is what I am most interested in and Aquinas has a great curriculum. My brother is a student there and I have visited the campus for a weekend and I think it's beautiful."

Randy Johnson, Ovid-Elsie High School graduate, says "Because I am interested in drafting, I chose Ferris State College. I have been to orientation and couldn't get the classes I really wanted. But if things don't work out better, I'll probably transfer. I have changed my mind about what I want to do since I was accepted at Ferris and I'll probably change my mind again before classes start."

Dianne Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fox and a graduate of Fowler High School will become a full time student at Central Michigan University. "I'm not sure yet what I will major in, but I had visited Central several times and I like it so well. It is just the right size. I had applied to State, but my folks discussed it with me and we decided that Central would be better because it is smaller. I was afraid of becoming just a number at a larger school," said Dianne.

All four look to college as being more of a challenge than high school.

Shari said, "I'm scared about the possibility of flunking out. I can't, I'd get killed. Nobody flunks out of high school. It can happen in college, and does all the time."

"It is just more serious in college. People have to be well educated to get ahead and college increases your awareness much further than just studying from books," Carol added.

"I don't think anybody really studies too very hard in high school. It's kind of like you get it or you don't. Most everybody does get it, but college will be more demanding, that's for sure," said Randy.

Dianne feels that "maybe there won't be so much more studying, just a different kind."

All the students agree that they wanted a small school even though all live fairly close to Michigan State University, one of the largest schools in the nation. Erie has about 750 students, Central's enrollment is about 10,000, At Aquinas about 1,300 students and Ferris students number about 7,000.

"In high school we had big classes once in a while for a movie or something. If the teacher tried to get a discussion going, it was impossible," said Shari. "I wanted a small school to get some attention in my classes. If I was one of 150 in a class, I'd probably never get help."

Dianne's graduating class was only 54, but her catechism classes at church experimented with large classes.

"We tried for a period of time having classes of 50 or 60 kids and we didn't get anywhere" she said. "Then later, we split into groups of 10 or 15 and had stimulating discussions. I guess I chose a small college so I wouldn't get lost in the classes. I feel smaller classes are so much better. I'm afraid the larger schools would have so many large classes."

More than the classwork, the students look forward to more independence. Being away from home full time is a new experience for most.

"Responsibility is the key word," said Carol. "I won't have my parents to depend on. I'll have to see that I don't get carried away with my social life and that all my studying gets done."

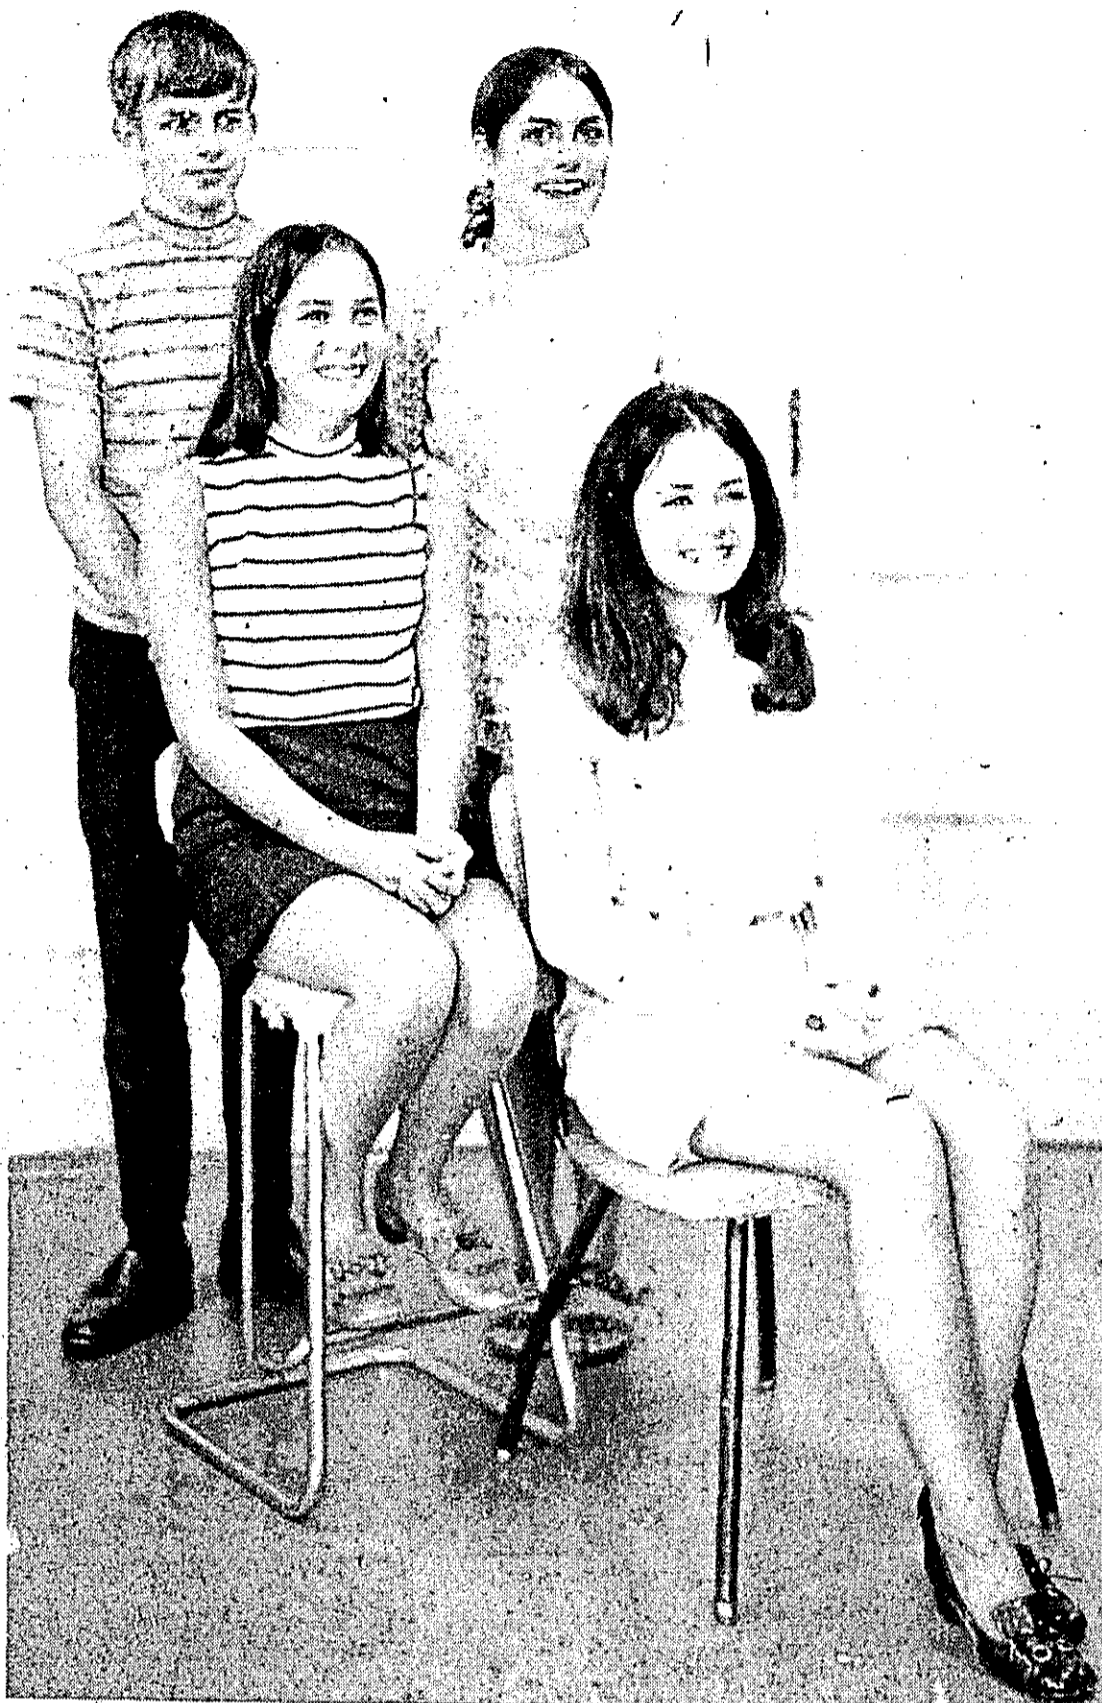

Randy realizes the responsibilities of domestic problems, "I kid my mom that I will ship all my dirty clothes home every week. I don't do a lot of things like that now, but I know I'll learn how. I'll just throw all my clothes together in a machine at school and probably get the colors all mixed up."

"I don't know about anybody else, but I've thought about the use of drugs by college students," said Shari.

In general the students thought that they would be confronted by the problem.

"Others can try it and I probably wouldn't condemn them for it, but I just don't think I'd ever try anything like that," says Carol.

Randy added, "College is for all kinds of things. Getting to know about people is part of that. Drinking, smoking, drugs, it's all part of people we have to learn about."

Looking forward to September are Randy Johnson, bound for Ferris; Carol Morriss, bound for Lake Erie College; Dianne Fox, bound for C. M. U.; and Shari Liszewski, bound for Aquinas.

The St. Johns city commission Monday night lumbered through a routine agenda highlighted only by a number of new business items—that kept business going for an hour and fifteen minutes.

Heading the list of topics was a vocal indication of support for the Railroad Street sewer project by school board member Bill Richards. Richards, appearing before the commission in an unofficial capacity, commented unfavorably on recent newspaper coverage of school board discussions which suggested members of that body were unfavorable toward a cost sharing plan on the improvement of sewer facilities along Railroad Street.

"Despite what has been said in the paper," Richards commented, "we'll support the program."

The program referred to by Richards involved a schedule of leasing the athletic field from the city at a cost of $1,250 per year or $31,150 over the next 20 years. A pre-payment on the lease of $25,000 would be made to aid the financially pressed city which is currently adhering to an austerity budget. Funds would allow the city to proceed with service facilities which would accommodate the new high school.

Commissioners accepted

Richards' comments and indicated interest in closing arrangements on the present proposal.

In other business the commission approved payment of improvements for the Lincolnshire sewer system to the tune of $5,849, which represented approximately $3,000 less than the anticipated costs.

They also accepted resignation of St. Clair Pardee from the Planning and Zoning Commission and approved a recommendation by Consumers Power Co. for street lighting along North Oakland Street.

The bells are ringing-school bells, that is. The long summer vacation lies behind and once again it's the time of year when all of us who drive should start taking a little extra care when driving near a school zone.

For the average Mom, getting ready for school days is a hectic period. It means getting slacks and skirts, sweaters and blouses, jackets and coats all ready for wearing. We can take a lot of strain out of these preparations. Just send us that junior wardrobe now and we'll have it back to you, clean and fresh and smart looking in time for school day wear.

As every parent knows, children aren't exactly easy on clothes. Scuffles and squabbles, games and accidents take their toll. Spilled ink and paints and many other hazards put spots before your eyes. Lost buttons and little tears in the fabric and grass stains from an impromptu football game—all these are part of the normal pattern.

Well, that's where we come in. Repairing and cleaning, restoring crispness and freshness to school-age wardrobes is part of our business.

It's first class from pool to library

By CLAUDIA McLOUGHLIN

A round library, a new parking lot and an olympic sized pool—just three features of the new St. Johns High School.

The library, which is the center of one of the academic units of the school, is round and has a domed shaped ceiling. Additional lighting is provided by the windows between the book shelves and the dome.

A bright green carpet aids in absorbing sound to provide students with a quiet working area. The library will accommodate 140 students which is 10 per cent of the potential capacity of the building.

According to the North Central accreditation standard, a library should be at least that size. Earl Lancaster, superintendent, says that the library in the Rodney B. Wilson school had a capacity for 75 students. The accreditation standard is to insure the best possible facilities for the students.

be part of the physical education department. He says little about a competition team as of yet. "Maybe in a year. It depends entirely upon the demand. If the students want it and we can get the necessary materials for a team we will have one, provided there will be teams for competition in the area."

Students will have access to two large locker rooms from the pool side. Both rooms include spacious shower rooms and much locker and basket space.

Nearly 500 cars will find a space in the parking lot of the new school. The circle drive at the front of the school leads to the lot and a side entrance is also available.

The lot is at the west side of the building complex. It will be black topped with bituminous and should be completed this week.

It will feature over-head lighting and will be more than a parking lot. According to Lancaster, a portion of the parking lot will be marked off with yard lines to allow the band to practice for football halftime shows.

An area of the lot will also be used for beginning driver's training course. Various markings will be put on the lot for students to practice parking and other maneuvers.

Fired officer seeks hearing

months ago, Robinson has reopened an office for police operations which had not been used for years. Apparently his predecessor worked out of his home.

He spent daytime hours at the office and also handled evening patrols as part of the job which he says required that he be "on call 24 hours a day."

His salary was $8,150 annually.

Terminating the accusations against him as "petty and asinine," Robinson says "personality conflicts" and "too many bosses" were the major problems.

He says he was hired a police chief but some officials actually wanted the position to be that of a patrolman allowing them to make policy and direct police operations.

The former chief reportedly found popularity among the young.

Youths assisted him this summer in making auto safety checks and he was instrumental in the organization of a teen rifle club along with soccer and tennis activities.

Meanwhile, Ovid relies on a part-time deputy, the Clinton County Sheriff's Department and the State Police for police protection.

"We presently have three applications under consideration to fill the vacancy," says Craig. "The press will be notified when a new police chief is selected. A new chief would be the sixth person to come to the position in the last 10 years.

$500,000 fire in DeWitt

Damage estimates have been set at more than a half-million dollars in a warehouse fire which ripped through a DeWitt township storage company early Friday morning. State police believe thieves were responsible for the blaze.

Ravaged safe seen through the ruins

A safe at the Capitol Moving and Storage Co., 212 Sheridan Road, had been drilled and up to $50 was reported missing. William Hull, owner of the building, sets fire damage to the structure at $50,000. Capitol, which leased a section of the building from Hull estimated damage to contents is $50,000.

Hull says damage to another section of the building housing Superior Electric Co., had only minor smoke damage because of protection from a fire wall. Hull will begin rebuilding operations as soon as the investigation has been completed.

Although the building was constructed with fire proof materials, the contents burned with intense heat, melting steel girders causing the roof to collapse.

United Fund plans progress

Progress continues in plans for this year's United Fund drive, reports campaign president Bill Patton who announced co-chairmen for the professional division.

Sharing these duties are Mayor Bob Wood and Dr Robert Wohlers. Wood, a St. Johns attorney, was elected to the city commission last year. He is a 1951 graduate of Michigan State University and served as a lieutenant in the 28th Infantry Division for two years following graduation. He then earned his law degree at the University of Wisconsin where he graduated in 1957.

Wood, 39, moved to St. Johns in 1963 after working for the Internal Revenue Service in Chicago for six years. In St. Johns he has served as a justice of the peace and associate municipal judge.

He is a member of the St. Johns Exchange Club and a trustee of the First Congregational Church. Wood, his wife Marilyn and their three children, Wendy, Margaret and Douglas live at 107 N. Lansing Street.

Wohlers, 47, was born in Argentina, South America. He moved to Berrien County, Mich. in 1927.

He completed a pre-dentistry course at Andrews University in Berrien and received his D.D.S. degree from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga.

Wohlers served in the Korean War from 1953 to 1955 as a captain in the Army dental corps. He is president of the Cancer Society, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife, Marijane, and daughters Mary K. and Bobbie Sue, are members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. He has been a practicing dentist in St. Johns since 1951 when he moved here from Georgia.

Patton says Boy Scouts will distribute United Fund materials throughout the county just before the campaign gets underway and beginning next month, speakers will be addressing service clubs throughout the county.

A campaign kickoff breakfast is planned for Oct. 15—opening day of the drive—at the L & L Restaurant for workers at 7:30 a.m.

In the meantime, the next meeting for campaign workers is set for 7 p.m. Sept. 10 at the Community Room of the Clinton National Bank. Patton says this may be the final general meeting before the campaign gets underway.

A combined meeting of the commercial and industrial divisions will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 10 at the Federal-Mogul conference room.

WATER BILLS PROCESSED

Working on water billings at St. Johns Municipal offices this week are Ada Waszshyn and Ardis Crawford, who are preparing for mailing of the quarterly bills which are completed by computer processing. The bills are scheduled for completion by Monday and residents should be receiving them late this month. These bills will make adjustments for previous water billings which were estimated. Some residents may receive credits while others may owe larger amounts because of low estimates at the last billing date. City Manager Harvey Weatherwax indicates that barring extreme situations, there will be no estimates of future water billings.

Grade school opening to be close in Fowler

A special progress meeting is set for Thursday night to determine if construction of a new Fowler elementary school has advanced to the point where the building is ready for occupancy.

Construction has been hampered over the summer by poor weather and work strikes.

Although all tradesmen are back on the job and progress can be seen, "it's nip and tuck," says one official looking to the opening scheduled for next Wednesday.

"We may be moving in desks at midnight the night before opening," says Supt. Don Smith. "But I think we're going to make it. Right now we're just playing it by ear and hoping for the best."

If the school is not ready for the opening of classes, school officials say temporary arrangement will be set up to house kindergarten through grade six.

Fulton schools plan opening

School bells will ring out a welcome to Fulton students beginning next week following the Labor Day weekend.

All students in grades one through seven will be enrolled Tuesday between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Students in grades 11 and 12 will attend school Tuesday morning while grades eight through 10 will attend Wednesday morning.

All day sessions for grades eight through 12 will be held Thursday, Sept. 4 and hot lunches will be served.

Buses will travel their regular routes at the usual time as in previous years.

All elementary grades will be in attendance Wednesday and grades eight, nine and 10 will be enrolled and receive textbooks at the high school building.

Kindergarten children who have not previously enrolled are to enroll with their teachers on Wednesday. All kindergarten children are required by law to have immunization shots by their local physician before entering school or a form verifying, because of religious beliefs, that they are unable to be immunized.

A law was passed four years ago by the Legislature whereby all children entering school for the first time must undergo a test to determine if they are free from tuberculosis. Parents are mandated to consult their local physicians and have their child tested before entering school.

Maple Rapids elementary school will have two sessions of kindergarten again this year.

Rural children in the Middleton-Perrinton area are to attend morning sessions and village kindergarten children are to attend afternoon sessions. Textbooks for all elementary pupils, beginning with grade three, will

DeWitt schools open Sept. 3

The students of the DeWitt Public Schools will begin their school year Wednesday, Sept. 3, with the junior and senior high students attending from 8 'til 11 a.m.

The elementary students will attend from 9 a.m. 'til noon. There will be teachers' meetings in the afternoon. Regular classes begin Thursday, Sept. 4. The kindergarten and first graders will have only half days of school through Sept. 5.

Derby time in Akron: champs made here

By JANE MORRIS
News Staff Writer
AKRON, OHIO — Steve Riley knows what it's like to be a champ.

When the Westphalia lad and his parents checked in at Soap Box Derby headquarters in Akron, a brass band was on hand to greet them.

He was briefed on official regulations, received his racing clothes and helmet and said goodbye to his family before he was whisked away to Derbytown.

At Derbytown, Steve was not allowed to communicate with any unauthorized personnel, and he was allowed no visitors.

The camp was fully equipped with a rifle range, horses, athletic field and beach—but most important, the food was good. "A lot of fun," was Steve's reaction to the other champs, and the camp.

Steve's car was taken "top-side" where all final adjustments were made under official supervision. Steve said that he traded his red wheels in on gold ones and made some minor adjustments before the race. The public was allowed to view the cars—all 257—as Derby directors and future contestants were busy looking for ideas to incorporate in a winning car next year.

A delegation from St. Johns was on hand Friday evening to greet the champ as he paraded through the ticketape in an hour-long parade. They were, Derby Director, Bill McCarthy and his son, Brian; Chevrolet Dealer, Bernie Feldpausch; Joe Fernholz, local second place winner; and Gilbert Weber, third place winner. Brass bands, celebrities, floats and cheering crowds gave the boys a hero's welcome. Parents and friends strained to see their boys through spectators' eyes.

And then, it was Saturday, race day. The sun was shining at Derby Downs, the band was playing and the spectators were thronging in. Tension increased as race time grew closer. Then it was 1:15, and the 32 All-American Soap Box Derby was underway. By 4:00 Steve Souter of Midland, Texas, was declared winner.

When asked what was the most fun, Steve quipped, "The race, even if I did lose out in the first heat."

All real champs have a sense of humor. And there's no doubt. There's a champion around these parts.

Official timekeepers have best seats in the house.

Drum major Doug Kurnez shows his stuff

Strike up the band: football's coming

The beginnings of autumn sounds are not timid. They begin with a throbbing whistle. A crisp rumble of drums, crescendoed cymbals, grunting tubas, singing reeds and brass. They're a high school marching band in August—like St. Johns marching band last week at Michigan State's annual clinic. It's practice, precision and discipline. Because it's almost football time. And your guys are Number one.

Music Director Walter Cole views his charges.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M.L. Woolf
MICROFILM FARM BUREAU

The basic freedom of the consumer's right to choose what he wishes in the market place is the central issue of citizens who want to buy California table grapes despite grape boycott efforts.

This basic issue of the people's right to choose was upheld in a recent ruling in the TV industry.

The Federal Communications Commission in judging a dispute that spanned 17 years involved a privately financed subscription (pay) television system battling for the right for "air time" against the wishes of the three major networks, ABC, CBS and NBC.

The subscription television ar-

Portland offers adult ed.

For the first time the Community Education Program of the Portland Schools will offer a complete High School Completion Program.

The G.E.D. testing program will also be offered in the Portland Community Education Program. In addition to the testing and Adult High School classes a complete line of enrichment and recreation programs will continue this fall.

For information and to sign up for High School Completion call Portland, 647-7330, or write to the Board of Education Office, % Carl Cratsenburg, 600 Oak Street, Portland, Michigan.

gument was upheld by the FCC last year on the fundamental issue (like grapes) that the consumer has the right to choose what he wishes, and that the consumer should be the judge of the credibility of the new TV system rather than the controlling few.

This is what concerned people are saying—the public's freedom of choice is a basic right of all citizens and should not be denied, be it television programming or the grocer's goods at the market.

The choice to buy or not to buy grapes is being denied consumers because of harassment of store owners by union organizers and others. Such action has given birth to a rising tide of irate citizens who are demanding their rights through the formation of "Freedom to Market" committees.

These local committees, made up of local people in communities throughout the state, are giving support to local grocers to maintain the sale of grapes to the public in defense of this freedom.

In the end, if the grocer is forced and the public is duped into refusing to buy grapes, the next step of the plan is simple. Force grape growers to sign a compulsory (closed shop) union contract.

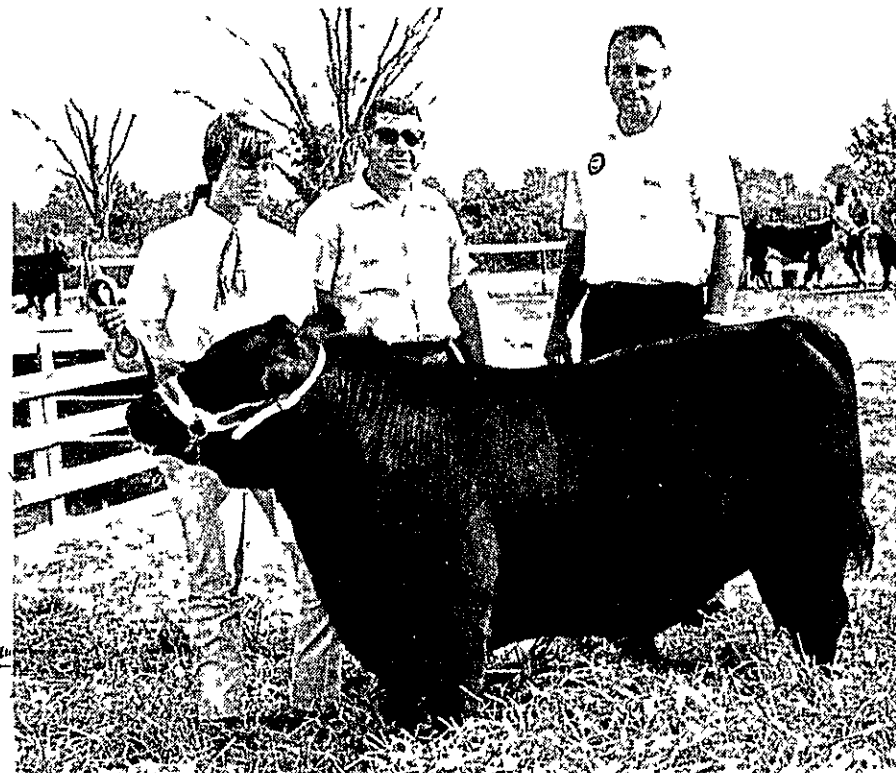

Farm Bureau people are not against farm laborers joining together for collective bargaining, but in doing so they contend that the joining should be on a voluntary basis. The basic approach is to defend the worker's right to join or not to join without fear of losing his job.

Like subscription television—the consumer's right to choose for himself must prevail.

4-H way

'Tis education forms the common mind'

"You'd scarcely expect one of my age to speak in public on a stage," recited a 7-year-old school boy. "Don't view me with a critic's eye, but pass my imperfections by. . . All oaks from little acorns grow. These thoughts inspire my youthful mind to be the greatest of mankind. . ."

This lad was not a 4-H'er but he could have been. He lived in New Ipswich, New Hampshire in 1791.

Fifty years before a poet had written: "Tis education forms the common mind; just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Today's 4-H youngsters exemplify these often quoted lines, as did the first Head-Heart-Hands-Health youth of the early 1900's.

Boys and girls work on projects that frequently shape their lives and future careers. Millions of 4-H alumni say early 4-H training was a big step toward their success.

"Learning-by-doing" has always been the 4-H way. Showing and sharing new knowledge gained and skills learned is part of the 4-H pattern. The steps to growth are unflinching.

A pre-teen girl enrolled in a clothing program starts out by making a simple item and progresses according to her ability. By the time she is in high school, she makes most of her own clothes. As a teen 4-H leader she teaches younger members how to sew.

Like the New England boy and the poet, 4-H youths find plenty of inspiration for mind-stretching and using their hands to master skills. Projects are designed to arouse their curiosity and raise questions. The more they learn, the more competent they are to experiment, explore and find the answers, believes the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H.

And there are rewards both intrinsic and material. Recognition for accomplishments readily given by 4-H leaders, parents and others.

More than $1 million contributed annually by private sources is channeled to 4-H members through the National 4-H Service Committee. Funds are used for county, regional, state and national awards ranging from certificates and medals to $1,000 scholarships. And educational aids covering many subjects are published and distributed to 4-H leaders and members.

For nearly 50 years, private funds have augmented the public-financed 4-H programs. Some of the oldest and largest business enterprises in the U.S. have supported 4-H work since its inception.

Among the scores of 4-H sponsors are: Allis-Chalmers, Armour and Company, Carnation Company, Coats & Clark Inc., The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, General Foods Corporation, General Motors, Illinois Central Railroad and International Harvester Company.

Also, Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, Montgomery Ward, Moorman Mfg. Co., Olin, Matheson Chemical Corporation, Ralston Purina Company, The Singer Company, Santa Fe Railway System, and Wilson & Co., Inc., a Subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc.

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

The Council of Ministries held its first meeting on Wednesday evening, Aug. 13 at the Shepardsville United Methodist Church, with Mrs Dale Spicers presiding. Mrs John Spicers was elected to fill the office of recording secretary for one year and various pamphlets were distributed to the 10 members present. The group was then divided into different sections to tour the church and check the different items that each group thought needed attention. This list will be typed and distributed to the various committees.

The council will meet once a month with the next meeting date Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Special music for the Worship Service at the United Methodist Church was provided by a trio from Chapin. The trio consisted of Gretchen Smith, Jeanette Truax, and Shirley Winkler.

Don't forget the smorgasbord supper at the church on Aug. 21. Serving will begin at 5:30 p.m. Ham and fried chicken with all the trimmings are on the menu.

Frances C. Ferden and sons have returned home after spending their vacation in Florida. While there they toured the John F. Kennedy Space center where the Apollo 11 was launched.

There are several salad bowls, pie pans, and casseroles taking up needed storage space in the church kitchen. If any of these items belong to you, please pick them up.

Would you like to live in a house like this? It might be fun for awhile, but chances are that the novelty would soon wear off. When it comes to daily living, Americans are comfort-lovers. We want the latest car, deep freeze, stove or vacuum cleaner.

Because we pride ourselves on being modern, sometimes we are apt to think of going to church every Sunday as old-fashioned and out of gear with the present-day world. But the Church, in case you haven't noticed, is keeping up with the times far better than a lot of us. And isn't it true that certain basic truths, traditions and ideals cannot be gauged as modern or old-fashioned? The Church is ready to face tomorrow. Why not go next Sunday and see for yourself?

A favorable report

A recent financial report submitted to the Clinton County Board of Supervisors is one which should have brought a sigh of relief from taxpayers. It was one accounting of a tax supported operation that provided encouragement from the standpoint of revenue versus expense and the report was favorable despite costs of initiation.

The report was submitted by Judge Roland J. Duguay on the initial six-month operation of the newly formed District Court.

As cited in Judge Duguay's comments to the Board of Supervisors, general opinion tended toward speculation that the court, once in operation would be little apt to pay its way, but expense-income figures for the period showed that various government agencies shared in a total of $66,049.71 taken in by the court. Approximately one-half this amount was returned to the Clinton County general fund from collected court costs.

According to Judge Duguay the first six-month period of operation for the court provided a break-even status and in face of costs incurred for establishment of the court a favorable outlook for the future can be embraced.

In these times any new division of government which can boast an even operation after six months must be functioning with an eye and an ear to the taxpayer.

We're ready

The leaves have ever so slightly begun to take on all the edging of fall tint and aside from their heralding the annual color spectacular, their gentle fading trumpets the coming of football. There are few sports that blend with their season as does colorful football.

The excitement of autumn is enhanced by the feverish enthusiasm for football, from midget leagues to the pros, and grid-irons across the country yawn and stretch alive with the coming of September.

Along with the attractiveness of the sport comes the appeal of the handsome football heroes. The speedsters who trip through the opposing linemen with the swiftness of a zephyr; the lumbering pile drivers who bowl over their opponents like many ten pins; the lean, spindly ends to gracefully soar into space to snatch errant passes and turn quarterbacks into aces; they're all there, either on the high school field Friday night, the college stadium Saturday afternoon or the teevee tube all day Sunday.

Like thousands of others across the country our nerves are atwitter in anticipation. Broadway Joe has come out of retirement (as everyone but he knew he would) and O. J. has signed with the Bills (as he, but no one else, knew he would). Our favorites in the college and prep school ranks are beginning to stir and if someone thinks to awaken the Lions the season just might hold all we expect it to.

Even if it doesn't, we're ready for it.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

COMMENTS FROM OTHER PAPERS

FOLEY, Ala., THE ON-LOOKER: "The driver does not exist who already knows so much about driving that he couldn't learn something that might save his life or the life of someone else . . . Highway safety, to a great extent, is up to us."

LYKENS, Pa., STANDARD: "On the news pages the responsible newspaper is obligated to present as unbiased a version of the news as humanly possible. Where an issue is in dispute, the responsible newspaper will present only its own viewpoint on a given subject. It would be dishonest for the newspaper to argue the other side, the side it believes wrong. The editorial is the newspaper's opinion. Subtract the paper's opinion and, obviously, you have a newspaper without a heart."

SEA ISLE CITY, N.J., TIMES: "Because their peaceful pursuits do not make news, there are folks who believe the majority of our young people are stupid and selfish and vicious, caring nothing about their communities and country—nothing about their fellowmen, not even, most of them, about their parents. This, of course, is not so. Despite the troublemakers, destroyers and anarchists among them, the great majority of our young people are decent and intelligent and law-abiding and do care about others."

SIMSBURY, Conn., HERALD: "A recent issue of Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine reveals that the Soviet cosmonauts had to use capitalist-made ballpoint pens on their space jaunts. Russian-made pens will not function in the zero-gravity of space."

On the Right Track

TAKING FIVE

Summer goodies

By RON HUARD

At random . . . The corn reporter, Byron Kissane, came through. So did Alberta Cornwell, wife of St. Johns Assistant Fire Chief, Sonny.

Between the two our family has enjoyed some tasty Michigan vegetables in recent days.

As I mentioned some time earlier under this heading, By Kissane had given a report on the status of the sweet corn and his words were clipped short with a note of hesitancy because of the spring rains.

But early one morning the phone rang and before I was fully awake I heard By saying something about dropping off a few ears of corn. His few turned out to be about a half-bushel which in view of their delicious flavor also turned out to be too few.

However, it just didn't seem quite right to call and rave about his sweet corn 'cause he'd think we were asking for another handout, so our whole family sat around trying mental telepathy. For two days we thought or said nothing but "Kissane's sweet corn. We're out of it. Kissane's sweet corn. We're out of it."

It worked. By dropped off another half-bushel last week and I think we're reaching the point of satisfaction. Even if not, Alberta's contribution put the frosting on the cake.

After her recent visit our refrigerator was so full of fresh cucumbers hardly had room for the week's supply of beer; but who cared? There are few summer salads that can top cucumbers and onions in vinegar unless it's one of green beans. Thanks to Alberta we've enjoyed both.

Now, if we only knew someone who grew onions for the other half of that cucumber salad.

And speaking of summer foods, Bob Ebert was telling me the other day that former Clinton County News Publisher Schuyler Marshal had a deep dislike for potato salad and it became a tradition with him to comment on this aversion at least once each summer. Of course, I never knew Mr Marshal, but his not liking potato salad is the first bad thing I've ever heard about the man. His politics and philosophies aside, I can see we would have had a weak foundation for a friendly relationship. Anyone who dislikes potato salad can't be all good!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Pollution threat

By ELMER E. WHITE

The world first took note of the dangers presented by the spilling of huge amounts of oil on the oceans several years ago when the oil tanker "Torrey Canyon" split in two off the coast of England.

The southern beaches of the island nation, normally great tourist attractions, were covered with the sticky, gooey crude oil which spilled from the ship and were made unusable. The beaches still have not returned to normal because the detergents used to disperse the oil killed the plant life which the oil didn't.

Then, last winter, the problem came closer to home when an oil well off the coast of California sprung a leak and the portions of the coastline were covered with oil. They, too, were made unusable.

IN BOTH INSTANCES the oil eventually dispersed, and it is hoped the beaches will return to normal.

But what would happen if a similar accident occurred in a closed, fresh water body? The oil would have no place to disperse.

This question was raised publicly recently when an oil slick was discovered on Lake Erie. The slick dissipated quickly, but the question remained: What should be done about the problem?

To the state of Michigan, which is almost surrounded by water, the question is a vital one.

GOV. WILLIAM G. MILLIKEN thinks he has the answer to at least part of the problem, and he's going to ask for help from the National Governor's Conference at its September meeting in Denver.

Milliken's solution is simple: just stop all drilling of oil and gas wells on fresh water bodies.

"The threat, no matter how remote, of an accidental loss of oil from drilling operation in fresh water is such that authorization of new or continued drilling is without justification," says a resolution he has drawn up to present to the conference.

"The value of the nation's fresh waters are of a magnitude which makes mandatory their protection," the statement says. "It is not possible to devise a drilling system which will absolutely prevent accidents. In the best interests of the nation's natural resources, oil and gas drilling should not be permitted in fresh water."

THE GOVERNOR expects to have some opposition to his attempt. Some of it will come from the state of New York, he says, since that state now allows drilling in fresh water.

But he says he'll continue working in an attempt to get the drilling stopped.

Milliken says "the report of the oil slick on Lake Erie is another indication of the dangers of pollution."

"We'd just better be on top of that and take the steps now before it's too late," he warns.

It remains to be seen how many of his fellow governors will agree with him.

TRAFFIC INCREASES

While many factors are responsible for the rising number of traffic deaths in the state and country, the most apparent cause seems to be the increase in the number of miles traveled in motor vehicles.

While the total number of highway deaths in Michigan rose 73 per cent over the past 11 years, the deaths per 100 million vehicle miles rose only 6 per cent. State Police records show 1,382 persons died in 1958 on Michigan streets and highways and that the total had risen to 2,388 per year by last year. But the number of deaths per 100 million miles driven had risen only .27 over the 11 year period, from 4.70 per 100 million miles in 1958 to 4.92 last year.

The rate of deaths per mile actually dropped in comparison to some years. The worst year was 1965, when 5.49 deaths were recorded for every 100 million miles driven.

SOME BEES HARMLESS

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources released some information which included the statement that queen bees are harmless.

The release said it is safe to hold a queen bee in your hand since they only use their stings on other queen bees.

Now, if they'd furnish us with information on how the layman can immediately distinguish between a queen bee and a regular one without waiting to see whether it stings . . .

'IF IT FITZ . . .

Sex up in smoke

By JIM FITZGERALD

Knuckling under to the cancer fighters, the cigarette industry has promised to quit advertising on TV. "I truly appreciate the concern for my health, but what am I going to do for sex education?"

I have been a student of cigarette commercials ever since that marvelous day, many years ago, when sexy Julie London stuck her butt from out of the dark and seductively knocked her boyfriend's ash off.

Any fool could see that Julie and friend would soon be sharing more than an ash tray.

And then there was that guy who would use his cigarettes to pick up a beautiful broad in a bar. He had been giving her the eye across the room all night, twitching his eyebrows, wetting his lips and blowing in his own ear. But she wouldn't give him a tumble, until . . .

He put his pack of smokes on his table, in plain view, and drummed on them with a tattooed fingernail. It was her brand and he was obviously her kind of man! She knocked down 2 waiters getting to our hero and demanding to know: "Your apartment or mine?"

Admittedly, these commercials are not the type of sex-smoke education that should interest a married man, especially one whose wife has a reach a silly millioneter longer than his stride. But I was taking notes for my son. I don't want him brain-washed by Smokey the Bear and the American Cancer Society. Cigarettes are dangerous, no lie. But how much should a man risk to captivate a Julie London? I want my boy to be able to make an informed choice. Is it better to have loved and got a hacking cough than to not have loved at all?

And besides, lately the cigarette commercials have been aimed at the married man and his domestic troubles. Surely you've seen that one where the beautiful gal is jogging through the park with her husband close behind. She has an oh-so-pained expression and you know she is running away from a breaking marriage. Either that or she has a terrible chafing problem.

Jack catches up with Jill and quickly begins the soft talk. He tells her that a lot of wives have husbands who work nights, and soon they'll go away together alone and straighten things out. She doesn't believe him. Then Jack lights up a butt and blows smoke in Jill's face. And she believes, she believes.

"L & M is the cigarette for two together," the announcer says as the music plays louder and Jill lovingly bumps a puff from Jack's butt. I tell you, it's like magic. I no longer smoke cigarettes, but the next time the poker party lasts too long, I am going to blow cigar smoke under our bedroom door. My wife will plump my pillow. Marvelous. How am I going to learn important things like this if there are no more cigarette commercials on TV? I hope I don't have to start watching Doris Day. Onward and Upward.

The Town Democrat

By RON KARLE, Editor

Met the Town Democrat the other day.

That is, the only Democrat I've seen in town so far.

He's a fellow named Roy Andrews who holds forth at the PX store downtown when he's not caught up in the business of a county supervisor.

Which he is along with 10 other fellows over there at the court house—all of the opposite political persuasion.

Meaning Republicans, of course.

We had a brief meeting earlier at one of the supervisors' gatherings but our second encounter carried much more importance as far as I was concerned.

The thing was, there I was standing alongside the little red sports car on US-27 somewhere between here and Lansing.

I had this petrol problem. Along comes this VW bus which not only stopped but had a spare can of fuel in the back. And driven by the Town Democrat.

So I dropped by the PX a day later to look him up and again offer blushing thanks and see if I could find out what it's like over there at the court house with all those Republican fellows and all.

"They're all very compatible," he offered. "No partiality is shown against me as far as committee assignments."

Andrews, who lives in DeWitt where he represents the Tenth District in such goings on, has a bit of work cut out for him, too.

He has some doings with the Land Use Committee which somehow extends his concern to health, zoning and agriculture.

"They're really dedicated to county government," Andrews was saying of his fellow supervisors. "They don't show me political adversity."

For an area which apparently is content with a one-party form of government, this isn't too bad of a reaction coming from one of the "other party."

Andrews, you may recall, ran against Reginald Nelson for township supervisor in DeWitt a couple of years back.

"I lost by something like 50 votes," said Andrews. Nelson, in the meantime, is no longer with us having incurred the wrath of his constituents who turned him out last May in a recall election.

Andrews said he was approached by people from both parties to run for the vacancy but he considered and decided he was content where he was.

So what's in future plans for the Town Democrat?

"I don't plan to go on up politically," he said, and he has "no definite plans for 1970" as far as seeking reelection to the Board of Supervisors.

As far as his party's choice for governor in 1970, Andrews said he got the feeling in a recent meeting with Frank Kelley that the attorney general will take a shot at it "although he didn't come right out and say so."

"Kelley's been in a long time; he has experience and handles himself well," said Andrews, perhaps revealing something. "Anyway, it seemed like some sort of community service to remind that there is indeed a Democrat running about these environs.

Which might be a nice thing some day should you run out of gas between here and DeWitt.

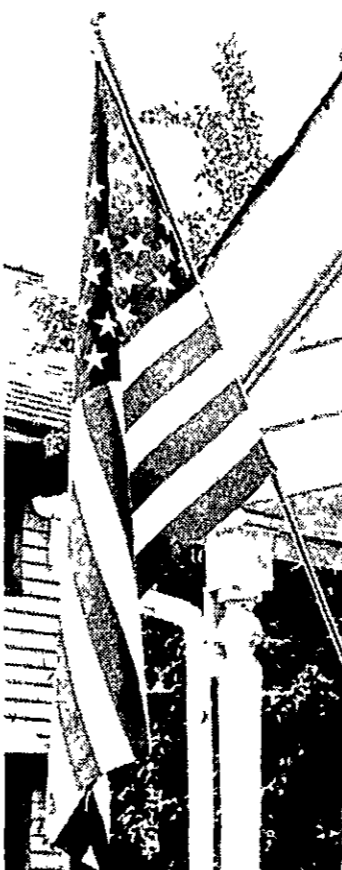

He's about as nice as any Republican I've come across.

A note of thanks for publicity

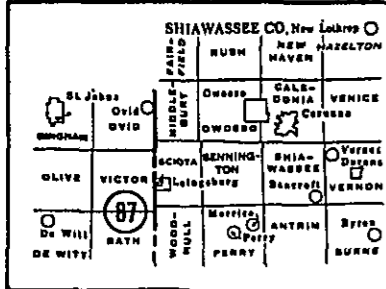

Dear Editor, I would like to thank you and WRBJ for your fine coverage of our June 25 Blood Mobile. I also would like to thank our Doctors and Volunteer Nurses, the Grey Ladies, and the ladies for registration, and the St. Johns High School Student Council. Also the St. Joseph Altar Society for putting on the Canteen. Without their cooperation, this program would have been unsuccessful. My many thanks to the donors who took the time and effort in supporting our Community Project.

With all the rancor that's usually generated during the course of a legislative session, it's nice to come across a bill with a lot of "heart" that just about everybody can go for.

Introduced by Democratic State Rep. Mrs Lucille McCullough (Dearborn and Republican State Rep. Peter Kok of Grand Rapids, HB 2117 whisked through the House April 14 by a vote of 86-10 (I voted for it) and unanimously passed the Senate on July 17 by a tally of 29-0.

HB 2117, strongly endorsed by the Foster Parents Council of United Community Services, is designed for children who have been in a foster home for so long that it is their true home in every sense except the legal.

Letters to the Editor

Aug. 14, 1969
Editor, Clinton County News;

In an article recently you quoted Duane Smith, Bath Township Supervisor as saying, "that in the fall of 1966 there were internal conflicts in the Volunteer Fire Dept. and there were a number of resignations." This was not so, there were some conflicts in the fire dept. which were straightened out. But no resignations. Also you quoted him as saying, "One person was appointed fire chief, (Wayne Loomis), when his father-in-law, (Abbot Nelson), resigned late last year. The chief had indicated dissatisfaction with the township board and his salary. The board then interviewed and appointed a new chief. The board later rescinded this action, against my recommendations, and re-named the former fire chief. I felt Jim Bell should have been retained because of his previous appointment. He (Loomis), was then named official fire chief by the board and retained his previous salary."

This whole paragraph is untrue or only partially true. In the first place Abbot Nelson did resign from the fire dept. Dec. 31, 1968. Due to health reasons. I, Wayne Loomis, Asst. Chief at this time had been carrying on the duties of chief during Chief Nelson's illness, but my only title was Asst. Chief. I let it be known that I was willing to assume the job of fire chief but in Nov. 1968 before Chief Nelson's resignation became final, James Bell was appointed fire chief by the township board. For several reasons I opposed this appointment. One, several of the firemen voiced their opinion that they would be forced to quit the dept. if Mr Bell were Chief. Second, Mr Bell has a slight problem and will not drive a fire truck (Imagine a chief who can't drive a fire truck?) Third, he has a full time job outside of the township so would not be in the area as much as I, who work in the township. My reasoning was to maintain a good working fire dept. for the people of the township.

The firemen signed a petition to the board asking to have me for chief and several letters were received by the board asking that James Bell not be made chief. So on Jan. 6, 1969 the board rescinded their appointment of James Bell as chief and appointed me as fire chief of Bath Charter Township on a 90-day trial period. And as you say to the previous salary, which is the staggering sum of $15 a month or $180 a year for the year of 1968.

The new five-man police and fire board appointed by Supervisor Smith has as you say drawn up certain rules and regulations and will undoubtedly draw up more. But are they for the betterment of the fire dept.? The fire dept. is at this time a smoothly running dept. with a good record. And if let alone would continue to run smoothly, I'm sure. So at this time of controversy over the recall petition toward Supervisor Smith, that is being circulated, I believe for the betterment of the fire dept. and the people of the township the personal workings of the fire dept. should be kept out of print or at least be reported accurately.

As I felt the article in which my name was used was not accurate and if Supervisor Smith was to be quoted why shouldn't the persons he named have a chance to say their thoughts?

Supervisor Smith brought the fire dept. into this controversy and to my way of thinking he had no business doing this. The fire dept. as a whole did not start this recall petition. The men responsible for the petition are on the dept. But on a volunteer fire dept. men are their own men and have personal lives other than firemen. A man can be a good fireman and work for his township and still not approve of the way the local government is being run. So I hereby ask Mr Smith not to bring the fire dept. into his personal fight for supervisor.

So in closing I would like to say, if the people of Bath Charter Township want a good local government, maybe they had ought to consider the recall petition that is being circulated in the township. We at the very least need a man in office that can accurately relate the facts that happen during official meetings.

Yours Truly for a Good Township Government and Fire Dept.
Sincerely,
WAYNE LOOMIS
Bath Township
Fire Chief.
