St. Johns woman tells her feelings about Russian invasion

"The government was taking property, and I did not get over it for two years after I returned," she said. It was then she began to express verbal appreciation for living in a free country. She often gives talks and shows slides to groups around the county.

"It is because of the fact that I live in a free country that I was able to make a visit to the old country in 1957 and 1960," she said. "My folks can't visit me. That's the difference between living in a free country and a communistic one."

Mrs Hospodar had planned a trip to Czechoslovakia this summer and would have been there during August had she not decided to wait until after her daughter, Helen, had finished driver education. Mrs Hospodar's mother had died, and being the eldest of the children in the family, she had determined to go to Czechoslovakia to settle some property questions.

"The people were starting to get their property back under the reform government," she pointed out. "Everything was being returned to the people, so I figured this is the time to settle things."

SHE HAD ALSO PLANNED to go again next spring to spend a couple of months with her family in Czechoslovakia, but she won't go now unless things settle down. She had already packed several Christmas packages for her family in Europe but says she doesn't figure on sending them because she doesn't think they'll get them.

Much of her concern is over the fact her family is in the eastern part of Czechoslovakia, the area that has been staunchly behind liberal leader Dubcek. "He (Dubcek) was inspired by these people to go and do something for them. So he went and did it, and they were hoping for free elections."

The liberal Czech government had been negotiating with the Russians about the liberalization for the past six months, and the Russian-led invasion last week was a complete surprise.

"He's not a traitor to his country," Mrs Hospodar said of Dubcek. "Maybe he is to the Communist government, but the Communist government was never adopted by the Czech people because it was never any good."

Czechoslovakia has been recognized as a Communist nation because it has been under Russian influence, but Mrs Hospodar said the people are not Communists.

"Our country started making arms for Viet Nam, but they found out the arms were being shipped there, and they didn't want to do that. They wanted to break away from the Communist regime."

"I think that inspired the whole thing (the Dubcek liberalization movement) because they did not want to send arms to kill American boys in Viet Nam."

Mrs Hospodar believes it will take outside pressures to get Russia to pull her troops out of (Story continued on Page 3-A)

MRS JEANNE RAND

St. Johns City Commissioner Mrs. Jeanne Rand has been elected vice mayor of the city by the city commission. She replaces John Furry in that position. Mrs. Rand will preside over commission meetings or represent the city at functions where Mayor Charles Coletta is unable to attend.

Expansion at Daley's under way

Daley's Restaurant seen by thousands as they pass into St. Johns on US-27 from the south, will have a new face.

The restaurant, on US-27 just south of the city limits, is being remodeled. According to Al Daley, owner and operator, the work should take about another month to complete. The work is being done by the Dush Construction Company of St. Johns.

According to Daley, the lounge at the north end of the building will be about 10 feet longer and will increase capacity by about 40 to 50 persons.

A new entrance will be placed on the front of the building and will make easier the access to the party room in the downstairs of the building. The construction engineer Dush called the design Old English.

City cool to expansion of post office property

The city commission gave a cool reception Monday night to a proposal of the General Services Administration to buy some city property for the future expansion of the St. Johns Post Office.

Involved is a chunk of city property about 50 by 50 feet at the south end of the city parking lot on West Walker Street next to the A & P Store. The General Services Administration letter asked for a right of entry form so that a professional appraiser could be retained to learn the fair market value of the property.

The commission was reluctant to do that, and they referred the entire question of the proposed post office expansion and parking reduction to the planning commission for their study.

Commissioner Gerald Irer said he would hate to see the parking lot cut up. "It is extremely valuable, and we need more room in there than what we have."

St. Johns Postmaster J. D. Robinson, who was not at the meeting Monday night, said Tuesday morning the GSA proposes to buy the old Cooper property (about 50 by 99 feet) on Brush Street just north of the post office and would also need the city property to square up the enlarged post office lot.

Robinson said the purchase would be "for future expansion" but that improvements to the property would be made immediately if it is bought. The improvements would likely be in the form of additional maneuvering and parking area which he said were needed.

There are no immediate plans for the expansion of the post office building itself.

City denies rezoning plea for F-M credit union office

The city commission Monday night reluctantly turned down a petition of the Federal-Mogul Credit Union to rezone a strip of land on the north side of Lincoln Street near the plant to allow for use of a house there as an office for the credit union.

The commission's action followed the recommendation of the city planning commission that the petition be denied. The credit union had asked that a half-block strip on the north side of Lincoln between Spring and Mead streets be rezoned from residential to office 1 zone.

Representatives of the credit union told the commission it had written approval of 99 per cent of the property owners around the area affected, as well as approval from property owners in other sections of the city.

There was also a request before the commission to amend the zoning ordinance to provide for offices in an R-1 area by special use permit, something that is not allowed in the present ordinance.

WHILE THE CITY commission and the planning commission (Bill Graef and Bill Morris from the planning unit were present) were sympathetic with the credit union's plans, they were cautious for fear of what such amendment might lead to.

Commented Graef: "We recognize that they need an office, but we feel that any modification of the ordinance for special use permits would open the door for a lot of requests that would be undesirable. It would establish a dangerous precedent."

The Federal-Mogul Credit Union wants to establish their office in the house at 211 E. Lincoln Street, on the northwest corner of Oakland and Lincoln. The house was purchased by the credit union some months ago with the knowledge that it was in an R-1 residential area and that zoning adjustments would have to be made.

Officials of the credit union pointed out the convenience of the proposed office to the plant (it's right across Lincoln Street from the F-M parking lot) and to the parking lot which would prevent any increase in vehicular traffic in the area because of the office.

"We need to be close to the factory and employees to be efficient," officials of the credit union said. "And by keeping the area as an R-1 residential zone, we would have to leave it as a house, so there wouldn't be any change to the appearance of the neighborhood."

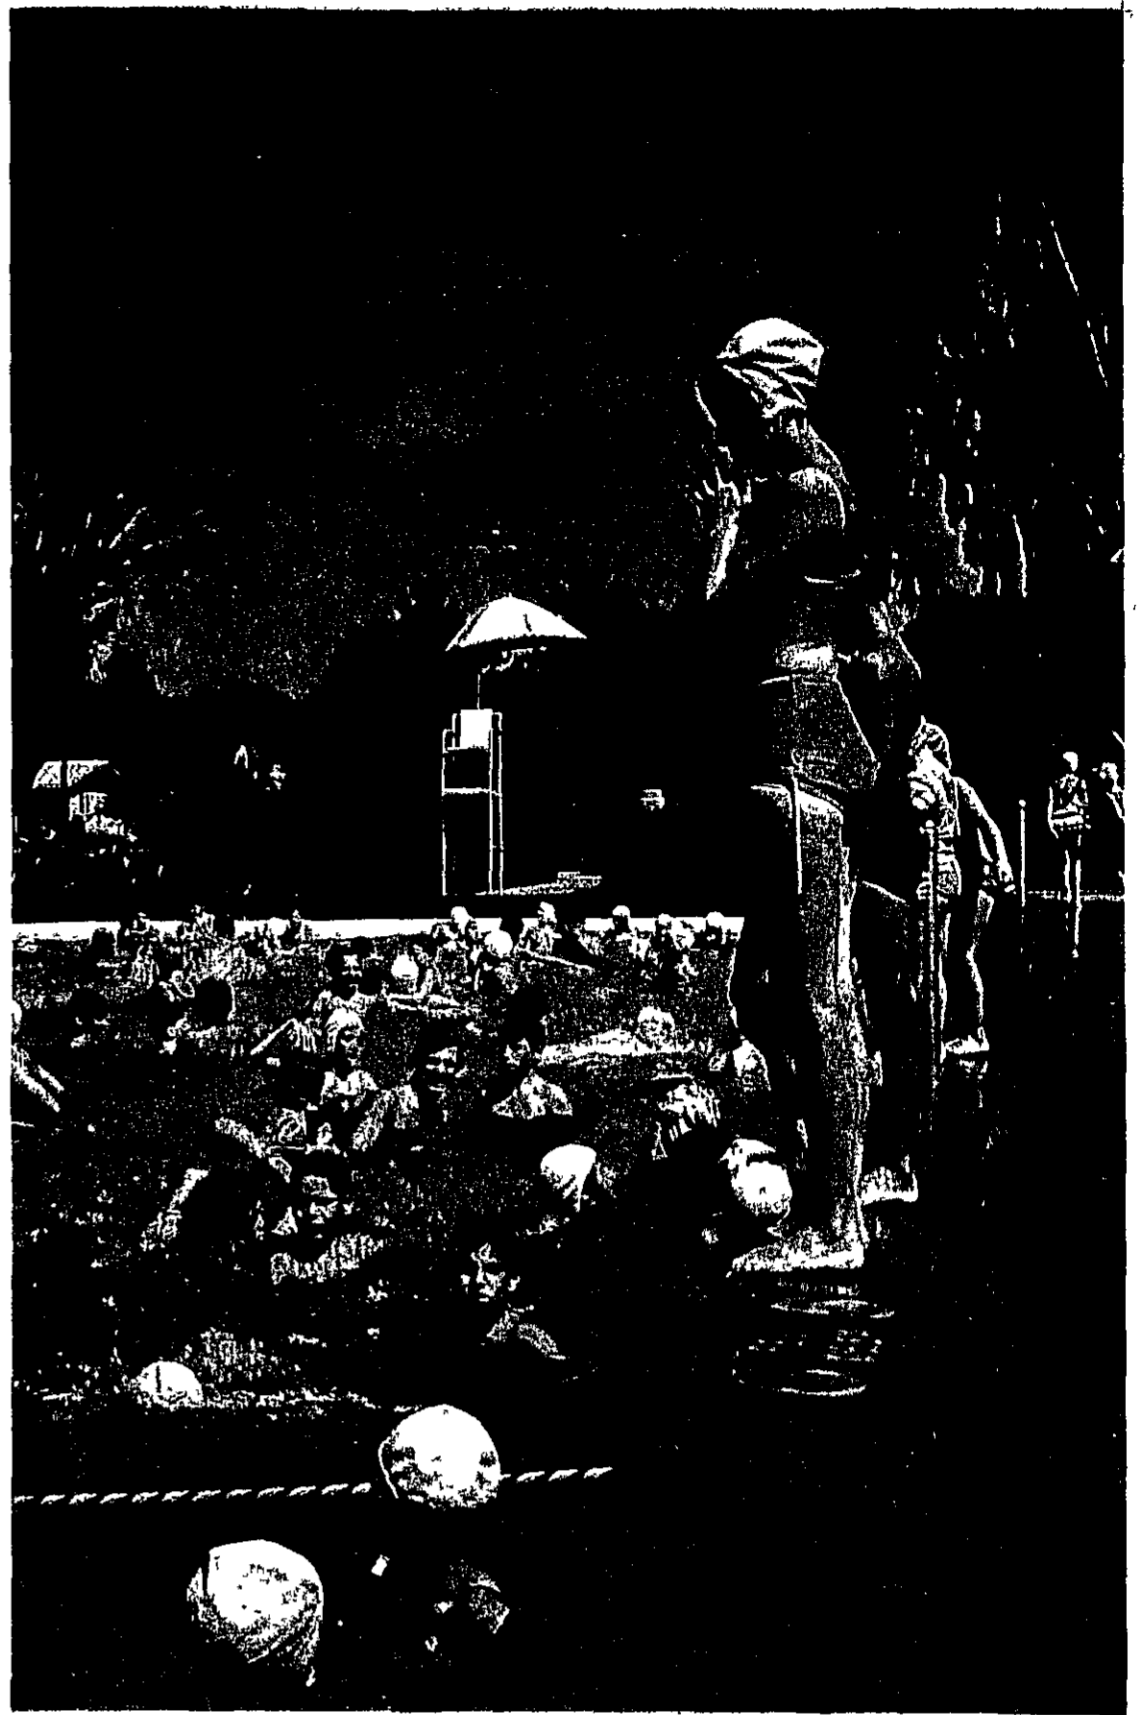

They also commented that Federal-Mogul has already expanded up to an R-1 residential area, and that in an industrial area the need for adjacent office space is quite likely to come about.

The planning commission has thoroughly discussed both the original petition to rezone to office 1 zone and the suggestion to amend the ordinance to allow an office by special use permit. Morris told the audience of 17 persons at the meeting that the planners felt there was more than sufficient area zoned for offices in the city that another zone would not be proper.

WHILE BOTH governmental units expressed a feeling that the proposed Federal-Mogul Credit Union office would be no problem in that area, they said they must reject the rezoning petition and the amendment suggestion in view of problems other requests in another part of town might cause.

The city fathers suggested the possibility of rezoning the area to R-2 or R-3 residential, and the planning commission members present said they would be willing to discuss that possibility. They all seemed to feel that a special use permit for an office would be easier to grant in an R-2 or R-3 zone, although an amendment would have to be made to allow an office there, too.

COOL DAYS REPLACING POOL DAYS

It was sunny, hot and muggy the day this picture was taken at the Memorial Swimming Pool in St. Johns recently, and the kids flocked to the water, much as they had been doing all summer. Now the pool is getting ready to close for the summer, and next Monday, Labor Day, will be the final day it will be open. Swimming lessons are over, and the pool is open this week from 2:30-5 and 7-9 p.m. and on Sunday from 2-6 only.

Labor Day celebrations set at Fowler, Wacousta

As good a signal as any that summer is over and fall is just around the corner is the Labor Day celebration that takes place in two communities in Clinton County.

Such observances are planned again this year at Fowler and in Wacousta.

A 12:45 p.m. flag raising ceremony will mark the official start of the annual Labor Day Picnic at the Fowler Conservation Club south of Fowler on Wright Road. Last year some 5,000 persons attended the affair. This year 700 chickens have been ordered for barbecuing as club officials hope for an even bigger crowd.

A turkey shoot will start things off at 10 a.m., and it will last who knows how long. The chicken barbecue starts at 12:30, pony pulling and horseshoe contests at 1 p.m. and a tug of war at 3:30. The tug of war may or may not span Stoney Creek at the edge of the Conservation Club grounds, depending on the temperatures. There will be an hour and a half or more of organized games for the children during the afternoon, including an archery contest. The Westphalia Band will present a concert at 7 p.m., and at 9 p.m. the Bent Sceptors will play for a teen dance.

Some $500 in cash prizes will be awarded during the evening. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to finance the new addition to the Conservation Club building, which includes a kitchen, coat room and rest rooms.

Labor Day at Looking Glass Valley Park at Wacousta will start at 9:30 a.m. Bicycle relay races, pony rides, greased pole climb, sack races, tug-of-war across the river, peanut scramble, horseshoe pitching, watermelon eating contest, egg throwing contest and jellybean guessing contest are all on the card.

There will be ball games at 3 p.m. and a chicken barbecue from 4-7 p.m.

Holiday forces early deadlines

The Labor Day holiday Monday will impose some restrictions on the Clinton County News staff next week. Because the work week for the Sept. 5 issue will be reduced to four days, an earlier advertising deadline will be in effect.

Advertising for the Sept. 5 issue must be submitted by noon this Friday, Aug. 30. The assistance of the advertisers, as well as our correspondents and the general public in getting their news items in early will be appreciated by the newspaper staff.

Next week's Clinton County News edition will appear on the newsstands as usual on Wednesday, despite the short work week.

Woodruff State Bank to merge with AB&T

DeWitt—Shareholders will be asked to approve a merger involving Lansing and DeWitt banks, according to a joint announcement by Hubert B. Bates, chairman of the board of the American Bank and Trust Co., and Ralph L. Woodruff, president of the Woodruff State Bank of DeWitt.

Under the terms of the proposal the Woodruff State Bank of DeWitt will be merged into the American Bank and Trust Co. of Lansing, and shareholders of the Woodruff State Bank will exchange their shares for shares of American Bank and Trust Co. stock.

Upon approval by shareholders and state and federal authorities, the $3-1/2 million dollar Woodruff State Bank will become the Woodruff Branch of the American Bank and Trust Co., the announcement said.

Bates said Ralph Woodruff will be named vice president of the American Bank and Trust Co., and Howard Woodruff, the Woodruff bank's vice president, will become an assistant vice president at AB&T. Both officers will continue to manage the affairs of new Woodruff Branch.

It is contemplated that operations of the new branch will be phased into those of AB&T over a period of time in order to take advantage of the economies of centralized computer operations. The entire staff of the new branch will be retained and given full seniority right in the American Bank and Trust Co.'s profit sharing and retirement plans.

Dump operations study to follow another request for special use

Another request for special days use of the city dump was filed by the St. Johns City Commission Monday night and they're "playing catch" with this one, too, until an administrative study of the dump situation can be made.

This request was from the Young Dray Service, which hauls trash and garbage for downtown merchants. They report they have so many customers they are unable to handle all the refuse on the 2 1/2 days that the dump is open and they asked to use a key to the dump on days it isn't open.

City Manager Harvey Weatherwax was asked to make a study of the dump operation and costs, and the possibility of opening it one or two more days. Tied in with the study will be a look at the possible effects of a new contract with the K & H Refuse Service, which handles garbage and trash pickup in the residential areas.

Mayor Charles Coletta said he felt the local situation still merits study of a per-dump charge for individuals.

COMMISSIONER REX Sirrine told Young that the city dump was closed on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday only because the city's tight finances forced it. "The dump should stay open as soon as it's financially possible," he said.

Weatherwax said he felt he could get the "meat" of his study completed in time for a partial report at the next commission meeting Sept. 9.

Another matter of continuing attention by the commission was the Kuhnmuensch plat for a new subdivision on East Walker Street. Action on the plat was delayed until the Sept. 9 meeting to allow the clerk, city manager and city attorney — all new on the job since the plat was first introduced — time to check and make sure past procedures had been followed correctly. There was some doubt as to whether the introduction of the plat Monday night was for preliminary or final approval.

The Kuhnmuensch plat involves some 12 lots on the north side of East Walker Street between Baker Street and Scott Road. The lots range in size from 84 to 87 1/2 feet in width and 150 feet in depth. The whole platted area is 1,017 feet fronting on Walker.

In other business Monday night * The commission passed a resolution giving the city manager, clerk and treasurer authority to invest tax money in time certificates at local banks. City Manager Weatherwax pointed out that tax money comes in to the city at only a couple of times a year. "We can't see the money laying in a checking account when it could be earning interest, and we don't want to waste the time on a resolution every time we want to do this." The commission granted permission to make the investments.

* Action on a billing from the Grand River Watershed Council of $247.68 was delayed until the city manager can become acquainted with the benefits the city would receive from membership. The amount is the city's per-capita share of the council's operational cost.

* THE COMMISSION ordered plans, specifications and costs determined for sanitary sewer on East Steel Street between Traver and Kibbee Street. The action followed a written request for the sewer from two private property owners and the St. Johns Cemetery Assn.

Soil sampling field day next Thursday

A special preview of a new slide-tape program, "Origin of Soils in Clinton County," will be shown next Thursday at a soil sampling field day being sponsored by the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

The field day will start at 10:30 a.m. on the Maurice Gove farm on M-21 just outside the west limits of St. Johns. After the field demonstration, participants will go to Smith Hall for lunch sponsored by Clinton County fertilizer dealers.

Dr Oatley new commissioner

The St. Johns City Commission is back to full strength now with the appointment of Dr Herb Oatley, St. Johns dentist, to fill the one vacancy created by the resignation and moving from town of John Furry.

Dr Oatley was appointed at a special commission meeting last

Tuesday night and was immediately sworn in. He attended his first meeting as a commissioner Monday night.

Mr Oatley has been in dentistry and has been a resident of St. Johns for 28 years, having come here from Grand Rapids. He and his wife Esther and son David, 15, live at 700 S. Oakland Street. The Oatleys have another son, Mike, 25, and a grandson in Skokie, Ill.

Dr Oatley was instrumental in a fund-raising drive this past spring so the St. Johns swimming pool could be open for youngsters. He was chairman of the Clinton County Memorial Pool Fund.

He has a long record of community service. He was on the St. Johns School Board for six years in the days when Swegles School was built and served for a time as president. He has also been president of the former civic division of the Chamber of Commerce and of Rotary, of which he is still an active member. He was a charter member of the St. Johns Jaycees.

Dr Oatley is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry. He served for four years in the U.S. Navy.

Dr Oatley was one of four candidates placed in nomination for the vacant commission seat last Tuesday night. Others nominated were Ken Mungler, John Hannah and Robert Wood. The commission balloted on each separately, and on the second round agreed on Dr Oatley. The motion was to appoint him as commissioner passed unanimously.

Dr Oatley's term will expire in November 1972.

It takes a little coordination of times when you've got four daughters who play in the band and they all have to practice at home. Mrs Norman Peterson of 211 W. Sturgis Street, says it isn't too much of a problem. Occasions where they practice together are rare, though. Pat, 11, plays the flute, while Jean, 15, is playing the clarinet, Diane, 14, the sax, and Kristy, 13, the cornet.

Quiet hours are few!

4 daughters in band keep notes dancing around Peterson home in St. Johns

Now that school is about to resume, the only quiet hours at the Norman C Peterson home at 211 W. Sturgis Street may very well be school hours and bedtime hours. But that's what you have to expect when you have a musical family.

The Petersons have four daughters in the St. Johns school band program this year — a rather unique situation — and so the sounds of cornet, saxophone, flute and clarinet will be in vogue between 3:30 p.m. and bedtime each day.

But Mrs Peterson doesn't think there'll be much of a problem. Last year when there were three daughters playing, one would practice upstairs and another down, and there wasn't any problem.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

St. Johns firemen answered a call about 3:35 p.m. Tuesday to put out a field fire on Hyde Road near DeWitt Road in Greenbush Township...

Two students from Elsie and one from Ovid were among 298 students at Central Michigan University receiving degrees and certificates in July's graduating class. Richard S. Fabus of 4321 N. Upton Road, Elsie, received a B.S. degree in education. Betty J. Thornton of 4717 Shepardsville Road, Elsie, got a B.S. degree. Penny K. Frey of 6672 Taft Road, Ovid, received a teaching certificate...

An audio visual class earning university credit will be offered Ithaca area students this fall by Central Michigan University's off-campus education office. Students may enroll Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 7 p.m. at Ithaca High School. The course, titled "Elementary and Secondary Education/Library Science 416" earns three hours credit...

nice," Mrs Peterson said. "Kris and Diane were in junior high and had free afternoons, so I could get them to practice before the others got home."

Both Jean and Kris have solo and ensemble experience.

Walter Cole, band director for the St. Johns Public Schools, said it is not too often that a family will have four of their children in band at the same time. If that's the case, next year the Petersons might reach another milestone, for their 10-year-old son, Wayne, is considering starting musical instrument training next summer.

Czech crisis hits home for St. Johns woman

Czechoslovakia. If Russian troops stay, she said, there will be resistance. "But without help from other countries, I don't think the people can do much."

She doesn't believe Russia will listen to any United Nations rebuke of the Soviet action. "As far as reasoning with them, I don't have any hopes, because it was tried peacefully for the last six months."

But Mrs Hospodar is still hoping the situation will be worked out in some peaceful way. She's giving her views here and telling local folks about the Czech people and their desire for freedom. And she's also keeping up correspondence with friends in Czechoslovakia (it takes seven days for letters to get through—at least until the Russian takeover), because, as she says, "I want to let them know we are behind them."

Concern over the occupation of Czechoslovakia by Russian troops is growing in the United States, but probably no one in this area is more concerned about the situation than is Mrs John Hospodar of 2426 E. Colony Road.

Mrs Hospodar is a native of Czechoslovakia, coming to the United States recently enough that she still has strong family ties in that central European nation and can remember days of Czech freedom. Her father and three brothers and sisters are in Bratislava, a city which has staunchly supported Alexander Dubcek and his liberalization policy for the Communist nation.

She hasn't heard from her family since the Russian occupation about a week ago.

"We can only hope and pray this government will do something to make the troops pull out of Czechoslovakia," Mrs Hospodar said, "because I'm afraid there's going to be a war. The people there can handle themselves, and it's going to be something like what happened in Hungary."

"MR DUBCEK COMES FROM THE county where I come from (in Czechoslovakia)," she continued. "All my people are behind him, and I'm afraid my people might be in trouble themselves."

Mrs Hospodar said she realized there wasn't much individuals could do about the situation except to try to understand the Czech people and their stand. She came to the United States in 1939 and has made trips back to visit her family in 1957 and 1960.

"I was there, and I correspond with a lot of people there, and I know what freedom meant to those people. They would do anything for it."

"If Russian troops stay, there will be resistance. The people have their hearts set on freedom already, and there were free elections coming. This spoils it all, and they are bitter. There are many people over there who don't want to go on the way things are. They'll lay down their lives for it."

Mrs Hospodar said that despite the will to resist, there will be problems.

"There can't be any real resistance, because there isn't anything to resist with. When a tank moves in front of your house, how are you going to fight it? You can't fight it with a stone or rock. That's all the people have."

MRS HOSPODAR SAID THAT WHEN she was in Czechoslovakia in 1960, she couldn't even find a decent butcher knife to cut bread. "That's how the country was disarmed."

The disarmament started after World War II when the Russians were "given" Czechoslovakia at the Yalta peace conference. It had been taken over by Germany and had no government; thus, Russia was given control.

When Mrs Hospodar lived there, Czechoslovakia was a free nation. It got its freedom in 1918 and kept it until World War II. Mrs Hospodar came to the United States in 1938 "just to see how this country works." She came to the farm of an uncle near St. Johns. She was detained here by the war and didn't get back until 1957.

"I found things very disturbing then," she said.

MRS STANLEY DAVID REED

Gunnisonville girl wed in California

Gabrielle Ann Heller became the bride of Stanley David Reed in a late afternoon ceremony on Aug. 24 in the Mission San Diego de Alcalá Church.

Msgr. James T. Booth united the daughter of Mrs. Lily A. Heller of 2677 Marathon Drive, San Diego, California and Leo J. Heller of Eagle and the son of Mr and Mrs Norman Reed of San Diego.

Proceeding the bride to the altar were her attendants; maid of honor, Sherri McKenna of San Diego, Connie Greenburg of Lansing, Mary Ann Gremett of San Diego and Maria Long of San Diego.

The bride was given by her brother to the groom in the presence of the best man, Bevin Montgomery. Seating guests were brothers-in-law of the groom, Russell Boehmke, and Alan Van Beusen assisted by Drew Savery.

A reception was held at the LeBaron Hotel following the service. The newlyweds will reside in Los Angeles.

The bride and her family lived in the Gunnisonville area all her life until four years ago. Many friends and relatives now live in this area. Her grandmother, Mrs. Lily Peirce of Covina, Calif. attended the wedding. Those from the Lansing and Clinton County area who came to San Diego to witness the wedding were Mrs. Jerry Saub and daughter Jennifer who was the flower girl. Connie Greenburg, a bridesmaid, Mrs. Roger Coulter and son, Craig, and Mrs. Margaret Stamply.

The Mission San Diego de Alcalá was the first mission established in southern California by Father Junipero Serra. It was built by the Indians. The old Mission bells are rung each time a wedding is performed there. The beautiful patio, luxuriant foliage and flowers and the old wishing well make it a beautiful and romantic spot. It stands high on a hill and overlooks the beautiful city with the bay on one side and the mountains in the distance on the other.

Before going to California, Gay attended St. Therese School and Gabriels High School. She attended Mesa College in San Diego. The groom is attending the Chouinard Institute of Arts in Los Angeles.

Weeds and bad habits seem to be the only things that grow without outside help.

MRS JOHN A. CONNOR

Wicks-Connor repeat vows on August 24

Pamela Ann Wicks, daughter of Mr and Mrs Andy Wicks of Costa Mesa, Calif. and John Connor, son of Mr and Mrs Jack E. Connor were wed at the First United Methodist Church of Costa Mesa on August 24.

The bride wore an A-line gown of silk organza and chantilly lace. Seed pearls trimmed the neckline and an elbow length illusion veil was held in place by a band of pearl decor. To complete the ensemble, she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and orchids.

Sally served her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Harold Wicks, sister-in-law of the bride was secondary attendant. Both wore gowns of floor length design in turquoise blue fashioned of silk organza. Both carried cascades of carnations and yellow roses.

Bill Campbell was best man and Harold Wicks, brother of the bride, was usher.

After the wedding a champagne-buffet dinner served to over 150 people was held at the bride's home.

Special guests were Frank Mitchell, grandfather of the bride from Ionia, aunt of the bride, Miss Dorothy Wicks of Caro and aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr and Mrs Donald Mitchell of Detroit.

Cobb names nominating unit

Mrs Sy Thingstad of Watertown Township has been named chairman of a five-member nominating committee for the Clinton County Republican executive board, county Republican Chairman Andrew Cobb of Elsie announced this week.

Other members of the nominating committee include Lee Rummell of DeWitt, Dale Chapman of Lebanon, Bruce Lanterman of St. Johns and Robert Hebel of Ovid.

Cain's to stage car give-away

Cains, Inc., will give away a used automobile free for the 11th consecutive year Sept. 7 at the Family Drive-In Theater in St. Johns. The car will be given away following the second show in a dusk-till-dawn program planned at the theater.

Tickets for the car are available at the theater or at Cain's on West Higham Street; no purchase is necessary, but the winner of the car must be present at the theater Sept. 7.

KAREN ANN

KAY NAN

Betrothals announced

Mr and Mrs Luther Hawley Jr. of 223 North Main Street, Ovid, take pleasure in announcing the engagements of their twin daughters, Kay Nan to William Forest Michalek, son of Mr Steve Michalek and Mrs Eileen Michalek of St. Johns; and Karen Ann to Michael Ward Lewis, son of Mr and Mrs Don Lewis of Elsie.

Both girls are Ovid-Elsie graduates of 1968 and their fiancés are serving with the United States Navy.

Kay and William plan to exchange vows on Oct. 19 and plans for Karen's wedding are not complete as of yet.

It's always a good time to buy an Accutron® timepiece. But the best time is right now. The Accutron timepiece has no balance wheel, no mainspring, no hairspring. (Therefore no tick) Instead it has a tiny, electronically-powered tuning fork. (That's what makes it hum.) The tuning fork splits a second into 360 equal parts. The best a ticking watch can do is divide a second into 5 or 10 parts. Accutron time is so nearly perfect that Bulova guarantees monthly accuracy to within 60 seconds.†

Local couple see Denver

Mr and Mrs Gayle Vanconsant attended the National Rural Letter Carriers Convention, Denver, Colo., Aug. 13 to 16. Delegates, Auxiliary and Juniors were present from 48 states with a total attendance of 2,471. The auxiliary project for the year was the "Heart Fund" for which they contributed $11,225.00.

Denver is called the "Mile High City" because the altitude on the capitol steps is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level. The capitol dome is covered with authentic gold leaf and very brilliant. Across the street from the capitol is the state museum which is filled with relics from the gold and silver mining days and also Indian curios.

Denver, a beautiful and clean city, has no large industrial plants as in Michigan cities. Denver is also known as the "Washington of the West," as it has more federal, state, and government agency employees than any other city of the country except Washington, D.C. The Denver mint is one of the many attractions for tourists, who may line up for two blocks to see coin money made. Denver has some modern stores and has renovated older sections to resemble the early history.

The Air Force Academy is about 55 miles from downtown Denver and the Chapel for all denominations is a work of art. It is very unusual and outstanding. Economy in its construction and drill field with its interlaced marble sidewalks will not be found anywhere in other military installations of the U.S. Within a 30 minute drive from Denver one can reach the foothills of the front range of mountains. In 6-40 Loveland Pass which is 11,000 feet (snow never melts completely).

Open house

Mr and Mrs Lawrence Ritter will be host and hostess for a reception held in honor of the 48th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr and Mrs Charles Ritter.

The open house will be held at the host's house at 4725 West Howe Road, DeWitt, from 2 to 8 p.m. on Sunday, September 8.

Miss Marion Green became the bride of Charles Ritter before a justice of the peace in Lansing on Sept. 1, 1920. They now reside at 4621 West Howe Road in DeWitt.

MRS. BRUCE LYNN BLIZZARD

DeWitt couple united in St. Johns church

In the candlelit First Congregational Church of St. Johns, Miss Susan Marie Wickerham became the new Mrs. Bruce Lynn Blizzard, Rev. Sidney Rowland solemnized the vows repeated on Aug. 23 and Rev. Gerald Churchill assisted in the double ring ceremony.

The bride was escorted to an altar decked with arrangements of gladioli and mums in yellow and white by her father. Organist was Mrs. Fran Diebert and soloist, Gordon Vandemark, sang "O, Perfect Love" and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School and is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Alfred Wickerham of DeWitt. The groom is a 1964 graduate of the Rodney B. Wilson High School and is the son of Mr and Mrs Arnold Blizzard of DeWitt.

The bride chose a full length gown of traditional white, empire in styling. It featured an A-line skirt and was fashioned of organza and alencon lace. Enhancing the beauty of the gown was a wattleu chapel length train. A cluster of organza and reem-broidered alencon petals held her veil. To complete the bridal ensemble, she carried a cascade of yellow roses and white lace mums.

Miss Cindy Smith was maid of honor. Mrs. Dale Blizzard, sister-in-law of the groom, Cheryl Rumzek, cousin of the bride, Jan Bullard and Betty Wohlert were secondary attendants. Each of the attendants was attired in a fitted A-line dress of yellow crepe with a bodice of white daisy lace. The shoulder length veil was held by a cluster of matching yellow daisies. The maid of honor carried a cascade of yellow roses, daisies, and white lace mums. The other attendants carried cascades of daisies and white lace mums. The flower girl, Stacy Stone, wore a floor length dress of linen and carried a basket arrangement of daisies.

The mother of the bride wore an A-line dress of beige lace with beige accessories. The groom's mother chose a mint green crepe sheath with matching lace jacket and accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

Lyle Greenfield, cousin of the groom, was best man, Dale and Larry, brothers of the groom were groomsmen with Ron Phinney and Roger Wickerham, brother of the bride, Gary Locher and Leslie Warner seated guests, Jeff Dieter was the ring bearer.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Bingham Grange Hall with Mr and Mrs

Friends fete Sue Wickerham

Friends and relatives of the former Susan Wickerham honored her with showers on various dates previous to her wedding to Bruce Blizzard which took place on Aug. 23 at the St. Johns Congregational church.

On July 13, Mrs. Ada Dieter hosted a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect at her home in DeWitt. Mrs. Dieter was assisted by Mrs. Julie Rose.

Miss Wickerham was guest of honor at another miscellaneous shower held on Aug. 4 at the home of Mrs. Ann Greenfield in St. Johns. Mrs. Doris Greenfield and Miss Carol Greenfield were co-hostesses for the event.

A linen shower given by the cousins of the bride was held on Aug. 3. Mrs. Lois Rumzek and Cheryl hosted the shower at their home in Lansing.

Two more miscellaneous showers were held for the bride. Miss Cindy Smith held one at her St. Johns home on Aug. 7 and the following evening, Mrs. Bernice Wohlert and Betty feted the bride at their home in DeWitt.

A week previous to the exchange of vows, Mrs. Vera Norris held a kitchen shower at her home in Lansing assisted by Miss Jan Bullard on Aug. 13.

Kenneth Blizzard acting as host and hostess.

Serving at the reception was Mrs. Jack Wohlert, Kathleen Merrill, Mrs. Robert Secord, Mrs. Thomas Hoover, Kathy Zuker, Debbie Conley, Linda Spoust, Nancy Locher, Cheryl Sultin, Martha Locher, Susan Sibley, Debbie Locher, Wendy Smith and Diane Sibley, Col. and Mrs. C. A. Eckert and family, aunt and uncle of the bride from Saudi Arabia were honored guests.

For her going away outfit, the bride selected an A-line dress of yellow crepe with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations. They toured upper Michigan and Canada and will be home about Sept. 3 in DeWitt.

CAROLYN SEXTON

Carolyn Sexton nursing graduate

Miss Carolyn Ann Sexton, daughter of Mr and Mrs L. G. Sexton of 105 N. Swegles Street, St. Johns, recently completed the two-year associate degree registered nursing program at Northwestern Michigan College, Traverse City.

She received her NMC nursing school pin at special ceremonies held at the college Aug. 23 honoring the 1968 class of 31 graduates. She is planning to work at St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing beginning Sept. 2.

Open house

A farewell open house will be held in honor of Miss Carolyn Nickel. The open house will be held at the United Methodist Church in St. Johns.

Miss Nickel will be leaving the United States soon to start her work as an English and music teacher at the Ewha College in Korea.

The event is scheduled for Sept. 5 from 7 to 9 p.m.

It's all right to pray for the things you want, but it will take a little hustling for the things you must have.

ELIZABETH ONDRUSEK

Engagement

The parents of Miss Elizabeth M. Ondrusek, Mr and Mrs William Ondrusek of St. Johns proudly announce their daughter's engagement and coming betrothal to Dr. Gary J. Kociba, of Columbus, Ohio, Dr. Kociba is the son of Mr and Mrs Peter Kociba of Harbor Beach.

Miss Ondrusek is a graduate of Lansing Business University and is presently employed by the Oldsmobile Division. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan State University and is presently a post-doctoral fellow in veterinary pathology at Ohio State University.

The couple plan to exchange vows on November 23.

Showers honor Mrs Ferguson

Previous to her wedding in late July, Miss Louise Hicks was the guest of honor at several showers hosted by friends and relatives.

A Sunday afternoon shower, hosted by relatives of the groom for relatives of the couple, was held by Mrs. Sam Green at her home. Mrs. E. J. Bottom and Barbara hosted another shower for Louise. One evening, neighbors were hosted by Mrs. Donna Love, Mrs. Marketa Harper and Mrs. Deane Warner.

The bridal attendants feted Louise at a miscellaneous shower. Hostesses were Mrs. Millie Vitek, Mrs. Pat Eldridge and the bride's sister, Lorraine.

East hostess served dainty refreshments and decorated appropriately.

Miss Hicks is now Mrs. Rex Ferguson and they reside in Lansing.

Rapid transit isn't necessary in the pursuit of happiness.

MRS. DANIEL C. PIGGOTT

St. Johns scene of Piggott-Dick vows

Deanna M. Dick of St. Johns and Daniel C. Piggott of Fowler were joined in Holy Matrimony by Father William Hankard at the St. Joseph Catholic Church in a single ring ceremony on August 23.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Walter E. Dick Sr. and is a 1967 graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School. The groom, son of Mr and Mrs Vernon Piggott, graduated from Fowler High School in 1967.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and repeated vows before an altar decked with white glads. Music was played by Tillie Smith.

The bride's gown was a full length creation of Chantilly lace. It featured long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline. The full skirt was tiered and was accented in back by a detachable train. The fingertip veil was secured by a crown of rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white mums.

Each of the bride's attendants wore a full length gown of empire styling with a lace yoke and three-quarter sleeves fashioned in bonded crepe. The maid of honor, Miss Delores Vitek, of St. Johns was gowned in blue. Mrs. Mary Dick wore a green dress. The gown wore by Mrs. Carol Piggott was yellow and Miss Mary Dick wore a lavender dress. Flower girls were Tina and Julie Koski who wore crepe dresses of pink and white respectively.

The mother of the bride wore a fitted A-line dress with lace overcoat. Her corsage was pink roses. Mrs. Piggott chose a dress styled in A-line of yellow linen with a beaded neckline and a shortie jacket. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

David Piggott was the best man and groomsmen were Fred Dick, Wayne Hyde and Phillip Hyer. Larry Feldpausch and Luke Witgen seated guests.

The new couple greeted guests at a reception held after the ceremony at the St. Joseph Social Hall. Lois Zell, Darlene Wirth, Cindy Dick and Betty Smith served.

Grandma Fedewa, Grandpa Piggott, Grandmother and Grandfather Dick and the host and hostess, Mr and Mrs Alfred Merignac were the honored guests.

Before leaving with her husband for their wedding trip through Canada and Upper Michigan, the new Mrs. Piggott donned a lime green suit with navy accessories. They plan to be home in Fowler on Sept. 1.

A sincere thanks to the staff of Clinton Memorial Hospital, Drs Russell and Stephenson, Fathers Hanker, Lablak and Miller; and everyone who remembered me with cards, gifts, visits and for the food brought to my home during my recent stay in the hospital.—Mrs Raymond Schafer. 18-1p

I would like to thank our relatives, neighbors, and friends for the cards, visits, prayers, flowers and gifts I received and the many acts of kindness shown my family during my stay in the hospital—Mrs August Dunay. 18-1p

I wish to thank Father A. Miller, Father M. Miller and all the nurses and nurses' aides at St. Lawrence Hospital for their wonderful care and all the relatives, neighbors, and friends and especially my family for the prayers, visits, cards and food during my stay at the hospital and since my return home.—Mrs Joseph Trieweller. 18-1p

I wish to thank my neighbors for the flowers and food on the day of my son's (Robert Matice) funeral. Also wish to thank Mrs Ray for helping with the dinner. All is greatly appreciated.—Mrs Norman Fredericks. 18-1p

I would like to thank Dr Russell and Grost and also the fine care given me by nurses and nurses' aides; Pastor Harrison for his calls and others who called at the hospital and at my home. These many acts of kindness were very deeply appreciated.—Glen Woodhams. 18-1p

We wish to thank everyone that contributed to the Cancer Carnival of Clinton County, $25 was collected during the afternoon to make it a real success.—Lisa Hicks, Carolyn and Joanne Wilkie. 18-1p

We wish to thank our friends, relatives and neighbors; nurses, nurses' aides, doctors at Ingham Memorial Hospital; Pastor Brooks for his comforting words during the bereavement of our loved one. Our special thanks to the Novaks who helped at the scene of the accident.—The family of Robert Matice. 18-1p

It is difficult to put into words, how deep the appreciation is for all the nice deeds that were done for us during our recent loss. We want to thank each and every one, who remembered us in any way. A very special "Thank-you" to Dr Frank Richards, and to the staff and personnel at Holt Home, Inc., for the devotion and unflinching care given our father, Enza Ives. Another "thank you" to all of those wonderful people who stopped in to visit Dad these past two and one-half years. He enjoyed it, and we appreciated it very much.—Mrs Ardyce Rhyndar, Eric W. Ives. 18-1p

I wish to thank Drs Russell and Bennett, nurses and aides, for their wonderful care I received at Clinton Memorial Hospital. Also Frs. Miller and Hanker, and relatives, for the cards, gifts and visits. Gerald Urban Thelen. 18-1p

Mrs Florence Hansen of Milford and daughter, Joan visited their aunt, Mrs George Chick one day last week.

Twenty Amica Club members and their husbands enjoyed dinner at the Ionia Restaurant and travelled to Lowell for the showboat last Tuesday evening.

Maple Rapids Chapter of Blue Star Mothers met at the home of Wilma Sowles Wednesday. At the short business session, a discussion about going to the Veteran's Facility resulted in no definite action being taken, as the Hospital Chairman, Mrs Vera Corson, was not in attendance.

Mrs Sowles has another box ready for the Viet Nam servicemen. Never can so much be put in a box so well as does Mrs Sowles, and for such a good cause. Any and all donations for this purpose are welcome from anyone. A tentative date of Armed Forces day will be the dedication date for the new Memorial Plaque installed on the old monument. Further plans will be announced later.

Larry W. Aldrich received his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from the Michigan Technological University at the commencement exercises at Houghton, Aug. 23rd. Larry is the son of Mr and Mrs William Aldrich, and graduated from Fulton Schools in 1964.

Mr and Mrs L. B. Walker and children from Chicago, spent the weekend with Helen Bradley and Jan Dugan. Mrs Francis Lumley returned to Chicago, after a visit with Jan Dugan and Helen Bradley.

Mrs Bona Lafler is a patient at Carson City Hospital. Mr and Mrs Terry Thomas are the parents of a new baby girl.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Christian Church will have their annual turkey dinner Oct. 3. More news later as to time and price.

Boxers draw warm reception

Bob Every of St. Johns ducks away from a punch thrown by Albert Hughes of Detroit in their final bout Saturday night.

Pat Pohl (right) of St. Johns dances back out of the line of fire of a jab by Tom Hannah of Detroit in round one of their open middleweight fight. Hannah was awarded a TKO in the third round.

Doug Brya of St. Johns misses with a left jab at Raymond Gray of Detroit and takes a punch to the midsection, but he came on strong in the latter rounds to record a split decision over Gray.

The weeklong heat wave kept the crowd down, but about 1,000 persons did turn out Saturday night to witness the Clinton County Athletic Club's second annual boxing exhibition at the St. Johns High School gym.

Three of the four St. Johns fighters boxing in main event bouts were victorious, and for the whole night six of the 11 local boys fighting won their matches.

Dick Padgett, Doug Brya and Bob Every of St. Johns posted victories in their main event fights. Padgett won a split decision over Mike Fracker of Michigan Center in an open middleweight fight; Brya won a split decision from Raymond Gray of Detroit in an open lightweight fight; and Bob Every posted a unanimous decision over Albert Hughes of Detroit in the final bout of the evening in the open lightweight division.

Pat Pohl of St. Johns was beaten by Tom Hannah of Detroit on a TKO in the third round of their open middleweight main event fight.

THERE WERE FOUR technical knockouts among the 15 bouts, but only one time did any of the fighters get knocked to the canvas. Fred Cunningham of St. Johns knocked John Miller of Muskegon down in the first round of the fifth fight and then recorded a TKO, Ken Kuhns of St. Johns scored a TKO over Herb Heintz of Portland in the second round of their open middleweight fight. Pohl as an open middleweight and Chuck Muckle as a novice middleweight suffered TKOs.

Here's a bout-by-bout report: Fight No. 1 — Barry Kroll of Muskegon won a unanimous decision over Steve Sandborn of Portland in an open heavyweight fight. Kroll used a strong left jab effectively throughout each round and was never in trouble.

Fight No. 2 — This pitted Rick Cole of St. Johns against Dan White of St. Johns, the only time in 13 regular matches that local boys had to fight each other. Cole won a decision in the novice lightweight fight, coming on strong with hard and staggering punches in the second and third rounds.

Fight No. 3 — Tom Kroll of Muskegon was awarded a TKO over Chuck Muckle of St. Johns at 1:10 of the second round of their novice middleweight fight. Muckle had looked good in the first round but stopped a couple of hard Kroll punches in the second that opened a nose cut and prompted the referee to stop the fight.

Fight No. 4 — Dave Turman of Lansing won a split decision from John Jolly of St. Johns in a novice welterweight fight. Jolly seemed to lose some steam in the third round after having a good first round and then trading some good solid hits with Turman in the second.

FIGHT NO. 5 — Novice welterweight Fred Cunningham of St. Johns jumped on John Miller of Muskegon early in the first round, knocking him down after about 30 seconds. He then kept up such a relentless flurry of punches that Miller was hardly able to do anything, and the referee stopped the fight and awarded Cunningham a TKO in the first round.

Fight No. 6 — Dave Peck of St. Johns lost a decision to John Mulvaney of Lansing in a novice heavyweight fight. Peck scored some good hits on Mulvaney in the opening seconds of the fight, but then had no power left. He tired noticeably in the second round and was barely able to finish the fight, although he refused to be decked.

Fight No. 7 — Dan Harrison of Portland fell out of the ring twice in the third round but won a unanimous decision from Tony Petroskey of Muskegon in a novice welterweight fight.

Fight No. 8 — Ken Kuhns of St. Johns jumped on Herb Heintz of Portland early in the first round of their bout, opening up a cut on Heintz's face. He finished it in the second round with a series of windmill uppercuts, and the referee awarded Kuhns a technical knockout over Heintz in the second. There was an open middleweight fight.

Fight No. 9 — This was an exhibition bout between open light heavyweights Leonard Hutchins of Detroit and Johnie Baldwin of Detroit. Hutchins is a two-time AAU champion and the 1968 national Golden Gloves champ; Baldwin is the open welterweight AAU champ. There was no decision rendered in the fight.

Fight No. 10 — Dick Bruno and Mike San Miguel of St. Johns, youngsters in the fight game, boxed an exhibition and went the full three rounds, with, again, no decision being given.

FIGHT NO. 11 — Mark Masarik of St. Johns lost a split decision to Ken Stremler of Portland in an open welterweight fight. Masarik played defense most of the first round, then got aggressive but was not able to score consistently enough in the last two rounds to win the fight.

Fight No. 12 — Dick Padgett of St. Johns came on strong in the third round after a poor start and won a split decision over Mike Fracker of Michigan Center in an open middleweight main event fight. He took some hard punches from Fracker in the first round, but landed some good ones of his own in the third.

Fight No. 13 — Tom Hannah of Detroit proved to be too much for Pat Pohl of St. Johns Saturday night. Pohl was on the receiving end of numerous hard lefts and right in the first two rounds and was staggering when the bell ended the second round. The referee stopped the fight there and awarded Hannah a TKO

Look out, Mark, here it comes. Ken Stremler gets set to deliver a sweeping right to the midsection of St. Johns' Mark Masarik during their open welterweight fight Saturday night at the high school. Masarik withstood the punch but lost a split decision to Stremler.

In the third round, Fight No. 14 — Doug Brya of St. Johns gained confidence and strength in the second and third rounds and scored on some sharp, hard lefts in the third in winning a split decision over Raymond Gray of Detroit in an open lightweight fight.

Fight No. 15 — Bob Every of St. Johns and Albert Hughes of Detroit traded good punches throughout their open lightweight fight, but Every recorded a unanimous decision over Hughes.

Prairie team wins 4-H state softball title

Clinton County's Prairie 4-H Club returned from the 4-H State Show last week with the green division state softball championship title.

The team, managed by Freda Bottum and coached by Don Findley, won three games in the state 4-H tournament. They defeated Shawassee County's top team 6-5 on Aug. 20, then romped past Antrim County 10-1 on Aug. 21. Last Thursday they played the Wheatfields 4-H Club team from Ingham County and won the game, and title, by an 8-4 score.

Richard Randolph pitched all three games for the Prairie 4-H team and allowed a total of only 12 hits, even though pitching with a sore wrist. Catcher Ken Eldridge played most of the tournament with a pulled muscle in his throwing arm.

The opening game was the closest. First baseman Fred Moore deliberately got himself in a rundown between first and second base to allow the winning run to score from third. The run ended a game that saw the Clinton team come from behind in the last inning.

Top hitters for the tournament were Doug Messer, Richard Randolph, Bob Randolph, Larry Wakefield and Fred Moore. Bob Randolph hit home runs in the first two games. Dave Paksi tripled in two runs in the final game to insure the Prairie victory over Ingham County.

Other players on the team not previously mentioned were Gene Messer, Russell Hicks, Jim Findley and Larry Wakefield.

Vince Desmond, Detroit Tigers public relations man, watched the final game and afterward congratulated the Clinton County

Clinton County, area obituaries

Lee O. Brooks

Lee O. Brooks, former resident of St. Johns died at a nursing home in Commerce on Friday.

He was the second son of Frank and Bertha Smith Brooks of early Clinton County pioneer families.

When he was nine, his family moved to North Bloomfield Township in Oakland County. There he received his early education. Then he attended and graduated from Pontiac Business College.

In 1920, he was married to Bessie Francis and in 1924 they moved to the property in White Lake township where they have since resided.

He served as supervisor of his township 1930-35. For two years he was a special investigator for the Illegals commission of the State of Michigan. In 1937, he was appointed to the County Road Commission.

Among his achievements was the presidency of the Michigan Road Commissioners and Engineers Association for two years. He was a member of the White Lake Center School Board for 18 years and served on the Huron Valley Board of Education for four years being president in 1950. Due to his devotion and length of service in this capacity, a new school was named in his honor. Because of his special interest in the younger generation he was on the Huron Valley Boy Scout Council for 18 years and was president of this board in 1948.

He was the recipient of the Silver Beaver Award, the highest award in scouting.

He is survived by his widow, Bessie and two sons, Dr. Leroy Brooks of Cleveland, Ohio and Gordon of Pontiac; one daughter, Nancy of Holt and 10 grandchildren.

Mrs. George H. Brooks and Miss Maralyse Brooks attended the funeral at Mandan Lake Community Church on Monday.

There's really no substitute for character or reputation.

Arline Homer

Mrs. Arline L. Homer, 54, died Saturday at the Ford Hospital in Detroit after a prolonged illness. Mrs. Homer is the wife of Rev. Harold Homer, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of St. Johns and resided at 105 Linden Street.

Mrs. Homer was born in Manatee in 1914, the daughter of Anvid and Lena Hendrickson Ecklund. She attended school in the Muskegon Heights area. She lived in Muskegon Heights until her marriage and her last months were spent in St. Johns.

Arrangements were made by the Osgood Funeral Home and services were held at the First United Methodist Church of St. Johns and interment was in Mount Rest Cemetery.

She was a member of her husband's church and was active in the Woman's Society of Christian Service. Survivors include her widower, Rev. Homer, four daughters, Mrs. Barbara Ann Tew of Battle Creek, Mrs. June E. Willis of Davison and Mrs. Joanne R. Hansen and Mrs. Jean M. Bowen both of Lansing; a brother, Vern A. Ecklund of Muskegon and three grandsons.

Survivors include her widow, Ruth, a son Carl Jr. of Lansing, a daughter, Mrs. Lela Hodges of Mason, a sister Amelia of Los Angeles, Calif.; three brothers, John of DeWitt, Frank of Comins and Max of Lansing and three grandchildren.

Robert Matice

School night for Scouting being planned

A school night for Scouting is being scheduled for Sept. 26 in the seven districts of the Chief Okemos Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Cub and Boy Scout-age boys with their parents will be invited to visit their local school to find out what Scouting is all about and to join up that night. Personnel from existing packs and troops in the area will be on hand to answer any questions and to sign up boys.

Zane Benedict is school night chairman for the Chippewa District, which includes all of Clinton County and Portland and Danby townships in Ionia County.

Other District 5 dates for September are: Sept. 9, district committee meeting; Sept. 12, football ushers meeting at MSU.

Sept. 14, Showando at Camp Kiwanis from 10 a.m. to 8:45 p.m., with tips on subjects such as lashing, wood tools, first aid, pack packing and tin can cookery.

The fall camporee for the district is scheduled for Oct. 11, 12 and 13.

Student dress code repeated

The St. Johns Board of Education recently reaffirmed the student dress code for students at Rodney B. Wilson High School.

"It has been made apparent that appropriate dress and neatness have a relationship to study habits and also reflects a more favorable image of the entire school," Principal B. Stanley Pocus commented.

"Personal appearance, like habits of attendance and punctuality, have been determined to be essential lessons to be learned to qualify one for the duties of citizenship, and the school is an appropriate place to learn these lessons."

For those reasons, Pocus said, the following guides for proper and business-like dress are outlined:

GIRLS

Girls should wear skirts (of reasonable length) and blouses or sweaters or dresses, or culottes of reasonable length and fullness. Slacks, bermudas, shorts, kilts or shirts that are split on the sides, pant dresses, bloomer dresses and such may not be worn to school.

Heavy, formal, or exaggerated makeup is not acceptable during the school day. The hair style, as well, should be neat and clean at all times. Extreme hair arrangements that detract from a wholesome appearance will be considered in bad taste.

BOYS

Boys should wear clean slacks or jeans with the belt line above the hips. Sport shirts or regular dress shirts must be kept buttoned, except for the top button, and all shirt tails must be tucked in. Extreme-fitting slacks which are excessively tight across the hips and/or very narrow in the legs will be considered improper wear. Boys must wear socks.

The conventional hair style, which is kept trimmed and neat are recommended. Extreme hair arrangements or long hair hanging down over the forehead, ears, and/or back of neck, will be considered in bad taste.

STUDENTS IN VIOLATION of the dress code may be temporarily suspended until the matter is corrected.

Although smoking has always been forbidden at school and at all school activities, students will also be forbidden to visibly carry cigarettes on their person in the school. Smoking will also be forbidden in the immediate area of the school grounds. Also, drinking or the use of narcotic drugs, as well as evidence of having been drinking, or using narcotic drugs, is also strictly prohibited at school and all school sponsored activities. Violation of smoking, drinking and drug regulations will place a student in the position of immediate suspension from school for the remainder of the school year.

Pocus pointed out that "It is our policy to encourage the highest standards of student behavior in school, at school activities, and in the community. It is an accepted fact that high standards of behavior and conduct will in turn lead to high personal standards of courtesy, decency, morality, honesty and wholesome relationships with others."

"The wholehearted support and cooperation of all parents of high school students is, of course, essential for the realization of these goals, which in the final analysis is for the most benefit to the young people under our supervision."

Winter is coming

Get your heating system in shape

If your home is one of the more than 30 million that has a gas heating system, a minimum of routine maintenance measures will get it ready for the coming season.

According to the American Gas Assn., the following steps should be taken:

If your home has forced warm air heating, the filters should be changed. A.G.A. recommends that this be done at least twice during the heating season.

The motor of your furnace fan or hot water circulating pump should be lubricated. This should be done at least three times annually. After completing this chore, be sure to remove any oily rags used when cleaning. Combustible material should not be stored in a furnace room.

Check your chimney. If it's blocked in any way, you won't get proper venting. Hold a hand mirror inside the chimney at the clean-out opening or at the lowest vent pipe connection. You should get reflected light if your chimney is clear of obstructions.

Check chimney connections. Make sure vent pipes fit snugly into the chimney.

CHECK YOUR THERMOSTAT

Turn it up and wait until warm air begins to flow. Then turn it down and listen for the blower to shut itself off. If the unit passes this quick test, you can be sure that the pilot is on and that the thermostat and blower are in proper working order. While you are at it, adjust the thermostat dial to the setting that will be most comfortable for your family throughout the winter. You will find that your gas heating system will work more efficiently and economically if thermostat re-settings are kept to a minimum.

If during the course of your maintenance and testing you encounter a condition that seems to be abnormal, do not attempt to correct it yourself. While a gas heating system is not overly complex, specialized knowledge is required to repair it. Call in a qualified contractor or your gas company service department.

Mothers picnic at City Park

About 20 members of the Blue Star Mothers met in the City Park, Tuesday, Aug. 20 for a meeting and picnic.

After dinner, president, Jessie Finch called the meeting to order with the usual opening. Reports were given on the candy sale on sidewalk day, on the carnival at the Veterans Facility at Grand Rapids and Ruth DeBoer, chairman of the ways and means committee sent a good report.

Chloe Bartholomew, Americanism chairman, reported the sale of two more window banners. The banners are for any family with a son or daughter in service. The price is $1 and the flags are available with one, two or three stars. Gold star banners are also available. Mrs. Bartholomew also spoke of the poor display of the American flag around town on V. J. Day, Aug. 14 and again stressed the priceless right we have to fly our American flag.

Letters were read from the national president and state president. Also an invitation to the chapter from Mr. and Mrs. Nativida Medina for a wedding reception for their son, Cesar and bride, Mrs. Medina (Roman) is a chapter member.

Sick cards were sent to Anna Pierson, Leone Kiste, and Mrs. Emily Leik. The mystery package was won by Hortense Price. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 10.

Experts estimate that more than 5,000 lives would be saved each year in the United States and that injuries would be reduced by one-third if everyone used auto seat belts, says the Insurance Information Institute.

ROY A. KOENIGSKNECHT

Receives degree

Roy A. Koenigsnecht, formerly of Fowler, was awarded a Ph.D. degree in Communicative Disorders from Northwestern University in August, 1968. Dr. Koenigsnecht is married to the former Marile Dani of Hermansville, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Koenigsnecht of 1285 Townsend Road, Fowler.

A 1960 graduate of Fowler High School, Dr. Koenigsnecht received his B.A. degree from Central Michigan University in 1964, while at CMU he was president of the senior class and president of his social fraternity, Delta Sigma Phi. In 1965, Dr. Koenigsnecht was granted his M.A. degree in Communicative Disorders from Northwestern University.

Dr. Koenigsnecht has accepted a position with the faculty at Northwestern University beginning in the fall of 1968.

This map locates the sites of eight rural one-room schools which the St. Johns School District will continue to use this year. By number they are: 1) Greenwood School; 2) Gardner School; 3) Sage School; 4) Lamb School; 5) Cramer School; 6) Stoney Creek School; 7) County Farm School; and 8) Krepps School.

8 one-room schools get one-year lease on life

New neighborhood elementary schools are serving students in the outlying areas of the district for the first time this year, but rural pupils nearest to St. Johns will have another year in one-room buildings.

But it will not be a one-room type of instruction this year.

The need to continue using the one-room schools is caused by the time lapse in the completion of the new high school in town. When that is done—it's scheduled for use in the fall of 1969—junior high students at Central School will occupy the present high school.

That will open up a lot of space at Central for the rural elementary students who live near St. Johns.

Until that time, however, school officials are planning to use some of the better one-room school buildings to house the pupils nearest to St. Johns who are assigned to the city schools under the district's attendance plan.

EACH OF THE EIGHT schools will house only one grade of a two-grade combination. Students will be transported to the proper schools after arriving in St. Johns on the high school bus routes. Students from two schools will ride each of the shuttle buses from the city out to their schools. They'll be brought back into town a little early each day and ride the high school buses back home.

Here are the schools and their grade assignments, numbered according to the accompanying map:

1) Greenwood School, DeWitt Road at Banner Road. This will house type B special education students and replaces the former Orchard School on West State Street in the city. Two teachers will be assigned at Greenwood.

2) Gardner School, West Walker Road at Airport. This will house third graders from the city attendance area.

5 county frosh at Alma on revised curriculum

Alma College's 375 incoming freshmen, including five in the St. Johns area, will begin their studies in September under a revised curriculum that minimizes required courses, thus providing each student with greater individual choice in selecting an educational program to meet his particular needs.

The St. Johns area freshmen at Alma College include:

Linda Marie Friesen, daughter of the Rev and Mrs Eugene W. Friesen of Parks Road, R-4, St. Johns, a Rodney B. Wilson High School graduate;

DeeAnn Kay Gill, daughter of Mr and Mrs Robert A. Gill of 3331 W. Parks Road, St. Johns, a Rodney B. Wilson High School graduate;

Joanne Rae Hecht, daughter of Mr and Mrs Donald R. Hecht of R-2, St. Johns, a Rodney B. Wilson High School graduate;

Kenneth J. Kurnez, son of Mr and Mrs John Kurnez of 2800 N. Williams Road, St. Johns, a Rodney B. Wilson High School graduate;

Carol Jean Ormsby, daughter of Mr and Mrs Russell M. Ormsby of R-6, St. Johns, an Ovid-Elsie High School graduate.

PREVIOUSLY, REQUIRED COURSES at Alma constituted more than half of a normal four-year program. Dropped from the required list at the start of the 1968-69 academic year are several previously required

Bus students reminded of rules, regulations

Bus students in the St. Johns School District - and that includes just about all rural students this year - were reminded this week by Steve Bakita, administrative assistant in charge of transportation, of bus rules and regulations.

1.) The driver is responsible for the bus and the safety of the pupils. His instructions and requests must be followed without question.

2.) Pupils must avoid talking to the driver except when absolutely necessary to insure maximum attention to the road.

3) Normal conversation is permitted and expected. However, to insure greater safety, shouting, wrestling, pushing and changing seats will be prohibited in the bus at all times.

4) Smoking and profane language by anyone is absolutely prohibited in the bus at all times.

5) Refrain from throwing waste paper and rubbish on the floor of the bus.

6) Always keep your head and arms inside the bus.

7) Never attempt to leave the bus while it is in motion.

8) Never open or tamper with the emergency door or any other of the bus equipment. Do not leave bus by emergency door, except in case of emergency.

9) Before crossing the road after leaving the bus, cross in front of the bus only on the signal from the driver and after making sure no other vehicles are approaching.

10) The driver shall ask any person not observing the above regulations to leave the bus, and that person will not be permitted to ride again until the administration, bus driver and parents have satisfactorily settled the matter.

12 new faces on faculty at Bath

Bath—Twelve new faces will be seen among the faculty of the Bath school system when it commences operations Sept. 3.

The first day will be strictly for teachers only. Half day sessions will be held for the students on Sept. 4 from 8:30 to noon when buses will return children to their homes. That afternoon is reserved for more teacher orientation and preparation periods.

High schoolers will find Miss Rita Pence and Mr Sandy Shaw new to the English department. Shaw will also teach Spanish. Mrs Janet Jensen will instruct girl's physical education. Mrs Nancy LeBeau has assumed duties in the mathematics and art departments. Alan Bulgrin will be a part-time instructor in the shop.

In the lower grades, the sixth grade has Miss Carol Hall, Miss Judy Boss, Miss Judy Smith and Mrs Stimson added to the teachers roster. Mrs Nedra Williams will have responsibility for one seventh grade.

Kindergartners will not be expected to be in classes the first partial week, but instead will register at that time and will start classes the first full week of the school session on Sept. 9.

The fifth and sixth grades will be housed with the junior high school in the James Couzens building. It is expected that the new building under construction at this time will be ready for use by the first of December.

Curriculum changes in the high school are few. A nine-week unit in chef's club, an instruction class in cooking for boys, has been added to the schedule of classes, and a revision in the social studies grouping has been made. A new unit on South America and Africa has been added. No other major changes have occurred in the system.

About 200,000 men, aged 45 to 64, breadwinners upon whom a family's well-being depends, die each year from heart and circulatory diseases) says the Michigan Heart Assn., a Michigan United Fund agency. For more information write or call the nearest heart office or information center.

121 years between them

Only 2 of 3-sister teaching team returning to classroom

EAGLE—When the school bells are sounded this fall 1968, they will, for the first time since 1931, be calling back only two members of a three-sister teaching team.

The teachers, Mrs Agnes Lietzke, Mrs Helen McCrumb Smith, and Miss Mary McCrumb, all of whom reside in Eagle Township, have a combined teaching record of 121 years.

But this year Mrs Smith decided that she would enjoy at least a part time rest. Instead of answering the school bell's call she will remain at the McCrumb homestead on Clintonia Road and she plans to do some activities for which there did not seem to be time when there were many teaching duties.

All three sisters — Agnes, Helen, and Mary as they have become known in the Eagle Community — taught in Clinton County schools until 1965 when Brown School and the Village School at Eagle became a part of Portland Public Schools through annexation. Brown School was closed, so Mrs Lietzke went to Portland to teach fifth grade. Mrs Smith and Miss McCrumb remained at Eagle until this past June.

THIS FALL Miss McCrumb will be teaching a fifth grade class in Portland and Mrs Lietzke, who already has completed 43 years of teaching, will continue her fifth grade teaching in Portland.

Miss McCrumb will just be changing teaching partners. After having taught 25 years in the room next to her sister in Eagle, she will be teaching in the room next to her other sister's room in Portland.

During their many years of teaching in Clinton County, the three sisters taught under the late Miss Mattie A. Smith and Bryan J. Wilber, also now deceased. Both Miss Smith and Mr Wilber were known as "school commissioners." In more recent years they taught under the supervision of Carl Bates the present Superintendent of Clinton County Intermediate District.

Mrs Helen McCrumb Smith may have set some sort of a teaching record. She taught two years in North Eagle School and then in the fall of 1929 started teaching in Eagle Village. She taught in the very same room from that time until July 6, 1968—a total of 39 years in one room.

"Eagle is where I wanted to be," she says. "I was happy there and never wanted to change. In the drawer in the desk which was mine for many years, above my signature are written these words,

"With Fond Memories Eagle School Fall 1929—to June 6, 1968."

Bath girl earns double honors

Josephine Ann Clise of Bath has received double scholarships honors from Central Michigan University.

She was one of 1,149 students named to the scholastic honors list for the spring semester and also one of 92 students honored for achieving a straight "A" average during that time.

She is a senior at CMU and lives at 12566 Webster Road, Bath.

While watching television, sit 10 feet or more from the set, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, advises. Have the set at eye level and leave a lamp burning in the room while the television is turned on.

Soil test service expanded

Michigan's soil testing services have been expanded to offer farmers more ways to check their soil nutrition programs, reports a Michigan State University soil scientist.

Dr. E. C. Doll, director of the central soil testing laboratory at MSU, says the new tests are for total carbon, micronutrient availability and nutrient ratios. They were suggested by county Extension agents.

George McQueen, Clinton County agricultural agent, says results of a total carbon analysis give a measure of the soil's organic matter content. Technicians correlate this with the field's cropping history for more precise recommendations for nitrogen fertilizer and rates of pesticide application.

Critical levels of copper, manganese and zinc may be determined by micronutrient tests offered only at the MSU lab, says McQueen. Scientists have expressed concern about possible toxic conditions in muck soils where an excess of any one of these has been applied for several years.

A NEW FEATURE of the standard soil test is the calculation of relative concentrations of the three important nutrients. Referred to as the "per cent total exchangeable bases," the test shows whether an imbalance exists which could reduce the availability of magnesium, calcium or potassium.

It is of special interest to operators whose fields have plenty of potassium and show a corresponding low test for magnesium, explains McQueen. The results of a pre-season soil test can indicate the nature of the problem to change the fertilizer "prescription."

ASC PROGRAM

Barley determined as feed grain for 1969 program

Last week we announced that barley would be considered a feed grain for the 1969 feed grain program.

A very important change has been made in the use of a farm barley base under the 1969 program for feed grains. It is particularly important to you right now in case you are planning to substitute wheat for barley under the 1969 programs.

Barley is now included in the feed grain program for 1969 just like corn and grain sorghum. You may substitute between these three feed grains within your feed grain permitted acreage, and you may substitute between wheat and feed grains within the limit of your total permitted acreage for all of these crops.

Earlier information in pamphlets mailed with 1969 wheat allotment notices and publicized through news items stated that barley would not be included in the feed grain program for 1969, but that the barley base could be requested and approved for purposes of substituting wheat for barley provided 15 per cent of the approved barley base was diverted. These statements are no longer correct.

PRODUCERS MAY still substitute wheat for barley just as they can substitute wheat for corn and grain sorghums. The required minimum diversion for feed grains under the 1969 program has not been determined at this time, but it will be determined and announced just as soon as possible. (Minimum diversion requirement under the 1968 program was 20 per cent of the feed grain base for the farm.)

Should you have any questions concerning how this change in the use of the barley base for 1969 will affect your farming operation, please contact our office immediately.

Wheat producers have been notified of their 1969 wheat acreage allotments and of their option to participate in the 1969 wheat program. The sign-up date for this program will be in February or March of 1969.

Farmers interested in participating in this program will certainly be anxious to plant their wheat acreage allotment and to divert the necessary minimum acreage required. They may also desire to divert more acreage for program payments and receive a diverted acreage payment for not planting all of their wheat acreage allotment. Therefore, it is important that those farmers who intend to participate be very sure they have stayed within the acreage requirements.

WE ARE INFORMING farmers about the availability of the measurement service offered by our ASCS office at a very small cost of $5 plus 10 cents an acre for the number of acres that they need to have measured. It is a small cost to pay to be sure that they have met program requirements. The time to request this measurement service is prior to planting time so they will be sure they have planted all the wheat acreage that they are permitted to plant and to set aside the acreage that they would be required to divert from the production of a crop.

Our ASCS office is a farmer service organization. We are anxious to assist farmers and help them save time, labor, machinery, seed and fertilizer — and most important, money. Some farmers who guessed at their acreages last year had reductions in their payments, or else lost their entire payment because they had erred in their estimates. The measurement service avoids this.

TOP 4-H AWARD WINNERS

Clover Awards for outstanding service to the youth of Michigan were presented to 4-H club leaders during the annual State 4-H Show, August 22 at Michigan State University. The Michigan 4-H Foundation awarded each leader a pin with a precious gem, signifying number of years of service. Among the leaders were: Rex Ballantine, Elsie, 20 years, left; Mrs Russell Sibley, DeWitt; Andrew Cobb, Elsie; Mrs Esther Plowman, St. Johns, all 25 years; and Mrs Lawrence Heiback, St. Johns, 20 years. Dr Gordon Stocking, president of the Foundation, third from left, made the awards.

Says ag cooperatives must be ready to change

To be effective, the agricultural cooperative must remain flexible and meet the changing needs of its membership, cautioned a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Speaking in Detroit at a recent conference devoted to evaluating cooperatives and making proposals for their improvement, Dr Glynn McBride noted that young farmers today want to know what economic benefits can be derived from belonging.

"The present younger generation and potential cooperative members in the years to come are no longer willing to accept intangible returns from the 'superior' life of living on a farm as a part of their total income from farming," said McBride.

"They are concerned with long hours and the lack of free weekends, paid vacations and other fringe benefits which are a part of the nonagricultural sector of the economy."

MANY ALSO FEEL that programs which relate to size of a member's farm operation should be carefully reviewed, McBride said.

"Equitable treatment of members is taken to mean that each member is treated according to the policies established, and this does not necessarily mean that all members are treated equally," he pointed out. Many young farmers feel certain special provisions should accrue to large or more active members.

In general, farmers are concerned over the future of agricultural cooperatives, and they recognize the need for new programs, McBride concluded.

Timing important nitrogen factor

Wheat farmers can harvest an extra five to 15 bushels per acre if they apply extra nitrogen. But they have to keep one eye on the carrier and the other on the calendar, contends a Michigan State University soil scientist.

"It's essential to stimulate vigorous initial growth by drilling a complete fertilizer containing 10 to 15 pounds of nitrogen in September," says Dr Arthur R. Wolcott. "Extra nitrogen can be added either before or after this planting time primer."

Pre-plant anhydrous ammonia may be plowed down at the rate of 20 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre or injected after wheat is up in October or November. Either application will encourage a strong spring comeback.

Higher yields and improved milling quality are equally possible with the properly timed use of several other carriers according to Wolcott.

Fields show favorable response to supplemental urea when topdressed in late winter (February). Ammonium nitrate and ammonium sulfate are most effective when topdressed on frozen ground in April or March, says Wolcott.

FALL FEEDER CATTLE SALE DATES SET

The Clare Livestock Auction is holding its sixth annual fall feeder cattle sale on Saturday, Sept. 21 and Saturday, Oct. 19, this year. A total of about 2,000 feeder cattle are expected at these two special sales.

PRODUCTION REPORTED

Duane and Velmar Green of Elsie have been notified that Green Meadow Venus Fer 5034610 (VC), a registered Holstein in their herd, has produced 111,160 pounds of milk and 4,075 pounds of butterfat in 2,381 days since becoming two year of age.

Whether caused by flame or chemicals, a burn in the eye should be flooded with water immediately, advises the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., for approximately 15 minutes. Hold the head under a faucet or pour cool water into the eye from a glass, pot, kettle, etc. Do not use an eye cup. Burns, especially those from chemicals, should be examined by a doctor as soon as possible.

today's Heifers . . . . tomorrow's Cows

A development program by Gerald & Jim Becker

The average cow in the U.S. milks only 3.9 years before she breaks down or is sold because of poor production. To maintain our dairy first-calf heifers must replace their elders on the milk line, each year. Our future depends on our replacements. We like to have our heifers calve at 24-25 months of age. Heifers should be bred by weight not age, and should weigh at least 750 to 800 pounds.

WE TRY TO REACH THE ABOVE GOALS BY THE FOLLOWING METHODS:

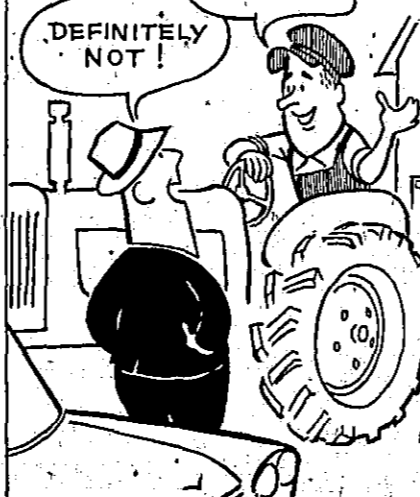

age of calf	procedure
1-4 DAYS	Let the calf nurse the cow 24 hours and then feed colostrum up to four days.
4-5 DAYS	On the fourth or fifth day we move the calf to a separate pen or stall. At this time we (1) switch from colostrum to FARM BUREAU MILK REPLACER and feed twice daily (2) start the calf on CALF PRIMER, feed free choice.
15 DAYS	At 15 days of age start free choice feeding of good quality hay in rack and provide clean fresh water and salt.
42 DAYS	At 42 days of age, we start weaning the calf off FARM BUREAU MILK REPLACER, gradually decreasing the MILK REPLACER. Have calf completely weaned by 28 days of age. Beginning at five months the calf primer is taken away and over a period of five days are gradually switched to our regular ration. age, weight, .

Sluggish plumbing may indicate septic stoppage or overload

Sluggish plumbing may indicate serious stoppage or overload in your septic tank system, according to Prof. Carlton M. Edwards, Michigan State University agricultural engineer.

"If free flow is not restored after a session with a plunger, the cause of annoyance is probably somewhere in the disposal field," Edwards says. "Household drains and toilets can back up when drain lines are filled with either ground water or effluent from the tank."

When the system operates normally, wastes entering the tank displace an equal volume of its contents. Effluent from the surface of settled sewage which has been acted upon by bacteria for several days is then pushed out into the drain lines and dispersed in the soil.

"But if the lines are already full of ground water or blocked by solids, the effluent has no place to go," Edwards explains. "Fresh sewage cannot get into the tank at the other end and so backs up into the household plumbing."

PROLONGED RAINFALL or seasonally high water table may contribute to this chain reaction by soaking the ground around the drain tiles. Swelling soil particles and water-filled pores inhibit normal percolation.

In this case, even if the lines are open, waterlogged soil can still team up with a filled septic tank to cause slow-draining toilets and sinks.

"Before you hire someone to relocate the tile lines or pump the tank, give the system a rest," Edwards advises. "Use the laundromat, do dishes by hand and restrict toilet flushing for a few days."

If the condition is temporary, symptoms should disappear as the level of liquid in the tank drops. Seasonal wetness and ground water usually interfere infrequently unless the site was selected improperly in the first place.

"If stoppage occurs repeatedly, check the depth of the sludge on the bottom of the tank," Edwards says. "The accumulation may have reduced the tank's capacity so much that what was once a normal load has become an overload."

A professional septic tank service can restore full capacity by pumping out the layer of undecomposed solids. Maximum allowable sludge depth is one-fourth the known depth of the tank.

"Don't rule out the possibility of genuine overload," Edwards warns. "Many homeowners increase water use with a new appliance, a baby or a few guests, and then wonder why the system acts up more than it used to," Edwards points out.

5 Green Meadow cows top 49,000 quarts in lifetime

ELSIE— Five cows in the Green Meadows herd owned by Duane and Velmar Green of Elsie have been credited with career food production totals exceeding 100,000 pounds (49,000) quarts of milk.

The cows were identified last week by the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America. The association noted that cows that stay in a herd longer and achieve high lifetime production have proven to be more profitable, because of the high cost of herd replacements.

The Green Meadows cows and their records include:

Rowdale Florence Centurion 5353576 (GP), 114,970 pounds of milk and 3,931 pounds of butterfat in 2,716 days; Dewdrop Holm Oak Vinedale 5117532 (GP), 106,864 pounds of milk and 4,172 pounds of butterfat in 2,930 days; Heather Grace De Vries 5398881 (GP), 108,720 pounds of milk and 3,235 pounds of butterfat in 2,625 days; Carrie Rocket 4843291 (VG) 100,513 pounds of milk and 3,802 pounds of butterfat in 3,479 days; and Green Meadow Topsy Starmist 458503 (VG), 105,998 pounds of milk and 4,008 pounds of butterfat in 2,991 days.

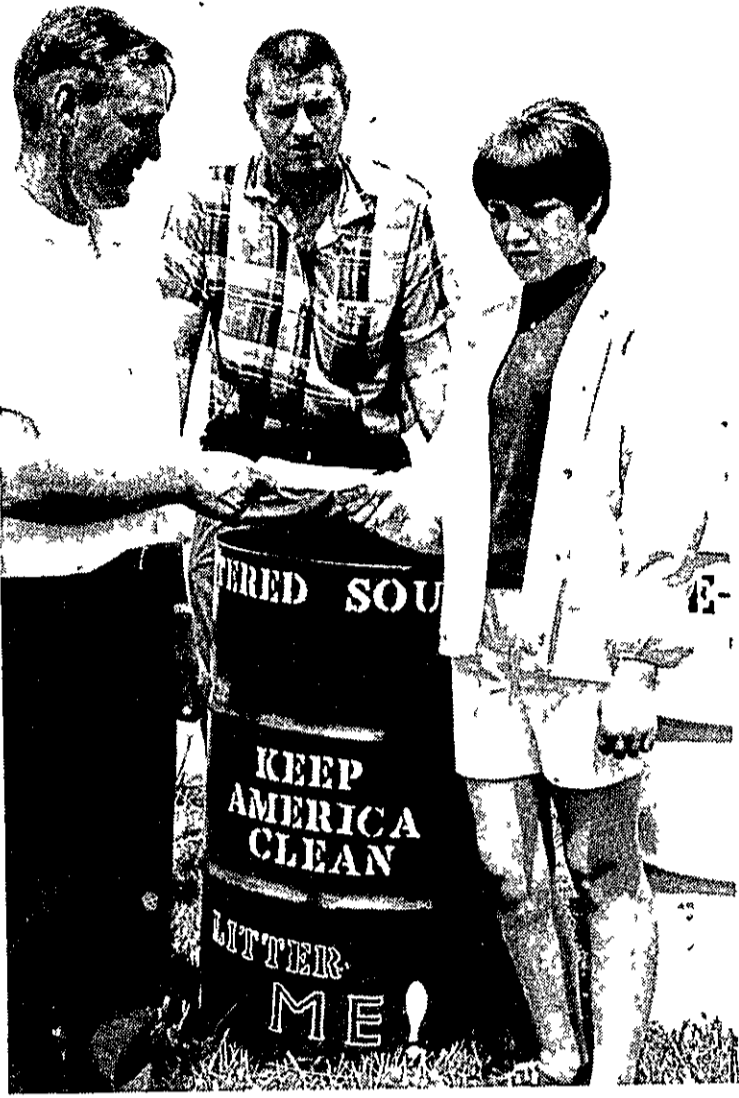

The first agricultural experiment farm in the United States was started near Savannah, Ga., in 1735.

SHE WINS SCRAP BOOK CONTEST

The Clinton County Soil Conservation District chose 4-H Fair time to present a check for $10 to the state winner of a conservation scrapbook contest sponsored by the Michigan State Grange and the Michigan Association of Soil Conservation Districts. The winner was a rural St. Johns girl, Patricia Ann Mygrants of 6643 S. Krepps Road, R-5, St. Johns. Clinton SCD Treasurer William Mayers presents the check to Patricia while 4-H youth agent John Aylsworth looks on. The litter barrels in the picture were painted by 4-H'ers.

Beef Field Day to offer variety

The second annual Beef Mechanization Field Day Wednesday, Sept. 4, near Seneca, Mich., is slated to provide something of interest for both cattle feeders and dairymen.

A new slotted-floor finishing unit, a liquid manure system, a horizontal silo with a 2,000-ton capacity, sealed grain storage and a trailer-mounted mixer with scale are among the many features of the Jack and Irene Raymond farm which will be highlighted during a five-stop morning tour.

The tours will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue throughout the morning. A speaker stationed at each stop will spend 10 to 12 minutes explaining the various operational and managerial aspects of the 600-acre Raymond farm.

Following a noon luncheon and the introduction of the host farmers by Lenawee County Extension agricultural agent John Comstock, silage harvesting and silo filling demonstrations will be conducted. Harvesting of 20-, 30- and 40-inch rows will be shown.

The farm, which is operated as a partnership between Jack Raymond and his stepson, Dave Shutzman, currently is feeding about 700 head, most of which were bought as yearlings at approximately 700 pounds each. Some 500 acres are planted in corn, with the remainder in wheat, oats or alfalfa.

Beef Mechanization Field Day is jointly sponsored by the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Michigan State University, and the Lenawee County Extension Service.

McQueen writes on . . . Soil management

BY GEORGE McQUEEN
Extension Agricultural Agent

All Clinton County farming stems back to some form of crop production on the soil. The management of soil is the basis upon which all agriculture production rests.

Your soil is a living thing, and like animals it can be weak or strong. Soils differ in their ability to accomplish things.

A pertinent fact about soils is that neither you, nor anyone else, can look at them or feel them and say a great deal about their fertility. Much can be said about its potential and productivity, however, from a visual observation. For example, a soil may be well drained, be in good physical condition, and have thick topsoil, but still be poor in fertility.

This is where soil testing enters the picture. Although you can't see or feel the fertility status of your soil, a soil test can "see" it for you.

A soil test is the best way to determine how to make poor, but potentially productive soils,

Michigan State University scientists are isolating proteins from alfalfa leaves, identifying them and testing worth. These proteins, the scientists hope, can be combined to make a new food product for humans.

rich in plant nutrients. Such soils produce high crop yields at a low unit cost of production.

This is the reason I am urging all farmers to take soil samples and have them tested. Bring them to the laboratory at least a month in advance if possible. Don't guess—soil test!

Lynn and April Hughton spent the week with their grandparents Mr and Mrs George Davis touring in northern Michigan.

Mr and Mrs Floyd Bouter spent several days visiting Mrs. H. C. Daley of Highland Park, Mrs. Lora Livsey of Allen Park and Carl Brademeyer of Dearborn Heights.

Mr and Mrs Frank Ladicki, Joanne, Joe, and Frank went to Ft. Knox, Ky., recently to attend the graduation of their son, Edward, basic training in the army. Edward returned home for a ten day leave then goes back to Ft. Knox to attend an Advanced Individual Training School in Welding.

Mrs. Walter McGuire is home following surgery in Clinton Memorial Hospital in St. Johns.

The first of the week, Mr and Mrs Earl Clark and family toured the Sleeping Bear Dunes, climbed the dunes then took the dune rides. They stayed at Young State Park on Lake Charlevoix. They also toured the Atomic Power Plant at Big Rock Point, Castle Van Haver near Charlevoix and Hartwick Pines. The past weekend Mr and Mrs Earl Clark and family and her sister and husband and family, Mr and Mrs Jack Gann of Lansing went to Cedar Point near Sandusky, Ohio. Cedar Point is an amusement park on Lake Erie. They report the ride on the Space Spiral was an interesting experience. This was taken at night so they enjoyed the lights of the area, on the lake and also the white caps. The Sky Ride (cable cars) over the midway was one means of transportation which the group took but they much preferred the train ride track. Frontier Land consists of the Golden Palace where they were waited on by "Miss Kitty". Only soft drinks, pretzels, and potato chips were served while watching the roulette show. Indians were in Frontier Land and put on three ceremonial dances. They saw the tree show at Sea Leap put on by the lion and electric eel. They also took the river boat ride and saw the wax museum.

Staff meeting Sept. 4 to open school year in Fowler system

By MRS. DONALD FEDEWA, Fowler Correspondent

Grades two through six will register from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Sept. 4 at the elementary school. Books may be purchased and fees paid at this time. Parents of kindergarten students will be notified by letter of the session their child will attend. High school students may purchase books and pay fees during the week before school opens between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The hot lunch program at the high school will begin operation Sept. 4, with Mrs. Helen Armstrong in charge assisted by Mrs. Mary Smith and Mrs. Viola Kucheknecht. The price of lunches will remain the same as last year. Milk only will be available at the elementary school.

BUSES WILL OPERATE on the same routes and schedule for the first week. At that time necessary adjustments will be made.

Faculty assignments for the school year are as follows: Gary Cline, science and advanced math; Mrs. Dean, English; Mr. Douglas, social studies; Mrs. Hangerford, library and journalism; Miss Kelley, English and social studies; Mrs. Smith, home economics; Miss Smith, commercial; Mr. Stewart, industrial arts; Miss Teri, mathematics; Mrs. Thelen, Spanish; Mr. Trethewey, biology and boy's physical education; Mrs. Turcott, commercial and art; Mr. Young, counseling; Mrs. Edinger, kindergarten; Mrs. Knapp, Miss Pung, and Mrs. Stuyler, first grade; Mrs. Hilton, second and third grades; Mrs. Spencer, fourth, fifth and sixth grades; and Mrs. Wetland, remedial reading.

In the high school, the social studies progression has been revamped. The freshmen course will include one semester each of orientation and Michigan history. The sophomore class is one semester each of world concepts and American history. The junior year is a semester of American history, continued, and a semester of contemporary history, which is a completely new class. The last year of the course is composed of government and international relations, which also is new to the course.

Seeing is Believing

Can you always believe what your eyes tell you?
An American tourist in a foreign country boasted of the wonders of his own land. "Why, we have telescopes that let us see millions of stars!"
He was jolted by the native's reply, "Maybe you see millions of stars and nothing beyond. We see only a few stars and God."
Are you looking for the stars and missing God... or harnessing the atom and losing your security... or chasing rainbows and missing the gold?
All of us need to look for what the heart can feel, not just what the eyes can see. We need to find God.
Why not look for Him in church Sunday? He is waiting for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DeWitt man to be ordained Salvatorian priest on Sept. 6

Rev Thomas C. Fedewa, a staff member of the Christian Service Center (formerly St. Plus X House of Retreats) at Blackwood, N.J., will be ordained a priest of the Society of the Divine Savior (Salvatorians) at St. Marys Church, Landover Hills, Md., Sept. 6.

The Rev Mr Fedewa, 30, of DeWitt, will be ordained by the Most Rev Edward J. Herrmann, auxiliary bishop of Washington, D.C. Nine other Salvatorians will be ordained with Rev Mr Fedewa at the 7:30 p.m. Liturgy of Ordination. On Saturday morning at 10 a.m. the newly ordained, along with Rev Hilary Kouba, their superior during their years of theological study, will celebrate the Eucharist at the same church.

On Sunday morning, Sept. 8, Rev Fr. Fedewa will celebrate the Eucharist at 12:30 p.m. in St. Charles Borromeo Church of Cinnaminson, N.J., where he has been assisting the parish as a deacon during the summer months. At 8 p.m. the same day Fr. Fedewa will concelebrate the Eucharist at the Christian Service Center in Blackwood where he has been a staff member since January of this year.

At 12:45 p.m. Sept. 14, Fr. Fedewa will concelebrate the Eucharist at his home parish of St. Therese Church in Lansing. Ten fellow priests will celebrate with him and the homily will be delivered by the Rev Gordon Hinds, a member of the faculty of Marian High School of Mishawaka, Ind. A parish reception will follow and a gathering will take place in the evening for his family and invited guests.

Father Fedewa is one of seven sons of Mr and Mrs Robert E. Fedewa Sr. of 9052 DeWitt Rd. DeWitt. He attended St. Marys Elementary School at Westphalia and was graduated from Resurrection Catholic High School in Lansing. He attended Jordan Seminary at Menominee, and graduated from Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

He also did post graduate work in theology at Catholic University and at St. Paul College, Washington, D.C. Fr. Fedewa has also studied at Michigan State University, University of Maryland, and St. Francis College at Manitowoc, Wis.

Father Fedewa spent one year at the Salvatorian novitiate at Colfax, Iowa, and taught for one year at Salvatorian Seminary in St. Nazianz, Wis., and one year at Marian High School in Mishawaka, Ind. These years are a regular part of the Salvatorian educational program for seminarians. Prior to entering the Society of the Divine Savior he was employed for one year by the Traffic Division of the Michigan State Highway Department.

In addition to staff duties with the Christian Service Center in Blackwood, N.J., Father Fedewa will attend Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa. for post graduate work in the Department of Religion.

Rev THOMAS FEDEWA

Joint services will continue

Union worship services for members of the First Congregational Church and the United Methodist Church of St. Johns will continue this Sunday.

Both churches had planned to resume their own services after two months of united services. However, the death of Mrs Harold Homer, wife of the Methodist minister, has resulted in the decision to continue the joint services for one more Sunday.

Rev Gerald Churchill, minister of the First Congregational Church, will speak this Sunday morning on "If All of Life Were Sunshine." The joint service will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the United Methodist Church.

Separate worship services for the two churches will resume Sept. 8.

3 from Clinton get WMU degrees

Three Clinton County students were among the 2,000 receiving degrees at Western Michigan University's summer commencement the weekend of Aug. 17.

Ursie K. Powers of R-1, Eagle, received a bachelor of science degree and elementary provisional certificate. Shirley M. Ashenfelter of 4771 W. Price Road, R-4, St. Johns, got a bachelor of arts degree and elementary provisional certificate. Tom Edward Robinson of R-5, St. Johns, received a bachelor of science degree and secondary provisional certificate.

BRITISH HONDURAS COMBO COMING

"Conjunto los Belicenos," a Latin combo from British Honduras, will play in St. Johns sometime during October while on a goodwill tour of Michigan. The state and that Central American nation, soon to become independent and known as Belize, have "adopted" each other, and St. Johns and Stann Creek, B. H., are sister cities. The combo is said to be a prize-winning group in British Honduras. No exact date for their appearance here has been set.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

While diamonds may be called a girl's best friend, hand-knits are one of her best loves. Knitted garments of both the hand-knit and machine-knit variety are one of the special favorites of this year's fashions.

Knitted garments and fabrics have a greater tendency to change shape during cleaning than woven ones. This is due largely to the fact that knitted materials can stretch in one direction and at the same time shrink in the other. Also, knitted clothes are likely to lose their shape during wear. For this reason they require frequent cleaning and blocking to restore them to their original shape and dimensions. This is true of fabrics and garments knitted of wool, cottons, rayon, nylon and combinations of yarns.

With knitted materials, as with all fabrics, your cleaner must analyze the yarn fibers to determine just which cleaning compound to use. Blocking and finishing of knitted clothes takes special skill, too.

You can trust your knitted garments to us, and know that they are in capable, responsible hands...that they will be painstakingly handled during cleaning, blocking and finishing...and returned to you impeccably clean and new-looking.

CLINTON COUNTY SUPERVISORS' PROCEEDINGS

MONDAY, JULY 1, 1968

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors met on the above date at 10:00 A.M. Prayer was offered by Supervisor Gove. A pledge of allegiance was given to the flag. Roll was called and a quorum reported. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A letter from Roland Duguay, explaining his decision in regards to the County making a donation to the reopening of the City's swimming pool and an explanation thereof referring to M.S.A. 5.2433 which would make it legal for the County to make a contribution. Supervisor Shepard and Clerk Carter were called upon to report on the Bargaining Relationship Conference held at Southfield, June 10 & 11th which they attended. It is agreed that Bargaining is in the not too distant future, and we should be prepared to cope with it.

Supervisor Lankford, reporting for the Civil Defense Committee, stated that the cost of installing a complete communications system would be $5,594.00 of which the Federal Government would reimburse the County approximately $1500.00 - $2,000.00. He asked that the matter be referred to the Finance & Appropriation for consideration and a recommendation. Moved by Sirrine, supported by Setterington to refer this subject to the Appropriation & Finance Committee after discussion the matter was voted and carried.

Supervisor Smith reported a request from Gordon Willyoung for permission to attend the State Convention for Friend of the Court. It was moved by Smith, supported by Shepard to grant him permission to attend. Voted and carried.

Supervisor Gove reported on the meeting held at the A.S.C. office June 24. He stated that they are attempting to bring together young people, desiring work and those desiring such help in Clinton County.

He also reported on a meeting June 20 held at the Sparrow

Hospital on the feasibility of establishing a Tri-County Board or Steering Committee for extending help to alcoholics.

Supervisor Austin reporting for Finance & Appropriations Committee on the request to contribute to a horse barn at the 4-H grounds in the amount of $2,000.00 on proper billing.

It was moved by Austin supported by Mayers that the Board concur with the request. Discussion followed, the motion was voted and carried.

Mr Homer Hendricks a candidate for State Representative from the 87 District, appeared and presented his qualifications for the office to which he aspires. He affirms his belief in local government. C.J. Bender, a candidate for State Representative from the 88 District also spoke of his qualifications and beliefs.

Paul Nobis & Don Haske of the County Road Commission, appeared and asked the Township Supervisors for their thoughts on billing the Townships on completion of a project instead of a once a year billing as is now their practice, this appears to be an acceptable plan. A general discussion on road problems followed.

Miss Dana Hazle, of Victor Township, attending the Board meeting as a 4-H project, was introduced.

Supervisor Shepard, spoke of the need for investigating fixed millage. Supervisor Shnabery concurred and will enlarge upon this subject in the p.m. Session. Some discussion followed.

Moved by Barks, supported by Supervisor Hufnagel, that the Supervisors expense accounts be paid as presented. Voted and carried.

The Chairman then declared a recess for lunch.

P.M. SESSION

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman at 1:30 P.M. Lorenz Tiedt, County Equalization Director, appeared and reported on ratio of actual sales to assessed valuations. He stated that the ratio varies from a low of 38% to a high of 50% on different assessing units within the county. He asks direction in how to equalize this variance. Considerable discussion on this subject followed. Moved by Nelson, supported by Smith, that the Equalization Department & Equalization Committee come to the August meeting with a recommendation giving each unit the % which they must adjust in order to reflect a true market value. This increased value to be filed with the State Tax Commission in reporting the County 1969 valuation. Voted and carried.

Betty Minsky, then introduced Ron Huard, the new publisher of Clinton County News.

County Prosecutor, Roland Duguay, presented and introduced, Wm. P. Battiste, the newly appointed assistant County Prosecutor. Willard Krebel, former Riley Township Supervisor and candidate for Register of Deeds thanked the Board for their support in the past and pledged his best efforts if elected County Register of Deeds.

Supervisor Shnabery, then presented the matter of adopting a fixed millage for the County, on a show of hands only two Supervisors were opposed. A lengthy discussion followed.

Supervisor Shepard, moved supported by Sirrine, that the Finance Committee meet with School officials, to investigate and present to the Board a recommendation on the question of presenting to the electorate of Clinton County on the November ballot the question of fixed millage.

Supervisor Gove, reported further on establishing a part time or out office for the youth opportunity office. He suggested a Resolution from the Board of Supervisors requesting this service with the County furnishing office space. Moved by Gove, supported by Howe, that we join with the request that we create a sub station one day per week to assist the youth opportunity center. Moved by Austin, supported by Openlander to table until next month this matter. Voted and carried.

In regards to making a charge for copies made by the clerk's office for Lloyd Campbell of the A.S.C. office and the Lansing Youth Opportunity Center. It was moved by Barks, supported by Mayers to send a bill for the same. Voted and carried.

Supervisor Barks reporting for Zoning Commission on the progress of the new Zoning ordinance stated that at least two portions of the ordinance will be available for adoption at the August meeting. He explained the difficulties encountered in clarifying portions particularly the legal aspects pertaining to its final adoption. He also presented the following Resolution.

RESOLVED, that after its preliminary plan has been submitted for approval to the Plat Board, no building permit shall be issued for land within that subdivision until the final approval of the subdivision has been completed and granted.

At a regular meeting of the Clinton County Board of Supervisors held at the Courthouse, St. Johns, Michigan, this Resolution was passed by a unanimous vote to take immediate effect.

MOSTLY For MEN

by CHUCK FLYNN

As we have remarked before, lamb is often a forgotten meat. It's a shame, too, because lamb properly prepared is one of the tastiest of dishes and especially good cooked outdoors.

If you'd like to prove this to your doubting self, try this recipe.

Go to your butcher and have him bone a five-pound leg of lamb. When you return home place the lamb in a large baking dish, flatten it out so the marinade will cover.

In a bowl mix these ingredients in order: two cloves of garlic uncut, 1/2 cup of olive (or good salad) oil; one pint of dry red wine; 3 medium onions sliced; 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves, two teaspoons of oregano, two teaspoons of salt, one carrot sliced, and three sprigs of fresh parsley.

Pour the marinade over the lamb and cover. Refrigerate for 24 hours, turning several times to insure thorough marination.

When ready to cook build a charcoal fire which when spread will be larger than the total area of the meat surface. Allow the coals to become grey, then place moistened hickory chips all around the edges of the fire.

The lamb should be cooked about three inches from the coals. Cooking time will approximate 40 minutes for lamb which is slightly pink inside but well cooked. Turn every 10 minutes during the cooking process and baste with strained liquid of the marinade.

Should you go for luxury fare, I recommend thick loin lamb chops. They should be cut at least 1-1/2 inches, and 2-1/2 inches is not too thick.

Here you are dealing with a delicately flavored meat, so no marinade should be used. Allow the chops to come to room temperature. You'll need two small chops per person or one if very thick.

Place about three inches from charcoal which has burned to the grey stage. Cook for half the time on one side, then turn for equal cooking on the other.

For 1-1/2 inch chops, six to eight minutes will be rare (that's when they're best), 8 to 10 minutes for medium, and 10 to 12 minutes for well done. Increase time to 10-12 minutes for rare in the 2-1/2-inch chops and proportionate increases for other stages of doneness.

When cooking lamb chops rare, it is a good idea to turn the fat edge to the heat for a minute or two to give a brown crust. Season with salt and freshly ground black pepper and serve on hot plate.

It's always interesting to perfect a recipe which offers:

- (1) The option to cook either indoors or outdoors;
- (2) Use either as a main course at dinner or as hors d'oeuvres for a party, and
- (3) Opportunity for unused portions to be frozen.

All of these are possible with this recipe for barbecued loin of pork producing a truly remarkable flavor.

First off, purchase a whole loin of pork from your butcher, choosing one in the 10-14 pound range, as fresh as possible. Have the butcher bone the loin and tie as he would any boneless rolled roast. You should have from 7-11 pounds after the boning out. Allow one-half pound per person as a dinner serving.

Next prepare this marinade. Make a paste of a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce and a teaspoon of dry mustard. Mix well. Mix together 1/2 cup of dark brown sugar and the juice of one lemon. Add to the paste.

Put these ingredients into a sauce pan, adding one cup of soy sauce, one cup of dry red wine, and a generous dash of tabasco. Stir until the marinade is thoroughly mixed and clear. (You can use a blender).

Place the pork loin in a roasting pan, pour over the marinade and cover with foil. Refrigerate for 24 hours turning the meat occasionally to coat all sides with the marinade.

When you're ready to cook, remove the loin from the marinade and pat flour onto the surface. Reserve the marinade and heat to be used as a baste while cooking.

Outdoors you'll need to put the loin onto a spit, balancing carefully. Charcoal over a low fire pushed well back in your cooker. Immediately under the spit place a foil drip pan to keep down flares.

Spit cooking will require at least three hours, basting with the marinade every 15 minutes. Some wet hickory chips around the edges of the fire will add a delightfully smoky flavor.

Indoors, place the roast on a rack in your roasting pan and cook uncovered in a 325 degree oven. Here, too, you should baste every 15 minutes. Cooking time will run about 3 hours, perhaps a little longer with a heavier roast.

Best way to test doneness in either case is with a meat thermometer which should be brought to 175 degrees. Allow the roast to "rest," as the French put it, for 15 minutes before carving. It will continue to cook during this period.

As a main course, slice and serve with parsley garnish on a hot platter. For hors d'oeuvres, cut slices to fit miniature round buns and serve with a side dish of barbecue sauce.

WHAT'S BEST FOR DURABLE PRESS?

Home economists agree that durable press garments look best when dried in a clothes dryer. Housewives who already have an automatic clothes dryer and durable press garments say they were made for each other!

The secret is in the even heat, gentle tumbling action and special cycles of the new automatic dryers. Dried in an automatic dryer, durable press fabrics bounce back to their original shape—without wrinkles—creases are where they belong.

Why not see your automatic appliance dealer today? Have him show you the automatic settings that eliminate ironing of the new durable press fabrics!

Late-summer collison Here come the coho . . . and here come the fishermen

Two great groups are converging for a confrontation in Michigan in vast numbers, intent on seeking out spawning streams. Nature has built into each individual salmon mechanism which makes it most important that procreation take place where he, himself was hatched and raised. The salmon will go to great ends to return to his home waters to start his own family.

One of these groups, the coho salmon, is moving up Lake Michigan in vast numbers, intent on seeking out spawning streams. Nature has built into each individual salmon mechanism which makes it most important that procreation take place where he, himself was hatched and raised. The salmon will go to great ends to return to his home waters to start his own family.

The other group, the fishermen, have a built-in compulsion to catch fish and they will go to great lengths to do that.

SALMON HAVE been known to travel thousands of miles to be in the right stream at exactly the right time. Fishermen go great distances to be where the fish are.

Fish biologists refer to the salmon as an anadromous fish. By this they mean he migrates. Observers of fishermen say the same about them. The fishermen try to migrate to the same place the salmon do and to arrive there at the same time. In this case the place is Michigan and the time is from now to well into October.

The meeting of the coho and the fishermen is not unlike a big game of "Run, Sheep, Run," with the salmon running for the streams that terminate in Lake Michigan and with the fishermen in boats trying to intercept them. The odds of the game would be overwhelmingly in favor of the salmon, hidden in the deep, cold waters of the lake, were it not for some peculiarities in his nature. He is a compulsive eater with a voracious appetite. To compound his personality difficulties, he is not very sophisticated when it comes to food. He will attempt to eat anything that moves in front of him. He especially eats alewife, which other more discriminating fish-eaters leave strictly alone. So when the fisherman dangles something that looks to the salmon as if it might be good to eat, he grabs it.

HIS APETITE works to another advantage to the fisherman.

Sealed Power buys Michigan, Illinois firms

Sealed Power Corp. has agreed to acquire Consolidated Die Cast Corporation of America, of Dowagiac, Mich., and Accroform Metals, Inc., of Palatine, Ill., for an undisclosed amount of cash, Gordon E. Reynolds, Sealed Power president, announced.

Consolidated, organized in 1950 and employing approximately 300 persons, manufactures aluminum and zinc castings by the die casting process, in which molten metal is forced into molds under high pressure. Its sales in 1967 were approximately $8 million.

Accroform, a recently organized small company, makes alloyed ferrous metal parts by the powder metal process, in which metal powder is compacted in molds under pressure, then sintered and heat treated in controlled atmosphere furnaces.

Both companies produce intricate parts to close tolerances with little or no machining. Products are used in automotive, appliance, business machine, power tool, farm machinery, hydraulic equipment, construction and other industries.

"These acquisitions broaden Sealed Power's technological base and place the company in a position to supply new markets it is not now serving," Reynolds said.

man. It makes the Lake Michigan variety of coho a larger and better fish to catch than most. The Lake Michigan coho gains more weight in a year than his salt water cousins do. Experts say the coho will gain about a pound a week during the run. So if you should miss one this week, he will be that much bigger next week when you do catch him.

The fishermen have even more advantages than these. Charter boat operators, lake-side chambers of commerce, regional tourist associations, and The Michigan Conservation Department exchange information and know from reported catches where the best coho fishing is at a given time. Charter boats are also often equipped with a specialized gear such as electronic fish finders, thermometers, lines, lures and rods which make it easier to catch fish.

From this it would appear that all the odds are in favor of the fisherman but any coho knows this is not entirely true. Even with all these things going for him, the successful fisherman must have a degree of luck, considerable in the way of skill and plenty of determination to achieve his end.

According to the Michigan Tourist Council, your chances of success will be greater if you remember a few basic things.

It is wise to make arrangements in advance for both charter boats and lodgings. A good charter boat captain will know the best places to fish and the best method of fishing. If you are going to use your own boat, remember that Lake Michigan is big and can become rough. Have plenty of extra fuel in your boat, always carry a transistor radio, listen to the weather reports and heed the warnings.

ONE GOOD INDICATION of when the coho are expected to run in a locality is the dates of festivals and celebrations centered around the salmon.

The City of Manistee has set the dates of Aug. 17-18 for the Salmon Derby there. Several companies are offering prizes up to $1,000 for winners in the contest. The Manistee Chamber of Commerce and Michigan Out-of-Doors Magazine will operate a houseboat which will cruise Lake Michigan, just off Manistee, offering fishermen free Michigan bean soup and coffee.

Honor's National Coho Festival is scheduled for Sept. 26-28. Further information on fishing for Michigan's glamour fish may be obtained by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, Mich., 48926. Just ask for the Coho Book.

Need for blood

This Labor Day weekend someone you know may die because area blood reserves are dangerously low.

The demand for blood is constant, but the supply is not. Blood supplies are rapidly used up over a long holiday weekend. When supplies before the weekend are already very low, someone, maybe someone close to you, may suffer because there was not enough blood for proper treatment.

Labor Day isn't a fun-filled holiday for everyone. Your unit of blood may save the life of a person dying of shock, injuries or burns. It may be used for someone undergoing surgery, for treating anemia or to help both a mother and her infant in childbirth.

To help save a life takes only an hour of your time and a unit of blood, which nature will replace in a short time. Blood will be available to patients through the Labor Day period—only if donors give now.

Don't let a lack of concern on your part be the cause of a personal tragedy. Donate blood today.

All types of blood are needed, urgently, between now and Sept. 6.

Sight-saving month

The September Sight-Saving Month Campaign of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness and its state affiliates deserves the cooperation and support of all citizens throughout the nation.

A primary aim of the society's 19th annual campaign is to alert the total community to the many causes of blindness BEFORE they strike. The society maintains that half of all blindness is preventable. This publication extends wishes for the society's greatest success in carrying forward its noble objectives for better eye health and eye safety for all.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc., founded in 1908, is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in the prevention of blindness through a comprehensive program of community services, public and professional education and research.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

COMMENTS FROM OTHER PAPERS

BENTON, MO., DEMOCRAT:
"Why can't we have just one candidate, who can stand on his own two feet and say: 'I'm for less spending, less taxes, reduction of our national debt, less giveaways, more work for a day's pay, less crime, no riots, less strikes, less wrangling in our schools and universities, less bureaucracy, reduced doles to all federal departments, less waste in armaments, less foreign aid, less big brother to the whole world, more responsibilities to the states, less rent subsidies, less federal intrusion into everything from cradle to grave, more honesty, integrity in office, more thought and consideration to the lowly, down-trodden taxpayer?'"

EKALAKA, MONT., EAGLE:
"Anyone who thinks total restriction of firearms will eliminate political assassinations or armed robberies is only fooling himself. The man who assassinated President Kennedy was a dedicated communist, the man who is charged with killing Senator Kennedy is an alien and the man who shot Martin Luther King is an escaped convict. There are federal and state laws that prohibit any of these three from owning a gun."

BELTON, TEXAS, JOURNAL:
"My advice to young men deciding on a career is to avoid the businesses and the professions and to go into poverty. That's where the big money is."

BEDFORD, IND., TIMES-MAIL: "People want better streets and roads and are quick to express their sentiments on that score. We wonder how many of the complainers are persons guilty of littering and thus draining off money for cleaning up that could be spent for the better purpose of maintenance and construction."

The skeptic

by W.E. DOBSON

When all the campaigning is over,
And the final returns are all in,
When convention halls are darkened,
And our ears get a rest from the din;
Will the candidates we have elected
Remember the things they have said,
With pledges a scant dime a dozen,
Will they too soon forget 'em instead?

When the honeymoon season is over,
And once more it's work as before,
When we will have scrapped all the tallies,
Can we confidently add up the score?
Will the mandates that came from the people
Be reflected in policy then?
Or will they be filed and discarded
As merely more means to an end?

We trust you can pardon the doubters,
But memories seem ever to last,
Of promises made pre-election,
Forgotten when crises were past;
Hope springs yet eternal in humans,
May we dare now to hope once again
For fulfillment one day of each promise,
Featured in an election campaign?

A barrage of misinformation is being spread throughout Michigan concerning a so-called national "consumer boycott" of California table grapes, called by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee of the AFL-CIO. Helping to spread the misinformation are such "social action" groups as the Michigan Migrant Ministry and the Michigan Council of Churches.

Recently, threats have been made against grocery stores should they refuse to submit to the boycott and continue sale of the grapes. Sporadic picketing, both in California and in Michigan, has been conducted primarily by paid professionals and volunteers from student groups, campus militants and the cooperating clergy.

In answer to both the misinformation and the challenge the boycott represents to the basic freedom to buy and sell, the Michigan Farm Bureau has issued a fact-sheet, which among other points makes it plain that the prime issue is an attempt by labor unions to pressure California's 12,000 growers to sign contracts with the unions forcing farm employees to become union members or lose their jobs. The fact sheet was presented to newsmen in a recent Lansing press conference by Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton Smith, who made it plain that farmers are not opposed to the voluntary organization of farm or other workers, but did strongly object to the coercive methods being used.

"Farm workers have every right to organize and bargain with their employers. This is not the issue, for even with all-out efforts on the part of unions, few have chosen to join the United Farm Workers-AFL-CIO. This is true in spite of a reported $10,000 per month from the AFL-CIO treasury and another $7,500 per month from the United Auto Workers, placed into the organizational efforts. Having failed to entice the farm worker, the unions are now aiming their guns at the growers themselves, using the pressures of a consumer boycott as their ammunition," Smith said.

He said that the union tactics constituted a "secondary boycott" and are a clear-cut violation of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, and that a complaint to this effect had been filed with the National Labor Relations Board. Smith also reported that a damage suit in the amount of $25 million has been filed against the unions involved, on behalf of California growers and shippers, as authorized within the Taft-Hartley law.

He said that unless the boycott is strongly resisted now, the way will be opened for labor unions to take over the control of America's total farm productive ability.

LANCASTER, S. C., NEWS:

The domestic Reds, having made so many judicial gains through the generosity of the U.S. Supreme Court, apparently want to try their hand on the political front again."

'IF IT FITZ ...'

Equal rights for women

By JIM FITZGERALD

"Believe me, I am not complaining," I told my wife, "but you are one kid and five years late."

"Ok," she said, "what's this all about?"

What it was about was an article I was reading about Ti-Grace Atkinson, head of the New York chapter of a new feminist group called National Organization for Women (NOW).

(Right here I will digress for a few sentences. I have long admired the clever people who name organizations so that the initials spell out that organization's goal or purpose. For instance, Miss Atkinson's group wants equality for women—right NOW, buster. If it wanted equality next year the club would be named Ladies After Those Equal Rights (LATER). I once started a club called BACHELOR because I thought that was a great set of initials. But the best I could come up with was Boys Against Curvy Hers Except Lease Or Rent. We had a few meetings but soon disbanded because the members kept buying to protect their option money. They said they wanted more out of life than a pile of rent receipts. I've often thought that, given a better name, the club might have thrived and this would be a more beautiful world for a lot of us).

But back to Ti-Hyphen-Grace. "She says that surveys prove the most likely candidate for suicide in our country is the 35-year-old woman with two children," I told my wife. "This is because marriage makes slaves out of women."

"She is right," Pat said. "I would have shot myself long ago except then there would be no one to finish filling my Top Value stamp books."

"WHAT ELSE does that woman say?" Pat asked.

So I told her. Miss Atkinson says women dislike being housewives but they do not get a fair deal in the business world. Of 26 million women in the labor force, only 3 per cent are lawyers, only 6 per cent are doctors, only 11 per cent are bank officers, only 1 per cent are engineers. Ti-Grace says the day must come when there will be complete equality between man and woman. But this can never happen as long as the institution of marriage exists.

"I say if you want full equality for women you have to eliminate marriage and the family," Miss Atkinson says. A woman should decide alone whether she wants children. If she does, they should be raised by special agencies, not by parents. This is already done in communal settlements of Israel and studies show that these children grow up to be as normal as people raised by Ma and Pa.

Lest you wonder, Miss Atkinson is not a crazed dropout from an Ann Landers correspondence course. She attended some of the finest schools in Europe and has about six months to go for her Ph.D. She is sincere in her conviction that marriage is a miserable mistake for a woman and a great deal for the man who gets a slave he can dominate. She tried marriage once, for five years, and says never again. And she is no hatchet-faced suffragette. She is a former fashion model who should have no trouble finding a partner whenever she feels like a game of mixed doubles.

But no matter how glittering her credentials, Ti-Grace is still hung up on her hyphen or something. She is full of bologna.

I won't waste many words on that nonsense about giving your children to a "special agency" to raise. The kids at my house are as big a brats as any but I still get my biggest kicks from snarling at them every evening after work. Without kids, I would have to buy a dog to kick. Miss Atkinson has got to be kidding.

But what really bugs me is—where oh where is my slave? I've been married to the same woman 13 years and I have still not been able to teach her the location of the garbage can. Each month of those years our water has needed softening. This is a simple but tiring process through which salt pellets are poured into some sort of a filter. But for all Pat knows, I soften the water with a hammer. She doesn't even know where the softener is.

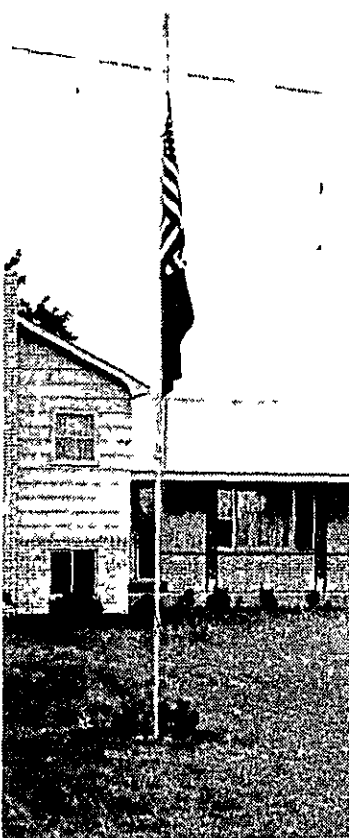

Those are only two examples of tasks I certainly wouldn't perform if I had a slave. And if I had a slave, I would not open doors for her, carry her luggage, and give her the last seat on the trolley. I would not work hard every day so that my slave could fill a nice home with wicker furniture I can't sit on. I would not jump and tremble every time my slave caught me forgetting to wring out a washcloth. I would not have to tell my slave how much I lost playing poker and I would not have to tip-toe at 2 a.m. for fear of awakening my slave.

And on and on. I agree with Ti-Grace that women and men should have equal rights. But I do not think my slave would accept the demotion. NOW or ever.

They fly our flag

Flying the flag regularly is not something for governmental offices only. A lot more residences are displaying the American flag daily in a show of patriotism and pride. At the James Cerny home at 308 S. Scott Road, both the American flag and the Michigan flag are flown whenever weather is suitable.

There comes a time in the life of every husband, I suppose, when his little woman sits down beside him on the couch, cooies up, gives him a peck on the cheek and whispers those three words in his ear:

"Let's go shopping."

Nine times out of 10 the feminine approach is successful, despite the husband's past experiences at the department store and the avowed intention to never go shopping again.

If the initial misty look in his wife's eye is not clouded, his senses too much, the man of the house will offer some hollow excuses and alternatives.

"But, honey, I've got to get the lawn mowed today" (He doesn't tell her he was going to wait till after the game on TV was over).

Comes the reply, contrary to demands during the week: "That's OK, it can wait until tomorrow."

He tries again. "Why don't you take off and go down, and I'll watch Kathy and maybe let her swim in her pool."

No go. "I've got to take Kathy. The doctor wants her to get some new shoes, and I'll have to have her with me to try them on."

why don't the two of you buzz down and I'll stay here and have the lawn mowed by the time you get back, and even do the lunch dishes for you."

But alas, "You know I don't like to drive in that heavy traffic, especially when it's so hot and everybody's tired. Besides, it's nice and cool in the stores, and you'll feel better coming with us."

Not wanting the daughter to have more foot trouble nor the good wife to have car trouble on a busy street in the big city, and relishing the thought of putting off the lawn work until a cooler day, the man gives in, and they all pile in the car.

Getting the right shoes poses no problem, but getting the wife out of the shopping center does. "As long as we're here we might as well look for this other stuff we need." He's stuck, because he can find nothing wrong with that kind of reasoning.

Every aisle between the entrance of the department store and the location of the desired item affords a rest and search area for the shopping wife. Soon the weary husband makes the mistake he has made on numerous other occasions: he suggests that he go find one or two of the items they were after while the wife continues to search for things she wasn't after when they started.

A man can move straight and swift to the location of the desired item and return quickly, still refreshed, to the predetermined place of meeting with the family. The rest of the family, being female, is not always there, however, having spotted other lucrative-looking buys on other aisles.

THEN THE GREAT hunt begins. Sometimes accompanied by appropriate music on the store's intercom system, the search starts with a wide sweep around the perimeter of the area where the wife is suspected to be buying out. At each aisle intersection, he makes a four-way study of the length of the aisles before continuing. Once in awhile, he gets lucky and spots the frau at the opposite end of the store, but she didn't see him and when he gets there she has disappeared again.

About this time he gets the urge to step to the nearest telephone and interrupt the store-wide music with crisp, authoritative words like "Mrs. Rinker, intercom line 2, please."

After what seems like hours, he rounds a corner and comes face to face with the rest of the family. "Where have you been?" all three ask at the same time. It turned out they were looking for him at the same time he was looking for them.

"Let's go," the man pleads. "I've got just one more thing to get," the good wife says in a muffled voice from behind the piled-up cart. This time he doesn't let her out of his sight, and after a half-hour we don't find what she wanted and decide to go anyway.

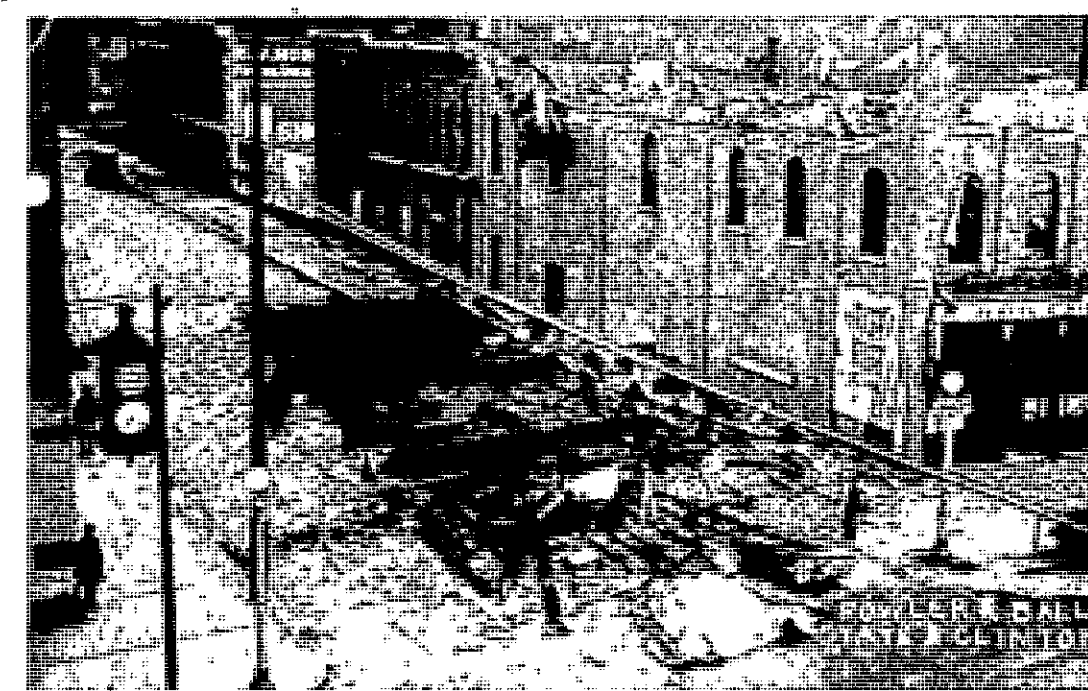

What was purported to be a trip for specially-built children's shoes turns out to be a full afternoon spending time and money. Were it not for the credit cards, they would still be washing dishes at the department store lunch counter.

A good man learns by his mistakes. But when his wife uses her wiles and endless variety of needs, a man can't escape the next shopping trip request. Not for love nor money.

Paul Pride:

Paul Pride says: "If you drive on East Cass Street much, you've probably noticed the new porch-side planter that K.C. McAlvey has built in recent weeks. It's got a Miami-stone finish and rings the porch and the east side of the house. A real nice-looking job and a nice improvement to the house and neighborhood."

A look into the past

TORNADO HIT ST. JOHNS IN 1920

St. Johns and Clinton County have been under a tornado watch three or four times this month, and it seems timely—in that sense, anyway—to haul out this picture of damage done by a tornado in St. Johns in late March 1920. Rex Sirrine contributed the picture, showing the roof off the present Baron's building at Clinton Avenue and Walker Street, with the bank at the extreme left. Sirrine said the twister bounced over the bank building, then touched down and destroyed the old railroad depot, tipping over a coal car on the siding in the process.

Agricultural automation reducing manpower needs

Rising labor costs and a shortage of workers bring increased mechanization to Michigan farms.

Many innovations are developed by farmers. In Newaygo County, one of the most highly developed farm mechanized areas in the nation, one farmer bought an old self-propelled grain combine, removed the threshing mechanism, and used the power train to run a two-row vegetable harvester.

Ten years ago mechanized fruit harvesting was virtually unknown in the state. Now machines are used for blueberry picking and cherry picking. Breakthroughs are claimed for mechanical harvesting of grapes and tomatoes.

The effect of farm mechanization will result in a 40 per cent reduction in manpower by 1980, the department predicts. The actual number of workers may be reduced by nearly 60 per cent, for 215,000 to 89,000 workers.

As monotonous picking and hoeing jobs for unskilled labor eventually vanish, more interesting jobs are expected to open for skilled technical farm workers on a year-round basis.

IF YOU'RE THINKING of buying beef by the quarter or side be careful, warns the Food Inspection Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Most bulk meat operations in Michigan are legitimate, but the unwary consumer may become a victim of the freezer-meat fraud.

Operators, known as "beef baiters," hawk frozen meat in hundred-pound lots at come-off prices of 29 cents to 39 cents a pound. They mine a rich vein of consumer resistance to high meat prices, exploiting the reasonable-sounding proposition that it pays to buy beef in bulk and store enough for several months' supply in home freezers or commercial lockers.

amid the weekend supermarket specials proclaim the beef baiter's "bargain." One of the first indications that something is amiss is the ridiculously low price, says Ronald Leach, assistant chief of the MDA's food inspection division. The second suspicion of fraud occurs when the operator suggests a private appointment to "see for yourself" the value of the beef.

THE CLASSIC bait-and-switch routine is pulled once consumers arrive at the salesroom. The customer is told that the advertised beef is the type used in institutions. If unconvinced, the bargain seeker is lead through the meat cooler, past several sides of good-looking beef, to a piece of carcass covered with a thick layer of yellow fat. After one glance, the consumer quickly admires the virtues of any other piece of meat in the shop.

The better meat might be priced more than twice the advertised price and the minimum amount you can buy may be more. An installment sales contract may be promoted which carries high finance charges. The buyer's signature converts the contract to negotiable paper. It is sold to a finance company and the customer suddenly finds he has no recourse for complaint.

There are other ways the operator can bilk the consumer. A customer usually buys "hanging weight" of beef. Legitimate operators trim about 25 per cent in fat and bone. The beef baiter will trim as much as half, chopping off great slabs of edible beef which he later sells for stewing meat or hamburger.

Unless you insist on watching the cutting and packaging of your selection, he may substitute a poorer grade of beef for your original choice. Sometimes he offers "free" locker service. If you take home a few cuts at a time, the operator may "borrow" some of your cuts to fill other orders. Sometimes the loan is not repaid.

Michigan events sparked by fall colors, fairs

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Assn.

Autumn colors form the background for Michigan fairs, festivals and other community events listed in the September-December edition of the Michigan Calendar of Events, just released for distribution by the Michigan Tourist Council.

The big Michigan State Fair at Detroit, Aug. 23-Sept. 2, leads the list of events on the calendar, which includes a wide variety of activities for the fall season.

New to Michigan this year is the 250-mile National Championship Auto Race which will inaugurate the recently-constructed Michigan International Speedway in the Irish Hills area, at Cambridge Junction, northwest of Adrian, Oct. 13. The leading race car drivers of the world are scheduled to compete on the two-mile banked oval.

One of the highlights on the Calendar for September is the annual Mackinac Bridge Walk on Labor Day, the only day of the year pedestrians are allowed on the big bridge, according to the Council. Also noted is the National Coho Salmon Festival at Honor, Sept. 26-29, which pays tribute to Michigan's popular new sports fish. The American Amateur Baseball Finals, the World Series of amateur baseball, will be held at Battle Creek Sept. 5-8.

THE OLD CAR Festival is scheduled at Greenfield Village, Dearborn September 7-8; Chippewa Indian Pow-wow at Mt. Pleasant Sept. 20-21; and Bow Hunters Meet in Atlanta September 28-29.

October offers the delights of autumn color to the Michigan traveler. Along the color celebrations throughout the state are the Color Festival at Bellaire Oct. 5-7 and the Carnival of Color Grayling Oct. 11-13.

The Archer's Whitetail Round-up will be held at Grayling Oct. 5-6; the Red Flannel Festival at Cedar Springs Oct. 12; Snowmobile and Winter Sports Show at Detroit Oct. 19-25. Pheasant season opens Oct. 21.

Big game hunting dominates the Michigan scene in November. The rifle deer season Nov. 25-30 brings with it special fetes for the hunter. The Red Coat Round-up will be held at Grayling Nov. 15-17; the Hunters Ball at Croton-Hardy; Buck Pole Contest at Mancelona and the Buck Derby at Whittemore are all scheduled for November.

The famed Detroit Auto Show will be presented Nov. 30-Dec. 3. Snow and the holiday spirit dominate the listings in the calendar for December.

The over-crowding situation at the high school and at Central won't be relieved for another year until the new high school on West Sickles Street is occupied by high school students and the present high school becomes available for the junior high.

While the St. Johns Schools still have a few permanent teaching positions to fill, there is also a big need now for substitute teachers. Walter Nickel, administrative assistant, said interested persons should call the school immediately.

Take care with home chemicals

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE Extension Home Economist

Practically all household cleaning agents are dangerous. Some household chemicals used for cleaning may not be dangerous if properly used but become dangerous with misuse. Therefore, it's best to play safe and treat all materials as though they could become real enemies.

Directions for use warnings and precautions are placed on labels to be read and followed! Your responsibility is to read and follow them. Laws are in effect to require truly poisonous substances to be so labeled and to list the antidote, but such information is useless when not read and observed. In addition to toxicity, many cleaners must be considered dangerous because they are flammable; many containers present hazards. Did you know aerosols can explode if overheated or punctured?

Don't mix household cleaners. Products used alone can be perfectly safe but combined with other substances they can become deadly. Never mix two or more specialty products such as bleaching solution and toilet bowl cleanser, rust remover and oven-cleaners, etc. together. Such chemical mixtures can form gases that may be extremely irritating or even fatal. Chlorine bleach, or any cleaner containing it, combined with ammonia or other alkali substances can produce such gases. Adding to the danger is the fact that often these gases are odorless and colorless. Many are also quick action. Some poisons are absorbed through the skin; others have anesthetic results, when inhaled, resulting in adverse effect on the heart, kidneys, liver or other vital organs.

ALL HOUSEHOLD cleaners and chemicals should be stored well out of the reach of inquisitive children and pets. Statistics tell us 37 per cent of our poisoning cases are those of the one-year-old tot who crawls into the storage cabinet under the kitchen sink. Far better to put the canned vegetables and fruits under the sink and the cleaning compounds high on a shelf out of reach of youngsters.

Never transfer potentially poisonous materials from their original container to another. In so doing it's too easy to lose the valuable label information. Besides, you've no doubt heard of instances of tots drinking turpentine or other dangerous liquids that have been stored in a soda pop bottle! Take time to screw bottle tops and caps on tightly. Tiny fingers are less likely to get them open.

Don't leave a child alone when you are working with poisons. If the telephone or doorbell rings while you are working with lye, ammonia or other cleansers, make sure you can see Junior at all times and know what he is doing.

Children should never be allowed to play with empty containers. Such containers should be disposed of in such a way that children cannot get to them, or in the case of aerosols, so that they'll not be punctured or burned. All utensils used with

Fulton school opening routine announced

MIDDLETON—Fulton Schools will commence school activity for the 1968-69 year with teacher orientation meetings today (Thursday) and Friday, with a full schedule both days between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

On Tuesday, Sept. 3, all students in grades one through seven and high school grades 11 and 12 will be enrolled between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., at which time students will be returned home. Buses will travel their regular routes at the usual time as in previous years.

Wednesday, Sept. 4, all elementary grades will be in attendance and grades eight, nine and 10 will be enrolled and receive textbooks at the high school building.

Kindergarten children who have not previously enrolled are to enroll with their teachers on Wednesday, Sept. 4. All kindergarten children are required by law to have immunization shots by their local physician previous to entering school or a form verifying, because of religious beliefs, that they are unable to be immunized.

A law was passed three years ago by the State Legislature whereby all children entering school for the first time must undergo a test to determine if they are free from tuberculosis. Parents are mandated to consult their local physicians and have their child tested before entering school.

ON THURSDAY, Sept 5, classes will be in session for a full day and hot lunches will be served.

Maple Rapids elementary school will have two sessions of kindergarten again this year. Rural children in the Middle-Perrinton area are to attend morning sessions, and village kindergarten children are to attend afternoon sessions.

Textbooks for all elementary pupils, beginning with grade three, will be furnished for a deposit of $4 plus a workbook fee depending upon the number of workbooks needed. Textbooks for high school students will be $8 plus $2 for an activity fee.

The Ola elementary school will operate again this year with the kindergarten children being transported from the former Washington Center School District. Classrooms have been painted and cleaned, floors have been refinished in the Perrinton school and some sidewalk construction has been done at the Maple Rapids school.

A large project was completed at the Fulton High School this summer—the application of asphalt on the drives and the parking lots.

It has been necessary for the board of education to lease two additional relocatable units to accommodate the additional students which will be enrolled in the Fulton School this fall.

One vacancy still exists in the teaching staff, namely the first grade at Middleton.

Hot lunches will be served the students at a cost of 30 cents for all elementary children in grades one through seven. If tickets are purchased on a weekly basis. Single lunches on a daily basis will cost 33 cents. Grades eight through 12 can purchase lunch tickets at a weekly cost of $1.75. If purchased on a daily basis, the fee of 40 cents will be charged.

New teachers will include Mrs. Charlotte Hirschman who will assume duties as first grade teacher at the Middleton building. Mrs. Judith Johnson and Rodney Miller will be additions to the staff at the Maple Rapids. Mrs. Johnson will teach first and second grades and Miller will instruct the sixth grade. Mrs. Arlene Roslund, formerly a teacher at the high school, will take over as the teacher at the Ola building.

For the high school staff, Rickle Roth will teach eighth grade and James D. McMurphy will handle mathematics and science. Miss Diane Smith will instruct students in social studies and English and Andrew Sayers Jr., who has returned from one-year absence, will resume duties as speech and English teacher. Richard Beal will be a new face in the commercial department, and Gary Nobles will teach history and government.

The only other addition to the faculty is Miss Susan Morell of the English department.

Earl Troub will offer his services as high school and Middleton school custodian for the first time. Added hands in the kitchen will be those of Mrs. Betty Black at the high school and Mrs. Donna Loudbeck at the Maple Rapids building.

Astigmatism, reduced field of vision, farsightedness, nearsightedness and color blindness all affect visual acuity, and many hunters have these vision defects without knowing it, warns the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.
