

Federal-Mogul marks 75th anniversary

SOUTHFIELD -- In 1899, the automotive industry was still a fledgling. The country's first auto parts business had been established and the first woman driver had been licensed. Carburetors were known, but self-starters were yet to come. Traffic jams were hardly a problem that year -- there were only about 8000 cars on US roads.

Paralleling these origins and growth, Federal Mogul Corporation -- a major supplier to the auto industry -- observes its Diamond Anniversary this year.

In St. Johns, the 75-year old company is represented by its plant at Steel and Mead Streets, which began operations in 1946.

Managed by John B. Stevenson, the plant has some 600 employees and produces bushings, washers and steel stampings, which are used in automotive transmissions.

At the time of its founding in 1899, Federal-Mogul was a two-man hop in Detroit, Michigan. Known then as the Muzzy-Lyon Company, named after partners J. Howard Muzzy and Edward F. Lyon, it began as a mill supply house serving Detroit-area factories.

As part of its stock, the firm under the name of Mogul Metal Company--blended and sold metals for production of engine bearings. (Engine bearings are semicircular metallic inserts designed to prevent wear in an engine's moving parts. They fit in and around connecting rods, camshafts and crankshafts.) Soon after the metals became popular, a customer's inquiry prompted the partners to investigate new ways to produce bearings, which then were hand-formed directly onto the motor block.

By that time, the use of automobiles had begun to rise from 8,000 registered at the turn of the century to nearly 80,000 in 1905 -- and the bearing business was mushrooming with it.

Realizing the potential of bearings could be cast into shape, rather than hand-formed, Muzzy and Lyon bought an old printer's type casting machine and began to experiment. The completed machine was successful, mill supplies were dropped and, in 1907, Mogul Metal Company opened its first plant to manufacture engine bearings. Other companies -- that later would have a major impact on Mogul Metal -- were forming elsewhere in the country. In Dayton, Ohio, Bower Roller Bearing Company was organized and, back in Detroit, Federal Brass Works, which in 1924 became the "Federal" in Federal-Mogul. In San Francisco, National Motor Bearing was founded and shortly afterward added oil seal production facilities to its operations.

Each of the companies weathered the depression in the early 1930s and, throughout World War II, manufactured bearings by the millions for all types of Allied combat vehicles.

One of the major events marking Federal-Mogul's transition to peacetime production was construction of its first research facility in Ann Arbor, Michigan, in 1946. (Today, Federal-Mogul maintains four such centers in Ann Arbor and a fifth lab in nearby Northville. The centers are devoted to research and development in the areas of anti-friction bearings, engine bearings, rubber and plastics, and metal powders.)

In 1955, Federal-Mogul and Bower joined forces and, in 1956, National Motor Bearing became the company's National Seal Division. Throughout the 1960s, the company continued to establish new sales records, moving from $118 million in 1960 to $251 million in 1970.

Today, Federal-Mogul sales have topped $341 million. The company's product line has expanded from engine bearings to include oil seals, anti-friction bearings, cutting tools, components for aerospace and nuclear power generators, pistons and metal powders, as well as plastic piping and plumbing products and hundreds of engine parts. From two people in a small Detroit shop, Federal Mogul has grown to a worldwide organization of 14,500 people in 48 manufacturing plants, 55 distribution centers and five major research installations.

New kind of piano study offered this fall in St Johns

ST JOHNS -- A new method of piano instruction, designed to teach the student to read music fluently and naturally, is being introduced to the St Johns area this fall by Diantha Witteveen, 308 E. Walker St, a local pianist, organist, and piano teacher.

Having recently become a licensed teacher in the keyboard arts music study series, a national program centered at Princeton, New Jersey, Mrs Witteveen is now accepting applications for children ages 5 to 12 to participate in bi-weekly small group classes lasting one-half hour.

An introduction to music study course, geared for 5 to 7 year olds is an integral part of the program, and the elementary music program is designed for ages 8 to 12.

This method of instruction is based on the principle of all students learning, enjoying, and creating music, not just a few. The young keyboard arts musician learns each element of the musical language, step by logical step, until he is able to perform with confidence.

The keyboard arts program has been researched for several years with over 4000 students and 250 teachers in the US and Canada.

As part of its continuing education program for teachers, Mrs Witteveen will attend an annual seminar each summer and will have the services of an educational consultant on the keyboard arts staff who will visit her music classes twice yearly for on-the-spot evaluation of student progress.

Becky Robbins

Boys better think twice before picking on this girl

By Jim Edwards
County News Editor
DEWITT -- While many youngsters spent the summer taking advantage of the "School's Out" days, one 10-year-old DeWitt girl spent much of the summer in school-Karate school that is.
In the 1st week of June, Becky Robbins, 983 W. Webb, began taking Tae Kwon Do lessons, a Korean form of Karate.
This month, she was awarded her yellow belt after being tested by Haeng Ung Lee, 7th degree black belt and vice-president of the American Karate Association. He is from Omaha, Neb.

Also testing Becky was Myong Kil Kim of South Bend, Ind., a 6th degree black belt and Robert Altemier, 3d degree black belt from Lansing.
Becky's interest of the Oriental, highly-disciplined form of the martial arts actually began in Judo.
She enrolled in the Lansing Judo and Karate School as a Judo student and went on to place in several competitions including 2 firsts and a 2d place finish.
However, lack of sufficient students to conduct the Judo program, forced an end to the program.

So, she naturally began lessons in Karate.
Now that she has earned her yellow belt, her next goal within the next 2-4 months is to test for her green belt.
Becky's instructor is Richard Miller, 1st degree black belt of Lansing.
Although there are several young people enrolled at the school, Becky prefers to train with and compete against the adult students.
Even now she assists new students and, if she continues to progress as rapidly as she has this summer, she could be 1 of the youngest Karate experts in the area.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hair and athletes

Dear Editor:
It's time that some of the St. Johns' coaching staff took another look at one of the rules they insist the athletes adhere to - hair style. "Your hair is too long; get it cut or else." This seems to be the favorite among many coaches. What difference does it make as long as it's neat? I've overheard boys say they had to get their hair cut and after re-appearing were told to go back again, and get it shorter.
I think our school is the only one with such strict rules on this. Go to some of the games and look at the other teams. Hair length certainly makes no difference in their play. There are numerous boys in our school that will not go out for sports because of this rule. And a lot of them are good athletes. I think it's time to go on the athletes ability and forget the hair rule.
Why don't you coaches try this? Let the boys go once. You'll be surprised at how many let their hair grow which should prove something to you, but I'll bet one thing, it will be neat.

team; probably one of the best liked kids in town (from what I read). Long hair certainly didn't affect his play or attitude. Let's try it, you might like it.

Our apologies to Dorella Marten of St. Johns. Last week we said Debbie Thelen won 4-H Fair honors by making the above cedar chest. Actually, Dorella made the chest and we hope this sets the record straight.

County ponders nutrition program for senior citizens

By Jan L. Headerstadt
County News Writer

"If we don't take the money ($10,000 grant from the Federal Government), the big cities will get it. It's time that we start feeding the Clinton County Grasshoppers!" pleaded Commissioner Harold Martin in favor of the Nutrition Program at the Commissioners meeting Aug. 20. This federally funded program was debated for nearly an hour after presentation was made by its director for Ingham County, George Lubeley.

purpose of the program is to provide a nutritious meal for the elderly as well as to provide them recreation and a chance to socialize with others of the same age bracket.

"... in their homes and out of the rest homes..."

As George Lubeley put it, "We want to keep the elderly in their homes and out of the rest homes for as long as possible." At the commissioners meeting, Lubeley invited anyone on the board to attend one of the 6 centers in Ingham

County, where the program is presently underway. With that invitation, this writer went with Lubeley and Ingham County Nutritionist Jeanne Singer last Friday: first to the South

Washington Street center then on to Presbyterian Church in Stockbridge.

The first location was the South Washington Apartments for the elderly. "These apartments are administered by the Lansing Housing Authority and are open only to the elderly, who pay according to income. When we arrived, the residents of the home were just finishing up with their meal. The senior nutritious meals to those who were over 60 and couldn't prepare nutritious meals for themselves, or were lonely and because of that, found themselves not eating right. When asked why the senior citizens couldn't be given a ticket to go to a local restaurant and eat, Lubeley replied that it would be defeating its purpose.

The objective of the program is to get the elderly together and give them recreation in their remaining years. Get them out of the house and to socialize with other people of their own age bracket.

We arrived at Stockbridge in time to observe the people in the program playing a nutrition game Lubeley pointed out that the people had asked to do something like this to learn more about nutrition and vitamins. The game was devised by Mary Freilcock, a worker in the program. The group, consisting mostly of

The first trip was to Greenfield Village and another one has been scheduled for the Waterloo Museum near Chelsea.

Decisions on the program are made by the project council which is composed of 25 members -- 15 are senior citizens who are elected by their fellow retirees and 10 represent the various agencies in Ingham County serving the elderly. George Lubeley and Jeanne Singer serve in advisory capacities to the council.

The council, which meets once a month, decides on menus, policies for certain areas, things to do for recreation and trips. Officers are senior citizens and they hold the majority vote.

One complaint mentioned at the Clinton County Commission meeting was that the program only serves meals once a week and the elderly couldn't survive on just one meal a week. But the goal of the program is to "Keep the elderly from being isolated".

The state hopes to have 5 meals a week in the future, but finds that it must start small. The program is federally funded, 90% coming from the federal government. The remaining 10% comes from the county, which can be made up in the form of a location. If the program is adopted, it is Maple Rapids and either DeWitt or Bath.

"... speculated that 3 centers will be located in the county..."

speculated that 3 centers will be located in the county - St. Johns, How do the older people like the program. "Very receptive" says Jeanne Singer. Those without transportation are given free rides to and from the centers. As a participant of the program, Arlene Newman put it, "I come every week. Before they started this program I got so depressed after my husband died that I thought I couldn't live. But since I met Arlene (Baraley - coordinator for the 3 rural sites) and all those nice people, it has done more for me than anything else. Once a week really helps. Now, I go on these trips, canned peaches yesterday and baked hay a few days ago."

Farmer Pete's wife

by Mrs Ray Peck

Who remembers the Clinton County Fair of fifty years ago? And where was it held? Anybody got any pictures? Could the NEWS run some? This old County Fair came to mind this week after our Clinton County 4-H Fair was over. The next morning two of my toes were numb and I was generally dead all over with not much ambition going.

years ago. My dad, Ed Crowell, had taken my sister, Elizabeth, and me to the Clinton County Fair. He gave each of us a dollar to spend. Believe me, a dollar was a small fortune for two little kids then. We rode several things, though the Ferris Wheel had to stop and let me off because I had never been that high or that scared. Elizabeth was embarrassed and disgusted because she had gotten off with me as I was rather small then. We also ate many exciting things. Taffy was two for five cents, besides being very sticky. It was easier to eat it than carry it around. Throwing it away didn't enter our minds.

realized. Actually I had twenty cents left! The reason I can remember that is the folks thought it remarkable and used to tell it ... and, somehow, to this day I cannot spend right down to the last cent. The reason Elizabeth had less is that she rode the Ferris Wheel two more times without her little sister crying to get off beside her. What came back in a funny recall is how provoked Mother was when Dad brought us two bedraggled, weary, dirty, sticky, exhausted kids home. That wasn't the end of it either. She was up all night with me as I was sicker than a cat. The next day one foot was numb and they said I looked dead all over. Just writing about something that happened fifty years ago gives me a funny feeling. That's half a century! Maybe I should feel older.

citizens enjoyed the meals sponsored by the Nutrition Program, with Henry Roster, 70, commenting, "I don't know what you'd call it, but it was good." The meal consisted of tuna fish, peas and potatoes, bread and pineapple up-side-down cake for dessert.

When asked about recreation, Allen Skutt, who will be 77 next month said, "We play cards, have dances and there's bingo every Wednesday. We also have 2 birthday parties a month along with pot-luck dinners."

On the way to Stockbridge, Lubeley explained that the program was to provide Food games are not the only source of recreation. Bingo is once a month at the rural centers of Williamston, Stockbridge and Mason where the centers only serve once a week. Cards are another popular source of entertainment and beginning two weeks ago, trips.

Women on the move in Michigan politics

LANSING - Twenty-seven women legislators in Michigan next session?
Possible - although not probable.
But results of the recent primary election indicate that women very definitely are moving out of the kitchen and into active political life.

Other women nominated for seats in the House of Representatives who look like they could be winners in November include:

The new policy was adopted by the incumbent Secretary of State, Richard Austin, in an effort to stave off election-year criticism from militant women's groups. But so far the doors of license bureaus have not been battered down by women wishing to take advantage of it.

"If It Fitz . . . I married a hardhat"

Editor, Lapeer County Press

"By Jim Fitzgerald

What really bugged me was when she said, "It needs more grout."
GROUT?
That's when I decided to tell you about the mushrooms, even if she does kill me and she will school.
I MEAN, my wife said grout the same way I'd say potato. Everyone knows what a potato is. But what the devil is a grout?

SAY HOW in the hell did she know that? What did I marry, a bricklayer?
That night, at dinner, I casually remarked, "Remind me to check the grout in the shower." For $400 I want to make sure he didn't miss any crevices."

Regular Meeting
August 12, 1974
The meeting was called to order at 7:25 pm with four councilmen present. The minutes of the previous meeting were accepted as read. Current bills in the amount of $16,214.08 were presented for payment. A motion was made to pay all current bills with the exception of Clinton County Road Commission, $4,000.00 will be paid at this time and the balance will be paid when the position of the culverts and grading is completed on N Main St.

cute little "mushroom growing between the tile crevices (that's where the grout goes, you know).
"SO HELP ME I am telling you true. It looked just like the ones that grow on the golf course. Naturally, I was excited. After all, how many people do you know growing mushrooms in their shower?"
"People are not going to believe this," I said "I will have to take a picture of that mushroom and put it in the newspaper. Our bathroom will become a tourist attraction. The kids can sell tickets and cotton candy."

MORTAR? I think she is still paying union dues. A few dinners later we had cauliflower, which I hate. "If you grew this in the washing machine the Maytag people might put you in a TV commercial," I said.
And she said a few more of those words you might expect to hear from a construction worker, pounding the table with her hardhat.

Local Bike Laws
There is no statewide registration of bicycles although some communities have their own registrations and require bicycles to be licensed if you are not sure, it's a good idea to check with the local police on whether your community requires any type of registration.

Campaigns to battle Cystic Fibrosis

A wanton crippler of children is striking randomly all over the country. It is not a new virus or bacterial strain, or even a strange fungus. It is illusive and in many cases, unsolvable. It is lung-damaging disease.

How many people realize the real crippling capacity of lung-damaging disease and the serious threat it presents to children? US Health Department statistics confirm that millions of children in this country suffer lung-damaging diseases like cystic fibrosis, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, asthma, faulty lung development, recurrent or persistent pneumonia, and others.

REGULAR CLINTON COUNTY ZONING COMMISSION MEETING

A Regular Meeting of the Clinton County Zoning Commission will be held on Thursday, September 19, 1974 at 8 p.m. in the Courthouse, St. Johns, Michigan. At that time the Commission will act on the following Applications:

- DEWITT TOWNSHIP
Zone B-4, Planned Shopping Center to Zone R-M1, Multiple-Family Residential:
Also, a Special Use Permit in conjunction with the multiple zoning.
Beginning 363 feet West of the Northeast corner of Sec. 16, thence South 205 feet, West 156 feet, North 205 feet, East 156 feet, a part of the E 1/4 of NE 1/4 Sec. 1, DeWitt Twp., Clinton County, subject to survey.

More than 100,000 of these children live here in Michigan. Of diseases that kill children, lung disease is second only to cancer. Cystic Fibrosis, the most serious lung disease, is the number one genetic killer of children.

What does a lung-damaging disease actually mean to a child? A constant fight to continue breathing. In the case of cystic fibrosis, it means hours of therapy, consuming large daily doses of antibiotics and digestive enzymes, often sleeping in a mist tent and inhaling medicated vapors. Every lung disease can mean frequent checkups and tests, hospitalizations and bouts with infection.

Michigan Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation (NCFRF) is seeking funds through the September Breath of Life Campaign.

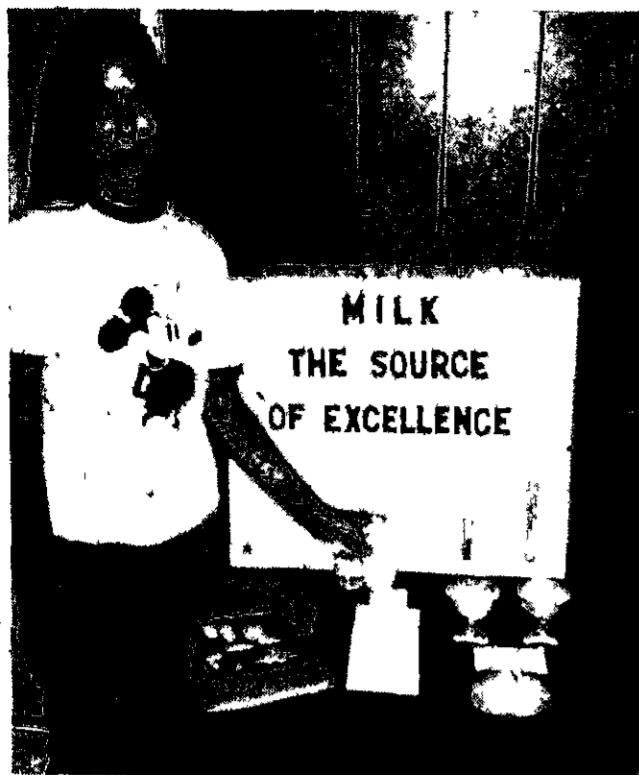

Nearly half of the funds raised here in Michigan will stay in the area to assist lung-damaged children and their families, as well as sponsor other programs of education and training. Other moneys raised will go for research and care on a national level. The NCFRF provides support for more than 110 C/F Centers all over the country for diagnosis and treatment of lung-damaged children. Five of these clinics are located here in Michigan. The Centers also provide for research, training, and educational programs. The NCFRF also funds scientists and researchers seeking a cure for C/F, a test to detect carriers of the gene for C/F, and improved treatment for all lung-damaging diseases.

50 IS THRIFTY. SLOW DOWN.
In less than twenty years, the Foundation has changed from a small group of dedicated parents to a nationwide network of Chapters and Branches devoted to the cause of these original founders. Today millions of people are involved and dedicated to the expanded goals of conquering all lung-damaging disease. To this end, some 30,000 volunteers across Michigan will be doing their part by joining the concerted September campaign effort. The cause is great enough to engage this kind of support and attention, and it is with the continued support of these people that the goals of NCFRF will be met.

Scientists test flame-retardant fabrics

Chloe Padgitt
Clinton County Home Economist

The Agriculture Research Service (ARS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is testing flame-retardant fabrics to determine what effects laundering and stains have on the efficiency of the flame-retardant finish.

The situation is very complex. Researchers do not know how many different factors will influence the efficiency of the finish.

The federal government regulates the flammability standards of fabrics used for children's pajamas. Sleepwear must pass a vertical flame test after 50 launderings.

But what happens to the finish once the pajamas are worn? Children spill milk, food, etc. on sleepwear. Will these stains affect the finish?

At this time the ARS researchers conclude that if the unsold fabric passes the flame test, the soiled fabrics will also pass.

Tests showed a slight loss of efficiency in the soiled fabrics, but this loss was not significant. The textile properties (tearing strength, etc.) were affected more than the retardant finish scientists are testing retardant finishes under conditions in which the fabrics will actually be worn. There will be more tests in the future.

ARE YOU THIRSTY?

You've just finished a rough game of tennis and you're really thirsty!

You search for your favorite drink. But does it really quench your thirst?

"The primary requirement for quenchability is high water content," says Portia Morris, Michigan State University extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Many people believe the temperature of a drink is related to quenchability. Temperature has nothing to do with it.

"Most Americans think a drink must be ice cold for it to quench their thirst. This is purely a matter of habit and culture," states Dr. Morris. "Sweet drinks are not as thirst-quenching as nonsweet drinks," she adds.

Most diet drinks have more quenchability than sweet drinks, because the diet drinks contain less sugar and more water.

"A tart lemonade is a better thirst quencher than a sweet soda, even though they have about the same amount of sugar (12 percent) and water (88 percent).

Water is the best thirst quencher. Next is club soda. However, very few people drink plain club soda. Mixing another beverage with the club soda lowers its quenchability.

Next time you're really thirsty, reach for a drink that will quench your thirst.

GIVE YOUR HOUSE A BATH

You say the siding on the outside of your house looks dingy and you can't afford a new paint job?

Why not wash your house?

Just get a long handled car scrub brush, a hand scrub brush, a pail of detergent and a garden hose.

Wet down a section of the wall. A lot of the surface dirt will disappear with just the strong jet action of the water from the hose. Scrub away the remaining dirt with the scrub brush, which has been dipped in the detergent solution.

Greg Hazle - Bengal Community - placed 3rd in the Rifle Shoot Senior division with 222 points. Tim Phillips - Olive 4-H Projects - placed 5th in the Junior Division Rifle Shoot. Other participants in the rifle shoot included Brian Hazle - Bengal Community - and Terry Churches - Stoney Creek - but they did not place.

In Archery Pat Love, Lauri Love and Matt Driscoll - Snoopy Snooters - participated in the Junior Division, but did not place in the top 5.

The end of the County Farm Bureau fiscal year is closing in on us. The county annual meeting will be held Oct 8th which is a Tuesday night. This will be held in Smith Hall again this year with a family style ham dinner being served at 7:30 pm. The ladies of the Lutheran Church will serve this year at a cost of $3. per person with the County Farm Bureau paying 50% of this cost. This means that you as a member can enjoy a good meal for $2.50 each. Tickets for this event may be obtained from your Community Group Sec. Farm Bureau Office, or directors.

The business meeting will be held after dinner with several items on the agenda of importance to all farmers. Among these are election of 3 new directors for three year terms and voting on resolutions sent in by community groups and composed by Policy Development Comm. and the financial report of County Farm Bureau.

The terms of Francis Motz, director at large; Lewis Lonier, Watertown & Eagle Twp.; and Eugene Thelen, Bengal & Riley Twp. are up this year. The community groups in these twps are urged to send nominations for directors into the office by Sept 20th so that the nominating committee can select names to put on the ballot for election of the annual meeting.

The delegates to the states annual meeting to be held in Grand Rapids in December will be voted on at this time also.

One of the highlights of the county annual is a selection of our Farm Bureau Queen. This young lady will represent Clinton County at the State Annual Meeting in Dec and if she wins there will represent Michigan at the National Farm Bureau Annual Meeting in New Orleans next January.

Hope to see you all Oct 8.

The Annual Discussion Meet sponsored by the County Young Farmer Committee will be held at the County office Sept 19 at 8 pm.

This will give farmers between the ages of 17 and 31 an opportunity to discuss together important issues facing agriculture today and especially the young farmer as he seeks to improve his position.

Contests will be held at the county, district, state and national levels. A complete contest requires: chairman, moderator, timekeeper, three judges and from 4 to 8 contestants. Each contestant makes a 30-second opening statement in which he attempts to define the problem and set the stage for the discussion. The discussion follows with each contestant presenting ideas, facts, background information or suggestions which will contribute to a solution of the problem.

At the end of the discussion, each contestant makes a 1-minute closing statement summarizing the discussion and the conclusions reached.

Topics will be picked from the following: 1. How can Farm Bureau Policy Development Procedures be improved to meet the needs of Young Farmers? 2. Should Farm Bureau develop financial assistance programs for young farmers? 3. How could land use legislation influence agriculture? 4. What should be the role of government in agriculture in the future? 5. How can a telecommunications system benefit Farm Bureau and its members? The winner of the county contest will attend the District Meet and that winner will be given an all expense trip to the State Annual Meeting in December to be held at Grand Rapids.

The winner will receive a trip to New Orleans for 2 to represent the State Farm Bureau at the American Farm Bureau convention in January.

The choice is yours!
This is an important message for any consumer who wants to save money without sacrificing quality.
At your Kroger store, you have a choice of many fine brands. Nationally-advertised products are there. So are regional favorites. And right next to them on the shelf you see Kroger brand products. Equal in quality. Yet lower-priced.
These Kroger products are planned to please you. When a new Kroger product reaches the store shelf, it is there because you have asked for it. It is designed to match the quality of leading brands...and then is prepared to those specifications either in our own plants or in some of the same processing plants as the best-known brands.
Careful quality checks -- during processing and in comparison with other brands -- back up our Unconditional Guarantee of satisfaction on a replacement or money-back basis.
As consumers become more knowledgeable and as inflation and shortages push prices up, awareness of the value represented by store brand products has been growing throughout the country. If you haven't yet tried the Kroger brand, take some home this week. Kroger believes you will be convinced that this is one way you can save money and still get high quality.
The Choice Is Yours.
We hear you and we're trying to help!
