

Wage-price freeze action good claim St. Johns businessmen

Clinton County News

116th Year No. 17 ST. JOHNS, MICH.—WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1971 15 CENTS

Too early for benefits

ST. JOHNS—Local businessmen here are pleased with President Nixon's action installing a wage and price freeze, but there has been little indication overall that the move has spurred sales.

"It's too early to tell, but overall I'm highly in favor of the freeze," commented Bernard Feldpausch, owner of Bee's Chevrolet and Oldsmobile in St. Johns.

He said the prices on new cars will be held at the 1971 peak prices, as designated by guidelines issued through the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

The freeze on the prices of parts has hindered the service garage operation, Feldpausch indicated. "It makes things much tighter and a little harder to operate," he said.

He said he was pleased with the new hike in import taxes on foreign automobiles. "It was totally unfair before. Now we have some cars that can compete with the foreign market."

He was hesitant to quote exact percentages of increased sales he expects with his economy lines, but said it should be considerably higher.

"We needed something so the economy wouldn't run rampant," Feldpausch said.

NORMAN CAIN, of Cains Inc., a Buick dealership, didn't experience any real increase in sales.

"Things are about the same," he said. "The people are acting very nonchalant about the whole thing. Even about the tax return." He was referring to the President's order to cut the excise tax by about seven per cent.

"I've never seen people as negative," Cain added. "Everything is going the same as always."

Cain's firm also sells the Opel automobile, which is manufactured in Europe. He said the price on the Opel has jumped $140 higher per car, but sales have stayed about the same as before.

"I don't think the people believe that prices are the same or lower," he said. "I've seen no stimulus reaction to the freeze—no surge at this time anyway."

BRUCE FOWLER, of Egan's Ford Sales, said his business has dropped off.

"Business has slowed down quite a bit, but it's probably due to the seasonal slowdown. I really don't know."

"I'm in favor of the freeze because I'm sure it will help sales, particularly on the new cars," Fowler said.

He said he was pleased with the import tax increase to give domestic auto makers a better position. "The Volkswagen has already announced a price increase which will put it above our Pinto price," he noted.

"Our service has been real good," he said, even though the price freeze extends to all automotive prices. "There has been a need for some kind of control."

Fowler said he expects the freeze or other such controls to continue after the 90-day period runs out in November.

RED LUNDY, of Lundy Dodge, says his business is booming.

"Our business has really jumped. What this freeze has done, it's awakened the people that there was business here."

He said the import tax increase was good but the foreign market hadn't effected his business much before. "I've never felt I was in competition with them. We have a different type of person who buys domestic autos. We don't even have the same type of buyer as Chevrolet or some

FISH STORY

Registration planned for 11th annual PP&K

ST. JOHNS — Registration will begin Friday, Sept. 10 for the 1971 Punt, Pass and Kick Competition in the showroom of Egan Ford Sales Inc. here.

In making the announcement, Bruce Fowler, contest manager for the dealership, said he was "looking forward to a big local PP&K competition in St. Johns on Oct. 2. We hope all the boys 8-13 years of age in this area will come in to register and take part."

Fowler pointed out that PP&K—throughout its six levels of competition—is free of any charge, and that a boy need only have a parent or his guardian accompany him to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for boys in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all," said Fowler. "Increasing each boy's chances of winning is the fact that he competes only against other boys in his own age group," said the Ford Dealer.

"Of course there is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place-kicking for distance and accuracy, just as the name says. First place winners in each age group in our competition will go on to the zone competition. And from there, top winners go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals," he said.

"This year, the national finals will be held at the Super Bowl Game January 16, 1972. The finalists and their parents as Ford's guests will tour New Orleans, enjoy a Banquet of Champions celebration, and have the chance to meet some of the top players and coaches in professional football. Naturally, we hope some of our St. Johns PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Fowler said.

The Ford Dealer further explained that each boy upon registering receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1971 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Dave Lewis, John Brodie and Curt Knight plus all-round suggestions from Coaches of the Year Ron McCafferty and Tom Landry. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registrations will close at Egan Ford Sales on October 1.

This is the 11th year PP&K has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than 7,000,000 boys have taken part in PP&K, making it the biggest and best youth activity of its kind in America.

DeWitt man killed in two-truck crash

OLIVE TWP.—A DeWitt truck driver was killed Monday morning on US-27 north of Alward Road here when his vehicle collided with a pickup truck that was attempting to pass him.

Norman E. Savage, 51, 409 N. Logan St., DeWitt, a driver for Boichot Concrete Company, was killed instantly when he was thrown from the cab of his truck and crushed beneath the rear dual wheels.

According to Clinton County sheriff department reports, Savage was traveling south along US-27 when a pickup truck operated by James Stepp, 20, of Howell, attempted to pass.

Deputies indicated that the vehicles became locked somehow and spun around on the divided highway. Savage fell from the cab at this point.

The dump truck was barely damaged, while the pickup truck was described as "a total loss."

Deputies said the fatality could have been avoided had the dump truck been equipped with safety equipment, including seat belts.

They didn't get away

DEWITT—Ever heard the story of the fish that got away? Well, Tuesday morning the DeWitt Lions Club had quite a fish story to tell—and this one didn't get away.

Nine members of the club and a guest motored to Ludington Monday for a Coho expedition. And what an expedition it was!

Starting about 7:30 a.m. the group latched onto their first fish of the day. And by 1 p.m., they had caught 50 Coho, or the limit for each man.

Tuesday morning their catch, estimated at 450 pounds of fish, was the talk of the town. Some of the fishermen kidded others about the "little ones" maybe weighing only five to six pounds, but generally it was a pretty happy bunch of fishermen.

THEY WERE Larry Keck, Lloyd Berkimer, Roger Overway, Art Newman, Ken Reed, Lee Rummell, Ray DeWitt, Ron Mull and Eldon Smith, all of the Lions Club, and their guest, Dick Cuatt.

The Lions credited captains George Bolehouse of Grand Rapids and his boat the Garyboy and Bill Griener of Ludington and his boat the Marlene Dee with much of the success.

But you can believe, the Lion-hearted fishermen are going to be a hard bunch to live with for a long time to come.

Mrs. Bates ends career

By JAMES EDWARDS
Editor, Gratiot County Herald

ITHACA—Service to education totaling 31 years came to end July 1 when Mrs. Oscar (Dorothy) Bates of Ithaca announced her retirement from St. Johns High School. The retirement climaxed eight years at St. Johns, 13 years at Ashley and 10 years in Muskegon schools.

A journalism and English teacher, Mrs. Bates was responsible for substantial improvements in the journalism curriculums of both Ashley and St. Johns.

While at Ashley, the senior class handled both the yearbook and the newspaper and the same held true when she started at St. Johns.

She convinced both school systems of the need for separate classes in those areas.

POSITIVE results proved the success of her theory in both instances. The first scholarship ever presented by the Lansing State Journal was presented to an Ashley journalism student of Mrs. Bates, Carole Walton. Another student of Mrs. Bates' walked away with the runner-up honors.

Mrs. Bates also had a student from St. Johns win the State Journal scholarship and, this year, a student of hers was runner-up.

While at St. Johns, Mrs. Bates and her students have published what is recognized as one of the most outstanding school newspapers in the state of Michigan.

Published every two weeks by mimeograph, "The Torch" consists of 14-18 pages with two pages of editorial comment and opinions.

A YEAR HAS yet to go by since Mrs. Bates started at St. Johns that "The Torch" has not been recognized by awards.

Each year "The Torch" has received

Mrs. Raymond Stewart entertained her 3rd and 4th grade Sunday School class at her home on Wilson Road Tuesday afternoon. The new members entering her class this fall were also present. A wicker roast was enjoyed and games played. Norman Wood, of Milledale, was the guest speaker at the Bannister United Methodist Church Sunday morning. His sermon was entitled "Christians by the Wayside". He and his two daughters sang for the congregation. Other special music was Mrs. Donald Hinkley and Debbie and Donna Hinkley with Mrs. Kenneth Swanson at the organ. During the Sunday School hour. Promotion Sunday was observed and all students were recognized and promoted to their various classes. Following Sunday School classes, a picnic was held for the whole church. After the meal, games were played and contests held. Mrs. Isa Peck passed away on Saturday morning. Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Carter Funeral Home.

of the others." As far as the service garage prices being frozen, Lundy said his business is better. "We were pretty quiet for a while, but all of a sudden we became very busy. So the freeze hasn't hurt us at all." "We will definitely need controls afterward," Lundy said. "We'll also have to control Meany and Woodcock, since everybody knows where the trouble lies." Lundy was referring to George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO labor unions and Leonard Woodcock, head of the United Auto Workers. Lundy blamed them for causing labor strikes for increased pay and fringe benefits which, in turn, would be passed along to the consumer. He said there were about "five per cent in the unions that cause trouble. The other guys are happy."

AL DEAN, St. Johns hardware dealer, said there was no way of telling what the effects of the freeze will be. "There is no way anybody can tell you that right now," Dean said. "It is certainly helping the economy of the country, but whether this is the way or not, we don't know." He said that there will be need for controls after the 90 day deadline. "We will have to keep on controlling the economy. We can't cure the problems in just 90 days." "It is bound to help me and everybody, eventually, but there has been no increase as far as a sensational rise." He said he sees the 90 days as a time for federal agencies to get organized to handle economic controls that would be imposed later. "It's like the methods used during the Korean War and World War II," he said. "It's bound to cause some problems, but anybody who cries about it is way off base."

awards from the State Journal and has also been recognized by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, National Scholastic Press Association and the National Press Association.

Circulation of the newspaper is about 600 and is sold in the school and St. Johns business places.

Ever miss a deadline with the newspaper or yearbook? There are times she said she wondered, but, "the kids always got the job done."

One of the most important aspects of high school level journalism, Mrs. Bates notes, is the responsibility learned by the students and the greater knowledge of activities in their high school they weren't actively involved with.

INTEREST she instilled in her students led many to pursue further education on the college level and many have used the skills learned from Mrs. Bates in related fields.

Although now retired, the affiliation with journalism and English will not end quickly. Former students are already visiting Mrs. Bates for long talks of past newspaper and yearbook experiences and those yet to come.

A lifetime resident of Ithaca, Mrs. Bates is a graduate of Ithaca High School and received her bachelor of science in English from Central State Teachers College, now Central Michigan University.

She was awarded her master's degree in guidance and counseling from Michigan State University and also attended Western Michigan University.

After commuting from her home for so many years, Mrs. Bates plans to take advantage of her retirement to "just stay home a little," catch up on her reading and do a little gardening.

Hunter safety classes planned

Young people under the age of 17 who want to hunt game this year will be required to take a special hunter safety course and pass it. That's the law.

But the St. Johns Jaycees and the Fowler Conservation Club have the answer. Both groups will be sponsoring Hunter Safety Courses within the next two weeks.

The law, requiring the certification of young hunters goes into effect today. All persons under the age of 17 and who did not have a license last year, will have to show the certificate in order to buy a license. If you hunted last year, you must show last year's license.

THE ST. JOHNS Jaycees will hold their course Saturday Sept. 11 for boys between the ages of 11 and 16. It will be held at the High School. Boys may register in advance for the course at Dean's Sport Center at the Alan R. Dean Hardware.

There will be a registration fee of $3, which is applied toward the purchase of the Hunter Safety Handbook and the certificate of competency. Further information may be obtained by calling Jack Downing, 224-3443.

The Fowler Conservation Club's program will consist of four one hour sessions beginning Sept. 7 at the club house, two and one half miles south of Fowler on Wright Rd. Class time will be 7 p.m.

Other class dates are Sept. 9, 14 and 16. A registration will be held Sept. 7, with a fee of $1. A test will be given Sept. 16 and for those who pass, a certificate will be issued for $2. A trip to the trap range and several films are planned during the course. The films are Hunter Safety, Open to Hunting, Michilli Wapiti (Elk of the Chippewas) and Black Bear and Hound Music.

Governor William Milliken has proclaimed the week of Sept. 11-18 as Hunter Safety Week.

Peach parade

Peaches are on parade right now and on through September in Michigan. So it's time to know peach varieties and choose your favorites.

Your state ranks fourth in peach production - led only by California, South Carolina and Georgia. Our peach season opens with the earliest variety, Sunhaven which is still on the market. The main variety now is the Redhaven, a peach that has become world famous for its delicious flavor. Later in August Richhaven, Globhaven and Halshaven will begin to appear on the markets.

September will bring Cresthaven, Kalhaven, Redskin and Elberta varieties. Most are good for eating fresh, canning and freezing; however, Sunhaven are not recommended for canning while Elbertas are best canned rather than frozen or fresh.

PEACHES AREN'T FOR pinching - this may bring bruise damage to the fruit. The best way to pick-a-peach in the market place is to look - not feel. Ripeness is your clue, for peaches must look good to be good. Find those plump, well-formed peaches that have no decay or injury. Look at the color.

Michigan peaches have yellow skins and flesh so look for creamy to gold color under the red "blush". Red blush alone is not a sign of ripeness because the amount of blush varies with the variety. Peaches with green in the background are immature and will never develop full flavor.

Firm ripe peaches have been left on the trees until their sugar content develops enough to insure complete ripening, good flavor and coloring. These peaches are still firm enough to be handled and shipped to market without damage. To get the peaches fully ripe for eating, leave them at room temperature one to three days before using. After ripening, peaches should be put into the refrigerator and are best used within one to two days.

Nowadays, most peaches are detuzzed by soft brushes soon after picking. Because of their tender skins, just wash and slice - no peeling is necessary.

IF YOU FREEZE OR can peaches plan your time to match the ripening time of your favorite variety. Use recommended varieties and know how much to expect: 2 1/2 pounds of fresh peaches gives 2 pints canned or frozen. One bushel (approximately 48 lbs.) gives 34 to 48 pints canned or frozen, depending on quality and size, whether halved, sliced and how closely packed.

It's "Peachy" to know that 1 medium peach contains about 46 calories. All Michigan peaches are excellent for pies, desserts, salads and for eating out of hand. So enjoy Michigan peaches now while they lead our parade of fruits.

Clinton to get $61,300 for jobs

LANSING — State Senator William S. Ballenger today hailed the decision of Governor William G. Milliken to turn over some $61,300 in emergency job funds directly to Clinton County to use as the county sees fit.

"The Governor didn't have to turn this money over to the county. He had the prerogative of using it to create state public service jobs in Clinton County, thus denying local government any voice in deciding how the money should be used.

BALLENGER SAID The money should not be viewed as an updated W.P.A. program such as was launched during the Depression of the 1930s. Rather, the money should be used to restore cuts in public services by providing jobs in such fields as education, law enforcement, police and fire protection, and road and street maintenance, or to create new programs in these areas and others that would not have been possible until now.

The funds Clinton will be receiving are the result of a new act passed this year in Congress and signed into law by President Nixon known as the "Emergency Employment Act of 1971" (PL 92-54).

Ballenguer said it was his understanding that a separate bank account would have to be set up in the county to receive the funds, which would be administered by the County Treasurer, Ballenger said at least one meeting will be set up within the next week or two to which key county public officials—especially county commissioners, who will have ultimate responsibility for deciding how the money should be spent—will be invited.

Ballenguer said that under the terms of the funds, no job can be created in any county which would pay more than $12,000 annually, or, if one is, the county would have to supplement the salary ceiling out of its own funds.

"THE MONEY BEING made available to Clinton gives priority to hiring Vietnam and Korean war veterans, migrants, young persons, Indians, and the unemployed," the Ovid Republican emphasized. As had been noted, the state and federal governments will not be putting the taxpayers' money on a stump and running. There will be a continuing evaluation process to make sure the money is being spent properly. I hope the County Board of Commissioners will indicate it can handle this opportunity. I urge the commissioners to act with a hardheaded blend of thrift, compassion and common sense."

According to Ballenger, further inquiries concerning the $61,300 windfall should be directed to the Governor's Emergency Employment Task Force Office at 126 Pine Street in Lansing. Telephone callers should dial 373-7880 and ask for either John Rink or Alan Bogatay.

Allen now cycles for pet project

LANSING—State Representative Richard J. Allen (R-Ithaca) reported today his plans for a five-day bicycle trip from Lansing to Mackinaw City have met with an enthusiastic response, and are proceeding.

Allen announced that Governor William Milliken hopes to be on hand to see him, and any cycling companions, on their way when they depart from the State Capitol September 1. The bike trip will begin at the East (front) steps of the Capitol building at 8:30 a.m.

The cycle tour will culminate in participation in the annual Mackinac Bridge walk on Labor Day (Monday, September 6), which will be led by the Governor.

So far, Allen noted, he's received over 20 inquiries from people who may be interested in joining him for the 250-mile journey. He doesn't figure everyone who calls will actually go, but he is hoping for some company and encouraged other interested people to call his Capitol office for information.

"I'VE REALLY BEEN surprised, very pleasantly, at the response to this idea," Allen said. "I wasn't entirely sure anyone would share my enthusiasm for a bicycle trip of such length."

"I've planned the trip so that anyone participating can spend the evenings in a motel or camp out, whatever they'd like. We'll go about 50 miles a day, with overnight stops planned in the Alma, Harrison, Grayling and Wolverine areas. Naturally, anyone who would like to join in somewhere along the way is more than welcome. The trip will generally follow Old US-27, which approximately parallels the US-27 and I-75 freeways."

When he announced the trip, Allen said he hoped it would contribute to passage of his bill establishing a system of hiking, biking and horseback riding routes throughout the state.

Poll results

GARY BROWN U.S. REPRESENTATIVE

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Third District Congressman Gary Brown (R-Mich.) today announced the tabulated results of the legislative questionnaire he recently sent to all residents of the Third District.

"The response to my questionnaire has been most gratifying. The clear citizen concern demonstrated in the volume and the thoughtfulness of the response is a real source of inspiration and is, in its own way, as helpful to me in my tasks as are the results of the tabulation themselves," Brown said.

While such a questionnaire cannot mirror the diversity of views and opinions of Third District residents, Brown said it does show how respondents answered certain questions about our national policies at a given time.

"And in fulfilling my responsibilities in the Congress, the thousands upon thousands of individual responses are extremely helpful."

THE PERCENTAGE analysis on all issues posed is attached.

We tried

Rep. Douglas Trezise 87th District

Well, we tried. We tried but we didn't quite make it.

The "we" I'm referring to is a group of almost all the Republican members of the House of Representatives, and what we tried was to place before the voters of this state, this fall, an amendment to the Constitution which would eliminate property taxes as the means of support for our schools.

When I say we failed, it does not mean the subject is dead; but, it has changed considerably.

BEAR IN MIND, during this discussion, that for the Legislature to submit a constitutional question to the voters of this state it must be approved by a two-thirds vote of both branches of the Legislature, in the Senate, that means 26 votes and in the House we need 74.

Neither party has the required number of members in either chamber. So, to accomplish anything along this line is going to require some compromise. Remember, too, that the Democratic party has long tried to remove the ban in the Constitution against a graduated income tax. This ban reads that no income tax graduated as to rate (percentage) or base (level of income) shall be enacted by the Legislature. (The subject of graduated income taxes is a rather complicated one and I intend to cover it thoroughly in a subsequent column. At this point, I will just say that graduated tax functions as does the federal income tax; the higher the taxable income a person has, the higher the percentage of it he pays in taxes).

Twice in the past this approach to taxation has been placed before the voters of Michigan and twice they have rejected it. But, recognizing the popularity of property tax reductions, the Democrats seek now to attach their graduated tax proposal to the school-property tax issue in the hope that, in a combined appeal, it will be approved by the voters.

IT'S THIS COMBINATION we tried to stop and failed in the attempt. We had no objection to placing the graduated tax again before the voters but felt it should not be tied to the school property tax question.

In rapid succession one night last week, the following items were placed before the House:

1) Place the graduated income tax proposal separately before the voters — failed.

2) Place the school-property tax question alone before the voters — failed.

3) Combine the two proposals above but limit the graduated tax proposal to a "piggy-back" state income tax which would amount to a percent of the federal income tax — failed.

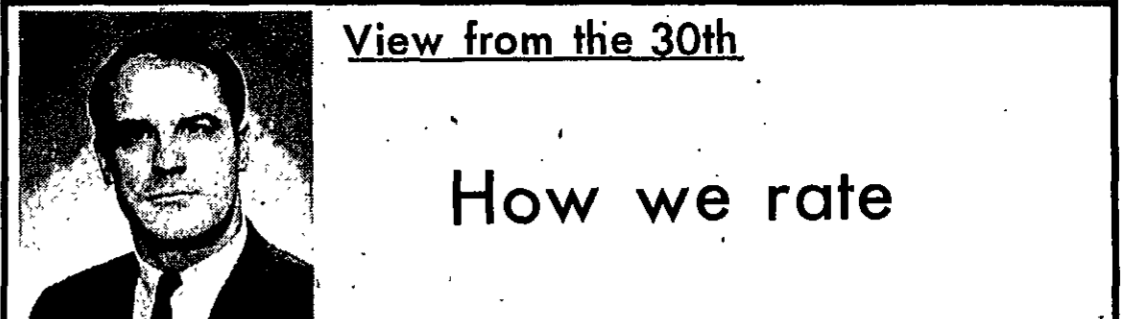

4) Combine proposals (1) and (2) above but limit any personal income tax rate to 8 percent — failed.

5) Combine proposals (1) and (2) and also eliminate constitutional limit of a 4 percent sales tax with the idea that some of the lost school tax money could be made up through the sales tax rather than entirely by increased income taxes — failed.

In all of these actions, the number of favorable votes ranged from 46 to 52, short of what was needed. Finally, the question was put as a combination of eliminating the graduated tax prohibition combined with the school-property tax question. This proposal gathered 63 votes, 11 short of that needed. I was one of those opposed because I still have hopes of allowing voters to express themselves simply on the matter of educational financing reform without a two-pronged question.

But, the combination question will be back before us and between now and then I am going to have to decide whether your voting on property tax reform outweighs the aversion to graduated income taxes. I know that the graduated tax proposition was soundly defeated in the 87th District three (3) years ago. I also know the desire for reform in school financing is the most important issue in our area today.

There is only small comfort in realizing that if the proposition is placed on the ballot as it is now framed each one of you will have to make the same decision.

How we rate

By SEN. WILLIAM S. BALLENGER

As I pointed out last week, the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures (CCSL) has ranked the 50 state legislatures according to how well they measure up in five different categories: functional, accountable, informed, independent, and representative. First, what is a "functional" legislature?

According to the CCSL, no legislature can function well unless it has: a) Enough time and the means to make good use of its time; b) Staff aides for leaders and individual members beyond the more specialized staff of clerks or research offices; c) Adequate facilities, including chambers, committee rooms, and offices; d) Manageable size, in terms of the total number of members, the number of committees, and the number of committee assignments per member; e) Some method for ensuring continuity between legislative sessions and coordination between the houses of the legislature; and f) An orderly atmosphere, a sense of decorum and dignity of office that enables the legislature to conduct its business without undue delay or disruption, and with a sense of competence and authority.

Secondly, for a legislature to be "accountable", it should have three characteristics: a) In structure, in organization, and in procedure, it must be understandable to the general public; b) The general public must be able to know what is going on. The legislative process must, in other words, be open to view; information about what it is doing, and why, and who is responsible, must be both easily and amply available; and c) It must give every individual legislator as full an opportunity as possible to influence the legislature's decisions, to have as much impact as his own abilities enable him to have. The people cannot fairly hold a legislator responsible for not doing what he does not have the power to do. According to the CCSL, Michigan ranks only 22nd in this category, its poorest showing in any of the five categories.

Thirdly, for a legislature to be "informed", the CCSL says it must have: a) Enough time to gather, sort out, and assess the information it needs; b) A standing committee system that enables it to explore, in detail and in depth, the issues before it; c) A well-developed program of interim activities; d) An efficient system for printing, processing, recording, and retrieving bill documents, reports, and other legislative materials; e) A professional staff of sufficient size and skills; and f) The specialized staff and other resources necessary for making informed judgments about the fiscal aspects of legislation. The CCSL feels Michigan ranks fairly high in this category—ninth among the 50 states.

The fourth category in the CCSL study is "independence". For a legislature to be able to operate with a reasonable degree of independence, it should have the following powers or characteristics: a) It must control its own life. It must decide how long and how often it meets, and establish its own procedures, programs, expenditures, and apportionment; b) It must be, in practice as in principle, able to operate as a separate and co-equal branch of government relative to the executive branch; c) It must be able to oversee and evaluate the programs and expenditures which it has authorized; d) It must be free from undue influence on the part of special interest groups and representatives; and e) It must be free from conflicts or dilution of interest on the part of individual legislators.

Michigan ranks fairly high in this category, too—12th.

Fifth and last, a legislature should be "representative". According to the CCSL, for legislature to be fully representative there must be: a) A clear identification between legislators and their constituents, a direct tie between each individual legislator and each individual district; b) As diverse a membership as possible; and c) A structure and set of procedures that enable each individual legislator to act effectively on behalf of his constituents. Michigan ranks better in this category than in any of the other four—3rd in the nation, behind only New York and California.

IN CLOSING THIS article, I might point out one thing more: Just because Michigan comes out fairly well (8th) in the ranking of the 50 state legislatures is no reason to cheer. Nobody should smugly conclude that the Michigan Legislature is certainly pretty good when compared with other Victorian relics such as Wyoming (49th) or Alabama (50th). By this method, of course, it is always possible to find some other legislature whose practices are worse than the best, and the worst rather than the best becomes the standard of legislative achievement.

The "ideal legislature" is simply the one that best meets the needs of its state—that is, a genuinely democratic decision-making body, reflecting the various views and values of its citizenry, on the one hand, and responding effectively and authoritatively to their needs and problems, on the other.

As the CCSL study points out, in no state does such a legislature exist—not even in California, which is far and away the best over-all, so much so that it is as much better than Michigan's as Michigan's is than Alabama's.

Next week, I'll conclude this four-part series by outlining what specifically the Michigan Legislature can do to improve itself.

From the State House

A difference

By REP. DICK ALLEN

There is a difference! For much of the year it is difficult to tell a Republican from a Democrat in Lansing. Issue after issue finds an assortment proving the old adage about politics and bedfellows.

Then come the budget bills and once again Republicans are Republicans and Democrats are Democrats.

KIDS ARE HEADED back to school and we are still in session completing budget bills that were supposed to go into effect July first. The reason has been a strong party line fight on appropriations, especially the one for welfare.

Republicans have stood fast for a lower level of spending citing a balanced budget as number one party goal. We are also concerned that we not institute spending levels that would mandate a tax increase again next year.

Speaker Ryan, the Democrats champion of higher spending, finally gave in slightly on social services, the deadlock was broken, and we are now finalizing the budget.

Who won? Will the budget balance? Will new taxes be required?

IT'S CLOSE. We won't know for sure for almost a year. But this much can certainly be said. When it comes to spending the taxpayers money there is still a difference between Republicans and Democrats.

The dawn patrol will fly in Sunday morning, have breakfast at the airport, and be escorted to the Rodeo.

A 1971 Oldsmobile Cutlass will be given away at the rodeo. Rodeo performances will be held at 8 p.m. Sept. 10 and Sept. 11, and at 2 p.m. Sept. 12.

The genuine western-style rodeo is being produced by Rodeo Incorporated and has been sanctioned as a world's championship event by the Rodeo Cowboys Association of Denver, Colo.

An estimated 75 professional cowboys are expected to enter the various events. They will compete for $2,000,000 plus in prize money. Events will include steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and a girls' barrel race. Each rodeo performance will begin with a traditional grand entry of contestants.

The Outdoor Club's 1971 rodeo queen, Miss Denise Downing, a secretary in Oldsmobile's purchasing department, and Faith Wertz, Charlotte Frontier Day Queen, will make appearances at each performance.

Rodeo chairman Edward Ernst, a die-model maker in Oldsmobile's product engineering department, has announced plans for an advanced ticket sale. When purchased in advance tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children between the ages of four and 16. At the gate, adult tickets will be $3 and tickets for children between four and 16 will be $1.75. Children under four will be admitted free. There is free parking at the Charlotte fairground.

Advance tickets may be obtained by writing Oldsmobile's Recreation Department, 920 Townsend St., Lansing, 48921.

The Outdoor Club, according to club president Floyd Bulock, anticipates total attendance in excess of 25,000 for the three-day event this year. Last year, more than 5,600 persons attended the rodeo.

Profits from the 3-day rodeo will help Oldsmobile's non-profit Outdoor Club finance the club's many family-oriented projects conducted during the year. The club has a membership of 3,000 salaried and hourly employees and 1,400 retirees.

Profits from the 1971 Cutlass will pay for 500 new bleacher seats at the Charlotte High School.

Kroger complies with order

GRAND RAPIDS--Kroger Food Stores today pledged its cooperation in every way toward meeting President Nixon's goal of halting inflation.

David Burt, vice president of the retail food firm's Grand Rapids Division, said, "Inflation's the biggest problem facing our nation today. It has handicapped customers and business alike. Kroger and other food stores have been caught between drastically rising costs of doing business and our desire to hold prices as low as possible for shoppers."

Burt said the company has taken steps to comply fully with the President's executive order of Sunday.

He noted that customers have expressed curiosity about two areas--will there still be weekly advertised specials?

"The answer is yes. Each week we will offer items at low special prices, just as we have in the past. Under no circumstances will any price be higher than established under the terms of the President's executive order, he said.

Are all items in the store included in the freeze?

"The price freeze are raw agricultural products, such as eggs or fresh fruits and vegetables, in price on a supply-and-demand or seasonal basis, as they have in the past," Burt added. "I can assure you that Kroger will continue to utilize all our resources to offer shoppers the benefit of the best values available."

State police sweep national titles

EAST LANSING -- Michigan State Police marksmen swept to national police team and individual pistol championships in the annual matches which ended Thursday at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Col. John R. Plants, department director, flew to Camp Perry Thursday to attend the late afternoon presentation of trophies to team and individual winners.

An extra honor for the State Police was their capture of the national open team title in the .22 caliber in addition to being high police team in that event. It was the department's first national open team title won at Camp Perry.

Cpl. Elwyn Burnett, of the State Police post at Romeo, captured the overall national police individual pistol crown, placing first in all three calibers of .22, .38 and .45 and in aggregate. His winning score was 2610 out of a possible 2700. He ranked fourth in overall individual shooting.

The State Police fired top open and police score of 1163/1200 in the .22 and high police counts of 1144 in the .38 and 1134 in the .45 for an overall winning police aggregate of 3441/3600. They also won the .45 military hardball match with 1098. The team ranked seventh in overall open competition.

State Police team members, who earned 19 individual awards, included Burnett, Corporals William Bayn, Rockford, Dorr Wiltsie, Pontiac, Troopers Larry Conn, East Lansing, Thomas Oakey, Flint, and Lyle Schroeder, Bridgeport. Team manager and coach is Sgt. Bernard Schrader, East Lansing.

The Michigan troopers, who were dethroned in 1970, thus regained this year the national team and individual police pistol championships they held for several years running at Camp Perry.

STATE POLICE Tpr. James L. Simmons, 24, of the Detroit post, is being transferred August 15 to the personnel division at East Lansing headquarters, Col. John R. Plants, department director, has reported.

Simmons joined the State Police in January, 1969 and after graduation from recruit school in April that year was assigned to Detroit.

One of five black officers in the department, Simmons' duties will include recruitment activities.

He was born in Ashland, Ala., and graduated from high school at Lineville, Ala., later attending Johnson C. Smith University at Charlotte, N. C., for a year. Muskegon was his hometown at the time of his enlistment in the State Police. He is married and has two sons.

MICHIGAN HAS had 145 deaths and 164 persons injured in 342 water accidents reported in the first seven months this year, according to State Police water safety unit records.

Compared with the same period last year, deaths are down 18, injuries by two and accidents by 76.

State Police officials attribute part of the factors involved in the reductions with generally cooler weather prevailing this summer, serving to discourage water activities.

A sizable reduction of 33 is noted comparing the 58 swimming and wading deaths reported this year through July 31 with 91 recorded in that category for last year.

Other death breakdowns had counts comparable to those of last year. These included 22 boat operators, 21 boat passengers, three divers, one skler, 24 who died in various falls into water, six who attempted rescue, two snowmobile riders, and eight miscellaneous.

Of the 145 deaths, 15 were drownings in home pools and 30 occurred among persons fishing. Fifteen persons were under five years of age.

Wellman awarded Graduate school banking certificate

ST. JOHNS—Harold Wellman, President of Central National Bank in St. Johns, was awarded a certificate at the commencement exercises of The Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Friday afternoon.

The 59 bankers, all previous graduates of the school attended a special one-week post-graduate refresher course on the Madison campus.

The school is sponsored by The Central States Conference of Bankers Associations, consisting of bankers associations from 16 Midwestern states. Over 1,425 other bankers were enrolled this year in the regular three year course. The student bankers came from 41 states, and several foreign countries.

Herbert V. Prochnow, retired President of The First National Bank of Chicago and Director of The Graduate School of Banking since it was organized in 1945, presented the certificates.

He told the alumni that the object of the program was to provide them with an opportunity to review not only some of the more fundamentals in banking, economics, and finance, but also, more importantly, recent trends and developments. He noted that the recent sweeping changes in economic policies announced by President Nixon earlier this month made this year's session particularly timely.

The refresher course included two special sessions—Monetary and Fiscal Policy led by Dr. Mark H. Willes, Vice President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia; and Current Management Problems directed by Mr. L.M. Schwartz, President of the Citizens State Bank, Paola, Kansas.

The 59 alumni of the school attending the course came from twenty states. They were, on the average, 44 years old and had been in banking over 20 years. All were senior officers of their banks—13 of them holding the title of president and/or chairman.

trooper candidates sought

EAST LANSING—Young Michigan men interested in State Police careers are advised that recruiting of trooper candidates has reopened in accordance with a new Civil Service announcement. Col. John R. Plants, department director, reported.

Eligible to apply are men 21 to 30 years of age, inclusive, who are U.S. citizens and who have been residents of Michigan at least a year prior to application. They must have a high school education or the equivalent.

Plants emphasized that the State Police Department is an equal opportunity employer and urged young men of all races to apply. A State Police officer career is a challenging and rewarding one, he said.

This enlistment opportunity should be of special interest to veterans of armed services who may qualify for up to $133 monthly in government assistance over a period of 13 months.

CANDIDATES MUST BE AT least 5 feet 9 inches tall and weigh at least 150 pounds but no more than 240 with weight in proportion to height and age. They must be in good physical condition and meet certain vision and hearing standards. They must be of good moral character and have no serious arrest record. They may be married or single.

Trooper pay, including time in recruit school, begins at an annual rate of $9,228.96 or $353.60 every two weeks. The current schedule shows pay in the trooper rank climbing to maximums in five years of $12,381.84 annually or $474.40 bi-weekly. Longevity pay is added annually after six years of service. State Police officers can retire on pensions at half-pay after 25 years of service.

After completing five years of service, troopers become eligible to take promotional examinations. A previous requirement for transfer of new troopers after two years of service has been suspended.

Troopers are provided with free uniforms and equipment. Fringe benefits include vacations with pay, paid sick leave, and opportunity to enroll in cost-shared insurance plans.

INTERESTED YOUNG MEN can obtain application blanks and more complete information on trooper careers by contacting their nearest State Police post or by writing to the Michigan Civil Service Department in Lansing.

The examination process for trooper candidates includes a written test, field investigation and appraisal, an oral appraisal at East Lansing, and a physical examination at the time of reporting for recruit school.

The State Police have 28 officers throughout the state whose duties include serving as recruit specialists to expedite the processing of candidates.

Price freeze

to help farmers

ST. JOHNS—Laurence Hart, chairman, Clinton County ASC Committee, said that President Nixon's new economic program should help the farmer. Hart said prices paid to farmers for raw products would not be "locked in".

In other words, he explained, the "first sale" transaction from the farmer to the "middle man" would be free to fluctuate. Hart said that prices paid by farmers for inputs that he buys to operate his farm business would not be allowed to increase. He quoted Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin as follows:

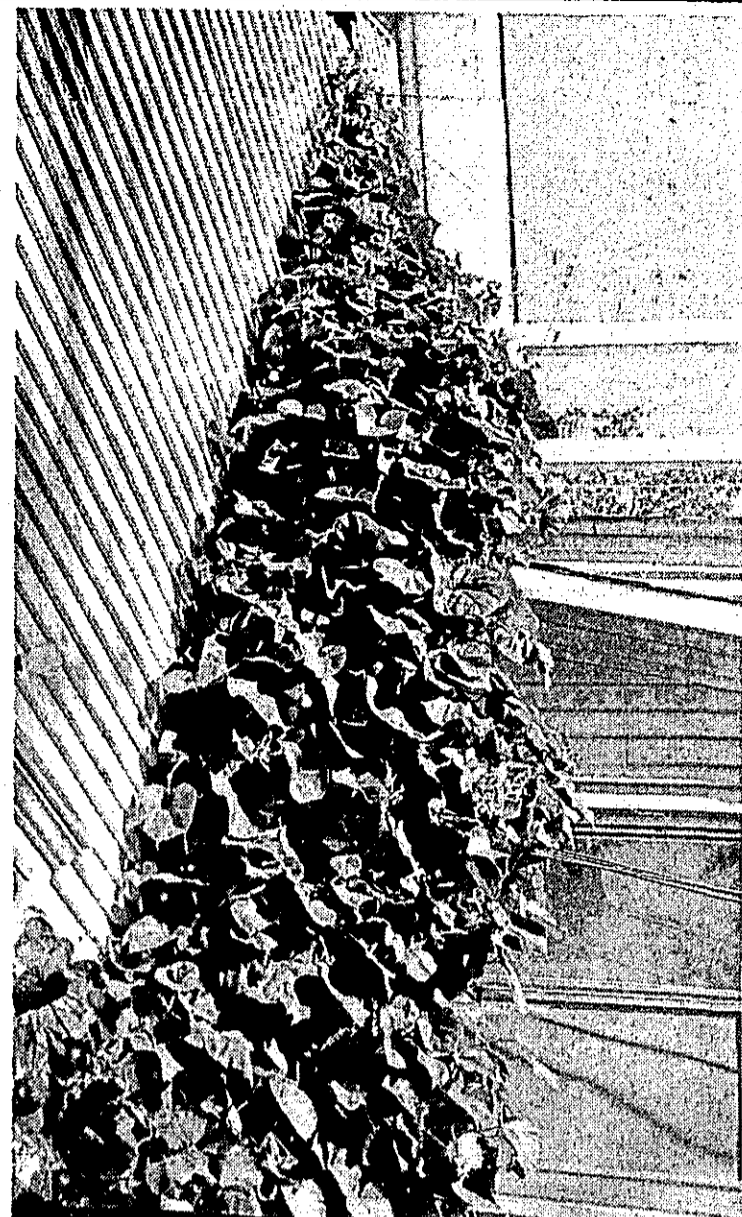

"AMERICAN FARMERS STAND to benefit from the actions announced by the President to combat inflation, to spur the competitiveness of the U.S. economy, and to improve our foreign trade and monetary position," Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin said tonight.

"Farmers will benefit by the actions taken to fight inflation. The cost-price squeeze is the number one problem facing American farmers. Therefore, we strongly welcome the actions taken."

"Secondly, the steps announced to spur investment in equipment and to reduce taxes are designed to bolster our own domestic economy and make jobs. These will provide stronger markets for our own producers."

"Finally, the action taken to impose a temporary surcharge on imports and the withdrawal of gold support from the dollar are comparable to what other countries have done in similar balance-of-payments situations. And as anyone concerned with agriculture knows, the use of variable levies by some countries to protect agricultural systems constitutes permanent border protection which should be of far greater concern to the world than temporary surcharges."

"I HOPE THAT AS our friends abroad digest this series of actions they will recognize that the President is saying that all of us need to find better solutions to our trade and international monetary problems. Obviously, American agriculture could make a much stronger contribution than it already has to our balance-of-payments problem if other countries of the world would admit more of our farm goods."

Morning Glories at the home of Mrs. William Elliott, 401 S. Clinton Ave., seem to reach almost to the sky as summer draws to a close. The flowers were planted by the Elliotts.

Sheila Vieira bride of Alan A. Miller

Sheila Ann Vieira, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Vieira of 185 Pleasant St., Lowell, Mass. became the bride of Alan A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Miller, R-2, S. Bauer Rd. Fowler.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of candlelight silk organza with an empire bodice featuring vertical rose point lace panels and seed pearls on the bodice and bishop sleeves. The border of lace trimming the hemline and edge of the detachable chapel length train was visible beneath her cathedral-length silk illusion veiling which cascaded from a lace camelot cap. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white miniature carnations and aqua baby's breath interlaced amongst white sweetheart roses. Carnation greens and white satin streamers completed the design.

Nancy Vieira, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Elizabeth Papik of Lowell, Mass.; Lois Miller, sister of the groom, Mrs. Nancy Cummings of Dover, N.H.; Mary Florida of Lowell, Mass., cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Shirley Belanger of North Andover, Mass., cousin of the bride. All attendants were attired in empire-styled, aqua pant gowns of chiffon over taffeta. Accented the high collar, bodice and cuffs was aqua and lime green embroidery with velvet ribbon laced through it. They carried old fashioned bouquets of sweetheart roses in the midst of miniature carnation with a border of white lace and velvet streamers. The distinctive feature of the maid of honor's attire was the use of lime green accents compared to the aqua accents of the rest.

The best man was Robert Schafer of Westphalia. Ushers were Martin Miller, brother of the groom, Gary McNamara, brother-in-law of the groom, Gordon Thelen of St. Johns, Stephen Papik of Lowell, Mass. and John Vieira, brother of the bride.

Following the reception at the Pelham Inn, Pelham, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. Miller left for a honeymoon in Bermuda. Upon their return on July 31, there was a Michigan reception held at the Fowler Conservation Club Park in Fowler, in honor of the newly married couple.

The bride is a graduate of Lowell High School and Lowell State College, both in Lowell, Mass. She is presently employed as a teacher in Westford, Mass. The groom is a graduate of Fowler High School, Fowler and attended Lansing Business University in Lansing. After serving four years in the U.S. Navy, he plans now to attend Lowell Technological University in Lowell, Mass. in the fall.

Alan and Sheila will reside at 203 Baldwin St., Lowell, Mass.

Bogdan attends banking course

ST. JOHNS — Robert Bogdan, assistant cashier of Clinton National Bank & Trust Co., recently completed the first of a two-week course in The National Mortgage School at Ohio State University in Columbus.

The school, co-sponsored by the American Bankers Association, is recognized as one of the leading centers for advanced study in the field of mortgage finance.

Bogdan will have successfully completed two one-week resident sessions, as well as extension case work at home upon graduation next summer. His training is part of a mortgage department expansion program at CNB&T.

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer spent two days recently with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Green and Ben of Northport.

A hail storm went through the Shepardsville area on Aug. 26. It came from the northeast and damaged gardens and crops in an area about two miles wide and several miles long. A rain gauge in the yard of one of the residents showed that four inches of rain fell during the afternoon.

There were 45 present at the "rap session" at the Shepardsville United Methodist Church on Sunday, Aug. 29. This also included people from Price. Nothing definite was decided but those present clearly indicated that a full-time pastor was needed if the churches were to be of any influence in the community.

Business notes

By MIKE PREVILLE
News Advertising Manager

I should have asked Dick Parsons about my status. Dick and Alan Kramer are State licensed Hunting Safety instructors and will be conducting a Hunter Safety Program at the Fowler Conservation Club club house beginning September 7.

State law now reads that before a young man can purchase a hunting license he must show a Safe Hunter Certificate or prove he has been licensed before.

So all young men from 11 to 16 (Dick and Alan encourage 11 year olds to attend even though 12 years is the minimum age to buy a license) are invited to attend the program.

Now about my status. By no stretch of the imagination am I that young a man. But on the other hand, even though I have hunted (and if memory serves, have even purchased a license or two) I can't prove it.

There will be a written exam during the program and I think I could pass it. . . that exception being tied to a question about what game can be hunted.

Now, don't get me wrong. . . I've never shot a bald eagle or any other endangered species. . . but the thing is, I was taught and hunted with my uncle. He learned to hunt out of necessity during the depression and philosophy was "if you can eat it. . . shoot it."

But I should add. . . by the time I was old enough to be taught, my uncle had developed a cigarette cough that was so bad other friends refused to hunt with him. Oh, we would spend hours. . . days in the woods. . . and I did learn quite a bit because in his day he was an excellent woodsman and hunter but really, about the only thing we ever shot was an occasional deer rabbit.

I went Coho-ing this past weekend. I'll have the complete "fish story" next week including pictures. For now, I'll just say, if you go to Manistee and if you land a big, big, big, Coho with a Manistee wobbler in its mouth, it's mine. . . so just drop it off at the County News.

A couple of specials will be coming your way in the County News. The Football Contest that features a $20,000 prize for the expert who logically determines (guesses) the victor in selected high school, college and pro games. Also a local high school football preview will be presented in the September 15 edition of the County News. There will be stories, pictures of the cheerleaders, schedules, pictures of the cheerleaders, team pictures, pictures of the coaches and pictures of the cheerleaders. Remember next January that you read it here first. . . Sincerely, bowling final score: Minnesota 17-Kansas City 12. Whatever happened to Joe Kapp?

I finally got to use the excuse I read on one of those cocktail napkins with the funny cartoons and sayings. Phoning the Big M from Manistee I said, "Don't pay the ransom Honey, I've escaped."

Her reply? . . . "They promised me you wouldn't."

THE JAMES CATHEY FAMILY

meet Jim Cathey, a CNB&T man with several hats

Clinton National Bank people are concerned people and Jim Cathey represents the interest staff members have in their families, their work and their community.

Jim came to our bank in 1969 with almost two years of banking experience behind him. Since joining CNB&T he has worn a number of different hats and has established quite a record in a variety of assignments. As credit manager Jim completely revamped the department and created an entirely new credit reference system which has become the heart of our loan processing procedure.

Then Jim moved on and along with his duties as assistant cashier he bolstered our loan officer staff when that department moved into their new quarters at our Walker St. entrance. In addition, like other CNB&T employees, Jim can be counted on to assist on special assignments outside routine schedules.

Jim began his banking career in Greenville where he also graduated from high school and left for a four year enlistment in the U.S. Air Force. Among his more current outside activities are sporting events—particularly golf as a Clinton County Country Club member—and Jaycee projects, which he might discuss at the drop of one of his hats.

Jim and his wife Diana have three children. Elizabeth is seven, Kimberly is five and Glenn is one. The family resides at 508 South Traver in St. Johns.

Leader dogs accepted

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

August 19 was a tremendous day for four members of the Clinton county 4-H Tall Waggers Club. They took their dogs to the Leader Dog School for the Blind at Rochester for acceptance or rejection. The four members and their dogs are: Shadow with Ann Grahams, Mark Brum with Buster, Sandy Webster with Dusty and Debbie Webster with Tracey. After the initial tests and performances all four dogs were accepted and will undergo eight weeks of additional training at Rochester.

The director of the school indicated that only 1 out of 4 dogs are usually accepted and their club had four out of four accepted. It was a tearful and sad day for the members as they said good-bye to the dogs they had trained for almost a year but the work was worth it as they saw blind people being able to get around with the use of a leader dog.

Our congratulations go to Ann, Sandy, Debbie and Mark on their contribution for this excellent community service project accomplishment. The club has a new member Dawn Archer who received her dog during the County 4-H Fair.

TIM QUINE OF OVID and Scott Wing of St. Johns were the top shooters in the Clinton County 4-H Gun Safety Contest held Saturday. Tim shot 84 in prone, 73 in standing and 84 on the exam for a total of 241 while Scott shot 79 prone, 59 standing and 79 on the exam for a total of 217. Tim used a peep sight while Scott shot with an open sight. Judy Schwark of Ovid was the high girl shooter with 215 points. Greg Hazle of St. Johns won the 12-13 year old division with a total of 180 1/2 points using an open sight. A total of 14 members competed in the contest for the 3 age divisions.

Robert Nethaway of the Spring Valley 4-H Club won the County 4-H Tractor Operator's Contest at the Fair and will now represent the county at the State Contest on August 24 starting at 10:00 a.m. at MSU. Robert has quite a record to keep going as the last three State winners have been from Clinton county. Jerry Huttie in 1970, Matthew Peck in 1969 and David Schwark in 1968. Clinton county will have an excellent dairy exhibit at the State 4-H Dairy Show held August 23-25 at MSU. The following members will show at the State 4-H Dairy Show: Holsteins-Charles and Karen Green - Brush and Halter 4-H Club; Kathy Hazle, Amy Striz, Jeanne Striz, and Susan Striz-Scattered Southeast 4-H Club; Alan Cobb-Else Four Corners Club; Mike and Pat Zeeb-Bath All Purpose 4-H Club; Guernsey-David and Duane Haviland-Olive 4-H Projects; Brown Swiss-Louetta, Dennis and L.D. Blackmer of the Kountry Kousins 4-H Club.

2610 WAS THE total number of horses, ponies, mules and donkeys found in Clinton county during the Equine Census completed last week. Watertown township has the most with 315 while Dallas township was the lowest with 40. A breakdown of the total number by township are as follows: Bath-249; Beagel-95; Blingham-179; Dallas-40; DeWitt-141; Eagle-151; Greenbush-174; Lebanon-83; Olive-156; Ovid-180; Essex-93; Duplain-203; Riley-161; Victor-238; Westphalia-78; and Watertown-314 for a total of 2610. The teams which took the Equine Census reported only one person wouldn't cooperate with this report. Many thanks to all the people who helped with the census which had to be done only in a short time. We hope that Michigan doesn't get an out break of VEE (Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis) and won't need the vaccine shots. However, if a vaccination program is necessary Clinton County people have done their part in preparation.

In the district 4-H Softball Fast Pitch Tournament Clinton county's entries won the district and the right to represent this area in the State Contest on August 21. In the Green League Olive 4-H Projects won over a team from Antrim county 22-1 at Clare and in the White League Bengal Community won over a team of Muskegon county All Stars 18-6.

4-H members interested in Vegetables and Flowers have the opportunity in the State 4-H Horticulture Identification and Demonstration Contest Thursday, Aug. 26 at Michigan State University. There is an I.D. Contest for senior members (14 years and older) and one for junior members under 14 to start at 10:00 a.m. at the Horticulture Building. The Demonstration Contest begins at 10:00 a.m. also and is for Senior members only. Top winners in the senior sections will receive trips to the National Junior Horticultural Association Convention - Dec. 5-9 at Miami Beach, Fla. Top junior entries will receive gift certificates from a seed company.

The Happy Hustlers 4-H members worked out final plans for the Fair at their last meeting. Demonstrations were given by Cindy Weber on "How to Make Markers from Jugs"; Jan Hott and Kyla Bancourt on "Pea Pods"; Marian Kurecz on "Flowers"; Melody and Dawn Vining on "Conditioning of Flowers"; Paula Whitford and Lori Smith on "Ragdy Ann Salad"; Mary Whitford and Candy Scharnweber talked about their 4-H trip award to Barry County.

THE NIMBLE FINDERS 4-H Club members with Vegetable projects help a member garden tour before the Fair to see what vegetables would make the best exhibits at the Fair and see the condition of each member's garden. Members are to know the variety of each garden item they have grown in their project.

CP announces plant plans

County Line News

By Mrs Doris Fisher

Rev. Leon Willoughby was speaker at Salem United Methodist Church on Aug. 22, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Charles Van Lente, who was on vacation. Rev. Willoughby was the former pastor of the church and now resides in Owosso. Sermon topic "The Ground of Our Faith," Scripture Acts Chapter 11 Verses 22 to 30. Ushers were Edwin Harger and Lyle Snyder Sr. Organist was Mrs. Harriet Schmid.

BAY CITY--Consumers Power Company announced today that it has begun environmental and conceptual design studies for the possible construction of a large electric generating plant on the southernmost point of Saginaw Bay to be operable approximately ten years from now.

The studies are underway at a 1200-acre site, not far from the Village of Quanicasse, which has been purchased over the past 18 years for future needs.

These preliminary studies assume construction of a plant with two nuclear reactors capable of producing 1,150,000 kilowatts each. If built, construction would begin in the middle 70's with the first unit scheduled for operation in 1980.

An environmental survey team from Michigan State University is on the site this summer gathering data for the Consumers Power study. The studies include soil types, vegetation, animal life, and population density.

LAST YEAR, ANOTHER environmental research team under contract to Consumers Power began a continuing series of aquatic surveys, including samplings of benthic organisms and fish. Still another study is being made of bay ice formations.

Extensive meteorological and climatological studies also will begin at the site soon.

Presently, Consumers Power is leasing approximately 200 acres of land at the Quanicasse site to the Department of Natural Resources as a waterfowl breeding area. It is anticipated that this leasing arrangement would not be affected by studies currently underway.

Consumers Power Senior Vice President Russell C. Youngdahl said the projected energy demands for Michigan in the 1980's will require the addition of a number of large central station generating plants such as the plant under study.

SOME OF THE COMPANY'S plants now in use are coal or oil fired, and others use natural gas or nuclear power.

Nuclear projects include the Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant near Charlevoix, a 75,000-kilowatt plant which began production in 1962. The Palisades 700,000-kilowatt nuclear plant has been awaiting an operating license from the Atomic Energy Commission for several months. AEC hearings have been underway in Midland for a construction license for the Company's proposed Midland Nuclear Plant (1,981,000 kilowatts) since last December. This is a dual-purpose project which will supply steam to the Dow Chemical Company, as well as power for the Consumers Power Company system. It is due for operation in the mid-1970's.

Consumers Power Company serves more than one million electric customers and more than 860,000 gas customers in 67 of the 68 counties in Michigan's lower peninsula.

THE HEAVIEST DEMAND on Consumers Power's electric system in 1970 was 3,448,000 kilowatts. It is estimated at 7,070,000 kilowatts in 1980. For the Michigan Electric Power Pool in 1970, the peak demand was 8,808,000 kilowatts. It is estimated at 18,450,000 kilowatts in 1980. In both cases, the anticipated growth is more than 100 percent. Consumers Power and the Detroit Edison Company are the principal members of the Michigan pool.

Salem United Methodist WSCS was held Aug. 19 in the church Undercroft with nine present. Hostesses were Mrs. Mary Phillips, Mrs. Donna Shinnaberry and Mrs. Pat Pattison. Mrs. Claribel Nieman gave devotions. Topic was "These That Have Turned The World Upside Down". Scripture Acts Chapter 17 Verses 4 thru 6. Mrs. Mary Phillips presented the lesson taken from Interpreter Magazine, "To Work Is To Pray", "To Play Is To Pray."

Special services for Rally Day will be held at Salem United Methodist Church corner of US-27 and Gratiot County Line Road on Sept. 19 beginning with morning worship at 9 a.m. Special music will be "The Circuit Riders" of St. Louis. Potluck dinner will be held at noon with an afternoon service following.

EXTENSION REPORT

The real villain

By GEORGE McQUEEN

The real villain was a worm. Extensive down corn last fall compounded many farmers' troubles but diseases caught the blame. Corn borer damage often went unnoticed or was ignored, after all wasn't leaf blight "in".

Most stalk breakage and ear drop occurred where corn borer had been feeding. In most cases this tunneled feeding area was also badly diseased by one or more of the stalk or stem rots.

Hot, humid weather last fall favored rotting for many of the stalk diseases. Any injury to the plant tissue left an entry point for the seed spores of the organisms. Also a corn borer when small lines on the leaf surface; therefore, could easily carry diseases with it when it digs into the stem.

Corn borer first arrived in the U.S. from Europe in 1917. It was found in Michigan late in the thirties. Before it became too destructive here tolerant varieties of corn were developed.

The borer overwinters as the worm in old corn stalks. It becomes a moth in June then lays eggs on the underside of young corn leaves. The eggs hatch in just a few days and the young worms feed on leaf tissue. Eventually they burrow into the stalk or ear shank to feed and complete their life cycle.

The borer can weaken the stem enough for it to fall over or cut the ear shank off, dropping the ear on the ground. Last year these effects were overshadowed by greatly increased stalk rot at corn borer holes.

True, conditions were quite ideal for the various stalk and ear rots but our old enemy, the European Corn Borer was largely responsible for the severity of the problem.

THE MOST IMPORTANT decision a corn producer makes is the variety he buys.

The right variety will yield 50 bushels per acre more than a poor selection. This extra yield will cost very little more to produce.

One way to compare varieties is to see them growing side by side. You can do this Thursday, August 12 on Marvin Simon's farm and Tony Warnke's field on Mrs. Rex Redman's farm.

You can see and compare replicated plots of 20 varieties at 1:30 p.m. on Simon's, 1 mile south and 2 1/4 miles west of Fowler. Yield results will be available this fall.

Eight rows of thirty varieties go clear across Tony Warnke's field 3 1/4 miles north of M-21 on Forest Hill Road. They will be harvested and weighed separately this fall. This stop will be at 3:00 p.m.

You can compare "N" cytoplasm and "T" cytoplasm seed of the same variety side by side at both locations. See if you can tell the difference in amount of disease present or in overall appearance.

Perhaps you have heard talk of planting "F2" seed. Here's your chance to see some growing beside its single cross parent.

No, you cannot always tell how well a hybrid will do for you by seeing it in another field but chances are good that top yielding hybrids for your neighbor will do well for you. Also poor doers for your neighbor likely will do poorly for you.

Select the best varieties from trials such as these and you will always have the top yielding hybrids growing on your farm.

Make comparisons this Thursday, August 12 at the Simon and Warnke fields.

MASCD meeting

LANSING--Congressman Phillip Ruppe of Houghton will be the principal speaker at the summer meeting of the Michigan Association of Soil Conservation Districts. The meeting will be August 26 through 28 in Marquette.

B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and chairman of the State Soil Conservation Committee, said more than 200 local soil conservation district directors are expected to attend. They represent Michigan's 84 soil conservation districts.

During the meeting, special emphasis will be given to the expanding role of districts in future planning and use of land, surface water and related resources, Ball said.

Thomas Schweigert, federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, and a former state legislator, will speak at the concluding luncheon August 28.

REPRESENTATIVE RUSSELL Hellman of Dollar Bay will present a joint legislative resolution at the Friday evening banquet. Dwight Spuller, president of the Michigan Association of

by GARY A. KLEINHENN
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

"The only thing constant is change" and Michigan agriculture is no exception to this rule.

Every five years the United States Department of Commerce takes a nationwide agricultural census and has just released the compiled results for 1969. The compilation reveals some very interesting information about Michigan agriculture, especially when compared to the previous census taken in 1964.

The definition of a farm used for the 1964 and 1969 census is; any place on which an agriculture operation, under control of individual management, was conducted during the year of the census. Places with less than 10 acres were counted as farms if they sold $250 in agricultural products for the year. Also, places of 10 acres or more which sold $50 worth of agricultural products for the year went on the records as farms.

The average Michigan farm acreage increased from 145.4 to 152.7 during the five-year span from 1964 to 1969. Land values climbed sharply during the period for the average Michigan farmer from $34,027 to $49,821 or an increase of $15,794. This reflects an average value per acre increase from $232.82 in 1964 to $326.31 in 1969.

Farmers meet 1971 grain requirements

EAST LANSING--This year, 76,500 Michigan farmers participated in the Feed Grain and Wheat Program.

These programs are administered by the United States Department of Agriculture for the purpose of stabilizing production and maintaining prices that will provide a fair rate to the producer.

Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee, said that as of this date, the compliance visits throughout the state are nearly complete and there are very few discrepancies reported.

Smith indicates this is proof of acceptance by the farmers in Michigan and shows their willingness to cooperate with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in helping to maintain a stable production of feed grain and wheat crops and, at the same time, maintain many acres in conserving use which provides good game habitat and other uses such as recreation.

Flammable when hot

ST. JOHNS--The National Bureau of Standards and USDA indicate that most urethane insulation (including the sprayed-in-place) is fire retardant or self-extinguishing only at temperatures below 700 degrees F.

At higher temperatures it burns rapidly and has a flame spread rating of 1000 as compared to wood at 100.

It also releases 50 percent more heat per unit weight than does wood when burning.

Manufacturers are aware of this and are working on a modified version that will be acceptable.

A fire retardant paint or other covering compatible to the urethane could help keep the insulation below the 700 degree F mark for a slightly longer period when exposed to fire, thus providing a bigger margin of safety.

Huntington attends bank Seminar

ST. JOHNS--Charles Huntington, vice president and auditor of Clinton National Bank and Trust of St. Johns, was among 838 bankers who recently attended the 19th summer session of the School for Bank Administration sponsored by Bank Administration Institute of Chicago.

Huntington completed the first of a three year program which calls for two-week sessions each summer on the campus of the University of Wisconsin. The courses give intensive consideration to bank accounting, bank auditing and bank operations. Students must also submit extension problems between summer sessions.

Huntington was among a record 838 bankers in attendance at the course.

Care needed in home canning

EAST LANSING -- Home canning is making a comeback, but accompanying its revival are many of the same dangers of yesterday, observes a Michigan State University food marketing information agent.

For veteran canner and newcomer alike, there are a couple of important first steps or ground rules, cautions Sheila Morley.

"First, pressure canning is the only method recommended by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other authorities for canning low-acid foods," Mrs. Morley says. "This includes all vegetables (except tomatoes and ripe pimento peppers), and all meats, poultry and fish."

Open-kettle canning is not considered a good method. Canning in the oven is downright dangerous. Pressure canning is the only reliable way to insure against botulism (severe food poisoning).

When pressure canning, first read or re-read the instructions that come with each pressure canner, Mrs. Morley advises.

Check the equipment carefully--especially the sealing ring and automatic air vent. If the canner hasn't been used in some time, they may need replacing.

A final tip: use food that's fresh, sound and clean. Missing quality cannot be restored by canning, and you'll want to put your own labor to best use, Mrs. Morley points out.

Be sure also to get the product into the containers as soon as possible.

Treize condemns Ryan's actions

LANSING—State Representative R. Douglas Treize (R-Owosso) today strongly condemned House Speaker William Ryan's actions on the welfare budget bill.

Ryan abruptly adjourned the House Friday as Republicans were trying to bring the bill up for debate. The bill was defeated earlier in the week after Republican amendments to trim up to $12 million from the $537 million measure were beaten back by Ryan's majority Democrats by narrow margins.

"Speaker Ryan's inflexible refusal to discuss the welfare budget bill is blatantly irresponsible," Treize said. "The same is true of his refusal to consider modifying amendments or alternatives to his desperate determination to blot this already bulging budget with additional funds."

"He has criticized Republicans for refusing to pass the bill," Treize added. "But it is we who are pushing for action and it is he who adjourned the House rather than allow debate on the bill."

"If the welfare bill is not cut back below $537 million, we can't balance the budget without disastrous cuts in education and local government aid. All this despite the recent increase in the income tax."

"Even with the modest $12 million trimming we seek, state spending on welfare will still increase by over $100 million this year."

Treize said Ryan's strategy is transparent.

"His real purpose in delaying the bill and threatening the entire budget is to put pressure on legislators so they'll buckle before his demands. He knows that this bill also contains the appropriations for old-age-assistance, aid to the blind, and so forth.

HE FIGURES IF he can jeopardize those programs, we'll give him everything he wants for ADC welfare.

"That's what I call irresponsibility and I think we should fight against allowing one man to impose his personal priorities on the citizens of Michigan."

Shepardsville

By Lucille Spencer

Francis Terdeu brought the message to the congregation of the Shepardsville United Methodist Church on August 22. He is a resident of the Shepardsville area. The scripture used was taken from 1 Peter 5:2, Acts 20: 27-28 and John 21: 15-17. Special music was a song composed by Mr. Terdeu, assisted by Mrs. Allen Personious on the accordion. Mrs. Marlon Walker and Terdeu sang "Love Kept-Jesus on the Cross." Mr. Terdeu also played the vibra-harp.

The congregation was reminded of the meeting to be held at the church on August 29. There will be a potluck dinner at 1 p.m. The people of the Price Church will join the Shepardsville people. A discussion on having a full time pastor will be held.

Half truth better than none

By ESTHER K. SHAPIRO
Consumer Affairs Specialist
Michigan Credit Union League

"Half a loaf is better than none," said the wise men. We agree. But how about a half a truth?

Telling the girl you want to marry that your family has money may make her look at you favorably, but shouldn't you also tell her they're willing the fortune to a home for stray cats?

It's the part you leave out that turns a half-truth into a lie by omission.

In the wonderful world of advertising the half-truth has become a fine art, a development necessitated by new actions on the part of the Federal Trade Commission.

Until very recently this sleeping governmental giant grumbled and snored only when a flagrant lie turned up in an ad. Today, the Commission is beginning to flex its legal muscles and demand proof of advertised statements.

But you can't document what you don't print. So here's what happens:

Toothpastes that whiten teeth. Yes, they do cut through the stuff that darkens your biscupids. (Truth.) They will also eventually cut through the enamel. (Untold truth.) To be an effective whitener, the paste contains abrasives that will eventually destroy your pearly whites, leaving a nice black gap.

Travel in style. You've seen the ads for the swank lounge available to tourist-price passengers on a 747 airliner. Billboards and magazines show comfortable couches, a stunning hostess, even a bar. (Truth) The untold truth? The tourist section of that plane holds 241 passengers.

If you're traveling overseas on a budget, forget it.

Recent European tourists inform me that only the most expensive hotels and restaurants accept the cards; most others will not. The cautious innkeeper in that quiet, out-of-the-way village wants good, hard cash or travelers checks.

You can, however, turn this to an advantage. Friends visiting Switzerland this summer reported that, on a number of occasions, merchants rejected credit cards but offered a 5 percent discount for cash instead. Now there's a bit of good news not mentioned on the ad!

of your loss prior to use of the card or if the company hasn't provided you with a self-addressed, stamped notification card for reporting such loss.

To quote from the Act: "No cardholder shall be liable for the unauthorized use of any credit card which was issued after January 24, 1971, and, regardless of the date of its issuance, after January 24, 1972, no cardholder shall be liable for the unauthorized use of any credit card, unless the card issuer has provided a method whereby the user of such card can be identified as the person authorized to use it, such as a signature, photograph, or fingerprint..."

With all that protection, you scarcely need extra insurance.

While we're on the subject, let's examine the announcement of the new homeowner's insurance policy issued by a large Michigan firm. At no extra charge, my radio roars, they will include insurance on all credit cards. Go ahead and lose it; if some sneaky Pete charges anything to your account, your insurance will pay the bill.

Big deal. An amendment to the Truth-in-Lending Act limits your liability for unauthorized use of your card to $50. Even that amount need not be paid if you have notified the company

ACCORDING to an airline agent, the lounge holds six coaches, which will seat 18 to 20 people. According to my spies who have visited the lounge, the 18 had better be skinny.

Can you imagine what would happen if all 241 passengers at the same time decided to emulate the happy people in the TV commercial who are having such a gay time in the lounge?

Then there's the "money card," the credit card that will let you charge your merry way all over the world without the burdening necessity of carrying money.

THEN THERE is an omission concerning a no-pest strip, designed to rid an area of flies and bugs when it is hung in a room. Delighted housewives fill the TV screen, giggling with pleasure as they describe garages and summer homes cleared of insects when the strip is hung from a ceiling.

Let's hope all the consumers rushing out to buy this wondrous hanger stop to read the warning on the label, which says that it is not to be used "in nurseries or rooms where infants, ill or aged persons are confined," and which carries the further warning, "Do not use in kitchens, restaurants or areas where food is prepared or served."

Two years ago a chain of soda fountains in New York City advertised a milk shake that contained only 63 calories. At the lunch hour the shops were mobbed by models, actresses, jet setters and just plain people who wanted to fill up and stay thin.

The merchant was indignant when he was accused of false advertising. Didn't all those consumers realize he meant that only the milk in the shake contained 83 calories? Surely everyone must know that the ice cream, the malt and chocolate flavoring had hundreds of calories?

Others attending as adult counselors were: Fred Bartlett, Vo-ag teacher from Rockford, representing state winning FFA Chapter in Cooperative Activities and Clayton Dalley, Vo-ag teacher from Port Hope, representing the state winner in the Parliamentary Procedure Contest.

Their other activities at the conference included attending the adult sessions where national business, educational, and cooperative leaders spoke. Watch the oil

Pulling a house trailer or heavy camping trailer behind your car in hot weather, for long distances at turnpike speeds, can raise havoc with the motor oil.

Crankcase temperatures may rise far above normal ranges, and oil deterioration takes place rapidly.

Robert White, Michigan State agricultural engineer, recommends that you change crankcase oil somewhat more frequently than manufacturers recommendations.

"UNLESS YOUR CAR manufacturer specifically recommends against it (and I don't think U.S. manufacturers will), switch to an oil bearing the API service classification SE," says White.

State deserves something better

Not all dictators are the No. 1 people in their respective governments.

Michigan is getting a large dose of same from a tough Wayne County representative in Michigan's Legislature. He fights to the end with no compromise for his personal plans in State of Michigan spending and legislation.

Greenville met Rep. William A. Ryan last spring when Mayor Lloyd Walker brought him to town to address the annual inter-faith breakfast. A skilled orator, Ryan left an impression far different from his real traits.

Daily reading of news stories about our Michigan Legislature gives one a true picture.

Ryan is a 51-year-old native of West Virginia who was a part-time editor for 11 years of a social action newspaper, The Wage Earner.

He's a past president and financial secretary of a Detroit local of the United Auto Workers Union.

So much for background. He was elected to Michigan's Legislature to fill a vacancy in early 1958. He's still there as speaker of a House which he seems to view as his fiefdom.

Consider these things:

1. Ryan wanted parochial and rammed $17 million a year's worth down the throat of the people of this state.

Given a chance to vote on the matter, the people of our state balloted against parochial. Since that time the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed it.

Don't drop your guard, You can bet Ryan is thinking up ways to get it back since the wishes of the majority are meaningless to him.

2. Currently, Michigan's Legislature remains in session months beyond the time its business should have ended.

It is there because of Ryan and Gov. Milliken was right when he said so. "The do-little performance of the Legislature is Ryan," Milliken said.

Ryan attaches a price to everything. His real goal these days is a graduated income tax, something the people of Michigan said at the polls they didn't want.

People like Ryan are inclined to have tenacity and care nothing about solvency of a state or the orderly function of government.

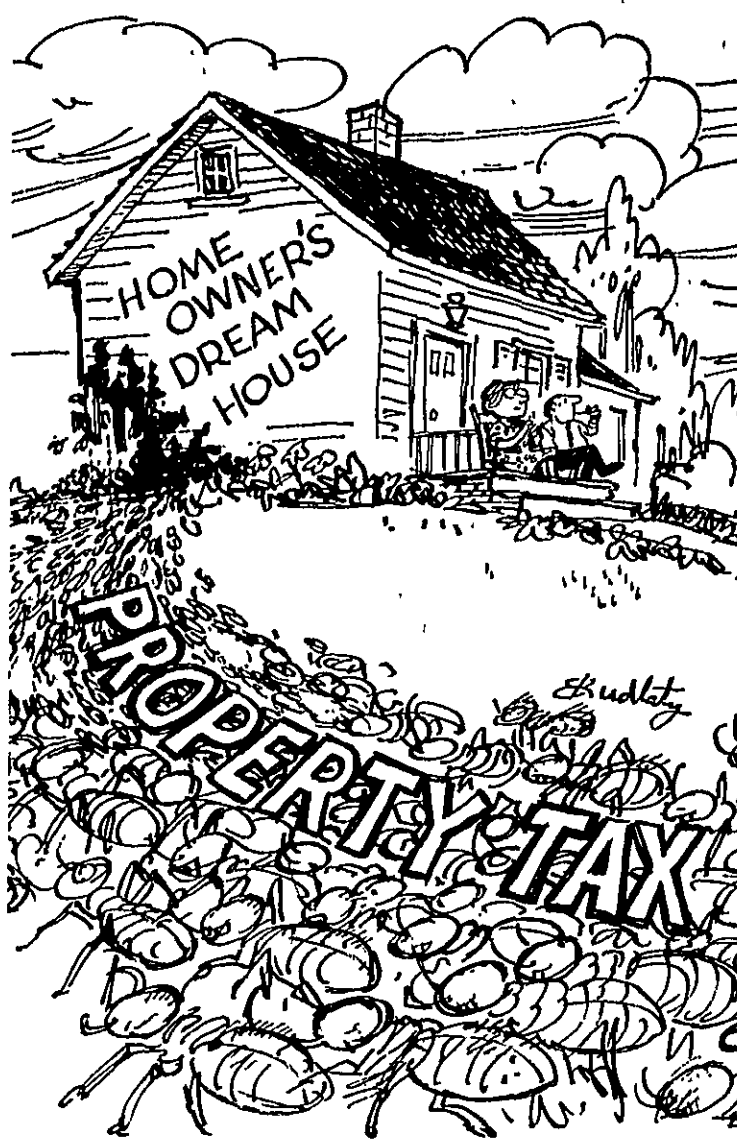

Regrettably, most of us have no role in returning Ryan to office year after year. He comes from an overwhelmingly Democratic district in Detroit and wins election by considerably greater margins than does Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Incidentally, this department shudders to think what Chicago's situation would be today if Daley and his machine weren't running it.

The difference there is compromise in Daley's makeup, none at all in Ryan's as he stifles all debate in the House. It's his way or nothing at all with him.

I didn't vote for Ryan, neither did you. As a Michigan citizen I resent this man using our state as he has been doing. Michigan deserves something better.

Example of tyranny

By TIM YOUNKMAN

The situation in Ireland is a microcosm of Western man's disintegrating civilization.

It is a continuing saga of how nations cling to the past, defying change. It tells of how man, despite years of trial and testing, cannot come up with clear-headed and common-sense conclusions regarding his very existence.

For those trapped in the grips of revolution, it is all out war—achieving victory or perishing in the attempt. There is no room for middle ground.

The stream of refugees from the north is tragically reminiscent of refugees fleeing conflicts in Vietnam, Pakistan and Israel-Egypt. It reminds many of us of those escaping the wrath of the Russians after the clandestine Hungarian revolt. It reminds others of the Poles, Scandinavians and Czech-Slovaks fleeing the Nazi and/or Red armies during World War II.

Now it's happening again in a part of the world that should seemingly be free from the dangers and turmoil of war. But Ireland is at war—with itself. The British continue to maintain a strangle-hold on the Irish by clutching, for dear life, the few counties collectively called Northern Ireland.

A friend of mine, recently in America after years of membership in the Irish Republican Army, technically outlawed by the southern government, sees the conflict as something more than a religious war.

"It's not a religious war," he said. "It's a class struggle between the rich and the poor—like your race riots."

The southern Republic of Ireland has unofficially condoned IRA activity in the north, hoping that through guerilla warfare, the British will be driven from the island. It was the same in 1916, when the failure of the Easter Monday Rebellion brought only intensified resistance against the Black and Tans. Eventually, through this type of IRA activity—bombing, sniping and burning—the south won independence, of sorts. Now the developing mood of the poor in the six northern counties of Ulster is that of rebellion.

To the northerners, the Catholics pose a threat to Protestant autonomy. The Catholics, after years of discrimination along class lines, are ready to fight for independence and eventual incorporation with the south. The Protestant majority, of course, would lose that offer if joined with the Catholic south.

"You see," my friend continued, "in the south the word Catholic connotes middle-class, if anything. In the north, it means poor, dirty and common labor, much the way the term Negro has meant in America."

It's an intricate web, the political neurotics weave. The result is a vicious circle of chaos, tranquility and chaos again. We end up with war in the name of peace; death in the pursuit of life; and, eventually face extinction in the struggle for survival.

The Western democracies came about in the hope that they would free the commoners from the tyranny of their monarchies. Our whole civilization in the United States, our culture, has revolved around that premise.

We had better watch and take note of the chaos brewing throughout the world and correct these malfunctions before our own society succumbs to the tyranny of our negligence.

Crop harvested with guns

By JIM FITZGERALD

"They are warm-hearted, generous men who do not want to see lady deer and baby deer killed. And they are willing to put their money where their hearts are," said Frack.

He was talking about the commissioners of my favorite county. They had just given $400 to the local deer hunters association.

The money-will buy "No Doe Hunting" signs which will be distributed free to landowners who agree that women and children should be last when they are deer.

Frack is full of deer droppings. That $400 was tax money—my money. And the commissioners were not acting out of sympathy for poor Mama Deer and the kids.

They were acting under pressure from a bunch of sports who tributed free to landowners who agree that women and children should be last when they are deer.

Frack is full of deer droppings. That $400 was tax money—my money. And the commissioners were not acting out of sympathy for poor Mama Deer and the kids.

They were acting under pressure from a bunch of sports who are angry because they've had to drive home from too many deer camps without bleeding trophies strapped to their fenders.

The Great White Hunter's theory is that there aren't enough bucks for him to kill because the dumb state lets hunters kill does.

If all the does are killed, who is going to mother the bucks? Not the game warden, by damn.

But the state says there are too many deer and "the crop must be harvested" before it starves to death, or dents fenders or eats some farmer's corn (After the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, Al Capone explained that the victims had to be harvested before they fell dead of malnutrition, possibly in traffic, or started swiping the cops' apples off fruitstands).

A pox on both the he-man sports and the "harvesting" state. I don't begrudge the $400. In fact, I'd rather see 'em spend $800 and forbid all killing of deer, male, female or convertible.

To each his own sport. And I can see where shooting a guns a sport. But why not shoot skeet or empty bottles on top of a fence?

In my most liberal moments, I cannot understand the person who looks through the sight of a high-powered rifle, sees the soft eyes of an innocent deer, and pulls the stupid trigger. Look Ma, no head! Whoopee.

Would you believe golf is no fun unless you can hit a cow in the head with the ball?

And please, Mr. Hunter, don't ask me if I eat hamburger and prime rib. I can understand a slaughterhouse and it won't bug me until the butchering is featured on TV's American Sportsman with Rock Hudson knocking the steer's brains out with a golden hammer.

There's gotta be a difference between killing for pleasure, glorying in the bloodshed, and killing for food because there's no other way.

Some of my best friends go hunting, but most of them insist they head north for the fresh air, fellowship and picturesque taverns. They wouldn't shoot a deer unless it attacked their waitress.

God bless them, one and all. Waitresses should be preserved, even if not tipped.

But the animals should also be preserved. They should be killed only in self defense. (You can quote me at the next meeting of your neighborhood deer hunters association.)

But remember, there is no open season on newspaper columnists. We are at the top of the endangered species list.)

Maybe the state is right. Maybe an unharvested crop of deer will some day gallop down the freeway and eat all our food. I would only ask that you don't shoot until you see the whites of their tails in front of you in the A&P checkout line.

Must earn respect

Dear Editors,

Nowadays, when everything well established, customary and sacred is being doubted, questioned and even destroyed, the time is ripe to expound the injustices enacted behind the shield of the eleventh commandment: Thou shalt Respect Thine Elders and Those in Authority. When one finds oneself in the unfortunate position of being neither an elder nor an authority, he is made aware of the villainy of this tradition.

Sunday, August 15, at about 10:10 p.m., a friend was driving my bicycle in the downtown vicinity when the chief of police stopped him and impounded the bike. The chief's reasons were perfectly legitimate. The vehicle was neither licensed nor equipped with a light. Following his actions I walked with friends to the police station to learn the procedure for repossession. I was informed there that the bicycle would be returned to my parents providing they would accompany me to the station Monday morning. I explained that I was eighteen years old, of legal age, and that if he was willing to settle with my parents he should be no less willing to do so with myself.

This, however, aggravated him so that he threatened to take me to court over the matter which confounded me since he had no such intentions of taking my parents to court over the unlicensed bicycle.

The chief then proceeded to deliver a harangue which in no way pertained to the "crime" committed. In an uncivil tone, questions were put to us such as "Why can't you be a lady and stay at home?" To another, "Why don't you get a haircut," and to another, "What are your kids standing around and giving me this trouble every night for anyway?" Our efforts to confine the conversation to the subject were as futile as our attempts to answer his questions, as each time one of us spoke in defense he became enraged saying he didn't have to take "that" from us.

Though his questioning was irrelevant to the bicycle and his accusations were entirely unwarranted, throughout the confrontation each of us maintained respect for the officer that was certainly not reciprocated.

SIMILARLY RELATED events have also occurred recently. A nineteen year old girl was stopped by the police while riding her bicycle and the paper bag she was carrying was searched. It yielded one package of gum. Four young people received eviction notices from their landlords. Reasons were complaints from the police of excessive noise and the type of people who frequented the apartments. Young people have been accused of loitering each time they stand still. A gathering at the park pavilion was broken up by police who intimidated the teenagers with guns.

I think it is questionable as to who is giving whom the trouble. We aren't wanted on the courthouse lawns, downtown, in the park area or in friends apartments. Whether or not we belong at home should be determined between ourselves and our parents. Also, those of us who are eighteen and over have no curfew and the police are over asserting their authority when they order us off the streets at night as they do. If this discrimination can be justified because the police suspect drug usage amongst us then it is clearly evident that we are moving toward becoming a police state where the minority's rights are violated for preventative reasons.

In my opinion neither age nor authority alone earn respect. Because a person has the advantages of experience or wears a badge he is not exempt from fallibility nor are his actions above questioning. Respect can only operate on a two-way street and it is an injustice to the very meaning of the word to expect it to function otherwise. There is no law stating that long hair or blue jeans makes the wearer any less of a citizen than law enforcers or any less worthy of the respect that they so righteously demand for themselves.

If the law is our friend then let its representatives be more willing to shake hands with us than at us!

Wielded power

Rep. U.S. Garry Brown
3rd. Congressional Dist.

A few months ago in this column, while discussing the handling of the abortion reform legislation, I tried to point out the tremendous amount of power wielded by the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Never was that power exercised so blatantly and flagrantly than was demonstrated last week by Speaker William Ryan of Detroit.

Three times in four days he engineered abrupt adjournment of House sessions because he did not have the necessary votes to pass his favorite bill. This, of course, was the Social Services Budget Bill which included a controversial increase in the daily allowances granted ADC families.

THE MANEUVER IS made possible by the rules of the House which give the majority party absolute control over all procedural matters. The presiding officer is an appointee of the Speaker and it is he who decides who will be recognized and allowed to speak, rules on voice votes whether the "Ayes" or "Nays" prevail and even on occasion can "hear" or "not hear" objections raised from the floor.

Thus, it was on three occasions that Representative Ryan was able to deliver tirades against those of us who opposed his increases in ADC standards and then move to adjourn the session. The presiding officer, on all occasions, called for the question, ruled "the Ayes have it", hammered the gavel for adjournment and walked off the podium literally in a matter of a few seconds. This was all in spite of the fact that many of us were shouting for a roll call vote or that the "No" votes were still echoing through the chamber.

The reason for it was simple. Most of the time, only 45 or 46 of the 52 Republicans were present. So, Republicans had floor control and on any roll call vote requiring only a majority of those voting could have been controlled by us. And, we wanted to discuss the social services bill with an eye to some amendments which would reduce the cost while Rep. Ryan was afraid some of those amendments might pass. Finally, late in the week, 54 Democrat members showed up and, with floor control back in his favor, Speaker Ryan allowed the bill to come up for discussion. Major reductions were again rejected by the majority Democrats.

The bill finally passed the House with a minimum of Republican support and then only after some lesser reductions were made on the insistence of our caucus.

ONE FINAL POINT should be made. House Republicans never favored reducing the money given to any welfare recipient. We, in fact, supported an increase in the daily ADC rate. Our concern was with a total spending level within the ability of you, the taxpayers, to finance, even at the new rate of state income taxes.

I still have a great concern over where the money will come from to bring the budget into balance and only hope it will not all have to come from education and other areas which to me are much more critical.

Some people feel that this example of a legislative power play supports the campaign for a unicameral legislature. Under that plan, the present two-chamber Senate and House set-up would be replaced by a single legislative body. All proposed legislation would be reviewed by that single body and, if approved, be submitted to the Governor for approval or veto.

Personally, I think the power politics of last week is a good argument for retention of the two-house system. One man control of a single house such as we have seen could lead to a lot of legislation which is not in the best interest of much of the state.

IN THE CASE OF the Social Services Bill, I am thankful that it must now be subjected to Senate review and will ultimately emerge a little more to the liking of the people of the 87th District as you have indicated to me in your letters, calls and personal conversation.

Which way is your pyramid

By REV. HUGH BANNINGA

Before vacation I wrote about James and John asking Jesus for special favors. The story is found in the 20th chapter of Matthew's gospel. This week I want to direct your attention to the second part of this story.

"The other ten disciples were indignant when they heard what James and John had asked for. But Jesus called them together and said, 'Among the heathen, kings are tyrants and each minor official lords it over those beneath him. But among you it is quite different. Anyone wanting to be a leader among you must be your servant.'

"The point to be made in this part of the story is that among Jesus' disciples greatness is based on service. Now this seems to contradict the first point of this story which said that God Himself chooses those who are given special honor. It was also pointed out that there isn't anyone who deserves special honors, from God. So how come Jesus talks about how to achieve greatness?

Well, this is one of the paradoxes of the New Testament. Jesus talks about how to become great because His way to greatness is so challenging that it is unattainable.

Jesus knows there isn't anyone who can follow completely in His footsteps. He knows that no one of us can be exactly like Him, because we are human—we are sinners.

But because we are human and our selfishness keeps us from being what God intended us to be, Jesus shows us how we can move toward what God intended for us to be. While we'll never be perfect, Jesus hopes we'll at least keep the goal in mind and work towards it. This is why He talks about greatness.

So, among Jesus' disciples, greatness is based solely on service. Service to others—the symbolic washing the feet of others—the humble attitude.

You see, the world's idea of greatness is like a pyramid. The great—the influential—the powerful men of the world sit at the top of the pyramid while the rest of the people are seen scrambling toward the top. Those who are near the top fight "tooth and nail" to knock the top men out of their position.

Those on the lower steps are fighting to get to the next higher level where there are fewer "bosses" and more subordinates—more people to "lord it over."

That is the "rat-race" to greatness by the world's standards. By Christ's standards greatness is like a pyramid upside down. According to Christ the great people are those who are at the peak; but the peak is now at the bottom.

Picture the inverted pyramid! All that weight resting upon a tiny peak! Yes, the Christian who is at the peak here is one who is enduring the greatest burden—the one who is doing the most loving—the one who is doing the most serving of others. Jesus, Himself, reached the point of the upside down pyramid when He died on the Cross.

He showed us the way to the top—or if you will—the way to the bottom. He hopes all of us will try to follow His lead—His lead of humble service to others.

A railroad engineer was in charge of a YMCA meeting. Those in attendance were all railroad men and the engineer addressed the group and said, "Follows, suppose we think of the Church and the Kingdom as a train. I want each of you to get up and tell what part of the train you would like to be."

The first man got up and wanted to be the engine. Another got up and wanted to be the headlight. Another wanted to be the whistle—and so on, till every part of the train had been mentioned. Then an embarrassed fireman got up and said, "I would like to be the coal."

Nobody had thought about the coal—or probably nobody else wanted to be the coal. Nobody wanted to be just burned up and forgotten. But the point is that the whole power of the train lay in the coal and its willingness to be consumed.

This is what the Church needs today—this is what the world needs today—more people who are willing to be the coal. The world needs more people who realize that serving in a humble way will bring more happiness than will be the fight to attain the world's definition of happiness. The world needs more people with the upside-down pyramid philosophy.

Which way is your pyramid? Is it right-side up or upside-down?
