ST. JOHNS FIREMEN assisted by the Department of Natural Resources battled a blaze last week that is believed to have started in June. The fire was smoldering on a muck farm owned by Mrs. Stephen Swanschara, 3270 E. Townsend Rd. At one point, the fire had burned down three to four feet in the ground. A DNR employee bulldozes up burning ground (above) while St. Johns firemen douse the flames.

Public to hear jail evaluations

A public hearing will be held at the Clinton County Courthouse concerning a jail study at 7:30 tonight (Wednesday). Recommendations will be presented to the public as well as the County Board of Commissions based on information gathered by Community Correction Resource Program, Inc. of Ann Arbor, during recent months. Groundwork for the study was laid in 1974 when the county and city began to explore the possible use of federal funds to subsidize planning efforts for local services. The plan was authorized in July of 1974. It was the county's goal to obtain analysis of the immediate, long term detention, corrections, and law enforcement needs, as well as its problems, resources, and alternatives. The Ann Arbor firm evaluated the existing facilities, explored the potential use of diversions and prepared detailed projection of the specific impacts of each type of diversion.

The company took into account and determined the proper size and location of an adult detention corrections facility, and described some necessary changes in the existing facilities.

They also considered such alternatives as remodeling, additions, renovation, or the construction of new facilities. In addition, it reviewed the operational and support service functions of both the Sheriff's Department, and the St. Johns' police department and explored the feasibility of sharing facilities.

According to the firm more than 40 local officials and staff were interviewed. Crimes, arrests, and population data were reviewed and 488 jail residents' files were examined. Twenty-one jail residents were also interviewed.

Some recommendations the planners made were to offer four additional correctional officer positions so that two officers are on duty in the jail at all times. They also recommended the addition of one matron.

According to the study, "All staff personnel who have contact with the jail residents should have proper training. Home study courses were not found adequate."

Changes were recommended in the space and facility areas to make residents feel less "isolated." Also listed as immediate changes was the implementation of a jail program.

Roger Overway, county Board member, said, "The study was done because we have had many problems with the state concerning the jail." He continued, "The County Board will go over the recommendations of the planners and then ask themselves various questions before anything will be decided."

The present jail is about 26-years-old according to Overway.

A total of 41 facility problems were identified by the planners. Several replacement options were offered. Some of those options were for the county to construct a facility alone or for the city of St. Johns and the county construct a joint facility for the police, fire, and sheriff.

Other alternatives were to have joint efforts between Gratiot or Ingham Counties.

The study included comparisons noting that in 1968 there were a total of 627 admissions with the average length of stay being 7.48 days, while in 1975 there were 1,291 admissions with the average length of stay being 6.23 days.

The report found that 28.3 per cent of the sample cases reviewed had been incarcerated in the jail within one year of their current booking.

It was noted that 61.3 per cent of the jail residents listed their home not as Clinton County.

The hearing is open to the public and will be held in Circuit Court.

New voting precincts in Bath Township

BATH TWP.--Two new voting precincts have been established in Bath Twp., bringing the total number of precincts to four.

Voting place for new Precinct 3 will be in the all-purpose room of Bath Elementary School on Webster Rd.

Voters in the new Precinct 4 will cast their ballots at Gillette Trailer Sales, 7210 E. M-78, East Lansing.

Bath girl dies in accident

A 15 year old girl was killed Friday, Sept. 10 when the vehicle she was a passenger in crossed the center line and collided with another auto.

Sandra M. Guernsey, of 14421 Chandler Rd., in Bath, was pronounced dead on arrival at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

Miss Guernsey was riding with her sister Barbara Guernsey, 18, also of 14421 Chandler Rd. in Bath, when the auto crossed the center line and struck an auto head on, driven by Julie Partee, 33, of 1402 Chandler St. in St. Johns.

The accident occurred at 7:40 a.m. Partee was treated and released from the hospital while Barbara Guernsey remains in critical condition at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing.

Bath School goes to voters again

The Bath School District will once again go to the voters seeking an increase in millage.

On Aug. 24 voters in the Bath School district defeated a request by 29 votes for three additional mills for operating purposes.

The district asked for an increase from 18 mills which they have had for the past five years to 21 mills.

After the millage proposal was defeated, the Bath School Board made cuts in activities totalling $92,000. Cuts were made by dropping school board members salaries, reduction in the athletic department, and the total elimination of other activities.

On Oct. 28 the Bath School District will go to the electorate once again, this time asking for an additional two mills instead of three.

According to James Hixon, superintendent of the Bath Schools, the school board hopes that the two mills pass, so they can restore part of the cuts and progress in eliminating deficits.

"We are trying to get information out to the people by having public meetings and campaign programs," Hixon said.

Not quite $2 billion

The story was correct, but the headline could compete with the one stating "Dewey Beats Truman."

On the front page of last week's Clinton County News, it was stated in a headline, "Grant would bring county $2 billion."

Actually, $2 billion is the total amount of the first part of a federal bill that would allocate portions of the $2 billion to qualifying governmental agencies throughout the country.

If Clinton County applied and qualified for the grant, the dollar amount would be a small fraction of the total funding shared by governments throughout the country.

The County News regrets the misleading headline.

St. Johns prepares for Sept. 26 homecoming

The "Homecoming" sponsored by the St. Johns Bicentennial Commission will be the second event in the two day "Sentimental Journey" Bicentennial Weekend.

The Sunday activities planned for Sept. 26 are aimed at former St. Johns graduates, but are planned to include the entire community.

On Sunday, open houses from 1-5 p.m. will be held in each of the city's schools with reunions of graduating classes planned at the St. Johns High School. Every class which has graduated since 1906 will have a special room and place assigned at the High School building.

Three schools in St. Johns have graduated residents and these are Central School, Rodney B. Wilson and the present High School. Each building, still in use today, was once the high school building for the St. Johns school system.

A special open house will also be planned at the newly named Theresa Merrill School (East Ward School) for its 100th year as a school in this system.

There will be special displays and all former students are especially invited to this event.

Since all schools will be open the public will have the opportunity to take a look at today's school buildings and see how schools operate. Many people who moved to this community after they or their children were finished schooling will have a chance to see what the community offers in its buildings.

In addition to the school open houses many other activities are planned. An antique show and sale and quilt exhibit at Rodney B. Wilson will be running strong in their second day.

The RISE group of St. Joseph Catholic Church will present an ice-cream social on the Courthouse lawn. There will be a chicken barbecue at the Masonic Temple, 915 W. State Street from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and the window displays will be a special interest on the "Avenue of Yesterday."

It will be another interesting event in the Bicentennial Weekend activities planned for September 25 and 26. The information booth will remain on the courthouse lawn and will be manned for the convenience of area residents and visitors.

Area residents invited to St. Johns promenade

"Promenade All!" is a term familiar to all square dance enthusiasts and the Home Tour Festival committee is using this term to kick off activities during Home Tour Festival Week.

A Promenade for all area residents will be held from 7-8 p.m. on Monday September 20. The Promenade in the three block business district of St. Johns will enable residents to look at the store windows which will feature antiques from tools to toys. To add to the festive air of the evening, a ragtime string group under the direction of Bill Tennant will play for those walking and viewing the windows.

School children won't have musical accompaniment on their walk-by, but they will vote for the window they like best. The store window chairmen, Virginia Willyoung and Carol Duguay will award a ribbon to the merchant whose window is judged best.

The promenade is a special event, but the windows on the "Avenue of Yesterday" will be on display for the entire week. An antique show, quilt exhibit, pioneer craft demonstrations, a street fair, an art show and sale and, of course, the interest homes for touring will be the events of Saturday and the Homecoming events will fill Sunday.

Appraisal firm asks for time extension

Dick Hoffman, from United Appraisal Co., the firm handling the countywide property re-evaluation, asked for a one-month extension to finish their evaluations.

"We've had a request from some townships to hold hearings in the townships themselves instead of having all the hearings in St. Johns," Hoffman said. "Some other problems we have had is that the numbering system in DeWitt is different and it is harder to evaluate the homes in the area."

It was noted that the people in Bath got their notices one day and the next day the hearings began. Hoffman said that it just wasn't enough time for the residents or them to do the job and do it right.

"By the 15th of Oct. we should be done with the hearings, and I can't see carrying the process on any longer than Nov. 14."

Commissioner Walter G. Nobis, said that it seemed funny that after two years of work that the firm did not find out the numbers didn't match in DeWitt. Hoffman replied that they didn't find out right away about the numbering changes and that they are trying to do a thorough job.

Hearings were held in Bath Sept. 8, 9, and 10. Hearings in St. Johns will be from Sept. 21 - 23, and in DeWitt from Oct. 5-7. Oct. 8 will be an open day for all those who were not heard during the other specified times.

The Board voted to grant the extension to the appraisal company.

Lions elect Feeman president

ST. JOHNS - Roger Feeman has been elected president of the St. Johns Lions Club for the coming year.

Feeman has opened the year with a reminder to the members of the famous appeal by Helen Keller more than 50 years ago for Lions members to become Knights of the Blind.

Since, then, a major goal of all Lions Clubs is to sponsor projects and activities to assist the blind.

Feeman said, "Each year, the people of our community responded generously to assist us in our project. To unselfishly give of our time in the service of others in need will guarantee the most fruitful and productive year we have ever experienced."

Toothbrushes for sale

ST. JOHNS--Toothbrushes will be all over St. Johns Sept. 24 when the St. Johns Exchange Club sponsors their annual toothbrush sale.

Proceeds from the sale go toward the organization's activities for youth.

BRANDON WHITE (center), Clinton County Capital Area United Way campaign chairman, reviews the payroll deduction plan for schools with Dr. Donald Burns (left), St. Johns superintendent, and Terry Adams, president of the St. Johns Education Association. Donations through the educational systems in Clinton County last year netted United Way $4600. This year's Capital Area United Way goal is $2.5 million. Capital Area includes Clinton and Ingham counties and the Grand Ledge area of Eaton County.

LIONS CLUB MEMBERS WILL BE GOING door to door selling light bulbs to earn money for such projects as the Diabetic Clinic, Leader Dogs, Eye Glasses Clinic, Youth Exchange, and Boys Club. Lions will be selling the "six-packs" of light bulbs Sept. 21-22 from 6 p.m. until dark for $3. The "six packs" contain two 60-watt bulbs, two 75-watt bulbs, and two 100-watt bulbs. Co Chairman of the light bulb drive are Pete LoDico (left) and Dr. David Peters (right). Lions members will be identified by wearing Lion's hat and pins.

St. Johns Police report

The St. Johns police department reported that they handled five larcenies, two vandalisms, four driving under the influence of liquor, one drunk and disorderly, and recovered two bikes, during the past week. A larceny occurred Aug. 30 at the County Road Commission building. It was reported that two road graders were broken into. Taken were two control heads with mikes and speakers.

Deny landing strip request

A request for a private landing strip in Eagle made by Richard Jessop, has been turned down by the Clinton County Board of Commissioners by a nine to one vote.

Jessop asked the County for a special use permit for an airstrip, at his residence in Riley Township. The board turned down the request mainly because the proposed airstrip is approximately 400 feet away from the South Riley Elementary School.

Commissioners heard pro and con arguments on the subject. The main opposition came from the schools and parents of children attending the Riley School. The area is zoned agricultural and residential. Jessop said that he would use the airstrip for private take-offs and landings for business purposes.

Dr. Donald Burns, superintendent of the St. Johns School District read a letter to the Commissioners from the Board of Education opposing the special use permit for an air strip. "We are solely interested in the safety of the hundreds of children attending the school, we are not trying to deny anybody the right to make a living," Burns said.

Responding to the letter read by Burns, Floyd Jessop, father of Richard Jessop, said "I've never heard of an airplane threatening a school before, and I don't see how they feel it will jeopardize the school children."

Jessop said more children were hurt or killed by automobiles, and snowmobiles than by an airplane.

John Arehart, principal of Riley School said, "It's just one more potential danger."

The County Zoning Commission wanted to approve the permit with the following stipulations to which Jessop agreed. The airplane could only take off and land four times a week and not during school hours.

According to Arehart children who attend the school would want to go near the airplane because of curiosity. "They aren't as curious about cars because they see them on the road every day," Arehart said. He added there aren't too many hours when the school isn't being used by somebody."

Richard Jessop said he circulated a petition getting signatures from his neighbors and said that most did not object, but people in the outlying area whose children were bused in objected.

Jessop request was approved by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, and the Federal Aviation Authority.

Duane H. Chamberlain was the only member of the Board who voted in favor of Jessop obtaining the permit. Leroy E. Vincent was absent.

Another zoning matter before the Board was Gerald McCrumb, of Eagle Township, asking to convert the old Eagle School into two 2-bedroom apartments. The one-acre property is one-fourth of a mile east of the north side of Grand River Ave.

The land analysis does not encourage the area for residential development. "Future land use studies do not encourage that type of structure, but using the existing structure for a duplex is not totally incompatible," Dennis Dunningan, county planner, said.

The Health Department says that the soil is not suitable for a sewer. The school, when it was in operation, used a drain field which is now covered with sand.

McCrumb told the Board that he asked the Health Department if he could use the present drainfield.

According to McCrumb the two-room school house is in pretty good shape. "If the area is not rezoned, I can't use the building for anything but storage," he said.

The Health Dept. as of yet has not given McCrumb a permit to put in a sewer. The board tabled the request until they get a recommendation from the Health Department.

Clinton Memorial accredited by Joint Commission

Clinton Memorial Hospital has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Paul McNamara, hospital administrator.

This accreditation, which covers the next two years, is the result of an onsite survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP).

Accreditation indicates the hospital has met standards set by JCAH.

The standards, published as the "Accreditation Manual for Hospitals," set forth goals of excellence measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

Clinton Memorial is one of approximately 4800 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 7150 hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a benchmark of quality that is higher than governmental, licensure alone.

The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program is to help hospitals in their pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients.

The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public those facilities which meet its standards. The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons.

recreation director. The weekly newspaper was not the place for the following personal comments and therefore I offer them now as a city resident and interested observer.

The experience of working with the men's and women's softball teams this past summer has made me question the future of these programs.

When the summer began, I assumed that the ostensible purpose of the leagues was to get some exercise and enjoy the company of one's friends and co-workers.

My assumption couldn't have been more wrong. The city softball fields turned out to be a place where one could harass, threaten and humiliate umpires and opponents.

It didn't seem to matter to many players and managers that these umpires worked with little remuneration and tried their hardest to be fair and accurate in their calls.

It's a sad day when managers warn me not to employ certain umpires due to possible physical attack by some of their hot-tempered players. It's even sadder when a player must leave the field deliberately incured by an inconsiderate opponent who claims that his/her cheap shot was a legal maneuver. Legal or not, I'm asbamed and disgusted to think that a person can be so obsessed with winning a game that he/she loses all concern for the well being of another.

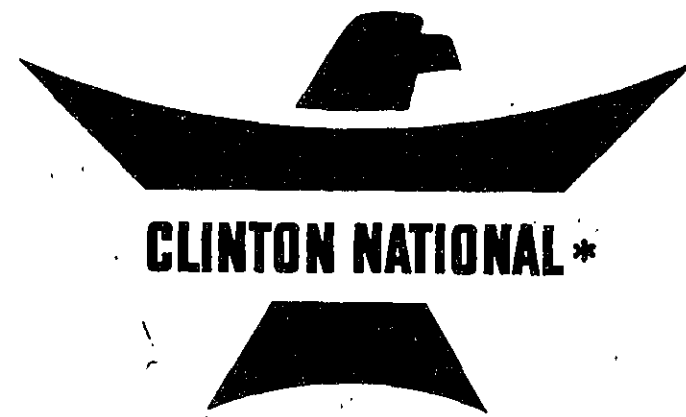

There were several ball teams whose conduct should be applauded genuine ladies on and off the field. My contact with these teams, even though they are the minority in this city, leads me to believe that there is hope for safe, enjoyable softball in St. Johns. I wish these teams luck in spreading the word that when everyone enjoys himself, everyone wins.

St. Johns resident lived war horrors shown in motion picture, "Hiding Place"

By SHARON RANDALL
Special to the County News
It's quiet in the shoe shop. The door opens and closes. People come in with worn heels, ripped tongues, orthopedic corrections. They purchase laces, polish, tennis shoes and hunting boots. Customers talk about favorite pairs of shoes. They wonder if straps can be replaced. Joe Van Rooyan, proprietor, jokes about his similarity to ministers. "I deal in soles," he chuckles.

It's 1976. World War II has been over for 31 years. St. Johns, Mich., U.S.A. is many, many miles and an ocean away from Holland. St. Johns is the small town in the big country that helped Joe Van Rooyan forget what happened to him and hundreds of thousands of other people during the madness that swept Europe between 1940 and 1945.

It's helped him put five horrible years behind. It's helped him get his life straightened out. But a movie of the German occupation of Holland and years in a concentration camp is coming soon to St. Johns and it forces memories to the surface. Advance tickets to the movie, "The Hiding Place" are being sold by local church groups in an effort to spread this story to as many people as possible. It is the true story of a Dutch family's struggle to survive and in the faith that sustained them. Near by, hundreds of other Dutch families were doing the same thing, including Van Rooyan who was 17-years-old when the Germans came to Holland.

Occupation spread slowly over Holland but eventually young men had to "dive under" to keep from being sent to Germany to work in factories. Attacks on Jews came slowly too. First they had to register; soon they were excluded from public places. They were required to sew a Star of David on their clothing and forced to stay off the streets. "Jewish people had to turn to non-Jewish friends and neighbors for help," Van Rooyan explained. "This was not unusual. Some 65 percent of the Dutch people were involved in hiding and helping the persecuted," he said. "What we did then was not to be a hero but merely a fact of life. There was no middle of the road to follow. You couldn't be neutral," he said.

"It doesn't come easy to let someone die," Van Rooyan explained. "If there is someone in front of you with a broken leg you have to help. But then, if you helped once, there was no return." Van Rooyan doesn't like to remember. He doesn't like to talk about those years. "People sometimes ask me to talk to their church group or something, but I can't," he shook his head. "I can't because talking about it, remembering it, it is a story of hate."

He doesn't like to talk about it because so much of what happened to him and to those round him is too hideous to tell. "You would not believe some of the things," he said. "They are too terrible for a story."

He doesn't like to remember but he can't really forget. He still knows what horrible things some people can do to other people. He knows that he was never 18. He remembers that he was young and then he was old. That when he should have been 18 he was hiding in sewers and helping allied pilots escape through German occupied countries to Spain. He remembers that it worked just fine, forged papers, quick bicycle trips, picking up messages in Spain to take back to the underground forces. He remembers that it worked just fine up to a point. Then suddenly it didn't.

Then two years that seemed like 20. In a concentration camp in Germany numbers were tattooed on his arm. With escape and recapture, more numbers on his arm. Another escape, another recapture; this time the numbers were tattooed across his face. For two long years each day seemed like a week or a month amid interrogation, torture, the smells of death, the sounds of pain.

In 1945 as liberation approached Van Rooyan was being held in an underground cement bunker. General Patton and his troops moved closer. At the last minute the Germans flooded the bunker but the men in it managed to stay above the water.

When American troops flung open the doors Joe Van Rooyan could not comprehend that only two years had past. He weighed 72 pounds. His hip was broken, his teeth had been pulled out, his body was covered with scabies. "I'll never forget those three Americans standing there in the doorway," he said. "One mixed up a big frying pan of potatoes and butter and poured a can of pork on top. I ate it with two hands," he recalled. "Then, oh, how sick I was."

At a field hospital Van Rooyan was sprayed with DDT to get rid of the scabies. He was fed gradually to get used to eating again.

In the shoe shop a radio plays soft music. Wooden shoe forms hang in a row. A little blonde girl, holding an armful of soft tiny kittens, beams down from a calendar. Pictures of Holland scenes dot the walls at eye-level. It smells like polish, leather and comfortable old shoes.

Joe Van Rooyan has dark grey hair and silver rimmed glasses. He drinks coffee and smokes cigarettes. While he is reluctant to bring up the past, he has a topic he likes to talk about. It is his deep feeling for his country. His new country, so to speak, but his real country. "This is more my country than it is to I know how good it really is," he reflected. Holland may be his home, his mother and family are still there, but the United States is his country, religion, that is the only thing you have in times like those," Joe said softly. "It is that kept us going was our faith that we would get help. If not for God, a person couldn't make it."

Tell him that Al Cederberg has established a unique district help program, that has brought Washington to the cities and towns of the 10th District. That he worked tirelessly against a mushrooming and big spending government long before it became today's popular issue. That he's brought numerous educational facilities, senior citizen housing complexes, a Coast Guard

On Aug. 13, in St. Josephs Catholic Church, St. Johns, Marcia Jean Pierce and David Lee Snyder were united in marriage by Father William Hankerd, with the blessing being given by Pastor Calvin Kaufman, in a 6:30 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Pierce of 209 S. Clinton, St. Johns, MI. The groom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Clifford Snyder of RR Ashley.

For her wedding the bride chose a colonial style gown of silk organza and crocheted lace. The long lace sleeves and bib front were reworked with pearls and edged in a ruffle of the same

Chloe's Column

Cautious on using fabric softner

By Chloe Padgett
Extension Home Economist

Grandma never worried about "static cling" -- chances are, she didn't even know what it was. But then, she didn't have synthetic fabrics. It was along with "convenience" clothing that new care problems developed.

The fabrics crackled, snapped and crawled on their wearers at least until fabric softeners were invented to rid them of "static cling."

Now a variety of softeners are available -- in tear-off sheets, sprays, packets and liquids. Some for the wash cycle, some for the rinse and, most recently, those for the dryer.

More and more people are using these products. But their use has caused some problems.

Some manufacturers issue warnings against dryer-added softeners. Many appliance makers refuse to pay for damages resulting from fabric softener use.

Aerosol sprays, in particular, cause problems. They leave a residue on lint screens. This builds up, limiting air-flow into the dryer and prolonging drying time. The aerosols also cause malfunctioning of electronic controls and corrosion of metal dryer parts. But pump-style dispensers are replacing these aerosol sprays.

Now any problems that occur are more likely due to consumer misuse of the softener, rather than because of the softener itself. That's why it's so important to read and follow a manufacturer's directions for use. And, when it comes to particular methods of softening, keep these points in mind:

Washer-added softeners are absorbed by the clothes being cleaned. So the amount of softener you use should vary with the size of your load, not the amount of water in the tub. Too much softener results in yellowed, greasy-feeling clothes.

Softeners designed for the final rinse should never be used earlier. Soap, detergent, bleach, bluing or packaged water softener acts to neutralize the fabric softener, leaving a sticky white residue often mistaken for lint.

If you use softener in a pump-style dispenser, spray the sides of the empty dryer drum as evenly as possible. Watch carefully to see that no puddles form. They may cause spots or streaks on clothing. Never spray the back of the dryer and remember to wash the lint screen periodically to remove any possible build-up.

You can also spray fabric softener onto a dry washcloth. Fold the cloth, moistened side in, then lay it atop your wet clothes. Dry as usual.

Tear-off sheets should be used at low-heat settings if you use coin-operated dryers. These machines are usually hotter than home dryers and the added heat can cause sheet fabric softeners to leave spots on clothing.

Instructions with packet softeners often specify the brands of dryers with which they can be used.

If staining does occur, it can usually be removed. Just wet the spotted area, rub it with a bar soap, rinse in warm water. Then launder the garment in the usual manner.

Remember, too, there is some fabric softener carry-over so it's not necessary to use it every time you wash.

Evening ceremony unites Dorene Gust, Greg DeNio

Dorene April Gust became the bride of Gregory George DeNio both of West Branch on Sept. 11 at 6 p.m. They were married by Rev. McVey, at the Church of the Nazarene before an altar of palmroses and blue baby's breath backed with palm fronds.

She wore a three tier elbow length veil secured by a head piece of Venice lace, daisies and organza bows and seed pearls.

The bride carried a bouquet of white lilies and rosebuds accented with blue baby breath and light and navy blue straw flowers.

Matron of honor was Diana Annette Linhart, from Lansing. She wore a light blue navy blue floor length gown with a jacket. She also wore a headpiece of light blue ribbon with a lily of the valley and seed pearls decorating bow. Mrs. Linhart carried shaded blue roses.

The brides mother chose a light blue polyester cotton with white embossed flowers. The grooms mother wore a navy blue chiffon gown trimmed with gold braids. The corsages for the mothers were made of white lilies, and roses with baby's breath and light and dark blue straw flowers.

Campfire Girls 1923-26 hold reunion

This Bicentennial year was the appropriate time to hold a reunion of the She-she-mon-zee-gee-zee-bee Campfire Girls of which Mrs. Leon Williams, the former ruff Partlow, was guardian of the group and dreamed of arranging the outing.

It was held recently at the Williams' cottage, 2434 South Shore Road, Crystal. Mrs. Williams was guardian of the groups from 1923-1926, when she taught kindergarten through First Grade. The girls were all in high school at that time-the old Elsie High that was built in 1903 and torn down four years ago when it was termed deteriorating and unsafe.

Ralph (Bernadine Young) Biebieshimer of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Clare (Doris Loyens) Crawford of Ovid; Wava (Miller) Hunn, Owosso; Vera (Marvin) Parks of Owosso; Marien (Pearce) Williams, Owosso Trailer Court, M21; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy (Gladys Knight) Vincent of Elsie; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beckwith (Florence Hess) of Hillsdale; Neva (Carroll) Richards, Chapin; Kathryn (Herron) McClelland of Chapin; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bensingler (Ruby Partlow of Ovid; and Mrs. Eleanor (Hutchenson) Boice of DeWitt.

Unable to attend were Doris Cornwell Bernstein of Beloit, Wisc.; Mary (Young) McCullough of Okemos and Elgin (Woodard) Wulff of Brandenton, Florida.

members: Vivian Foz, Genevieve West and Dora Wadell. Mrs. Ruby Bensingler gave the invocation and Mrs. Bernadine Biebieshimer led the group in singing their ceremonial song "Wohelo for Aye".

A few of the members gave their Indian names and what the tribal name meant which Wava Huhn said was "Maple River."

They returned to the cottage to continue visiting and showing pictures taken years ago.

They recalled that the guardian's mother accompanied the group as cook and each girl had her turn at KP duty for outings the first year. The second year, Mrs. Eleanor Boice inspected beds and rooms to see that all was neat in the upper floor at camp, while the third year they were accompanied by the Guardian's friends, Ruth Williams of Durand who taught them to swim.

Dry Dock'd trims Office in finale

By HAROLD SCHMALTZ
County News
SPORTS EDITOR

The 9-day Clinton County Boys Club Softball Invitational Tournament ended dramatically Saturday night with Dry Dock'd Lounge of St. Johns taking championship honors, downing The Office Bar from Fowler, 7-6.

Dry Dock'd could have sewed up the championship in an earlier afternoon contest with The Office but a last four-inning scoring spurt gave the Fowler crew the victory 9-8 in a cliffhanger.

A total of 24 teams represented from neighboring towns of Ionia, Ithaca, Carson City, Westphalia, Fowler, Lansing and Ovid competed in the tournament which began the Friday night before Labor Day and continued every evening plus all day on weekends and Labor Day through Sept. 11. Director of the tournament was Dale Feldpausch assisted by Bob Andrews.

Proceeds from the tournament were divided equally between the Clinton County Boys Club organization and the St. Johns Little League program. All tournament games took place at Bee's Chevrolet-Olds playing field. Trophies were awarded to winning teams and team member. Special recognition was made to the "Most Valuable Outfielder," who George George of The Office and a dual award to Mike Sipkovsky of Dry Dock'd and Ken Weber of The Office for the "Most Valuable Infielder." Both players batted .598 in the tourney and gained team admiration for their defense shown throughout the tourney.

IT TOOK three games to prove it but Dry Dock'd Lounge showed The Office Saturday night in tournament action who the "champs" were. Proudly displaying the championship trophy of the 24-team double elimination tournament held from Sept. 3 thru Sept. 11 are: (front row l.r.) Jon Thelen, Terry Dean, Clark Berkhausen, manager Mel Sehlke and Bob Andrews. (Back l.r.) Mike Sipkovsky, George Mehney, John Haruska, Terry Haruska, Neal Thelen, Tom Danlay, Mike Brown and Dale Feldpausch.

Also winning individual awards was John Haruska of the Dry Dock'd team who won the trophies for "Most Home Runs" with 7; "Best Batting Average," compiling a .679 mark; "Home Run Derby Winner" and the "Most Valuable Player of the Tournament." Late inning action of the first game Saturday saw The Office holding a commanding 9-4 lead in the bottom of the 7th and final inning, Terry Haruska drove a single to left center followed by a single by Clark Berkhausen. Dale Feldpausch came to bat and was safe on a close call at 1st base loading the bases with nobody out.

John Thelen after taking a 3-0 pitch for a strike, hit into a double play situation but beat it out on a fielder's choice with Haruska scoring. Bob Andrews, the pitcher, then came to the plate and hit into a similar situation finding himself safe at 1st on a fielder's choice with the second run of the inning, scoring. John Haruska then dropped a short blooper into center field scoring the third run. With pressure mounting on Jerry Kohagen at the mound he faced Mike Sipkovsky who drove two consecutive foul flies deep into right field, ending the threat to The Office on a lofty fly to deep right for the third out and the end of the game. Immediately after a short five-minute rest, the two teams continued with the third game of the series.

Coming to bat for The Office in the first inning was John Pohl who hit a single. George George then hit a hot smash to the third baseman for the first out. Fred Smith blasted a double to score Pohl with Larry Halfmann driving one right to the glove of the 2nd baseman for the second out. Kenny Weber ended the inning on a high fly to right field.

Starting the action for Dry Dock'd in the bottom of the 1st inning was Jon Thelen who popped to third base. Bob Andrews came to bat and was safe on a miscue by the 1st baseman, followed by Neal Thelen who flied out.

John Haruska then hit a single to left but Mike Sipkovsky ended the threat with a grounder to the pitcher. It was no hits - no runs for Dry Dock'd with The Office coming to bat in the top of the 2nd inning, holding a 1-run lead.

Ray Gibbons, the catcher, grounded to 1st, followed by Roger Schafer who grounded out to the pitcher, then Gary Weber hit a sharp single to left. Bill Armbrustmacher was safe on a bobble in center, scoring Weber, then Jerry Kohagen lined one to Andrews at the mound for the third out. The Office led 2-0.

Dry Dock'd continued their scoreless ways through the bottom of the 2nd inning also with Terry Dean flying out deep to center, followed by a ground rule double by Mike Brown. Terry Haruska then flied out to deep left with Brown advancing to third but the threat ended on Clark Berkhausen's grounder to the pitcher's mound.

In the 3rd inning it was 3 up and 3 down for the Office with John Pohl being thrown out at 1st, George George grounding out to pitcher and Fred Smith hitting a foul fly to left field.

Dry Dock'd continued the scary famine with a runless effort in the bottom of the 3rd. The Office added another run to their 2 run lead in the fourth. Larry Halfmann led off with a home run, followed by a single off the bat of Kenny Weber. Ray Gibbons then popped a high fly, followed by Roger Schafer being called safe at 1st on a bobble at second. Gary Weber ended the uprising with a double play ball.

In the bottom of the fourth Neal Thelen hit a sharp single, followed by a smashing double by John Haruska, scoring Thelen for the first Dry Dock'd run. Mike Sipkovsky cooled the effort with an out to first. Terry Dean renewed the attack with a single to centerfield, scoring Haruska, then both Mike Brown and Terry Haruska were retired. At the end of the 4th, the scoreboard read 4-2 in favor of The Office. Neither team scored in the fifth.

The sixth inning produced the most excitement of the game with The Office starting it all with a long double by George George followed by a sharply hit single by Fred Smith off the glove of the 3rd baseman, scoring George. Larry Halfmann then teed off on a long double after which Kenny Weber lofted a high fly, scoring Smith on the tag-up from 3rd. Ray Gibbons grounded out short to first. Roger Schafer followed with a long triple to the center field fence scoring Halfmann. Andrews, Dry Dock'd pitcher, put out the fire when he got Gary Weber on a routine fly to the outfield. At the end of the sixth, it was The Office holding a 6-2 lead over Dry Dock'd.

Neal Thelen lead off for the Dry Dock'd and grounded out pitcher to 1st. John Haruska hit a sharp single through the box and Mike Sipkovsky drove Gary Weber to the fence on a long drive but advanced Haruska to 2nd in the effort. Terry Dean, coming to the plate, drilled a single through the box scoring Haruska from 2nd then came the big blow. Mike Brown connected on a powerful drive that cleared the center field fence scoring Dean. The onslaught by Dry Dock'd continued when Terry Haruska stepped to the plate and drove one of Kohagen's pitches right out of the park. This tied the game at 6-6.

John Thelen came to the plate for Dry Dock'd and greeted Kohagen with a base hit to center and the winning run was on first. Bob Andrews walked to move Thelen into scoring position at 2nd. Then it happened—Neal Thelen connected on a sharp single to right field and it was all over. John Thelen crossed the plate to give Dry Dock'd the victory over The Office, 7-6.

Fall sports season opens

BY HAROLD SCHMALTZ
County News
SPORTS EDITOR

You've heard the old saying, "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy"...Well, as far as Clinton County schools are concerned this does indeed strike a bell. With all the sports activities going on around the county in the area's six high schools there is no dullness.

Starting out with a heavy football schedule on the varsity level, St. Johns travels to Charlotte to do battle with the Orioles while the Redwings Pirates open at home with Ollvet. Over on the Bath scene, the Bees will be buzzing over to Howell while nearby their friendly neighbors, the DeWitt Panthers will be sharpening their claws for Williamston.

Continuing down the schedule, Ovid-Elsie journeys to Portland to see what the Raiders have to offer and Fowler will be testing themselves hopefully at the cost of the Fulton-Middleton Pirates at Fulton.

In other action the Redwing jayvees will be hosting Central Montcalm at 7:30 p.m. on the 16th with Roger DePaape and John Wilcox at the helm while on that same evening the freshmen Redwings will host Mt. Pleasant at 5 p.m. Head coach of the freshmen-squad is Al Werblish and his assistant is Dick Vitek.

Also on the 16th, Bath jayvees host the Howell jayvees on the turf at 7:30 p.m. and the freshmen squad will host the Fulton frosh at 7 p.m.

In other county action on Thursday the 16th, both the freshmen and jayvee football squad from Ovid-Elsie open their season activities hosting Portland at 7 p.m. Head mentor of the freshmen this year is last year's varsity line coach Russ Popo, assisted by Mike Cole. Leading the jayvee efforts this year will be Joe Thering and Tom Hughley.

Getting away from the gridiron action, the scene changes to the greens and the tees. Bath hosts Perry on the 16th in a home match while the Redwings from St. Johns hosts the Hemlock Huskies at 3:30 p.m. on that same date.

In further golf activity the Redwings travel to Swan Valley on the 21st for a 2:30 encounter while on the 23rd they returned home to host the Cavaliers from Corunna at 3:30 p.m. Mike Humphrey is the coach. Also on the 16th, the Marauders from O-E match irons with Corunna in a home affair while on Monday the 20th its another home match with St. Charles. The following day the Marauder golfers tee off on the Bullock Creek Lancers at Midland, then on the 23rd its back home again to face the Huskies from Hemlock. Coaching the Marauders will be John Goebel.

In girls sports activities throughout the county Coach Mary Nutter's girls basketball squad plays their second game of the season with Haslett on the 16th in an away game. Over in Fowler girls basketball continues with a home encounter with their neighbors Pewamo-Westphalia on the 20th while in St. Johns the girls varsity and junior varsity hosts Ionia on the 16th. All St. Johns games start at 6:30 p.m. with Beth Schrauben guiding the varsity efforts and Sue Cerny handling the jayvees.

Continuing girls basketball scheduling, the Bath girls varsity and jayvees test their "basketmaking" at DeWitt on the 16th at 6:30 p.m. while on the 21st they travel to Stockbridge.

In the only swimming competition taking place in September the Redwing girls nylon fabric that was used. Seams were triple stitched for strength and durability. They enlisted the help of Joe VanRooyen, owner of a local shoe repair business, to locate large grommets and attached them to the flag so it could be fastened to a flag pole lanyard. Deadline for completion of the project was August 16. Representative of the club presented the flag at opening ceremonies of the Clinton County 4-H Fair. It was flown on the new flag pole which was erected on the fairgrounds this year.

A suggestion to make an American flag was sent to 4-H leaders in a monthly newsletter from the 4-H staff in Clinton County. Mrs. Sharon Randall and Mrs. Nancy Miller, 4-H leaders in the Green Acres 4-H Club, presented the idea to a club meeting. They decided this would be a good way for the club to help celebrate our nation's bicentennial.

The club started on the project in April 1976. Careful cutting and sewing of the stars and stripes was done by 30 different 4-H members under the direction of Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Miller. Special care had to be taken to prevent raveling of the

Buyers' appreciation dinner

BY JOHN AYLSWORTH

The Clinton County 4-H Livestock Sale members hosted the Buyers' Appreciation Dinner on September 8 at Smith Hall in St. Johns. Nearly 275 buyers and spouses, 4-H members and parents attended the delicious beef dinner. Al Daley of St. Johns was the chef in charge of cooking and serving the choice beef. The 4-H Livestock Sale Committee and wives, with Dick and Marie Woodhams serving as Chairmen, assumed the responsibility of preparing and serving the rest of the meal and were assisted by 4-H livestock members and parents.

This dinner provides the buyers with the opportunity to meet and become better acquainted with the member whose animal he purchased at the sale. Music was furnished by Bill Roll of St. Johns as he played and sang several selections.

The Clinton County 4-H Fair Livestock Sale grossed $45,542.01 from the sale of 73 steers, 13 lambs and 27 hogs. The 73 steers grossed $39,931.00, with an average price of 46 cents a pound, excluding the Champions. The members are making plans for the 1977 4-H Fair Show and Sale.

Bill's Column

Watch out for killer silo gas

By Bill Lasher
County Extension Agent

Silo gas can kill. Almost every farmer who puts up corn silage will be faced with this deadly threat. Treat every silo as though gas were present. Almost every silo with corn silage will have some of the gas, and those filled with haylage or outlage could have it, too. Silo gas (nitrogen dioxide) is heavier than air and accumulates just above the silage, at the bottom of the silo, in the unloading chute or in the adjacent feed room. Dead birds around these areas are clues that the gas is at dangerous levels. But many times the gas will be toxic and you won't be able to see these signs.

Don't take a chance. Even if the gas doesn't kill you, it can damage your lungs and cut down your oxygen supply for the rest of your life. Safeguards against the gas: - Stay out of the silo for a week, or preferably two, after the silo is filled. Never go into the silo alone during the danger period.

If you must enter the silo within two weeks, run the blower 15 to 20 minutes before going in. Keep the blower running while anyone is inside. Best bet is to wear a gas mask, too.

If you experience the slightest throat irritation or coughing, get into fresh air right away. Immediate treatment by your doctor may reduce lung damage and keep pneumonia from developing later. Keep children and animals away from the silo base during the filling period and for at least two weeks afterwards. Keep the door closed between the silo room and barn to protect livestock.

Ventilate the silo room for at least two weeks after filling by opening outside doors and windows to carry away fumes. Removing the chute doors on the silo down to the level of the settled silage will permit natural ventilation at that point where gas tends to be concentrated.

The highlight of the evening for the members was the presentation of their Fair sale checks. Each member introduced his or her buyers when he received their checks. Virgil Zeeb of Zeeb Fertilizers, Inc. was presented with the traveling trophy as he purchased the Grand Champion Steer owned by William Ritchie of Bath.

Fall alfalfa cutting not harmful

Jim Pelham
Clinton County Extension Director

Farmers who did not get the second cutting of alfalfa until early August because of a late first cutting, may find flowering starts, cut in September without injuring the stand.

"Alfalfa fields may also be used for daily green-chopping in September and October if the alfalfa starts to flower," says Dr. Milo B. Tesar, Michigan State University crop and soil scientist.

MSU research at East Lansing and in Monroe County between 1964 and 1976 shows that alfalfa may be cut in September and October without harming the plant if wilt-resistant, well-fertilized varieties are used and if two of the three cuttings have come to flower before harvesting.

Three experiments using Vernal and Saranac alfalfa on a well-drained Conover silt loam soil showed no significant loss in yield per acre the year following September-October cutting. Root reserves of fall-cut alfalfa become replenished before winter for survival.

In Lake City in Missaukee County in northern Michigan, two cuttings were used instead of three because of a shorter season. As in southern Michigan, cutting in September was not harmful since the plants were flowering well after a later July cutting and had adequate food reserve stored for the winter.

"For good yields, alfalfa should be topdressed with potassium annually. Wilt-resistant varieties such as 520, Saranac, Iroquois, Weevlchek, Anchor, Titan, Thor, or WL305 should be used in northern or southern Michigan. Other good varieties are listed in MSU's annual publication on recommended alfalfa varieties," he says.

Under a three-cutting system in southern Michigan, cuttings are taken in late May to early June, in mid-July, and late August or early September. Plants will have enough food stored in their roots to allow cutting in late September or October without injuring the stand or yield the following year.

Fall cutting or green-chopping in September and early October gives livestock producers greater flexibility in harvesting or grazing the last cutting. "Today's modern machinery make it possible to fall cut alfalfa for hay or silage with a minimum risk of poor quality stored feed," Tesar says.

ONE OF BEE'S TEAM

Howard Ruby

Anxiously awaiting the arrival of the new '77 Olds and Chevrolets at Bee's is Howard Ruby, our interviewee this week as a member of "Bee's Team".

Howard is one of the salesmen who would greet you on any visit to Bee's whether it be for a new car, used car, or new and used trucks. Howard's personality is such that he could be referred to as "Mr. Service" at Bee's.

In the 7 years at Bee's Chevrolet-Olds, Howard has achieved the distinction of having received the Legion of Leaders award from Chevrolet for excellence in car sales for six of those years.

A native of Richmond, Indiana, obviously a fan of the Red and White Indiana Hoosiers, Howard has been a salesman at Bee's for the past 7 years. Before that he was employed by Schafer Baking Co. in Lansing for 20 years.

He and his wife Sharon, who also operates Sharon's Cakes at their residence on 2169 E. Wildcat Rd., St. Johns, have a son Brian who is a freshman at St. Johns High School this year.

In addition to a love for traveling, Howard finds he is an avid "armchair athlete", involving himself in almost all sports via the TV circuit. Being from Indiana his obvious favorite sport is basketball, with football being a close second.
