

6 townships studying fire contract proposals

Nov. 2 deadline for agreement

Township officials in six townships surrounding St. Johns are continuing their study of fire protection contract proposals made by the City of St. Johns as a Nov. 2 deadline imposed by the city nears.

The city has notified Victor, Riley, Olive, Bengal, Greenbush and Bingham townships that after Nov. 2, St. Johns firemen will not make fire runs into those townships without a contract.

Essex Township has agreed to a contract, and Ovid Township's board decided to pull out of an arrangement with St. Johns and provide protection from the Ovid Township fire department.

City Clerk Tom Hundley said Tuesday the city has presented two proposals to township officials and is leaving the choice of which to use up to the townships. One proposal has a proportionately higher stand-by fee and a lower per-run charge than the other proposal.

BOTH PROPOSALS are higher in total cost to the township than the current contract, which has already been extended from July 1 to Nov. 2. Hundley said that with an average number of rural runs the city would break even on costs on either proposal.

"We've raised the prices because we're hurting for finances," Hundley said in speaking for the commission. "We're not trying to gouge anybody by doing this."

The operation of the fire department costs about $40,000 a year, Hundley reported, and the commission has expressed the feeling throughout negotiations during the summer that the townships should pay for their share of the cost.

Fire runs in 1967 were almost equally divided—42 going into the rural areas and 41 being city calls, according to Fire Chief Clare Majer's annual report earlier this year. Previous years have shown more rural fire runs than city calls.

Despite this, Hundley said, the city is not asking the townships to share 50-50 in the costs.

Each township's costs as proposed by the city commission varies, depending on the distance from the city and the amount of the township served. Only Greenbush and Bingham townships are served wholly by the St. Johns department.

Hundley said the figures proposed by the city are definitely negotiable yet, but the Nov. 2 cut-off date for the current contract is firm.

"AS OF NOV. 2, 1968, the City of St. Johns will provide fire service only to townships which have entered into a new contract with the city," Hundley said. "To date, an agreement has been reached only between the city and Essex Township, so that Essex is the only township that has so far assured its residents continuing fire service from the City of St. Johns after Nov. 1."

Hundley pointed out that after the contract expires, the city fire department would have no legal right to be in the township.

The Ovid Township Board has provided an Enterprise telephone number for Ovid Township residents with telephones in the St. Johns exchange (224-) so that they may contact the Ovid Township Fire Department in case of fire. The new number is Enterprise 8200.

It took effect Sept. 19, and General Telephone Co. District Manager Bill Graet said the Enterprise number will appear in the new St. Johns directories to be distributed in a couple of weeks.

The city commission has been meeting with township officials as a group throughout the summer in an effort to work out agreements.

Harvest moon 7 times over

What is prettier at harvest time than the harvest moon, and what is prettier than the harvest moon? How about seven harvest moons? Clinton County News Editor Lowell Rinker took this picture several years ago, and a print of it on the newsroom wall has drawn much comment and many questions. It is actually only one moon, photographed every 10 minutes over an hour's period of time as it dipped toward the western horizon. It was all done on one frame of film to produce one negative. The small white dots above and below the moon are stars on the same course: The brighter spots on the barn in the foreground are lens flare. Exposure on Tri-X film was 1/8 at 10 seconds every 10 minutes.

Hannah seeks city commission seat

John W. Hannah, of 210 W. Walker Street, an 11-year resident of St. Johns, announced his candidacy this week for the St. Johns City Commission in the

JOHN W. HANNAH

Nov. 5 election. He becomes the second announced candidate for the two open seats. Robert Wood, St. Johns attorney, announced his intentions last week. Both men will be running as write-in candidates, as will everyone who seeks the posts, since filing deadlines passed without official candidates.

Hannah is shop superintendent at the Clinton County News. He has a background of local government experience at Munising in the Upper Peninsula, where he served as councilman and mayor. He also served on the Alger County Board of Supervisors during that same time.

He also filled out an unexpired term of judge of probate in Alger County in 1948 when the incumbent judge died.

Big Chest drive opening

A goal of $23,683 has been set for the annual Communities Chest campaign which opens in Clinton County next Tuesday, Oct. 15. This year, for the first time, Clinton has joined with Ingham and sections of Eaton County in a United Community Chest drive which seeks an overall quota of nearly $2 million.

In asking generous contributions from Clinton area people, Ink White of St. Johns, chairman of the county drive, points out that more than 6,000 Clinton people benefit from services provided by Chest agencies.

Listed among the 59 agencies in the Chest package are such well-known organizations as the Boy and Girl Scouts, the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, Big Brothers, Michigan Children's Aid, YMCA, YWCA and the U.S.O.

Chamberlain choice to replace Morrill

OVID—Duane H. Chamberlain, 40-year resident of Ovid, has been named to replace the late Clyde E. Morrill as Republican candidate for the District 5 (Ovid Township) seat on the Clinton County Board of Supervisors.

Chamberlain's name will be printed on stickers and placed over the name of Morrill on Ovid Township ballots.

Andrew Cobb, Clinton County GOP chairman, announced the selection of Chamberlain Monday. The county GOP executive committee met last week and made the appointment on recommendation of Ovid Township Republicans.

The need for such an appointment arose Sept. 28 when Morrill, 64, the Republican nominee, died unexpectedly of a heart attack. He had won nomination by winning the August primary without opposition.

Because ballots for the Nov.

DUANE CHAMBERLAIN

5 election have already been printed, Chamberlain's name will be printed on a sticker and the sticker placed on the ballot over Morrill's name.

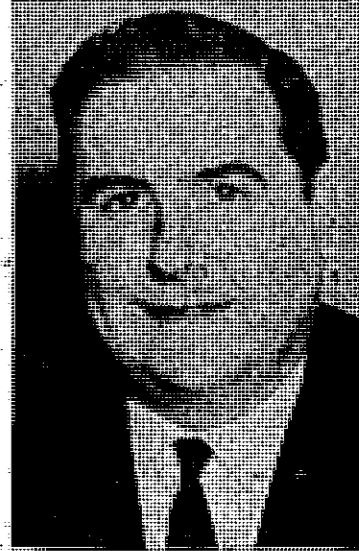

NFO state meeting Saturday

OVID—The national president of the National Farmers Organization, Oren Lee Staley of Missouri, will give the keynote address at the annual Michigan convention of the NFO this Saturday evening at Ovid-Elsie High School.

It is the first NFO state convention to be held in Clinton County. Some 600 voting delegates and hundreds of other visitors are expected.

All sessions of the convention—afternoon and evening—are open to delegates from all over the state, but they will act on committee recommendations for policies that may be acted on at the NFO national convention later this fall.

Two state directors, linking the local NFO groups to the national level, will be elected during the afternoon session, which starts at 1 p.m. Incumbent national directors from Michigan are L. Dean Jones of Charlotte and John Cook of Union City in the Thumb area of the state.

OREN LEE STALEY
... National NFO President

STALEY, LONG-TIME president of the NFO at the national level, will be the keynote speaker at the evening session at 8 p.m. Saturday. A dynamic speaker, he attended his first farmer protest meeting at Maryville, Mo., in October 1955 and has been working on behalf of farmers ever since.

He was born at Rea, Mo., and was salutatorian and president of his high school graduating class at King City (Mo.) High School. He has always lived on a farm, and has been involved in shorthorn cattle breeding and has been a 4-H leader. He now farms in the Savannah rolling hills off highway 71 in Missouri.

He attended Northwest Missouri College and served as a pharmacist's mate third class in the U.S. Navy.

Paul Love, president of the Clinton County NFO, said the three major U.S. presidential candidates were unable to attend the convention. They had been extended invitations about a month ago to speak at Saturday's convention.

Love said Alabama Gov. George Wallace had originally intended to make it to the NFO convention at Ovid-Elsie, but a bout with the flu put him behind schedule on his campaigning, and he dropped the Clinton County visit.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey wrote to state NFO officials that he was booked up for Saturday, and he sent his regret and regards. Richard Nixon's campaign workers also notified the NFO their candidate would be unable to appear.

ELMER SMITH OF rural Laingsburg, former NFO county president, is in charge of local arrangements for the convention. Activity will start about 7:30 a.m. Saturday with committee meetings, and county NFO President Love is a member of the credentials committee.

Registration will get under way at 9 a.m.

No change in refuse schedule

The City of St. Johns has executed a refuse pick-up contract with Keith Canfield, owner of the K & H Refuse Service of Owosso, that calls for a pick-up schedule that's unchanged from the past.

No change in the schedule was made in the final draft of the contract, although the original draft did have a change.

The schedule calls for pick-up south of M-21 and east of Clinton Avenue on Mondays; south of M-21 and west of Clinton on Tuesdays; and north of M-21 on Thursdays.

A new clause in the contract requires that residents use a 20-gallon garbage can (metal type) or some other sturdy container to store rubbish in.

The City Commission has agreed to pay Canfield $1,200 a month to pick up all rubbish and garbage from occupants or residents of the city.

Ashley seeks federal aid

Ashley officials are hopeful the new sewage treatment plant system ordered by the Water Resources Commission for the village may be secured through a federal grant.

A shortage of funds to the Farmers Home Administration has been responsible for lack of progress on the application for a federal grant.

Estimates for the system run about $600,000.

Communities Chest Drive opens Tuesday

(Continued from Page 1-A) Additionally the Clinton Chest includes county 4-H Clubs and the St. Vincent de Paul Society, said White. Among young people, the Boy and Girl Scouts serve 2,352 Clinton County young people and the 4-H Clubs enjoy membership of more than 1,000 county boys and girls.

"Your one gift to your Community Chest is your stake in our community — a community made strong because the services of these 59 agencies are available," said White.

Volunteers who have accepted responsibility for the government and schools division of the county chest organization were named this week by Stephen Bakita of St. Johns who heads this section of the campaign. Appointed by Bakita are the following: Ernest Carter, county government; Don Haske, county road commission; Harvey Weatherwax, St. Johns city government; Bakita, St. Johns schools; Donald Smith, Fowler schools. William Steinke, Pewamo-Westphalia schools; Robert Beauchamp, Ovid-Elsie schools; Roger Carlson, Bath schools; and James Ritchie, DeWitt schools.

Five other team captains are heading divisions of the chest campaign in this area. They include Lawrence G. Sexton, industry; William Patton, commercial; Leon Brewbaker, professional; R. W. Slight, special gifts; and Mrs. Helen Kohls, women's division.

Chest chairmen named to date in the various areas of the county are: John Rademacher, Fowler; Mrs. S. K. Thingstad, Watertown; Ed Rose, Eagle; Mrs. Wayne Loomis, Bath; Willie Tabor, Ovid; Albert Abshagen, Maple Rapids; and Charles Hengesbach, Westphalia.

OWNER GETS A BIT RILED UP

This house on the south edge of Wacousta was condemned a year ago because a flowing well runs under it with no drain. The Clinton County Zoning Board, the Mid-Michigan District Health Department and Watertown Township told owner Jack McKinnon he couldn't use it or improve it for those reasons. Last week McKinnon tacked signs up on the house to let the people of Wacousta know how he felt.

Hannah commission candidate

(Continued from Page 1-A) spent most of his life at Munising. He came to St. Johns in 1937 from Lapeer, where he worked for the Lapeer County Press.

He is a former member of the St. Johns Rotary and Lions clubs and is a member of the First Congregational Church.

He and his wife, Hattie, have four children—John Hannah Jr. of Concord, Calif., Charles Hannah, a warrant officer in the U. S. Army at Ft. Gordon, Augusta, Ga., James Wiseman of Brighton and Sally Wiseman of Ann Arbor. They also have five grandchildren.

Little trouble will come to the man who lives on the theory—"When in doubt, don't."

Lions plan Farmer's Night Oct. 23

The St. Johns Lions Club board of directors have formulated plans for their annual Farmer's Night event slated for Wednesday Oct. 23. According to Club Secretary Herb Houghten, members are encouraged to invite farmers from the Clinton County area to be guests of the Lions on that night. The evening's schedule calls for dinner followed by a program.

In other business, President Bernard Neller announced the District Governor's Night will be held in St. Johns Nov. 13 and the local club will be host to visiting Lions from throughout central Michigan.

The board of directors also approved a contribution of $75 to "Welcome Home" of Grand Rapids to be used for care and comfort of patients.

In a final item of business, tentative dates were selected for the annual Lions Club Show. This traditional event is slated for Feb. 28 and March 1. Further details of the program will be forthcoming as committees complete preparations.

K of C broadcast to honor Columbus

Four area councils of the Knights of Columbus are sponsoring the broadcast of a Columbus Day address over Radio Station WRB; St. Johns, this Saturday from 12:15 to 12:30 p.m.

The Fowler, Portland, St. Johns and Westphalia K of C councils will sponsor the address by Supreme Knight John W. McDevitt, head of the 1,200,000-member fraternal benefit Society of Catholic Men. McDevitt's Columbus Day address is "Christopher Columbus: The Peaceful Warrior."

Special services team widens scope to 4 schools

The St. Johns Public School's team approach to special services program has been expanded this year to include four elementary schools—Central and Perrin—Palmer schools in St. Johns and the rural East Olive and East Essex schools.

The program is funded entirely by the federal government as a pilot project. Elementary counselors, social worker, psychologist, helping teacher and nurse work as a team in providing those services to students.

Last year the program was operated only at Central School and East Essex. Walter Nickel has assumed the position of director of the program this year and works about half of his time on this project. The first newsletter from the department was issued last week.

Parent discussion groups under the direction of George Janzen, staff social worker, will start shortly. The class is being started because many parents indicated such an interest in the parent evaluation forms sent out last spring.

The informal discussion sessions will deal with parent-child relationships in child development and will begin Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 106 of St. Johns High School. All interested parents are invited.

THE TEAM STAFF has been busy this school year visiting and getting acquainted with the schools, students and teachers they'll serve. Between Sept. 23 and Sept. 30 Stanford Achievement test were administered to all city elementary students, and all neighborhood school students will be given the tests early in October. First graders will not be given the test until later in the year.

Nickel reported that evaluation forms returned to the staff last spring by teachers and parents indicated the services of the staff were well received by both groups. Seventy-four of 80 parents who answered thought the project services were helpful for elementary children, and 21 of 24 parents whose children were actually referred to the project felt their child was helped.

A total of 53 children were seen by staff members last year for extensive counseling, testing, parent conferences, etc. Another 60 children were seen for various reasons.

GOP picks Chamberlain

(Continued from Page 1-A) Mr. Morrill's name. Absentee ballots that have already been sent out will not be counted, according to County Clerk Ernest Carter, because votes for a dead man are not legal votes.

CHAMBERLAIN, a resident of Ovid since 1928, owns and operates the Chamberlain Nurseries, a nursery and landscaping business. He has been in the business about 24 years.

He has served a pair of two-year terms on the Ovid Village Council and for the past four years has been village assessor. He has been a volunteer fireman for the Ovid department for 21 years.

He's past master of Ovid Chapter 127 of F & AM and a member of the Ovid Lions Club. He's also a member of the Michigan and American Associations of Nurserymen.

Chamberlain and his wife, Ruth, have five children—Mrs. Jeanette Wing of Gladwin, Don Chamberlain of Escanaba, Ron Chamberlain of Flint, Ray Chamberlain with the U. S. Marines in Viet Nam, and Annette Chamberlain, 14, at home. The couple also have five grandchildren.

Chamberlain, a native of North Star, lives at 305 W. Front Street, Ovid—the same address he's resided at for 28 years.

Visitor here describes life 9,000 miles 'down under'

By MRS SHIRLEY KARBER
News Staff Writer

DeWITT — She's 9,000 miles from home!

Miss Jenny Burnell of New Zealand spent two weeks through Oct. 4 with the A.E. Lupnitz family of rural DeWitt as an IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange) exchange student.

She came here sponsored by the New Zealand Federation of Country Girls Clubs. Her host family included Mr and Mrs A.E. Lupnitz, sons Harold, 18, and Lewis 17. Another son, Roger, is presently serving in Viet Nam.

Miss Burnell said she had a wonderful time. She came by plane and spent three months in Washington. In Clinton she visited schools in this area; she teaches sixth and seventh grades in New Zealand.

When home she lives with her mother and two unmarried brothers (two other brothers are married, and her father passed away 10 years ago).

Some of the main differences she's noticed between New Zealand and the United States are the beautiful rolling wheat fields, large barns, basements, and the amount of concentrates Americans feed their cattle. Theirs graze on pasture the year around. At her home they have 155 purebred registered Ayrshires. Jersey cattle are the predominate breed. They also raise Corriedale sheep (originally developed in New Zealand).

BECAUSE NEW Zealand was settled by the English, the population is now 90 per cent English, and there are some Maoris (Polynesian descent) who are completely integrated but who retain some of their ancient customs such as wood carving, singing, action songs, etc. They all get together for Hangi (feasts), or Tangi (burial) and for special holidays.

The people enjoy snow skiing in the winter and hold sheep shearing competitions, sheep dog trials, plowing competitions and wood chopping competitions. They water ski, surf, go boating, and swimming in the summer.

Miss Burnell saw her first football game at Michigan State University and enjoyed it. In New Zealand they haven't any bands or cheerleaders at games, and the main sport is rugby, a national winter sport for men that she says is very exciting. They have highland pipe bands, brass bands, and orchestras. Music is taught in the schools, but musicians are used in musical settings rather than at sporting events.

"Our schools are divided into three terms and we have a six-week summer vacation," she said. Students start the first grade at age 5. Education is free.

Teachers salaries are lower, but so are food costs. Butter is 28 cents per pound, and milk is 4 cents a pint. Most homes are built of wood and are a little smaller in size than they are here. A very nice three bedroom home costs about $14,000.

EVEN THOUGH New Zealand is the leading export country in the world of dairy products, they do not have cottage cheese. Neither do they have hamburgers, root beer, corn meal, grape juice, or maple flavorings. She loves maple nut ice cream, chicken, and strawberry shortcake. In New Zealand they eat lots of lamb, mutton, fresh fruits, vegetables, and fish. Pancakes and waffles are served only as desserts, never as a main course.

Large super markets, where you can shop for everything at one time, is a fantastic thing to her. In New Zealand they have small shops, like bakeries, butcher shops, etc., where people shop at several stores instead of just one. Miss Burnell looks in wonder at all of the pet foods and soaps on display in American grocery stores. Appliances and furniture, are a wonder to her, also. The variety is very impressive. In New Zealand they have television, but nothing in color. The cars are smaller, and they have no drive-in theaters.

She says American teenagers date at an earlier age, go steady sooner, and marry younger than they do in New Zealand. American men are more flowery (they give compliments they don't mean).

IFYE's are delegates between 14 and 30 years old who are exchanged for periods of six months to one year. The program is conducted by the National 4-H Foundation and supported by private funds and National 4-H Foundations.

The "Young Farmer's Club" is for young men of the same ages, and they have joint social get-togethers. Their main interests are farming, community work, and youth leadership. Their motto is "Courtesy, Grace, Companionship."

J.D. Robinson, postmaster at St. Johns, and Mrs Erma Robinson, postmistress at Eureka, attended the national convention of the National Association of Postmasters in Washington, D.C. Sept. 28 through Oct. 2.

Mrs. A. E. Lupnitz (left) displays a bright-colored tablecloth she received as a gift from her IFYE visitor, Jenny Burnell.

Pamela Mahar honored at bridal shower

On Saturday evening, Oct. 5, Miss Pamela Mahar was honored at a bridal shower at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs Gordon Mahar. The shower was given by Mrs. Ester Harrington Jr. of Mason, Mrs Theron Messer of Grand Rapids, and Mrs James Bachman Jr. of Cedar Springs.

Miss Mahar was presented with a corsage and recipe box containing a favorite recipe from each of the guests. She also received many other useful gifts.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated with a bridal doll cake centerpiece made by Mrs Messer.

Miss Mahar will become the bride of Brian Slevert of Ashley Oct. 26.

Local delegation to attend meeting at Olivet College

The annual meeting of the Michigan Congregational Conference will be held at Olivet College Oct. 11 and 12. The Conference will convene Friday at 5 and conclude with the luncheon program on Saturday. Principal speakers will be Dr Robert Locke of Wayne State University and Robert Morris of Toledo. Morris is a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches. Five seminars will be based on the conference theme, "The Twentieth Century Christian." The Rev Gerald Churchill of the local Congregational Church will conduct the Saturday morning worship service.

Delegates from the local church will be Mr and Mrs Jack Bertoldi, Mrs Manning Bross and Mrs Harold Millman. Mrs Churchill will also be in attendance. Visitors are welcome at all sessions and it is hoped that many from the local congregation will be in attendance.

Colorful October events spark Michigan calendar

Nature sets the pattern for colorful October events and activities in Michigan amid scheduled color festivals, carnivals and celebrations, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Listed among the fall color activities is the Carnival of Color to be held at Grayling Oct. 11-13. During the festival the community will offer free pontoon boat rides on Lake Margrethe, considered an excellent vantage point from which to view the woods. In addition to boat rides there will be contests, canoe trips, dancing and entertainment. Bellaire will salute autumn with a color festival Oct. 5-7. Many other Michigan communities have posted color tours through the woods in their areas.

Several of the leading race car drivers of the world will be on hand to compete in the 250-mile inaugural race at the new Michigan International Speedway at Cambridge Junction in the Irish Hills Oct. 13.

A snowmobile and winter sports show is scheduled for Oct. 19-25 at the Artillery Armory in Detroit. The show features a wide array of snowmobiles as well as displays of skis, outdoor accessories and clothing, and winter camping gear.

Other Michigan October events include the Archer's Whittall Roundup at Grayling Oct. 5-6; the Red Flannel Festival at Cedar Springs Oct. 12; the Fall Harvest Festival at the Nature Center in Kalamazoo Oct. 12-13; the Midwest Antiques Forum at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn Oct. 12-18 and the Autumn Square Dance Festival at Cadillac Oct. 19-20.

The bow and arrow deer hunting season runs from Oct. 1 through Nov. 14. Pheasant season opens Oct. 21.

Copies of the Fall Calendar of Events, listing community happenings in Michigan during the fall season are available without charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, 48926.

Pretty women, pretty clothes, pretty good crowd at style show

The annual card party style show was presented by the St. Joseph Altar Society in the school gym last Thursday evening. Four hundred members and guests attended a gala affair bubbling with beautiful fall fashions, and decorated with the colors of the fall season.

Clothing was furnished by the Carol Ann Shop, and hair styles were done by local beauty salons. Hats were from Durkee's Hat Shop.

Narrator for the evening was Mrs Inge Grost, who presented the models on a stage set with fall flowers and green potted evergreens. Mrs Barbara Malusek, chairman of the evening's events, was assisted by Mrs Bertine Thelen and Mrs Agnes French.

Mrs Emogene Huer won the grand prize a two-piece luggage set.

Veronica Glowacki picked a brown slacks outfit with a cream sweater and brown trim. Mary Villareal wore evergreen slacks and a royal and evergreen-striped turtle-neck sweater. Georgianna Kelly was dressed in loden green slacks with a celery sweater and orange flowers.

Janet Sipkovsky wore a black, gold and white plaid skirt with a black sleeveless melton cloth jacket and a gold sweater. The purse matches the outfit. Marlene Hopko chose a culotte in brown, with a brown Nehru collared blouse. Bernie Foerch selected a camel, grey and white skirt and a vest with an off-white turtle-neck sweater.

Engaged

Mr and Mrs Martin Mertz of Berkeley announce the engagement of their daughter Kathy, to Lt. Kenneth F. Wohlfert, son of Mr and Mrs C. F. Wohlfert of DeWitt.

They both attended Michigan State University where he graduated in March. Lt. Wohlfert is now with the U.S. Army, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky.

An Oct. 19 wedding is being planned.

Janet Leonard assigned to Chicago

Miss Janet Marie Leonard of St. Johns has been assigned the position of reservations agent for American Airlines. She will be stationed in Chicago, Ill.

Miss Leonard attended Rodney B. Wilson High School. She had completed the Weaver Airline Personnel School's home study extension course and was attending the resident school in Kansas City, Mo., when selected for the position.

The next session is scheduled for Nov. 2 at the Swegles School. Bridge tourney chairman Roger Feeman said the competition is still open to anyone; persons interested in playing should contact him.

Julia Peters, Douglas Ley wed in Sept. 20 ceremony

Julia Elaine Peters and Douglas L. Ley spoke their wedding vows Friday evening, Sept. 20, at 7 p.m. in St. Joseph Catholic Church, St. Johns, in a double-ring service performed by Father Joseph Labiak.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Lyle Peters of R-6, St. Johns, and the groom is the son of Mr and Mrs Joseph Ley of 302 S. Traver Street, St. Johns.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and mums tipped with turquoise. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Lyle Peters.

"O Perfect Love" was sung by Sandra Vasilion.

The bride chose a traditional style gown of all lace with scalloped neckline and long sleeves. There was an attached ruffled train, and each ruffle was scalloped with a sequin centered on each scallop.

A crown, decorated with small teardrops, held her short veil in place. She carried white roses with turquoise rosebuds on a white Bible.

Mrs Marlene Hipolite, cousin of the bride from Ithaca, was matron of honor, while Mrs Doris Peters, sister-in-law of bride, and Mrs Donita Sykora, friend of the bride, were bridesmaids. They were dressed in empire style gowns of turquoise satin, under white lace covered with turquoise nylon. Their headpieces matched the dresses and their bouquets were white mums with turquoise rosebuds.

Miss Lorrie Peters, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white lace dress with a headband of white mums and turquoise rosebuds. She carried a basket filled with the same flowers.

Dennis Ley, brother of the

groom, was chosen for best man and Gary Peters, brother of the bride, with James Gurski, friend of the groom, were groomsmen. Ushers were Randall Young, brother-in-law of the groom, and Jim Ordway, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother was attired in a pink dress with pink accessories and her corsage was of white roses with pink rosebuds. The groom's mother wore a blue dress with blue accessories, and her corsage was of white roses with yellow rosebuds.

Special guests were the grandmothers, Mrs Parish of St. Johns and Mrs Simer of Beal City, also Mr and Mrs Darrell Howe of Kileen, Tex.

A reception was held at Bingham Grange Hall for 200 guests immediately following the ceremony. Those serving at the reception were Mrs Ann Grams, Mrs Flossie Simons, Mrs Myrtle Davis, Mrs William Goodwin, Mrs William Davis, Mrs Gordon Prince, Mrs Maynard Barrett and Mrs Aaron Ordway.

The new Mr and Mrs Ley, after an Upper Peninsula honeymoon trip, will live at 200 1/2 E. Walker Street, St. Johns.

The bride wore a gold and white double knit shift dress with matching coat for her goingaway ensemble.

The new Mrs Ley is a graduate of Rodney B. Wilson High School with the class of 1967. Mr Ley is a graduate of the same school with the class of 1964.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

Autumn, like every season, signals a change in fashions. Now that the leaves are turning and there's a hint of frost in the air, much wardrobe attention warmly turns to thoughts of sweaters. So much in fashion now for the young—and the young in heart. Most sweater collections this year will contain one or more woven of the following: orlon, nylon, wool, wool-and-fur blends, mohair, and cherished cashmere. Each of these takes special cleaning and blocking methods. The yarn fibers of every sweater must be tested to determine the proper solvents that will give deep down cleaning, protect the delicate fibers, brighten colors, and prevent pulling.

When the sweater is thoroughly clean, great pains must be taken to "block" it to exact measurements to insure its original effortless fit. . . and give you that meticulously groomed casual air. Clean sweaters look better. . . wear longer!

Service! Reliability! Value! These are the cornerstones of our business. You can bring us your most treasured cashmere sweaters, your finest garments, all your cleaning with the comfortable assurance that they are in reliable hands.

Homecoming this week at Bath

By MARILYN SIBEL
Bath High School

BATH — The homecoming events have been altered slightly this year at Bath.

The judging of the floats will be Thursday evening, Oct. 10. The individual class floats will have to be finished and at the high school by 6 p.m.

The main theme for the floats is nursery rhymes and satire. The senior class, sponsored by Mrs Elaine Tschetter, chose the theme of "Rub-a-dub-dub, Clean up the Rocks."

The sophomore class with Mr Harland Cook as sponsor chose the theme of "Humpty Dumpty" for their float. The freshman class, sponsored by Mr Mel Comeau, chose "Jack Be Nimble" as their theme.

The homecoming bonfire will be built behind the school on Thursday evening, Oct. 10. It has always been built in front of the school in previous years. After the bonfire, the student council will present the movie "Constantine and the Cross." The admission price will be 50 cents for everyone.

THE CLASSES at Bath have been doing more than just building floats recently. They have elected their homecoming representative, and they are Phyllis Bearsley and Sue Townsend, juniors; Adelina Torres, sophomore; and Angela Hagy, freshman.

The student body voted for queen candidates Friday, Oct. 4. The homecoming queen candidates are: Carol Dunavant, Sally Osenga, Joann Schroeder, and Berta Six. These girls were chosen from the 17 girls who entered the contest. The queen candidates will be interviewed during the week and on Friday night one of the girls will be crowned as the homecoming queen of 1968.

The king, queen and her court will reign at the homecoming dance Saturday evening, Oct. 12. The dance will last from 8 until 12 p.m. The Partystore band will be featured.

The dress appropriate for this occasion is semi-formal.

Mrs Flowers donates vestments

The Oct. 1 meeting of the St. John's Lutheran Ladies Guild found 31 members and guests in attendance. The project of purchasing altar vestments was resolved in that Mrs Wilbur Flowers chose to donate the vestments in the memory of her husband who passed away in April of this year.

Details concerning the coming garage sale were outlined. The sale is to take place at the Skurkis residence at 107 S. Morton on Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 16 and 17.

Following the business meeting cookie boxes were packed for mailing to the servicemen of the parish.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs Alvina Stigar and Mrs Leonora Weseman.

Floats, royalty parade at DeWitt homecoming

By DAVE HORVATH
DeWitt High School
DeWITT (c)—On Friday, Oct. 4, DeWitt High School celebrated its homecoming with the theme, "Fantasy in Blue." The festivities began with a parade led by the high school band, and was followed by the class floats, the cheerleaders, and the coaches.

During half-time, the floats circled the field. Karla Cortland and Ron Brown, princess and prince, rode the freshmen float entitled "A Blue Evening For Bath." The sophomore float, "A 'Stingy' Clean-up of the Blues" carried representatives Robyn Sherrill and Mike Cole. "Shades of Blue" provided the theme for the Junior float with Becky Bouts and Denis Theroux as the representatives. A newcomer in the parade of floats was the band's entry, "Blue Hawaii; Island of Enchantment."

Occupying the seats of honor on "The Road to Royalty," the senior float, were the king candidates, Rick Cole, Roger Kaminski, Andy Paquet, Ron Smith, and Jeff Tews, with last years king, Brad Ward. Finally, the student council float carried the queen candidates. Riding "A Dream Come True" were Mary Lou Bennett, Linda Berkimer, Debbie Devereaux, Diane Smith, and Shireen Spencely as the 1968-69 candidates, and Miss Bonnie Johnson, 1967-68 queen, relinquishing her crown.

Climaxing the festivities was the presentation of the best float award to the band and finally, the naming of this year's royalty, Miss Linda Berkimer and Jeff Tews.

DeWitt High School Homecoming Queen Linda Berkimer sits proudly on the student council float during half-time of the DeWitt-Bath football game Friday night. The queen's court consisted of Debbie Devereaux, Shireen Spencely, Diane Smith, Mary Lou Bennett and Karla Cortland.

Fulton students have own election ballots

By KAREN LOUDENBECK
Fulton High

MIDDLETON—Who says you have to 21 to vote? The senior class of Fulton High, under the direction of the government teacher, Barry Nobles, has undertaken a unique task in this, the presidential election year.

They have decided to hold an election of their own. The senior class has split up into three parties: the Democrats, the Republicans, and the American Independent Party. From these parties has come the presidential nominees as they chose them.

Sound unrealistic? Well, there will be two ballots—one with Fulton's choices and one with the ticket as is now: Humphrey and Nixon. These two ballots will be submitted to the whole student body to vote separately on each ballot.

The first marking period is drawing to a close at Fulton. The end of the marking period is Oct. 11, and the report cards will be issued on Oct. 16. The office practice girls are busy making the report cards ready for marking. This year's student secretaries are: Patricia Guernsey, Marjorie Troup, Jacquelyn Boehs, Selinda Powers, Mary Phil, Ruth Kochensparger, Cindy Hiebert, Sue Pendell, Sheila Stead, Jo Slepr, and Darlene Steler.

EVERYONE AT Fulton is breathlessly awaiting the arrival of the senior picture proofs. The proofs will be arriving around Oct. 11.

Oct. 8 marked the date of the FHA initiation. Many of the freshman girls were informally initiated during the day at school and a formal ceremony that night climaxed the initiation. The FHA held a meeting Oct. 8 to discuss the regional meeting at Fulton Nov. 2. Dr Darrell Thomas, professor at Western Michigan University, will be the guest speaker as the FHA'ers from many area schools congregate for this regional meeting.

The Parent Teachers Assn. held a meeting Oct. 7 to introduce the new teachers. They also heard Fulton students tell of the trips they took for various school projects.

Speaking of events to come that are being breathlessly awaited: Oct. 24-25 marks the dates of the MEA teacher's meeting, and no school will be held.

Says legislative prestige at all-time low

William S. Ballenger of rural Ovid, Republican candidate for state representative from the 87th District, told the St. Johns Teen-Age Republican Club last week that the prestige of Congress and state legislatures seems to have fallen to an all-time low.

Addressing some 20 TARs at the home of Sue Smith, Ballenger said one of the principal reasons he is running for state representative is to try to upgrade the image and reputation of the Michigan Legislature.

"I believe that because of men like our incumbent state representative, Blair Woodman, the Michigan Legislature is one of the most modern, enlightened, and progressive in the entire country," Ballenger said. "Rather than condemning the Legislature because of the actions of just a handful of its members, the people of Michigan should be praising it."

"I'd like the chance to establish a new high in legislative service for the citizens of Clinton and Shiawassee counties," Ballenger told the TARs. "I think people deserve to be shown that legislators who place the welfare of their constituents first are not the exception but the rule." Ballenger then helped the TARs organize a door-to-door campaign blitz and registration drive in St. Johns last Friday.

Woman's Club holds first meeting of year

The St. Johns Woman's Club held its first meeting of the 1968-69 season at Niles Hall in the First Methodist Church. A potluck luncheon was served.

Following the luncheon, Mrs Marion Walling, who is beginning her first term as president of the club, displayed the awards and citations won by the club during the past year. These included the 100 per cent honor award, the safety award, the home life award, and the International Club award.

A "summer kaleidoscope" was a feature of the program in which each member gave a brief resume of her summer activities.

Plans for the West Central District meeting of the federation were given by the County Federation President Mrs Clifford Lumbert. This meeting will be held in Ovid Oct. 24. Reservations for luncheon and dinner may be made with Mrs Harold Millman.

The club is sponsoring an art show for Mrs Dor Anderson beginning Oct. 27 and running through Nov. 1, open each day from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The show will be held in the Central National Bank Community Room.

Girls' State Representatives Gail Shafley and Jan Fowler, who were sponsored for that honor by the St. Johns Woman's Club and by the American Legion Auxiliary, gave their report on their experiences. They prefaced their talk by singing the Girls' State Song and spoke most enthusiastically of the lessons they had learned about the democratic processes of government. The week was filled with fun as well and they made lasting friendships, the girls said. The Girls' State Pledge in unison ended their talk.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 16 at the home of Mrs Robert Dimer. "International Affairs" is the theme of the day, and they will be discussed by European travelers.

St. Johns preparing for last homecoming at Rodney B.

By PATTI ZUKER
St. Johns High School

"Thanks for the Memories" is the theme which has been chosen by the senior class to commemorate the final homecoming at Rodney B. Wilson on Oct. 18. The five girls who have been chosen as finalists for homecoming queen are:

Judy Whitlock, daughter of Mr and Mrs Stan Whitlock; Lexa Swatman, daughter of Mr and Mrs Forrest Swatman Jr.; Shari Liszewski, daughter of Mr and Mrs Al Liszewski; Debbie Westland, daughter of Mr and Mrs Melvin Westland Jr.; and Patti O'Leary, daughter of Mr and Mrs John O'Leary.

Also participating in the festivities will be Mrs Leon Kellogg of Holt (the former Miss Betty Woodbury), the 1967-68 official homecoming queen from Rodney B.

Robert Koger announced last week the cast for the Junior Play, the "Diary of Anne Frank." It is as follows: Mr Frank, David Smith; Miep, Tama Simunek; Mrs VanDaan, Karen Lundy; Mr VanDaan, Doug Nickelson; Mrs Frank, Janie Bargar; Margot Frank, Carol Martin; Ann Frank, Marcia Galvack; Mr Kraler, Doug Dubay; and Mr Dussel, Dick Moldenhauer.

The Future Teachers of America are diligently preparing for their annual homecoming mum sale. Mr Robert LaBrie, advisor, said the club plans to sell 400 mums. For the more distant future, the members plan a cadet teaching program for surrounding grade schools.

Stratford, Ontario was the destination of 87 Rodney B. students and three advisors last Saturday morning. Mr and Mrs Robert Holzhel and Mr Robert Koger accompanied the group to Stratford, where they saw "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by William Shakespeare. Afterwards, they dined at the Victorian Inn.

The Medical Careers Club, headed by school nurse Mrs Gertrude Buehler, has a small problem: lack of qualified personnel to assist in leading it, and lack of interested students.

Mrs Buehler says that the nursing staff will be very busy this year in such a large school district. However, she added that "if there are truly interested students, I can make time for them."

CD director addresses Grange meeting

Clinton County Pomona Grange No. 25 met with the Stockman-Horton Grange at the Grove Church Oct. 5.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mr Charles Frost, Civil Defense Director, who talked on nuclear attacks and other forms of disaster. He also showed a film on conservation.

Goldie Brooks and Alvin J. Thelen were elected delegates to Michigan State Grange at Adrian. Seven resolutions were adopted by the Grange which will be sent to Michigan State Grange.

Alvin Thelen gave a report of the Great Lakes Lecturer's Conference held at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing in September. There were more than 200 in attendance who heard an address by the National Master of the Grange.

There was a reading by Mrs John Walling, "The Farmer," and a skit presented by Don Walling and Lawrence Harle entitled "The Workman." Pomona Grange went on record as favoring proposals No. 3 and No. 4 on the ballot to be voted on Nov. 5.

JOSEPH F. FELDPAUSCH

Joseph F. Feldpausch, 85, of 343 Elm Street, Fowler, died Oct. 3 at Clinton Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services were held at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Fowler, on Monday, Oct. 7, at 10 a.m. with Rev. Albert Schmitt officiating. A rosary was held daily at 3 and 8 p.m. at the Goerge Chapel of the Osgood Funeral Home.

He was buried at Holy Trinity Cemetery.

Mr. Feldpausch was born in Dallas Township Sept. 16, 1883, the son of Mary and Louis Feldpausch. He attended parochial schools.

He lived all his life in Dallas Township and the last 20 years in the Village of Fowler. He married Regina Weber in Fowler Sept. 17, 1907. He was a member of Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church, the Holy Name Society and Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Feldpausch was a trustee of the Dallas Township Board and had been Dallas Township supervisor for 22 years previously. His life work was farming.

He is survived by his wife Regina; five sons, Sylvester, Roman, Leo, James, and Louis, all of Fowler; three daughters, Sister Mary Corinne of Dowagiac, Mrs. Julia Martin of St. Johns, and Mrs. Tillie Sohn of East Lansing; two brothers, Rev. Alfred Feldpausch of Monroe and Raymond Feldpausch of Fowler; one sister, Sister M. Magdalen of Nazareth; 62 grandchildren and 50 great-grandchildren.

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

Where to hold the funeral service is a decision to be made by the family in view of its religion and other affiliations.

If services are to be held in a church, be assured that we are familiar with all rituals and procedures of the various denominations and will cooperate with your clergyman in all details. Our funeral home facilities are available for use prior to the church services.

Respectfully,

Van W. Hoag

Plan revival services at Baptist Temple

A busy week is planned at St. Johns' Baptist Temple. Rev. Earle Fowler, pastor, reports they will have revival services Oct. 14 through the 20, held nightly starting at 7:30.

Two outstanding speakers, Rev. Earlwin Robertson, pastor of the Capitol City Baptist Church in Lansing, and Rev. Jim Burley, pastor of the Bath Baptist Church in Bath, will speak.

Rev. Robertson will speak Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Rev. Robertson can be heard Monday through Friday over station WUNN, 1110 on your radio dial 9:15 to 9:30.

Tuesday, Thursday and Friday night the singing chorales will be heard. The chorales are composed of 16 separate parts. Rev. Burley will speak Thursday through Sunday.

Saturday night the St. Johns Baptist Temple will be host church for the Michigan Youth Fellowship. There will be eight or 10 churches participating.

The public is invited to take part in these services. The church is located at 400 E. State Street.

Wedding

The deadline for wedding information for publication in the Clinton County News is 5 p.m. on the Thursday preceding publication. The News cannot guarantee immediate use of stories submitted after that time. This deadline is necessary to insure fairness to all parties and to all types of news. No wedding stories will be delayed more than one week.

If publication of a wedding story is desired in the first publication after it takes place, information should be submitted prior to the wedding and by the established Thursday deadline. Wedding information blanks are available at the County News office.

ELSIE—Funeral services were held for Mrs. Ruby Cornwell, 91, former Elsie resident, at the Beebe-Dewey Funeral Home in Ithaca Tuesday afternoon Oct. 1. Burial was made in the Ithaca Cemetery. Mrs. Cornwell passed away Sunday morning at an East Lansing nursing home. Previous to moving to Lansing, Mrs. Cornwell lived in Gratiot County and the Elsie area.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Smith of Leslie and Mrs. Doris Goldstein of Nebraska; a son, Clarence L. Cornwell of Lansing; seven grandchildren, 15 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Plans made for convention at Ovid Oct. 24

Clubwomen of the West Central District of the Michigan State Federation of Woman's Clubs are making plans for their annual convention in Ovid for all day and evening session Thursday, Oct. 24.

After a full day's program including progress reports of the individual clubs, special music and entertainment, luncheon at noon and talks by several Federation speakers, a banquet will be held at the Front Street United Church.

The topic, "How You Get the Family Way" was selected by Robert E. Rice, M.D., guest speaker for the banquet.

Dr. Rice of the United Memorial Clinic in Greenville and a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School is a very busy man as well as a very successful physician and surgeon. Much sought after as a speaker in the Greenville area, he is always willing to help with a worthy cause.

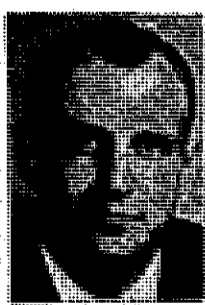

He is a past president of the Greenville Lions Club and a past District Governor of Lions International. Currently, he is president of the Greenville Board of Education, a delegate to the American Medical Association and a very active member of the Michigan Cancer Society. He also has hobbies—woodcraft and carpentry.

Dr. Rice resides in Greenville with his wife Geraldine, who is a member of the federated St. Quairis Club. The couple have three children, Robert, Judy and Roxanne.

The Ovid Crescent Club and its president, Mrs. Clarence Semans will host the convention with the assistance of the Clinton County Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Mrs. Dorothy Kaspar of Detroit, Mrs. Margaret Edwards of St. Johns and Mrs. Neva Keys of Elsie spent from Wednesday to Sunday at Eight Point Lake, northwest of Clare.

Rural Illinois collision kills local man, in-law

A St. Johns man and a rural Ashley woman were killed Friday in a two-car collision near Long Point in central Illinois.

The victims were Bernard E. Ruestman, 63, of St. Johns; and Mrs. Lydia Kleen, 80, of Ashley. Mrs. Dena H. Drigenberg, 74, of St. Johns was also killed in the collision.

The three persons were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Kleen's son, Alfred, 56, of Ashley. He and Mrs. Ruestman, 66, were seriously injured and were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Streator, Ill.

The other car involved in the rural intersection crash was driven by Anita Metzkey, 34, of Long Point. She was also seriously injured.

The three women in the accident were sisters. The five had gone to Illinois to attend a funeral. Mr. Ruestman, 63, of R-1, St. Johns (Greenbush Township) died at 6:30 p.m. Friday in Streator.

Funeral services were to be held at Osgood Funeral Home Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 1:30 p.m. with Rev. Robert Koeppen of the St. Johns Lutheran Church officiating. He was buried at Mt. Rest Cemetery.

Mr. Ruestman was born in Illinois March 3, 1905, the son of George and Ida Strack Ruestman. He came to Michigan in 1934 and lived the last six months on R-1, St. Johns.

He married Tillie Rewerts in Illinois Feb. 23, 1934. He was a machine operator at Sealed Power Corp. and a retired farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Tillie of St. Johns; one son, Delmar of St. Johns; two grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Burris of Dana, Ill., and Mrs. Madeline Plovman of Streator, Ill. One brother, Fred Ruestman, preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mrs. Kleen, 77, of R-1, Ashley, were held at St. Johns Lutheran Church

Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 3 p.m., with Rev. Robert Koeppen officiating. Burial was at North Star Cemetery. Arrangements were by the Osgood Funeral Home.

Mrs. Kleen was born in Flanagan, Ill., Jan. 10, 1891, the daughter of Poppo and Anna Johnson Rewerts. She resided in Flanagan until 1934 and then spent the rest of her life in Gratiot County. She was married to Herman Kleen in Illinois; he passed away in 1955.

Mrs. Kleen was a member of the St. Johns Lutheran Church and the Ola Aid Society.

She is survived by three sons, Alfred of Ashley, Earnest of Grand Ledge, and Lester of Mason; one daughter, Edna Smejkal passed away in 1950; one sister, Mrs. Tillie Ruestman of St. Johns; three brothers, Frank Rewerts of Cullom, Ill., George Rewerts of Plainfield, Ill., and Fred Rewerts of St. Johns; and six grandchildren.

GYROCOPTERS FLOWN NEAR DEWITT

A gyrocopter flying demonstration was put on recently at the home of Mr and Mrs Harold Hoerner of R-2, DeWitt by Thomas Barrett of Shepard, Dr Joe Foust of Ionia and Lester Julian of Hastings. Also attending were B. Guggemos of Lansing, Milt Connors of Lansing and H. Smith of Ludington, all gyro owners. Many single and group flights were made throughout the afternoon. Many friends and relatives who gathered to watch went home with lame necks. The machines are home-built.

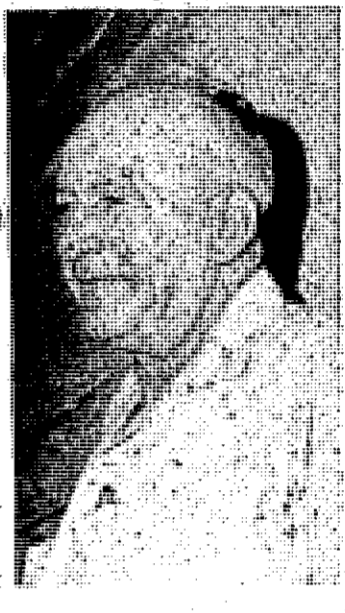

'Not much to it,' bank hold-up witness reports

How does it feel to witness a bank robbery? "There wasn't much to it. I saw these young guys run out of the bank, but that's not so unusual today. I didn't realize what they were up to until I saw the guy throw the gun in the car, and one of them yelled, 'Did you get it?' and they took off fast. I went in the bank and everyone was lying on the floor." Clare O. Boughton Sr. heard the gun shots fired and had thought it was either backfire from a car or his pick-up truck. Boughton owns and operates an elevator in DeWitt and goes to the Woodruff State Bank often.

He says, "I'm sure glad it doesn't happen every day." He furnished a description of the bandits and the get-away car to the police.

Three suspects in the hold-up have been apprehended and are charged with stealing $9,500. They are presently being held in Nashville Tenn., awaiting possible extradition to Michigan. Boughton and another witness flew by jet to Nashville last week to make identification.

Club for 4-H starts Oct. 12

The first meeting of the new 4-H TV Science Club will come to order in front of the home television set Saturday, Oct. 12, at 10:30 a.m., over WMSB-TV, Channel 10, East Lansing.

According to John R. Aylsworth, Extension 4-H youth agent, this is the first meeting of the group.

Jim Culver is club leader. With help of the studio, 4-H Club members Maureen Keeney, Karn Wierman, Graham Gal, Rex Gates, and David Gillespie, he will explain more about the club and give a preview of the club project.

Jim will also explain laboratory experiments which each 4-H'er can do in his own home. 4-H'ers will learn how to preserve animals in alcohol, to make a sun dial, to make an iodine test for starch, or make a model air car plus many other exciting experiments.

Each show features a special guest who is an expert in the projects under discussion at each club meeting.

The Clinton County Road Commission, as does other road commissions throughout the state, requires that a permit be applied for and granted before anyone is allowed to move loads of excessive weight or dimensions over them.

Many of the reasons for this procedure are obvious, but some are not, and frequently this rule is violated. The violations are probably not deliberate but are more likely the result of ignorance of the requirement on the part of those failing to get permits or because of a lack of understanding as to the necessity for them.

These permits are not punitive in nature nor is the commission interpolating another bit of red tape between itself and the general public by requesting them. There are several good and valid reasons for their need, and the reasons are not all considered nor favoring only the commission.

First of all, let me clear up one matter. It is not necessary for a landowner to get a permit to clean up brush, debris or weeds along his own frontage—we encourage this and would like to see the practice become more widespread. However, we urge you not to do such work along someone else's frontage without a permit or without permission of adjoining owners, for this can and does cause ill-will.

WE REALIZE that sometimes landowners find it convenient to use the right-of-way for temporary parking of equipment. We do not grant permits for this purpose but, for safety's sake, keep the equipment back at least 20 feet from the roadway. This could save the equipment from damage and perhaps someone's life. Better still, don't park equipment in the right-of-way at all and you are on far better legal grounds in case of an accident. Remember, too, that what you may have always considered to be your property frontage just might be county road right-of-way—including the driveway that gives access to your land. Along this line, too, it should be self-evident that the roadside is not a place for stone piles, junk and so forth. A good rule to follow is that for the best appearance and for the safety of yourself and others, keep your road right-of-way clear of all encumbrances.

Ditching is frequently done along road sides by property owners, and the commission is not averse to roadside ditches being restored to exactly their former condition. If new ditching is needed we prefer to do it ourselves for ditches, to be both safe to the driving public and to be long lasting, should not be any deeper than is necessary; their banks should have gentle slopes; the spoil should be evenly spread and they should be located properly so as to best serve the needs of the road and of the property owners. In any event, if work is needed on road-side ditching, come in and talk it over. Don't needlessly expose others to the dangers inherent in poor ditching and yourselves to the risk involved.

There is much more to be said on this matter of permits and I will write about it again. Time and space limit further comments now, but you are strongly urged to come in to discuss it with us and get a permit before doing anything within the road right-of-way.

5 GENERATIONS

The recent 83rd birthday of Mrs Anna Kellogg was the occasion for a fifth generation picture. Shown above are baby Dawn Marie Sattler on her great-great-grandmother's lap, and next to them is Mrs Della Sattler of Ithaca. Standing behind her is the grandmother, Mrs Joan Augst. The great grandmother is Mrs Irene Nemetz, standing to the right in the picture. Mrs Anna Kellogg is formerly of Eureka and now of Portland.

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors met on the above date at 10:00 a.m. Prayer was offered by Supervisor Gove. A pledge of Allegiance was given to the flag. Roll was called and a quorum reported. Minutes of the last session were read and approved.

The Chairman introduced Thomas Hundley, and assigned him to the Records & Equipment and Civil Defense Committees. A Resolution from Isoco County on gun control was read. Moved by Moore, supported by Supervisor W. Thelen to concur with the Resolution. Voted and carried.

CLINTON COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS RESOLUTION August 5, 1968

WHEREAS: Firearms control bills introduced into the National Congress have provisions requiring registration and licensing of all firearms in the United States with no exceptions: Specifically, Senate Bill 3604 (Dodd) and Senate Bill 364 ('Tydings');

AND WHEREAS: The above bills require a license of ownership or transfer of any firearm or ammunition, and that application for owner's license must include a photo and fingerprints of the applicant;

AND WHEREAS: Terms of Senate Bill 3604 (Dodd) would require the registration of all firearms in the nation under a system to be established by the Secretary of the Treasury and that said registration would commence 90 days after enactment during a six-month registration period.

AND WHEREAS: The Clinton County Board of Supervisors believes that any national or state legislation aimed at crime should be against the criminal; and further, that there is no proof that gun registration would prevent a crime of any kind, and registration would require expenditures of large sums of money for enforcement at the federal, state and local level;

AND WHEREAS: A 1966 report from J. Edgar Hoover stated that over two-thirds of the gunmen killing police had received leniency in sentencing, and that one-third were on parole at the time;

AND WHEREAS: Such registration would be the first step toward confiscation of all firearms, depriving sportsmen the right of wholesome activity and the citizen of his historic constitutional right for protecting his family and home under the Second Amendment to the Bill of Rights;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Clinton County (Michigan) Board of Supervisors hereby goes on record as opposing federal firearms registration or any such bill which may be introduced into the Michigan Legislature.

ADOPTED THE FIFTH DAY OF AUGUST, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-EIGHT. Copies of the above resolution to be sent to U. S. Senator Robert P. Griffin, U. S. Senator Phillip Hart, Congressman Garry Brown, Charles E. Chamberlain, Governor George Romney, State Senator Emil Lockwood, State Representatives Blair C. Woodman and Lester J. Allen. Resolution introduced by Supervisor George Moore, supported by Supervisor Walter Thelen and carried unanimously.

Earl Haas, County Extension Agent, appeared and explained his department's version of the 4-H horse barn controversy.

On request of Supervisor Shinabery, Assistant Prosecutor William Battiste, Jr. read an opinion written by County Prosecutor Roland Duguay on the matter. The designation of authority appears to be the subject of the controversy. After lengthy discussion it was moved by Shinabery, supported by Shepard to instruct the clerk to record in the Supervisors proceedings the Prosecuting Attorney's written opinion. Voted and carried.

CLINTON COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS ERNEST E. CARTER Clerk

CLINTON COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS Attention: Mr Walter Nobis, Chairman

The question concerning the horse barn construction on County Property near Smith Hall was brought to the attention of this office. As the matters were presented for review, there appears to be two serious questions which revolve strictly around the question of authority.

Historically, no matter what may be of record in the Board of Supervisors minutes twelve (12) years ago or since, there is no other person or group, other than the Board of Supervisors, authorized to do two things that occurred here on County owned property. These are as follows:

- 1. To locate a building site. 2. To construct a building on County property.

This would be prohibited by law to be done by any other person or group other than the Board of Supervisors. It is my understanding that the Board was not consulted upon this site location or of its building plans in any specific manner, other than knowledge in generality of its being planned in the future for the area near Smith Hall such generalities is not proper authorization, nor would it have been proper even if discussed individually with certain members of the Board. This authority cannot be delegated and no matter what attempt of rationalization of authority is made, such can only be done, and authorized by the Board of Supervisors acting in an official and at a duly authorized meeting. Even so called delegated authority to act on matters pertaining to Smith Hall would in no way allow a group outside of the Board of Supervisors to do anything by way of construction, or construction site location. Such delegation of authority, if in fact made, could allow nothing more than mere use of, and custodianship of County property or buildings for purposes of upkeep, maintenance, grounds clean up and/or grounds maintenance, and could extend to the scheduling of legally permissive activities, thereon. Even such permissive activities has its legal limitations. By such authority there is no way that such could be stretched to allow the removal or relocation of even one board in the building. This is too elementary to even require citations. It would be my suggestion now that the damage is done, that the Board of Supervisors take no official action that would sanction such an illegally constructed or located building. Such inaction could legally become a mute question in the future through acquiescence or laches, however, this would not be by direct act of the Board of Supervisors. The only other recourse now would be for ordering removal of the building. Despite, this being legally proper, this would be harsh, and would be an undue hardship

Conservation Digest

Bond issues for clean water and quality recreation (Proposals 3 and 4 on the November ballot) were subjects of a recent message to Conservation Department employees from Director MacMullan. He made these points: 1) Michigan Needs clean water and quality recreation. We have pollution problems, and we don't have enough recreation facilities. 2) The $435 million in state bond funds will, when matched with federal and local dollars, finance a program of nearly $1.4 billion. 3) All of the $335 million for clean water and one-third of the $100 million for quality recreation will go to local governments for local projects to meet grass-roots needs. 4) By bonding now, we can buy more for less than we could with a pay-as-you-go program. Construction and land costs are rising so fast that it will actually be cheaper to pay interest on bonds. 5) Probably most important from a practical standpoint in these times: this program can be financed without a state tax increase.

and in Lower Peninsula counties of Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Crawford, Westford, Clare, Midland, "Pat" shooting may be fair in Lower Peninsula's south half in state game and recreation areas. WOODCOCK—Real good Lots of natives, with flight birds expected in September's last and October's first week. QUAIL—Department field men aren't seeing many. DUCKS—Good crop of natives, but flight ducks are something else. GESE—Nothing dramatic expected, one way or the other. COTTON-TAILS—Very good, excellent. SNOWSHOES—Good. SQUIRRELS—Good for blacks and grays in northern and fox squirrels in southern Lower Peninsula.

Fulton High rallies for 25-25 tie

Local reader wins contest with 17 correct

David Hyler of 506 Church Street, St. Johns, emerged the winner in the fourth weekly Clinton County News football contest by correctly picking 17 of 20 winners in last week's contest.

But again this week, it was the tie-breaker score that did it. Three other contestants also had 17 selections right. They were Gary Irner of 2343 W. Jason Road, DeWitt; Charles Silm of R-4, St. Johns; and Barry L. Brown of 1447 E. Saginaw, Lansing.

The correct tie-breaker was 39. Hyler had 42—only three off—while Irner was 4 off with 35, Silm was 9 off with 48, and Brown was 9 off with 30.

There was no Wake Forest-Nebraska game as was listed on the contest page, so that was not counted in the totals.

MIDDLETON (c)—Friday night Fulton's big rival, Carson City, traveled to Fulton for the annual meeting of these two teams, and the game ended in a 25-25 stand-off.

Both teams started out fast by scoring touchdowns. Carson City was successful on their extra point, while Fulton was not. This ended the scoring in the first quarter with the Carson City Eagles ahead 7-6.

In the second quarter, the Eagles scored six points. This ended the scoring for the first half with Carson City ahead 13-6.

In the second half, the Pirates were hitting much harder. Both teams scored a touchdown in this quarter with neither being able to execute the extra point.

In the final quarter the Eagles scored first and moved to a 25-12 score with only three minutes left in the game. The Pirates blocked an Eagle punt on the 20-yard line and took the ball in for a score. The extra point was good and made the score 25-19. The Pirates, needing the ball badly, did what they had to and executed an onside kick. Getting the ball back seemed to put the momentum in Fulton's favor. The quarterback, Keith Leslie, hit Gary Betz on the Eagle 5-yard line. The Pirates quickly moved in for the score to tie the game. The extra point failed and the game ended 25-25.

Bashore, Martis win F-M golf tourney cup

John Bashore and Ed Martis won the first annual Federal-Mogul Golf Leagues Tournament of Champions this week with a score of 16 points over the second place team with 13 1/2 points.

Bashore and Martis won the league title in one of the F-M day shift golf leagues and competed in a round-robin series with the winners of two other leagues.

Emery Havens and Jim Lance came in second, while Harold Boog and Niles Attenberg were third.

Bashore and Martis were awarded a travelling trophy by plant Manager Edward Idzkowski; it will be placed on display in the plant's trophy case.

Harriers drop to Charlotte

The Rodney B. Wilson High School cross country team held its fifth meet of the season against Charlotte at Charlotte last Thursday and lost 15-49 to the highly rated Orioles.

Coach Linden Lade said he was proud of St. Johns' efforts in spite of the loss. St. Johns' two top runners, Kurt Simpson and Robert Jones, ran 11:26 and 11:30 respectively. Charlotte's two top times were 10:08 and 10:21.

Coach Lade said both teams ran slower than usual, probably because of a cold and windy weather.

Sagging Fowler drops 3rd, 13-0

FWLER—The sagging Fowler Eagles dropped their third straight game, 13-0, Friday night, but they held Portland St. Patrick's at bay until dropping behind in the third quarter.

The Shamrocks' senior full-back Fred Denny returned a Fowler punt 62 yards for a St. Pat's touchdown, and then in the fourth quarter Denny ran 38 yards for the second TD.

Fowler is now 0-3 in league play and 1-3 overall. St. Patrick's is 2-1 in the conference.

Plans and perseverance are for insurance policies for the future.

Panthers win 6-2 over Bath

BY JIM SOULE
DeWitt High School

DeWitt—DeWitt High School had a happy homecoming this year for a change when the football Panthers defeated the Bath Bees 6-2.

The win put the Panthers at a 3-1 mark for the season and 2-1 in conference play. Bath is 0-4 and 0-3 respectively.

After three full quarters of scoreless ball, Bath broke the ice when they blocked a DeWitt punt and it rolled out of the end zone for a safety in the fourth period.

But a few minutes later, DeWitt came back to take the lead and the win on Ed Fosnight's 53-yard run for a touchdown.

This Friday DeWitt goes against Laingsburg at Laingsburg.

Vikings steam over Laingsburg

POTTERVILLE—Laingsburg was crushed 32-12 Friday night by the steamrolling Potterville Vikings, the state's No. 1-ranked Class D football team. It was Laingsburg's second straight defeat and left them with a 2-2 over-all record and a 1-2 league mark.

Greg Rickle and Dick Diana were the thorns in the Wolf-pack's side Friday night. Rickle scored touchdowns on runs of three and two yards, while Diana had scoring runs of three and one yard. Also scoring for Potterville were Wayne Bary on a three-yard run and Diana and Ken McMurray on extra points.

Laingsburg didn't get on the scoreboard until late in the fourth quarter, and then they got quick touchdowns from Terry Hull on a two-yard run and Gary Kooner on a four-yard sprint.

Breaks and brakes help St. Johns vault to top spot

St. Johns holds forth on top of the West Central Conference standings this week after edging Hastings Friday night 13-12 in a game of breaks and brakes.

Of the four touchdowns scored by both teams, three came as a direct result of breaks — fumbles and pass interceptions. Hastings scored once on each, and St. Johns scored as a result of a Hastings fumble. Hastings was penalized five yards before they could try for the tying extra point, after their second touchdown—a bread for St. Johns — and the kick was blocked.

The brakes were applied by the Redwings twice—once midway through the fourth quarter after Hastings had driven as far as the St. Johns five yard line, trying for the potential lead touchdown. They stopped them at the seven in the first quarter.

While St. Johns had an edge in statistics as well as the final score, the game was exceptionally close all the way. Breaks told most of the story, and the only real "earned" touchdown came from St. Johns early in the third period. Overall, it was a defensive game just as everybody had figured it would be.

Johns 7 yard line before losing the ball on downs. The rest of the half was played near mid-field, although breaks still played a part in the action. St. Johns partially blocked a Hastings punt but couldn't make much yardage out of it and punted the ball back. Later Hastings intercepted a St. Johns pass, but a big penalty set them back and they had to kick.

The third quarter turned out to be directly opposite to the first half. St. Johns took the kickoff and marched 58 yards for their second touchdown. Jeff Slim made a nice kickoff return to the St. Johns 42. Fullback Mike Green carried on nine of 11 plays to

	SJ	H
Total yardage	188	142
Rushing	163	103
Passing	25	39
Interceptions	3/6	3/10
First Downs	1	2
Punts	8	6
Fumbles lost	1	1
Penalties yardage	78	65

St. Johns	6	0	7	0-13
Hastings	0	0	12	0-12

THE BREAKS started early. St. Johns kicked off to Hastings to start the game, but the Saxons' Wes VanDenburg was hit hard and fumbled at the 30 yard line, and St. Johns' Terry Maler scooped up the ball ran across the flow of humanity and went all the way for a touchdown. It took only 16 seconds for St. Johns to get on the scoreboard. Jeff Slim's kick for the extra point hit the goal post and was no good.

The rest of the half was a defensive battle, although Hastings did threaten an immediate retaliation, by driving to the St. Johns 15 yard line, and finally punted 15 yards through the center for the touchdown with 5:24 left in the quarter.

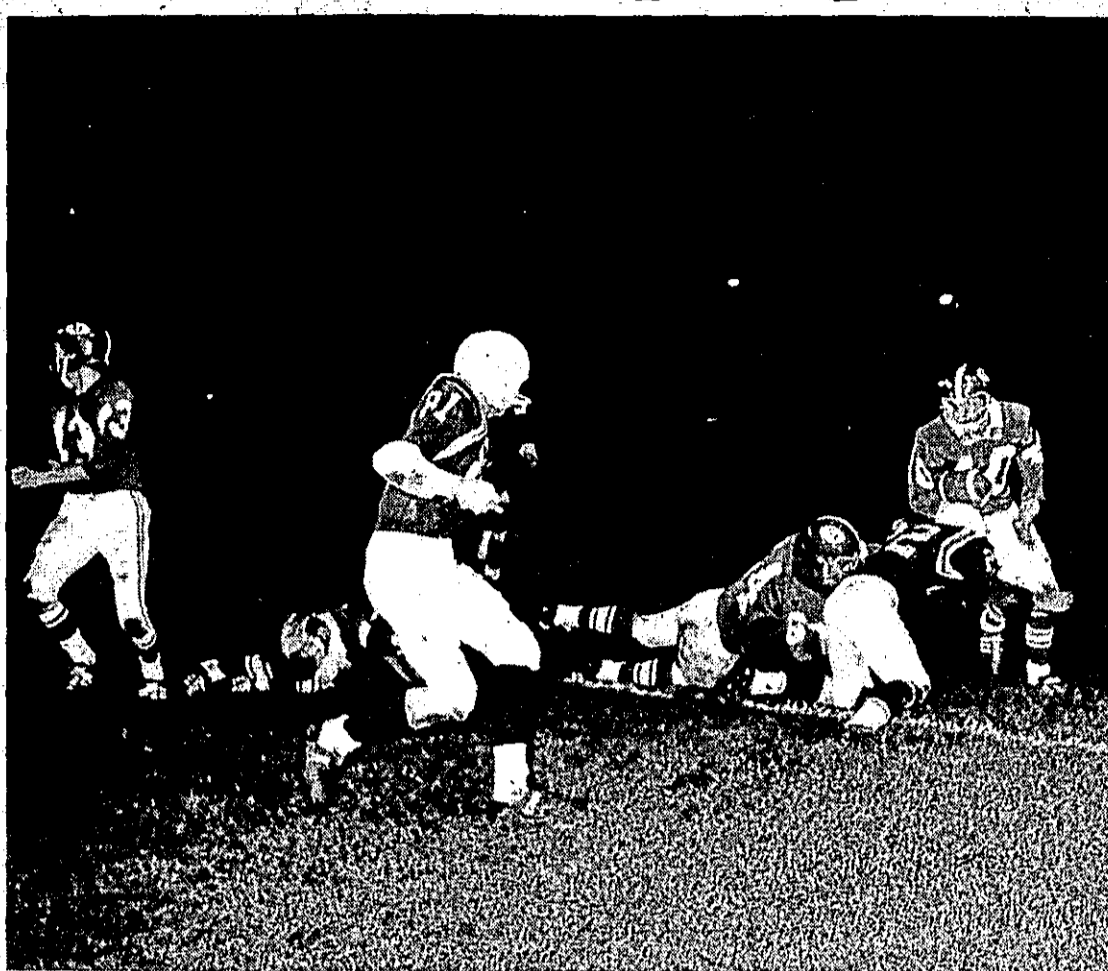

The Redwings forced Hastings to punt again on the next series, but then they fumbled the ball back to Hastings on the St. Johns 12. Three plays later fullback Tom Hoke skirted the left end of the St. Johns defense and scored with 1:34 left in the period. His placekick attempt was low and was blocked by the St. Johns line.

One minute and 16 seconds later Hastings scored again. Garry Hall picked off a quick pass from quarterback Tim Durner aimed at Jon Berkhausen, and Hall legged it 47 yards for a touchdown. Hastings decided to run for the extra point, but before they could get the play off they were penalized five yards for taking too much time. Hoke then attempted a placekick, but St. Johns blocked it.

THAT ENDED THE scoring, but not the excitement. Three plays into the fourth quarter, St. Johns punted to Hastings, and the Saxons began a drive toward the St. Johns goal line. Quarterback Steve Pocernik managed to float passes to end Rich Butler and Van Denburg whenever the going got rough, and that sustained the drive. It got as far as the St. Johns five yard line. The Redwings rose to the occasion there, pushed the Saxons back to the seven and then put the rush on Pocernik on two plays where his passes fell incomplete. The Redwings took over.

St. Johns was able to get out only to the 15 yard line, but Mike Green's booming 46-yard punt put Hastings back in their own territory and they were never able to get out. On the second play from scrimmage, Jon Berkhausen intercepted a Pocernik pass and that ended any further threat. St. Johns ran the ball into the ground for the last two minutes.

FRESHMEN FOOTBALL TEAM LOSES SECOND The St. Johns freshman football team hosted the Pewamo-Westphalia JV's Oct. 2 and took their second defeat of the season when P-W scored a touchdown and extra point in the third quarter.

Fullback Mike Green (40) of St. Johns found the going rough on this attempted sweep around left end, but guard Norm Moinet (64) throws a block on Hastings' Dave Hathaway (22) that sprung him for a few yards gain. No. 21 for Hastings is halfback Steve Powell, and No. 13 for St. Johns is quarterback Tim Durner. St. Johns won the game 13-12.

P-W Pirates still unbeaten

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—The Cinderella Pewamo-Westphalia Pirates continued their serious challenge of the Central Michigan Athletic Conference last week by dumping Webberville 13-8 Friday night.

The Pirates, 3-0 in the league and tied with Pottersville, have a 4-0 overall record. They meet Pottersville in a league showdown game a week from Friday at Pottersville.

Bill Freund ran Webberville into the ground last Friday in pacing the Pirates to their 13-8 victory.

Boyce, only a sophomore, now has 15 points on the year, second only to Bill Feraco's 30 points.

Boyce converted extra points after three of the Spartans' five touchdowns. He added a 38-yard field goal into the wind in the second quarter and capped the scoring with a 41-yarder in the fourth quarter.

8 victory. He carried for over 100 yards and scored a touchdown and extra point.

Freund's touchdown was the Pirates' first and came on a two-yard run. Dan Weber added the winning touchdown on an eight-yard pass from Mike Miller.

Webberville was held in check most of the way by outstanding defensive play by Pewamo-Westphalia, led by a trio of Rex Kramer, Gary Pohl and Roger Schafer. The Spartans did manage one touchdown on Don Dunsted's two-yard run, and they got two more points by scoring a safety against P-W.

St. Johns JVs win 4th, 27-21

The St. Johns Junior Varsity football team rang up its fourth straight triumph of the year last Thursday night when they defeated Hastings 27-21 at Hastings.

Making touchdowns for St. Johns were Rick "Rocky" Bolder, Dave Flermoen, John Smit and Randy Atkinson. St. Johns' three points-after-touchdowns were on runs.

Ovid-Elsie drops 12-6 game at Midland

BY FRAN FOWLER Ovid-Elsie High

OVID-ELSIE — It was a happy homecoming for the Midland-Bullock Creek Lancers Friday night when they defeated the visiting Ovid-Elsie Marauders 12-6.

The Lancers got their touchdowns on passes — in the first quarter to R. Stern and in the second period to K. Stewart. Ovid-Elsie's lone touchdown came when Daryl Melvin ran 70 yards after taking a pass from Dave Long.

Ovid-Elsie had 11 first downs, while Bullock Creek got eight. The Marauders chalked up 199 yards rushing and 138 yards passing. The Lancers gained 93 yards rushing and 171 yards passing. O-E completed six of 12 pass attempts while Bullock Creek made seven of 22.

O-E's Ron Lover gained 87 yards in 15 carries, while Melvin had 63 yards for seven carries. Jerry Winans led the Marauder defense with 14 tackles, and Dennis Bolton had 13.

Ovid-Elsie JVs lose, too, 19-7

OVID-ELSIE — Bullock Creek pulled out a 19-7 victory over the Ovid-Elsie junior varsity last week by scoring two touchdowns in the last quarter.

O-E had problems in holding onto the ball, as they fumbled five times. The Marauders scored on the second play of the game as fullback Walt Schock went off-tackle for 45 yards and Ovid-Elsie's only score. Tony Fabus kicked the extra point.

Len Bolton led the defense with nine tackles. This week O-E hosts Corunna.

To think alike is not the democratic way, but it would help if everyone would think.

The Viet Nam honor roll

They serve our nation

Names and mailing addresses of Clinton County men serving in the Armed Forces in Viet Nam will be published in this column on a periodic basis. Parents and friends of soldiers serving there are invited to send us their names and addresses so that they may be published. The listings will be repeated periodically, so this newspaper should be alerted to any changes of address. We do reserve this listing for only those members of our armed services actually serving in Viet Nam.

Congregational attendance up

The First Congregational Church bulletin of last week points out a 10 per cent increase in membership during 1968. Reception of new members took place Sunday again during communion service.

Gordon Iacovoni, Clinton County probation officer and chairman of the Christian Education Committee of the church, will be speaker Sunday, Oct. 20. The annual meeting of the Michigan Congregational Conference will be held at Olivet College Oct. 11 and 12. Visitors are welcome at all sessions.

Mrs Albert Herbert will be sending boxes of good used clothing to the Thrift Shop at Piedmont College early this month. Contributions of clothing are being accepted.

State's top offices not at stake

It was traditional in Michigan. Every presidential year you also voted for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, and attorney general.

But no more. For the first time since Michigan went to even-year voting 116 years ago, the state's top offices will not be at stake the same time as the presidency.

Michigan switched from two- to four-year terms in 1966, and the current officeholders aren't up for election again until 1970.

It means that the four chief offices always will be up in what is considered the "off-year," the non-presidential year.

In Michigan's early years, state elections were held in odd years. The first election for governor was 1835, two years before Michigan was formally admitted to the union.

Stevens T. Mason, a Democrat, defeated John Biddle, a Whig, in 1835, and Mason beat Charles C. Trowbridge in 1837. Michigan continued electing governors in odd - numbered years until 1852.

Halo of pride floats over Eureka School

By MRS SHIRLEY KARBBER
News Staff Writer

EUREKA — The Eureka Elementary School, located on the corner of Hyde and Welling Roads, is now structurally complete.

The approximate size is 192 feet by 120 feet. It has seven classrooms, library, kitchen, office space, project areas, and a multi-purpose gymnasium.

The entire school is now in use, but there are some equipment needs still to be met.

Principal Mrs Vera Bryant taught at the Eureka Elementary School for 10 years, then went to St. Johns and taught at Swegles Street School for seven years and is now happy returning to a newly completed school.

They have a present enrollment of 201 students, kindergarten through eighth, and the classes range from 24 to 35 students.

ALL STUDENTS eat lunch at the school with the exception of three or four. The hot lunch program had to be postponed until funds can be made available to equip the kitchen.

Mrs Bryant enjoys the quiet atmosphere, beautiful countryside, the kindergarten class (this is a new experience for her), working with her staff of seven teachers, modern lighting in all of the rooms, the office centrally located, exits that are available from all classrooms, and the teachers lounge area that encourages better staff relations.

Credit and appreciation also goes to the excellent service the school gets from four aides.

There are two part-time workers for the teacher's and supervise all noon hour activities. They are Mrs Clifford Snyder, Mrs Henry Howard, Mrs Maurice Blank, and Mrs Gordon Waggoner.

The school library has about 1,000 volumes, and they hope to enlarge it as time goes on. Mrs Gordon Waggoner volunteers to come in one morning per week and the children in grades three through eight can go to the library to check out books.

The library is used by the teachers for group instructions, and Mrs Bryant is using it for an office till she gets some office furniture.

The gymnasium is the heart of activities for the school children and adults in the community. Regular gym classes are con-

Cattle sales prices explored

Modern cattle feeders want to buy cattle in larger groups that are uniform in grade and weight—and, they're willing to pay for this," concludes a team of Michigan State University investigators.

Animal husbandry researchers Terry Greathouse and Bill Magee and agricultural economist David Cole checked eight cooperative feeder sales in 1966 and seven sales in 1967. In total, over 20,000 feeder cattle were studied to find out what factors are important to pricing.

Each full grade from good to choice and choice to prime was worth $1.50 per hundredweight. Standards brought $6.77 a hundred less than choice grade feeders.

In the lot size comparison, there were no major differences except for lots of around 50 to 60 head. These larger lots received $2 more a hundred in 1966 and $2.77 more in 1967 than lots of 16 to 25 head.

For feeders in the 250 to 800 pound range, prices dropped as weight increased—about 85 cents per hundredweight.

Stegers, brought higher prices than heifers in the two years, but this was a reflection of fed cattle prices rather than a preference in feeder cattle, said the MSU scientists.

Increased interest in sheep indicated

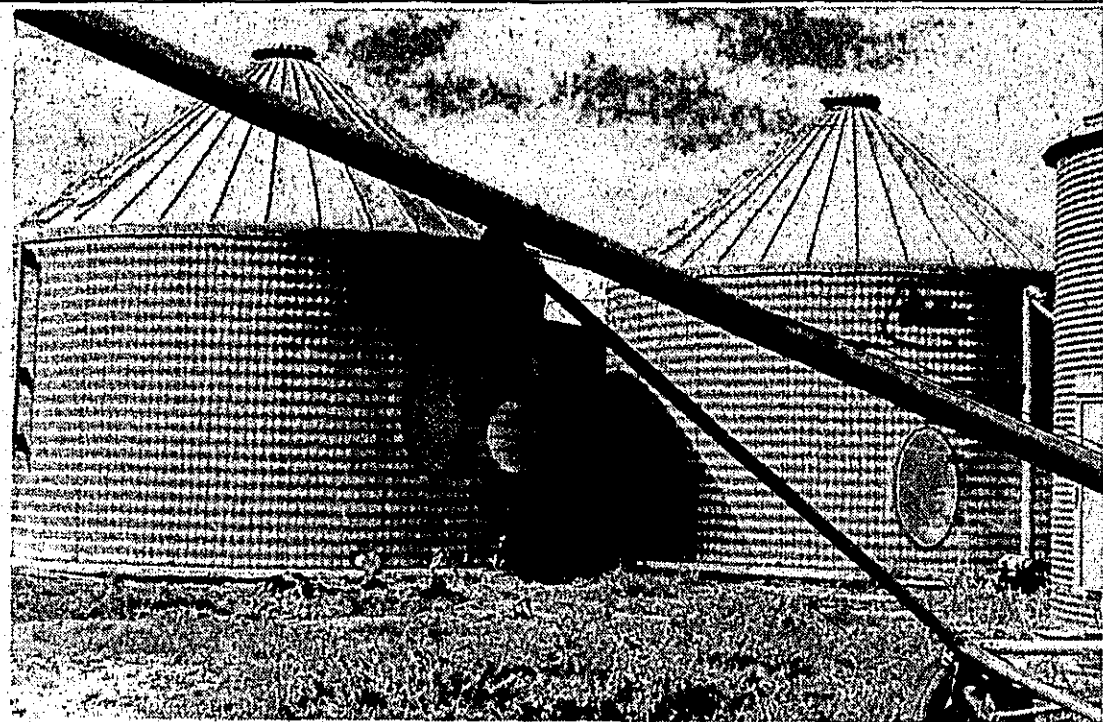

Demand for purebred rams for Michigan sheep breeding flocks was the highest this fall than at any time in the past eight years. Graydon Blank, Michigan State University Extension animal husbandry specialist, said a total of 72 rams were sold in October by the Michigan Sheep Breeders' Assn., in cooperation with MSU's animal husbandry department.

Twenty-nine rams were bought at the East Lansing sale. The rest were loaded into trucks and taken to five stops in northern Michigan where the animals were exhibited and sold.

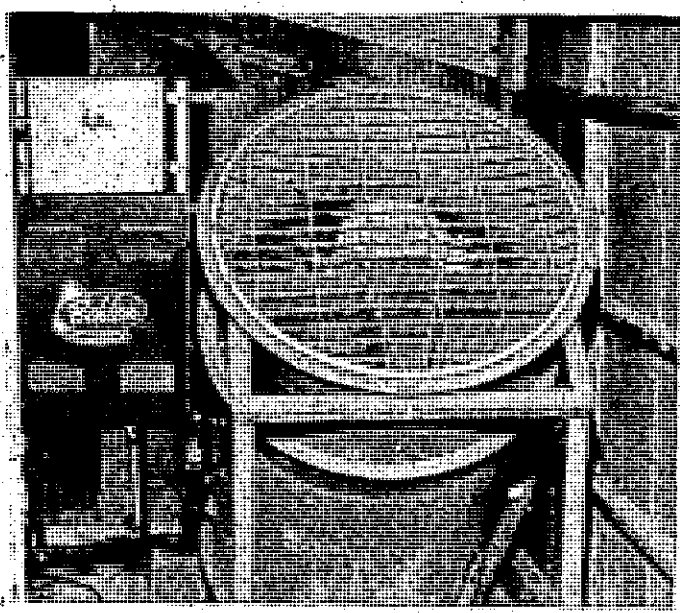

The average sale price for the 72 breeding sires was just over $70 a head.

Farm estate bulletin available

How taxes, legal fees and court costs may be minimized in farm estate settlements is fully reported in a new publication available from the Clinton County Extension office.

Albert Schaefer and son Jim at 5103 E. M-21 have put together this "batch-in-bin" dryer system. As each day's harvest begins, heated air is forced through the grain by the fan unit shown below. Usually by the following morning, all corn harvested the previous day is dry and ready to move by auger to a storage bin (center in upper picture) and the process repeated. Small fans in each storage bin are operated occasionally to maintain quality.

tension Bulletin 628 "Farm Transfers and Estate Settlements—Taxes and Legal Costs" was prepared by E.B. Hill, professor emeritus in the Department of Agriculture Economics at MSU.

Professor Hill, recognized for a half century as a national authority in this field, has had the material reviewed by attorneys, tax authorities, court officials and other researchers in the field.

estate in the transfer process," Hill commented. "In many instances, farmers and other people are poorly informed about tax and legal costs in settlements of estates and in intrafamily farm transfer arrangements. This bulletin was prepared to provide farm owners with practical information to help people get the right kind of advice," Hill concluded.

F. Earl Haas, Clinton County Extension agricultural agent, says interested persons may have a copy of the publication by coming to the Extension office at 1003 S. Oakland, St. Johns, or by writing a post card to the office, giving name and address and requesting the bulletin by name.

Forced air drying of ear corn is the method used by Leonard Puetz of 109 S. Scott Road, St. Johns. An electric motor and fan is placed to blow air into the cubicle at center and out through the corn piled evenly around it. Even though very little drying occurs at temperatures under 50 degrees or relative humidities over 80 per cent, Leonard has been satisfied with results from this economical unit.

Volume key in selecting grain drying system

The key to selecting a grain dryer is the volume of grain it will handle in a normal harvest season, contends George H. McQueen, Clinton County Extension agricultural agent.

"There are more farmers who tend to underestimate their needs than there are those who buy too much capacity," McQueen says. Those who "over-purchase" can nearly always find custom drying work to keep the operation busy, he pointed out. McQueen and Robert Maddex, Michigan State University Extension agricultural engineer, point out there are several general methods of farm drying that can be considered, and all methods can be found on farms in Clinton County.

1.) Layer or drying in storage. This is a relatively slow method. Grain is put in the storage unit and dried using low air flow and low heat supply. In general it is not recommended for most Michigan farms where 15 to 18 points of water per bushel must be removed at a fairly rapid rate.

2.) BATCH DRYING. This can be done in a bin or a column. Grain is put into the unit, dried, then put in storage. All grain harvested in any day is put in the "batch-in-bin" unit, but depth in the bin is usually limited to 30 inches. Limitations of this unit are the size, and the fact that grain must be left in it for 24 hours.

3.) Continuous Flow or Automated Batch. Wet grain is kept available in a holding bin and moved into the drier automatically as dried grain is moved out for storage. Grain moves through the heated unit for drying and then through the cooling system to cool the grain.

4.) Dryer-ation Method. Recommended for high volume grain operations, this system has essentially two parts: the heated section for moisture removal and the cooling section. Grain is dried to 17 per cent, then put in steeping bins where it is cooled with a lower flow of unheated air. While more equipment is needed in this method, there is a savings in fuel costs and an improvement in the quality of the dried grain.

Maddox reports: "The biggest problem with grain drying is excessive operator speed. Any of these methods will produce quality grain if farmers will dry the grain at a reasonable rate and use equipment as recommended by the manufacturer."

Millions of bushels of corn reach markets annually that have been overheated and cracked or scorched, Maddex says farmers who produce this kind of grain pay an additional cost for too much drying and they get discounted on the grain because of lower quality.

St. Pat's fall festival Sunday

Final plans are being completed for the annual Fall Harvest Festival and smorgasbord at St. Patrick's Catholic School in Portland on Sunday, Oct. 13.

Country store, fancy goods, and other booths will be available in the school gymnasium. The smorgasbord, to be served in the school cafeteria from noon to 5 p.m., will feature turkey, ham, roast beef, and homemade desserts and breads.

The public is invited.

Push-button control of grain drying has been achieved by Ken and Jack Geisenhaver at 3663 E. Herbison Road. Wet corn is held in the gravity hopper wagons until dumped into the batch column dryer. When dry it is elevated by auger and loaded out or goes by another auger into pole storage bins.

Wednesday morning, Carla is now confined to her home and is wearing a full arm cast.

Make harvest season safe one

By George R. McQUEEN
Extension Agricultural Agent

As we start the corn grain harvest season, one of our first thoughts is of the fingers, arms, legs and even lives that usually go with it. All unnecessary! Before you leave the tractor seat, turn off all power!

Often we think of the corn season extending from early October through November. It has been found that field losses from all causes increase by about one bushel per acre for each day's delay in harvest after mid-October. Really, then, the efficient harvesting season is early October to very early November or about 30 days.

Most years we can expect poor harvesting conditions in this period so for all practical purposes, our corn harvesting season is about 15 days long. All harvest machinery, dryers, handling equipment and storage should be selected with this in mind.

Many choices are available in designing your corn handling facilities. Conventional ear corn cribs are still practical for small acreages. As the volume of grain increases above 1-2,000 bushels, however, problems multiply.

Using forced air in an ear corn crib is very efficient for 2-5,000 bushels but above that usually shelling and heated air drying is more desirable. The tour of drying facilities in the forenoon of Oct. 10 will show several types of drying facilities and arrangements for handling grain. Maybe some of those designs will work for you.

Goats vs. Cows

Cows fed on the kind of grass that grows in Italy do not produce much milk; Italy's goats produce an important part of the country's milk supply.

GETS AWARD FOR CHAMPION HEREFORD

Leslie Kuenzli of St. Johns received a plaque last week from the American Hereford Assc. at Kansas City, Mo. for having the champion Hereford heifer at the Clinton County Fair. Leslie plans to raise the heifer, called "Dolly" and develop a beef breeding herd which she calls her future college money. Leslie, shown here with her mother holding "Dolly," is a member of the Stoney Creek 4-H Club and is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Dale Kuenzli.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

National 4-H Week Oct. 6-12 will be observed by Clinton County's 1,500 4-H members and 250 volunteer adult leaders by displays, exhibits, club meetings and other activities throughout the county.

"Youth In Our Time," a special full-color public service feature program, will be presented by the area television stations throughout National 4-H week, Oct. 6-12. The half hour program will be televised on Saturday, Oct. 5 at 12:30 p.m. over channel 12, WJRT-TV, Flint and on Saturday, Oct. 12, at 4:30 p.m. over channel 6, WJIM-TV in Lansing as a special tribute to nearly 86,000 boys and girls who are 4-H'ers in Michigan and the 3-1/4 million youth who are striving to "make the best better" across America.

"Youth In Our Time" features the "4-H Report-to-The-Nation" teen selected at the National 4-H Congress last fall to represent 4-H'ers across the land. Greg Jarmolowicz (Michigan), Tammy Turner (Mississippi), James Lewis (Minnesota), and Nancy Alward (New Hampshire) "speak out" on critical problems facing youth today. They tackle the tough issues of race relations, poverty, competition and the question of how youth today view leadership in our society.

Moderating the discussion is Dr. Richard Felner, assistant dean, College of Agriculture, Michigan State University.

"Youth In Our Time" is presented with the premise that today's youth have something important to say, and America can benefit by taking time to listen.

The new enrollment cards are now at the Extension office. Any club leader wishing their club organizational material and cards should stop by the office and pick them up. The deadline for enrollment is Nov. 1.

The 4-H leaders are reminded of the general leaders meeting on Monday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m. at Smith Hall in St. Johns.

The slogan for National 4-H Week is "Join 4-H... A World of Opportunity" one of the advances in 4-H project work has been more emphasis on science, experimentation and effective farm and home management. Personal development and leadership also have been accelerated. Introduction to 4-H via television is another major advance.

Diaries are supposed to tell you what you have been doing, but so do your cancelled checks.

Booklet features state photo tips

The best methods for capturing the beauty and fascination of Michigan on film is detailed in a new Michigan Tourist Council publication, "How to Photograph Michigan," published in cooperation with the Eastman Kodak Co. Illustrated with full-color pictures of attractions throughout the state, the booklet suggests scenic subjects for the traveling photographer as well as offering professional tips to the amateur.

The 10-page publication takes the photographer on a visit through the eastern, western, southeastern and Upper Peninsula areas of Michigan, pointing out item-by-item suggestions from among the Great Lake State's countless picture possibilities throughout all seasons. Copies of the publication are available without charge by contacting the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.

Daylight time issue big factor in Nov. 5 election

"Shall the State of Michigan Observe Daylight Saving Time? Yes No"

This question will appear on the November ballot and will be known as proposal No. 2. A NO vote will put Michigan back on eastern standard time permanently.

It should be remembered that the "time" issue was one of the most controversial issues ever before the Legislature. It became an issue only because a federal law made it compulsory for states to adopt Daylight Saving Time unless the Legislature voted to exempt the state from the federal mandate.

Farm Bureau, along with some allies, led the fight in the Michigan Legislature. That battle was won by a two-thirds vote of each house. The opposition was largely led by the giant television and radio industry, operating out of New York City. It is a fact that many Michigan senators were pressured by telephone calls directly from New York to switch their votes and force daylight saving time on Michigan.

THE VICTORY won in the Michigan Legislature was short-lived, due to a referendum petition requiring the issue to be put on the ballot with final decision to be made by the voters. Nov. 5, 1968 was the nearest election when this could be done.

Michigan has been under double fast time for two summers. Many people have changed their minds, probably in both directions. Many suburban people who once supported the idea now oppose it. They found that during the summer it was a problem to get the youngsters off the street and in bed on time, and during the school year children were waiting in darkness for school buses.

The tourist industry has found that the so-called hour of daylight gave them no real advantage. And farmers, especially, found that their predictions were true. The time change has been expensive and put agriculture at an even greater economic disadvantage. This is especially true where crops requiring large numbers of workers are grown. Farmers report that their employees wish to quit at the same time as other workers, even though harvesting conditions may be at their best.

It is called "double fast time" in Michigan because our states, in effect, two hours ahead of the sun. Many years ago, Michigan placed itself in the eastern standard time zone, even though, geographically, the state is in the central time zone.

This issue is important enough so that every farmer along with every other citizen, should make sure to register his thought on Proposal No. 2 on election day Nov. 5. If you wish to eliminate the requirement of moving your clocks ahead in the spring and moving them back again in the fall, vote no on proposal No. 2.

Fall colors peak in Michigan's Upper Peninsula

Most areas of Michigan's Upper Peninsula report the weekend of Oct. 5 saw peaking or near-peaking fall color conditions, with the Keweenaw Peninsula and other western areas of the U.P. close behind, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Colors were expected to peak in the Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie regions last weekend with from 80 to 75% of maximum anticipated elsewhere in the U.P. Good color is reported in the northern sections of the lower peninsula, with best viewing expected the weekend of Oct. 12. Most areas in the northern sections of the southern peninsula report from 20 to 40 per cent of full color, but improving before the weekend.

Central and southern Michigan observers note beginning of color with isolated spotty conditions.

ASC PROGRAM

Farm, storage facility, drying loans still available

W. M. SMITH
County ASC Manager

One may think it is a little late to be thinking about commodity storage and drying equipment, when soybeans and corn harvest is here.

However, we are getting a lot of requests for information about our loan program at this time. Last week the county committee approved three applications for facility and dryer loans.

At the present time the 1968 soybean and corn crop looks as though it would be another bumper crop, and if present price trends continue the market price at harvest will be considerably below price support.

Due to the large wheat and oat crop that was just harvested, and a larger carryover of the 1967 corn crop, storage space will be at a premium at corn harvest time in many areas. I suggest corn producers who will need commercial storage and drying to contact their warehouseman and reserve space.

THIS MIGHT EVEN be a good year for corn producers to consider picking their corn and storing it on the ear and let nature do the drying. Those with adequate farm storage will be in a position to store their crop immediately at harvest time and will not be dependent on others for drying and storing.

Eligible producers who need additional storage space will have time to erect and finance it with a farm storage facility loan through our office. Our office is in a position to loan up to 85 per cent of the purchase price for grain dryers and storage structures approved by the ASC County Committee.

More school children will die from cancer than from any other disease, says the American Cancer Society.

The minimum down payment of 15 per cent must be paid by the producer, to the dealer, before the loan can be disbursed. The facility must be completely erected before the loan is made. The interest rate is about 4.1 per cent per year, and these loans may be repaid in four equal annual payments.

Payments on these loans may be made in cash or by deduction from any price-support payment that the farmer might earn during the year the installment is due.

When determining a producer's eligibility, the amount of storage capacity needed to store two years production is considered. This will allow him to take advantage of the resale program for commodities such as wheat, corn, and soybeans.

I SUGGEST THAT interested producers contact storage and dryer equipment dealers to see if they have them available for delivery at this time. Many dealers have sold their present stock and are unable to get delivery of new storage at the present time.

An application for a commodity credit loan must be made before a structure is erected. It would be wise to be sure the ASC County Committee had approved your loan before making a commitment to a dealer.

Our county soybean loan rate is $2.45 per bushel, and the corn loan rate is $1.09 per bushel. Corn producers must have participated in the Feed Grain Program to be eligible for price support.

Price-support loans are available for commodities that are in storage on the farm, or an approved warehouse, immediately after harvest.

Producers wishing a farm-storage loan should make application well in advance of the time they need the loan to give us time to visit the farm and check the storage and commodity.

WHAT BELONGS WHERE???

The hub of a railroad—the classification yard. Could you, without training or experience, take charge here? Could you sort and "spot" thousands of cars, have them ready at the right time on the right track to go out with the right train?

But every day your mind performs an operation even more complex. You sort and classify your thoughts and impulses. You decide what is right and wrong. You determine which actions are urgent, and which can be deferred. You resolve that some goals are important, and others are secondary. And every decision affects your life, and the lives of others!

Preparing men and women—and boys and girls—to make the right decisions is one of the great functions of the Church. There are sound Christian standards by which life's choices should be sorted. There is confidence and strength for those who seek, learn and practice the true Way of Life.

THINK ON THESE THINGS

A devotional message written each week by a pastor of a Clinton County church

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE BIBLE

CONSIDERING "whatsoever things are true," we come to the truth about the Bible. I must stand firmly and say (amid a time when criticism and doubt are running rampant) that the Bible is God's Word inspired by Him for our use. Let us note the truth concerning the Bible.

"The Seven Wonders of the Word"

- 1.) The wonder of its formation — from God the way it grew is one of the mysteries of all time.
- 2.) The wonder of its unification — a library of 66 books yet one Book.
- 3.) The wonder of its age — most ancient of all books.
- 4.) The wonder of its sale — best seller of any book.
- 5.) The wonder of its interest — only book in the world read by all classes.
- 6.) The wonder of its language — written largely by uneducated men, yet the best from literary standpoint.
- 7.) The wonder of its preservation — the most hated of all books, yet it continues to exist.

Generation follows generation — yet it lives.
Nations rise and fall — yet it lives.
Kings, dictators, presidents come and go — yet it lives.
Hated, despised, cursed — yet it lives.
Condemned by atheists — yet it lives.
Exaggerated by fanatics — yet it lives.
Its inspiration denied — yet it lives.

YET IT LIVES! As a lamp to our feet; as a light to our path; as the gate to heaven; as a standard for childhood; as a guide for youth; as an inspiration for the matured; as a comfort for the aged; as food for the hungry; as water for the thirsty; as rest for the weary; as light for the heathen; as salvation for the sinner; as grace for the Christian.

To know the Bible is to love the Bible and to love the Bible is to accept the Bible, and to accept the Bible is life eternal. This is the truth about the Bible.

Seek Yule gifts for state hospital patients

Once again Traverse City State Hospital is getting an early start on its annual Christmas program. Many patients in the institution have no friends or relatives who care, and were it not for the generosity and thoughtfulness of many individuals, church groups, clubs, civic organizations, schools, etc., they would not have the enjoyable Christmas which they, too, deserve.

For several years now, the generosity of interested people in the Traverse City State Hospital's 39 — county committing area have provided a joyous holiday season for the patients being cared for at Traverse City. All Christmas gifts to patients should be new. They need not be expensive but they should be new. Christmas gifts should not be wrapped, and this year it is not necessary to send wrapping paper. Tying material, however, is still needed.

Donors are requested to carefully pack their gifts, making sure that all breakable items are sufficiently padded and that liquid materials have sufficient packing to absorb the contents of the bottles. In this respect, also, senders should be very sure the package carries sufficient postage.

Packages should be addressed to Community Relations Department, Box C, Traverse City, Mich. and should always carry the sender's return address. Any packages containing perishables, such as fruit, cakes, candies and other food items should be plainly marked.

Teachers will attend industrial club meeting

The industrial education staff at St. Johns High School will be attending the first meeting of the Industrial Executives Club of Lansing, who have chosen vocational education as their general theme for October.

As a part of the meeting, a student, Richard Riddle of St. Johns, will be recognized as a winner in last year's contest in which he submitted a parallel clamp made in machine metals class and a drawing of the project drawn in drafting class.

Members of the Industrial Executives Club of St. Johns will act as hosts of the dinner meeting and the vocational group meetings to be held before dinner. Attending with Riddle's Oct. 10 will be instructors Gene Beagle, drafting; John Theuerkauf, metals; Gary Durov, wood technology; Grant Hostford, industrial art; and Ken Lashaway, vocational director.

VFW Auxiliary needs donations of clothing, books

On Oct. 24 Mrs. Elolse Hamilton will visit the Veterans' Facility at Grand Rapids and would like to take along donations of used clothing, for men or women, in good clean condition. Paper back books or used picture puzzles are especially welcome.

The Veterans' Facility is a home for veterans who have no other home. They have a hospital at the Veterans' Facility with 1,000 patients. These men come from all over the state of Michigan.

The popples sold by the auxiliary are made here, and the auxiliary also furnishes funds to the veterans for a bingo party.

Mrs. Hamilton will be glad to call for any contributions or they can be dropped off at her home 308 No. Ottawa Street, St. Johns.

The flying squirrel does not fly; he glides. He can glide more than 150 feet and can change his speed or angle; he can also execute a 90-degree turn by using his tail as a rudder.

Class of 1918 holds reunion

The 50th reunion of the class of 1918 was held at St. Mary's Academy at Carson City Sunday Sept. 29. The five living members of the class of six participated at a Mass of Thanksgiving at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Carson City. Following they toured the old school now closed. Then they all had dinner at the home of Mrs. Marion Hafner as hostess, cost-hostesses were Mrs. Rita Miller and Mrs. Anna Huhn. The Chaplain, Mrs. Cornelia Schafer gave the prayer and pledge to the flag. Mrs. Rose Fox president had the minutes and treasurer's report read and approved.
 Names were drawn for the coming year. They were October Mrs. Mary Smith, November Mrs. Irene Fedewa, December Mrs. Theresa Simon, January Mrs. Rita Miller, February Mrs. Freda Davarn, March Mrs. Irene Fox, April Mrs. Bernita Cook, May Mrs. Ann Bower, following the meeting coffee and cookies were served. Pedro furnished the evening's entertainment. First in Pedro was Mrs. Rose Fox, consolation to Mrs. Dorothy Heckman, Mystery package to Mrs. Irene Fedewa.
 Mr and Mrs Ronald Motz and son Ron of rural St. Johns were callers of their mother Mrs. Mary Wohl Sunday evening.
 Mrs. Joan Daniels of Lansing was home over the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Vera Cook.

Completes 2,200-mile trip to north country

Mr and Mrs Archie Moore of Carland and Mr and Mrs Kenneth Neal of Jacksonville, Fla., returned last weekend from an extended trip to the Upper Peninsula where they went through the Canadian Lock at Sault Ste. Marie and back through the American Lock. They also went for a train ride on the Algoma Central and rode up the canyon. They saw many colors on this trip. Next morning they were up early to continue the trip around

Lake Superior. People said the weather had been exceptionally warm there for this time of the year—more like the month of August. Thursday morning we continued on to Port Arthur and Fort Williams. There we saw Kakabeka Falls. We then drove until we reached Dryden where we got a motel near a paper mill. This was a mistake—the stench was terrible. We arrived at Kenora on Friday at 10:30. We were there two days, did our laundry and had our hair set while the men looked the town over. Sunday morning we had our breakfast and left Kenora in a hard rain for Fort Frances. We managed it so we wouldn't be near a paper mill this time. Monday morning we had a good breakfast at a hotel in Fort Frances, then went through customs into International Falls on Route

63 to Duluth. We drove to an abandoned strip ore mine which is 21 miles long, then to the Sherman Mine which is in operation now. Stayed west of Duluth that night. Tuesday we took a three hour boat ride in the harbor. Saw two large freighters from Germany—one brought in a load of whiskey and was taking back grain. The other one took back powdered milk. We saw many huge grain elevators. One held 19 million tons of grain. It can load three ships of grain at once as it has 14 loading spouts. We saw many steel mills and some boats in dry dock to be repaired. Also saw thousands of tons of scrap iron, some to be shipped to Greece and Japan. Some of the ship cranes can pick up 10 to 14 tons per lift. We then took off over the huge bridge that links Duluth, Minn. and Superior, Wis. We stayed at Newberry, Mich. Wednesday night, went to see the Tahquamenon Falls and got home Thursday night at 8:30. We drove a total of 2,200 miles. The Neals left for Florida Monday forenoon from Bishop Airport in Flint. Dean Simpson has returned to Central Michigan University for his junior year. Mrs Paul Simpson and daughter, Barbara, were guests Saturday of Mrs Edith Simpson. Barbara leaves soon for Naples, Italy, where she is a nurse in the navy. Old Swedes Church, erected in Wilmington, Del., by Swedish Lutherans (now Protestant Episcopal) in 1698, is thought to be the oldest Protestant church in continuous use in the United States.

Blue Star Moms to meet Oct. 10

Blue Star Mothers will meet on Oct. 10 at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs Jack Wohlfort on Airport Road. Saturday evening dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Lyle Smith were Mr and Mrs Glenn Parker from Sutton, Ark. and Mrs Meretta Mead. Evening callers were Mr and Mrs Jerry Smith and boys, Mr and Mrs Eric Horton, Mr and Mrs Art Newman, and Mr and Mrs Clarence Hickerson. Saturday afternoon Mrs Duain Peck and Mrs Lyle Smith attended the funeral of their uncle, Charles Brabon. Last Sunday evening Mr and Mrs Cliff Phillips visited his father, Louie Phillips. The Phillips had just returned from a vacation in the west. Debbie and Paul Coyles spent the weekend with Mr and Mrs Leo Cowles and Patty at Owosso. Mr and Mrs Jack Wohlfort called on Mr and Mrs Bud Wohlfort Saturday evening. The Duain Pecks took their son David to Big Rapids last Sunday where he will attend Ferris State College. Mr and Mrs Leonard Henry Jr. and children visited his parents Mr and Mrs Leonard Henry Sr. in Wayne on Saturday. Earl Miller called on Mrs Wanita Hartman one day last week. Callers first of this week were Mrs Dawn Sump and daughter and friend from Harrison. Sunday afternoon Mr and Mrs Lyle Smith attended a retirement party at the home of Mr and Mrs Rowlan Smith for her father Cliff Van Epps. Miss Maude Blizzard returned to her home in Jonesville after spending two weeks with Mrs Lottie Martzke and other relatives. On Saturday evening Mr and Mrs Duain Peck, Mr and Mrs Arnold Waltz and Mr and Mrs Cliff Phillips attended the Sulky Races in Detroit. Sunday dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Alfred Huhn were Mr and Mrs Marvin Lawless and children, Mrs Elizabeth Cook from Portland, and Mr and Mrs Earl Huhn and children. Supper guests were Mr and Mrs Carl Huhn.

party for a work meeting ahead of their regular business meeting. The current project for the White Cross work is the making of a bedspread-quilt for Dr. and Mrs. Joe DeCook of Holland, Mich., missionary appointees to Pakistan. Missionary chairman Mrs Kenneth Loudbeck presented some of the needs of missionaries. she said the church helps support. President Mrs Richard Woodbury also presented a message to the 46 ladies present. For the past year each member has had a secret prayer partner, and these were revealed at the meeting. Special music was presented by members of the women's ensemble of the church. Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs Richard Woodhams, Mrs James Moriarty, Mrs Lawrence DeWitt and Mrs Robert Halsey. The 'straight and narrow path' is wide enough for its traffic.

Community halo of pride floats over Eureka School ducted and the stage (on one side of the gym) is used by the band students three times per week. It also proves useful for recess activities on bad weather days.

They recently used it for a sock-hop for grades five through eight when the weather was bad outside and the children were faced with a long lunch hour.

Mrs Bryant says "We want the school used by the people in this area. They paid for it and the school belongs to everyone."

Many civic organizations have already availed themselves of the facilities offered. The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, cemetery association and others have benefited from the school.

They have a visiting teacher for a half-hour each week (to help students with an emotional, or social adjustment problem), a remedial teacher twice each week, art classes once each week, and a speech therapist comes twice per week.

The curriculum is both diversified and beneficial to the student body.

A marvelous sense of cooperation exists between parent, student, and teacher. Mrs Bryant said. They have four girl aides who help with the lunch hour programs; two boys bring in milk; one student delivers mail and collects milk money. These are all volunteer workers from the seventh and eighth grade classes.

The present needs of the school are library and office furniture, kitchen equipment, and if anyone has any free fill dirt, they can make good use of it around the school.

Some of the playground equipment has recently been installed by a group of volunteer men. Those serving on the work-bee as volunteers were Wendell Waggoner, Stonewall Cross, Edwin Harger, Charles Johnson, Chester Walton, Robert Henderson, Maynard Moon, Mr and Mrs Bruce Amos, Mr and Mrs Gilbert Baker and Mrs Terrance Foster.

The cement for the project was donated by Randolph's Ready Mix, and Jim Burnham loaned his portable electric welder. Guy's Sunoco Service loaned their acetylene welder.

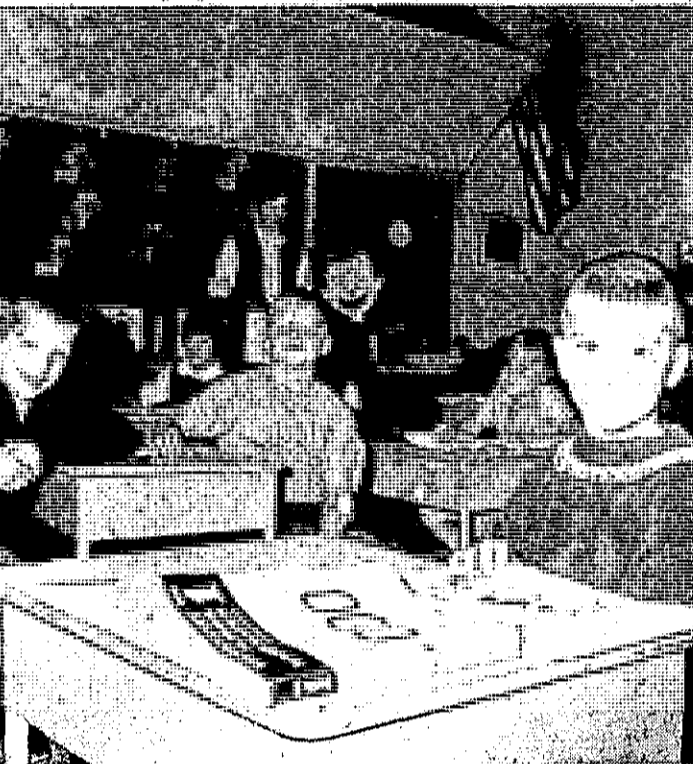

The children line up now to have a turn on all the new swings and slide.

Are you planning a long automobile trip? Remember, says the Michigan Heart Assn., don't drive for longer than an hour—or at most, two. The blood can pool and sludge in your legs. Get out of your car and move around—gambol on the green—dance, run, but get moving. Sludged blood can induce a heart attack or have other unpleasant consequences.

Eureka group plans projects to meet new school needs

Mrs Maynard Moon, president of the Eureka Community Club, reports they will have two or three fund raising projects this year for the new school needs.

The first meeting of the year with 65 members attending was an open house, with an election of officers, group discussions, and an informal coffee hour.

Parents discussed reducing the speed limit past the school area, and worked on suggestions for fund raising projects.

The students last year bought basketball baskets and backboards for the gym by having a cake walk, a box social, and a fudge sale.

The club bought playground equipment and also furnished the eighth grade class their graduation pictures. Each individual class received a year's subscription to a newspaper and a magazine. At Christmas time they furnished all the candy and nuts and had Santa in for a visit.

For this year, Mrs Moon would like to hold open house for the public as well as parents during Michigan Education Week.

Other officers in the club include Mrs Wanda Baker as vice president and Mrs Charles Rasdale as secretary-treasurer.

Sunday evening visitors at the Justin Shepard home on Colony Road were Miss Diane Blakesley and Tom Gorsuch of Great Lakes Bible College, Lansing.

Mr and Mrs Jack Hawes attended the Christian Education convention held Friday and Saturday at First Church of Christ in Owosso.

Even a married woman is entitled to her own private affairs.

Once the phone rings for the lady of the house, it works like Pavlov's bell. The whole gang (including the dog) decides they're hungry. They swarm around the kitchen noisily feeding their canine appetites while whetting their appetites for gossip, and that's the end of mother's privacy. Even if you don't go for the idea of not being in on Mom's conversations, she's still got a right to say what she wants without a clamoring, chomping audience around. Make a special sacrifice for mother. Give up on eavesdropping forever and get her an extension phone for the bedroom. Far away from the kitchen. And far away from the kiddies. One call to your General Telephone business office takes care of the whole thing. Leaving her to her own private affairs can make her feel like that old, used-to-be, single, independent self again. That's something every mother needs. Even if it's only for a couple of minutes a day.

Give her an extension phone. General Telephone

"...didn't even know she was married"

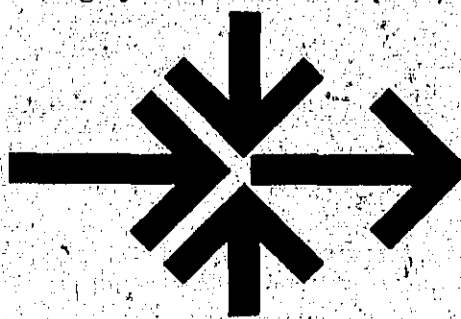

Well, she's married all right. You could have read about it a year ago on page six. Her wedding announcement was printed in the same newspaper that recorded her parents' wedding, her birth, her graduation, and now the beginning of another generation.

When each of these events took place they were duly noted and set down in permanent print in the continuing record of your community. From birth and death announcements to chronicling the mighty events of war and peace, newspapers have been printing the facts in America since pre-Colonial times. And if you believe that "printing the facts" is easy, you should sit in an editor's chair, sometime.

If it's in print it stays there. It can be checked and double-checked. It forms a permanent record. It's not chatter in the air, loose talk... whose edge is sharper than the sword, whose tongue out-venoms all the worms of Nile, whose breath rides on the posting winds... as Shakespeare put it.

You may take this service lightly. You should live, then, in a community without a newspaper. You would probably find that, without the modifying force of printed news, the winds of slander and controversy would be blowing pretty hard.

Food for thought

In the years immediately after World War II, farm families were relatively prosperous. Times have changed. Why?

In 1946, farmers had realized gross farm income from all sources of $29.5 billion. In 1967, their realized gross was $49.1 billion. Farmers now receive much more for what they produce than they did 21 years ago.

Gross farm income has risen by $19,600,000,000 in 21 years.

But net farm income fell by $800 million between 1946 and 1967. Again, why?

Here's the answer: in 1967, U.S. farmers spent $34.8 billion for production expenses. This is $20.3 billion MORE than in 1946.

Because production expenses are rising much faster than gross farm income, the average farmer now keeps as net income only $29 of each $100 of his gross receipts. In 1946, he kept $50.90 of each $100.

In 1967, realized net farm income was a smaller percentage—29 per cent—of realized gross income than ever before.

Even in 1932—at the bottom of the Great Depression—the figure was 30 per cent. Before and during World War I it was over 50 per cent. It fell slowly during the 1920's, dropped to a low in 1932, and rose above 47 in 1935 and 1936.

It rose again during World War II and reached 50.9 per cent in 1946. Since then it has declined to 32.6 per cent in 1966 and 29 per cent in 1967.

Letters to the Editor

Duguay gets backing, words of praise

Dear Editor:

Concerning a recent editorial in one of the newspapers circulating in the county, especially that which pertained to Roland Duguay, our prosecuting attorney, I would like to correct some unjustified charges and statements that are fast spreading.

First, let me say that I have had the privilege of working with Mr Duguay for the past 1 1/2 years or so, and at no time was his conduct other than honorable. Clinton County has never had a more conscientious person to hold this office and to act as such. In fact, Mr. Duguay is respected by all law enforcement agencies and is observed as being one of the hardest working prosecutors in the four-county area. You do not have to take my word for it, just call any local or area police department that works with Mr Duguay's office and they will tell you the same thing.

Maybe Mr Duguay's name did appear on the corporation papers as stated in the news item, but almost all attorneys' names appear on papers of incorporation as an officer or resident agent. The attorney draws up the papers and the corporation members are usually not as knowledgeable of the working matters that pertain to the laws so they retain the drafting attorney for a period of time until they are self-operating. This is not unusual. I am certain that in due time Mr Duguay's name will be vindicated entirely.

Let us not be too hasty in pointing a guilty finger at anyone until all the facts are known. Who of us is so pure and forthright to stand up and point a finger at another without the feeling of some personal guilt? It is like looking at a book with a scratch on the cover. We don't judge the book by the scratch, but what is inside of the book and what the contents represent. If you will just read the man, and then judge, you can then draw your own conclusions.

Too many conclusions are drawn from a play on words. By this I mean a journalist or any person for that matter, can distort and I mean distort, a word that says one thing to mean another. To clarify my point, let us look back to the riots of last year when one of many newspapers reported a death in the following manner. "16-year-old boy shot and murdered by storekeeper." Everyone became excited and hostilities were spurred on. Had the newspaper printed it this way, the way it really happened, it would have sufficed, but maybe not sold as many papers as the other way: "16-year-old youth shot while attempting to hold up storekeeper, died from ensuing wounds."

This same incident was also printed in another manner when a state official made a public question, "What right did this man have to execute a 16-year-old child?" Had he asked "What right did this storekeeper have to shoot at a youth who was robbing his store or attempting thereat?" would not have been effective as the previous. This is called sensationalism. It sells newspapers and gets votes, but it does injustice to the people involved.

Let us suppose Mr Duguay in answer to Action Line's question had said "I helped start the company in question but resigned about 1 1/2 years ago, and I have no idea who the present directors are or where they now reside." This would not have caused the dissent that is now apparent nor would it have appeared in the Action Line column. Mr Duguay did what all of us would have done in the same instance, and that was to give an honest answer not realizing that someone could turn the words around to mean something else. Forthright answers sometimes cause many misunderstandings especially when the person giving them is being honest.

Mr Duguay is running for district judge in this county and to be a judge in my estimation calls for a man who has pride, integrity, temperance, humility, principles, a sense of justice, and a knowledge of people and their personal problems. Mr Duguay has these qualifications without a doubt. Mr Reed is also a capable man. My only plea is that let us not be too hasty in changing sides just because of some article in a newspaper and let your conscience search out the better man based on qualifications.

I am only sorry that if Mr Duguay, or Mr Reed for that matter, is elected district judge, Clinton County will lose one of the best prosecutors to come this way in a long time. Either way we lose a good man, but we could obtain an excellent person

'IF IT FITZ . . .'

Protesting from the sidelines

By JIM FITZGERALD

No doubt about it. If I were 20 years younger I would grow a beard and carry a sign and bug the establishment.

And I would be more comfortable than I am today. Which is fat and forty and crew - cut. What kind of a hippie is that? If I wore sandals my knees would cave in. But my heart is transplanted to the kids who stand up and holler at injustice.

I want to yell and march and picket and sit-in, too. But this is physical stuff which requires a certain amount of muscle and bravery. I wouldn't drive through Chicago without first trimming my sideburns. And Dr Spock is in better shape than I am.

Besides, I have to go to work every day or my family's world of credit cards will come tumbling down.

The bitter total is that I am too old, too cowardly and too busy to join the regular army of protesters. But I still have this gnawing to do my thing for the cause from the sidelines. To "do my thing" is young talk meaning you do what you do best for what you believe in. So I write things like this and end up in earnest arguments at cocktail parties. And it is these arguments which make me feel like Rap Brown at a DAR meeting.

A "pillar of the community" was giving me the devil the other day. I don't use that cliché with a sneer. Henry is the type of man upon whom our towns depend for support and sweat. He gives his time and money to the hospital and Red Feather and his church. He's been a county supervisor and a city councilman. He's raised fine children and his grandchildren look like good bets, too. I admire Henry for his contributions. But he makes me cringe when he has three drinks and yells at me:

"Yeah, you write about brotherhood. But wait'll the niggers come to town and move next door to you. See how ya' like it then."

Or about the Chicago mess: "Those filthy kids with their dirty beards didn't get hit hard enough. The cops don't have to take that stuff from those bums. If they don't want to be cracked on the head, they should stay home. What are they doing there anyway? I'll tell you—it's all a Communist plot."

And on and on. The Henrys of this country are my contemporaries, my friends. When I look in the Mirror, I see Henry—middle-age, middle-and-up income, dark suit, chubby, short hair or bald and clean shaven. The All American Rotarian. Just what my mother had in mind when she enlisted me in the Boy Scouts.

But when Henry discusses anything more important than poker, golf or baseball, he doesn't sound like me. He bugs me, just as I bug him.

I can't get mad at a kid just because he wears a beard and sandals. So did Jesus Christ. And I can't condemn young people who make it known, loud and long, that they are against the Vietnam war. Some of the best informed men in this country are convinced LBJ has escalated us into a civil war that is none of our business. The young people have a legal and moral right to dissent. That's what this country is all about, Buster.

I can't get angry at any Negro who simply wants the same rights I was born with. I'm sickened by a civilization which insults Negroes (Indians, Puerto Ricans, etc) and forces them to be twice as good to get half as far. One of my sisters is still single and she has my blessing to marry the blackest man who'll have her—if she wants to. Just like Henry, I'm against violence. But I can understand how and why it happens. A rock thrown by a sinned-against Negro is better aimed than a club swung by a bully cop.

If George Wallace can spare any law and order, I'm for it. But the Boston Tea Party was illegal. Unjust laws will always be broken by uncompromising men, such as Martin Luther King, who will pay the penalty to stab the national conscience.

At best, Henry thinks I'm nuts. At worst, he's sure I'm a card-carrying Communist. Either way, you have got to keep an eye on me. I belong to the country club but I'm not paying all the dues. Don't invite me and the VFW commander to the same party.

It's easy to see why Saturday is my most comfortable day. I never shave on Saturday.

The riots that raged through the country in the summer of 1967 resulted in insured losses of more than $100 million, according to the Insurance Information Institute. These civil disorders occurred in more than 80 cities.

Paul Pride:

Clinton County's two newest Eagle Scouts, Sam Shrey of Watousta and Chris Cook of Maple Rapids, are to be congratulated for their hard work and devotion to the scouting principles—principles that make better citizens of everybody. We're proud to have them in our midst.

...For no man should die in vain

By PATTI ZUKER Co-Editor, Wilson Torch Rodney B. Wilson High School

Screaming tires. . . shattering glass. . . blaring sirens. . . A mother sits home wondering where her son is and what kind of people are with him. A phone rings. . . A heart stops. . . One life is ended and many more are changed forever. WHY??? Carelessness, thoughtlessness. . . whatever the reason, it can happen, and does, far too often.

In Clinton County, traffic fatalities during the year of 1967 numbered eight (8) at this same time. At present the traffic death toll stands at 24. Call these cold, hard, and meaningless statistics, if you wish. However, at times death is cold and brutal and cares not whether you believe his toll to be meaningful or not.

Perhaps it is time that all drivers, teenage and adult alike, gave a little more thought to how and when they drive. Come to a complete stop at stop signs. Keep below the posted speed limits, whether you're in a hurry or not. Is it not better to walk in late than to be carried in on a stretcher? One last thought. . . If you have no consideration for your own life, at least have some consideration for those who love you. Let he who has a life to give, give it for something worth while, for no man should die in vain.

RAMBLIN' WITH RINK

The grey mouse affair

By LOWELL G. RINKER

It isn't everybody who has to live down a family reputation of being a murderer. I do. I killed a mouse last week. What apparently made it so disturbing to the rest of the family was that I set the trap in a spot where we happened to be able to see the mouse get it.

The good wife has been down on me since then, and my daughter is a little cool over the whole matter. Even the dog—a rambunctious mouser—won't sit on my lap anymore.

The good wife says she wouldn't be calling me "murderer" and "killer" if I had just gotten the trap and set it about three weeks ago like she asked me to. But, no, I had to wait until everybody else had fallen in love with the little rodent.

I admit he was kind of cute, and maybe that's why I wasn't more enthusiastic before. He didn't seem to be getting into the flour or sugar or any other foodstuffs in the cupboards, and it was only when the good wife would see him skitter around out in the kitchen would she say anything about him.

I didn't see him for a long time, but then with increasing frequency a movement out in the kitchen would catch my eye as I sat in the living room. It was our little mouse. He would come out from the back hallway about 8:30 or 9 every evening, climb up on the dog's food dish and eat for a few minutes. Once in a while he'd get a drink of water out of the bowl on the floor.

THE DOG, WHO WAS A former mousing champion when she resided on the farm, hasn't had much occasion since moving into town with us since we've been in St. Johns. Then, too, her chair where she spends 85 per cent of the time sleeping is out of sight around a corner from her food dish.

On occasions when the good wife and I were in the living room and the mouse would come out for supper, we'd try to get the dog's attention and arouse her curiosity, but this would always drive the mouse away.

Then last Monday evening after I got home from work, the mouse ran across the living room floor into a small closet, and the dog saw it. She almost got it, but it got back in the corner under a small chest of drawers. She almost pulled it out a couple of times, but finally it zipped unnoticed by the dog and myself around the room, under the davenport and behind a built-in bookcase.

The dog continued the search of the closet for 10 or 15 minutes, but to no avail. The mouse, still nifty after its close call, came back out for food and liquid refreshment during the day Tuesday and even ran under the dog's chair and my wife's chair while the dog snoozed.

"I WISH YOU'D get a trap," the good wife repeated. "He's getting so cute I'm not going to let you kill him if you don't hurry up."

But it was she who bought the traps Tuesday afternoon. When the little mouse appeared that evening and had successfully—again—dodged a thrown shoe, I got up and went out to the kitchen to do the dastardly deed.

Since the mouse apparently liked the dog's food—all meat and no cereal—this appeared to be the best bait. I removed the dish and replaced it with the trap, baited with a chunk of dog food.

"How cruel!" the good wife exclaimed.

I was reading exchange papers in my chair, and the good wife was watching television from the couch. We both kept our eyes on the trap from time to time, but I think both of us were hoping the mouse wouldn't come.

"There he is," the wife said with a tear in her voice. The mouse was curious at first and then settled down for his meal. He never got to finish it. I had done my job well.

The "murderer" tag will fade, I hope, in time.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

COMMENTS FROM OTHER PAPERS

GRAFTON, N.D., RECORD: "The march on poverty and those graphic presentations of the conditions some of our less fortunate citizens live under are appearing thick and fast these days. . . There is just one ingredient missing in these human interest sagas. You never see anyone with a mop or a broom. You never see signs of a desire for a change." Active desire certainly no one in his right mind would lack for desire to make haste from these squalid dwellings, but there are different kinds of desire. A man may have a desire to get out of there, but to hold the district judgeship should Mr. Duguay be elected. Let us not be fooled; it is really the people who lose in the long run.

If any of us have any sense of humiliation or reality we will at least give to Mr. Duguay and his family a vote of confidence as the present prosecuting attorney, to show to him and his family that he is at least appreciated and will be judged fairly.

Thank You

WILLIAM C. NICHOLAS Justice of the Peace

a passive desire for most anything, but that isn't going to help him achieve it. It is active desire that goads him to act towards achieving his ambitions. A broom, a mop and a bucket of soapy water would be a manifestation of that active desire."

CRYSTAL CITY, MO., PRESS-TIMES: "One of the curious trends in our society is that developing in the employment field. Cities, states and private firms in various parts of the country report difficulty finding enough workers. . . The jobs for which workers are being sought are not all skilled; many of them are completely unskilled and often the wages offered are up to $100 a week. Yet in many areas enough workers can be found. It would seem logical to conclude that a certain percentage of the population is not eager for steady or hard work. That has probably always been true. Unemployment compensation systems and other forms of charity, greatly expanded in recent years, probably make certain the permanent existence of a percentage of 'chronic' unemployed, who will never move out of that classification in our society."

Stop when you go by

By W.E. DOBSON

It's nice to live on a shady street Where folks go whizzing by, And have them lift a hand to me, Though I couldn't guess who I'd try; There's a thrill at being recognized, In a hurried up sort of way, But I live in hopes you will have time To stop and call some day.

The roads are fast and endless, And yonder is the track Where folks test out their "iron horse," And I think in time they'll be back; But things move on at a dizzy pace—Our feet seem made of clay—Todays pass on and tomorrows come, And we've no time to call today.

The work that we do no other Could give the identical touch That we have learned to master, Which to us matters so much; So our round of "chores" tends to widen, Till we learn to our dismay—The calls we would be making We just can't manage today.

The roads to perdition they tell us, Are paved with the best of intent, And habit becomes so imbedded It's stronger than any cement; So no matter how often we plan it, There's too many things to say nay, So give me a greeting in passing— If there's no time to stop in today!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

All is not demonstrations

BY ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Assn.

CAMPUS DEMONSTRATORS make the news. But the majority of students, even those who want more academic freedom, would rather have orderly change, believes Dr. Milton B. Dickerson, Michigan State University vice president for student affairs. He is critical of media which concentrate on student unrest and seldom note the accomplishments of joint student/university committees.

Such committees at MSU, Dickerson notes, helped solve many student-administration problems. They have developed effective channels of communication and provided the means for student representation in university policy-making.

AN ACADEMIC FREEDOM report is the "blueprint" which spells out the process for altering rules and regulations at MSU. It was developed in 1966, shortly after "the Berkeley incident," but long before student protests became prevalent, Dickerson points out.

Requested by MSU president John A. Hannah, the freedom report was hammered out by eight subcommittees working in four general areas: academic rights; student records; "due process" in disciplinary problems; student publications. Two sub-committees, one composed of faculty members and one from student ranks, worked separately in each area. Each subcommittee then met with its counterpart to resolve differences and draw up final recommendations. The complete report was approved by the board of trustees in March, 1967.

DICKERSON BELIEVES the freedom report somewhat parallels the U.S. Constitution and allows for a democratic process of change. For example, he cites former dress regulations imposed by the university during mealtimes. Student dissatisfaction arose over requirements for certain apparel when eating in dormitories. The policy was brought before ASMSU, the student governing body, with the recommendation that each unit set its own regulations. The recommendation was also approved by the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs and was sent to Dickerson for administrative action. The recommended policy was adopted.

If the student group and faculty committee cannot agree on proposed changes, they break into subcommittees to "work things out," Dickerson states. He is quick to point out that this does not cause insurmountable problems. "Students are much more mature, more conservative and realistic than we are often led to believe," he says.

ANOTHER CHANNEL for orderly protest was established with the office of ombudsman. He is responsible only to the university president. Students who have individual complaints, feel they are caught in university "red tape," question procedures or "just have problems," find the ombudsman receptive and willing to investigate. Because of his freedom from "the system," Dickerson notes, the ombudsman can cut across traditional lines of authority to get answers for the student. He is counselor, advocate, and judge. He will support a student who has been justly wronged but will quickly withdraw if he finds the student has fabricated his story.

MSU WAS THE FIRST university in the U.S. to establish an ombudsman and one of the first to develop an academic freedom report. Some 20 universities now have ombudsmen and "thousands of copies" of the freedom report have been sent to colleges and universities across the country, Dickerson says.

Another step towards active student participation in university policymaking was taken last year when the by-laws of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs was amended to include student representation. This move is outside the design of the freedom report but is another step in giving students more voice in university affairs, Dickerson contends.

INCIDENTS OCCUR in spite of such programs. Last June, a demonstration erupted over arrests for violation of drug laws. Dickerson notes that "only a few of those arrested were students," and believes that some students will always disregard the law. He feels that leaders of student militant groups use emotional appeals to whip students into active support of "causes."

"I think that they (militant leaders) subconsciously want to build a better atmosphere for learning... but they want to do it by tearing down everything as it now exists... believing that something good is bound to develop from the ruins. I just can't subscribe to that theory."

THESE TYPES of programs undermine tactics used by activists and provide an orderly procedure to change rules and regulations.

Rule by consent is always best, Dickerson believes. "But by bit we're moving towards involving the student into areas formerly within only faculty and administrative jurisdiction," he concludes.

Sealed Power recently introduced a newly developed piston ring which is designed to reduce air pollution from autos while boosting horsepower by 10 per cent. Specifically, the new ring cuts down the two chief offenders in air pollution, hydrocarbon emissions and carbon monoxide, by 15 per cent and 25 per cent, respectively.

"While the new ring won't eliminate the need for other emission control devices, it will definitely be a significant factor in helping auto makers meet federal standards by 1970," Reynolds said.

Detroit is currently testing the new ring for possible use on 1970 model cars.

"With a nine-million-car year forecast for 1970," Reynolds said, "Sealed Power sales to the original equipment market are expected to increase steadily. Growing even faster is the truck and heavy duty equipment market. Accordingly, we are expanding production of cylinder sleeves and heavy duty rings used in diesels and other large engines."

"In addition, the number of cars entering the repair age bracket is increasing, thus automatically creating a larger replacement market. Last year, this market accounted for 52 per cent of sales," Reynolds concluded.

Remember that one today is worth a dozen tomorrows.

IN THE GOOD OLD LOGGING DAYS AROUND ST. JOHNS

During the recent relocation of furniture in the upstairs offices at the Clinton County News, this old-time picture came to light. It had been around since the days of our centennial edition, apparently, and belonged to Miss Winifred Cross. It shows the Steel Hotel when it was brand spanking new and when there were still many stands of fine hardwood trees in the St. Johns area. Bobsleds brought this consignment of logs into town - probably headed for the St. Johns Table Co. factory - about the turn of the century. The man in uniform at the left is nightwatchman Lyman Alward; second man to right with hands in pocket is Charles Cross, restaurant owner; next man to the right is Wilbur Church, cattle buyer.
