County sets budget figure

By JANE BEAMERSTADT
County News Writer

ST JOHNS - Upon motion of Dyle Henning, the County Board of Commissioners approved the totals for the 1975 budget of $2,268,228 and approved the operating millage for 5.85 mills. Public Hearing will be held at their next board meeting Tuesday, Oct. 22 at 10 am.

Dyle Henning, chairman of the finance committee presented a proposed income budget, asking the board to approve the totals of it, and the final details of the revenue budget will be finalized for the next meeting. The anticipated revenue will be $186,264 over this year's budget of $2,071,964. The Federal Revenue Sharing Budget will be $240,000, a decrease of $68,000 from the 1974 revenue sharing budget of $308,000. The budget for the 1975 expenses will be ready shortly before the Oct. 22 meeting.

R. Jay Hebner, Superintendent-Manager of the Road Commission, asked the Board to approve a budget request for the Road Commission of $755,000 for rebuilding and blacktopping or graveling certain roads in the County. Fifteen and one-half miles are to be either blacktopped or gravelled at the cost of $30,000 a mile while 14 1/2 miles of roads are to be rebuilt at the cost of $20,000 per mile. No action was taken. The Commission approved Emil DeSander's plan to build an apartment complex, changing the zoning of about 20 acres on Jones Rd in DeWitt Twp from single family, medium density to multiple family residence. DeSander plans on constructing between 90 and 100 units on the 20 acres. The Board of Commissioners voted not to approve a plan in Bath Twp to deny the construction of a mobile home subdivision off of Drumheller Road. The plan called for a 50 unit subdivision with sewers and each lot having an individual well. The Board denied the plan because of inadequate drainage and not enough rules governing such a project.

The Commission voted to prepare a resolution stating their disapproval of a plan drawn up by the Governor's Advisory Commission on Crime, which is to be adopted by the commission formally on Oct. 30.

County and Metro Squad officials put the flame to nearly a ton of marijuana, evidence in the recent trial in Circuit Court. For the results of the trial, see story below.

Commission votes to appoint new member

ST JOHNS - In a special meeting last week, the St Johns City Commission chose to go the appointment route to fill a Commission vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Wood as mayor.

The Commission met to discuss whether to appoint a new member or to hold an election to fill the vacancy, with the appointment choice receiving a 3-1 vote.

Voting for appointment were John Arehart, John Hannah and acting mayor Roy Ebert. Voting against appointment was Gerald Wilcox.

Arehart opened the discussion saying, "I've never been in favor of appointing people to elective office." He cited, however, the substantial cost in electing a person to fill the remaining term, plus the shortness of the term, about 9 months.

Wilcox said, "Well, gentlemen, I feel the opposite way. I don't care if the guy is in office only 8 months, he should be elected." Wilcox added he felt the cost factor was not that important. "We've already spent more money than we planned," Wilcox said referring to the storm sewer project and stating his feeling that money should be spent to elect a new commissioner.

The final vote opted for the appointing of a member, followed by Arehart's voiced concern about how the appointee would be picked.

Ebert said nominations could be given to him and would be kept in the strictest confidence.

Ebert said volunteers for the position could also call to have their names submitted.

The Commission's choice will be decided at the next meeting Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Band receives area support

ST JOHNS - The St Johns and surrounding community turned out in force Saturday to support the garage sale, brunch and band show held to raise money for next summer's trip to participate in the Lions Club International Convention.

A near "sell-out" crowd attended the garage sale from 10 am until 4 pm. The few articles left unsold were turned over to the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Eggs, bacon chips, rolls, coffee and milk were consumed by 900 persons who attended the brunch, featuring eggs fried on the biggest frying pan in the nation, provided by Michigan Farm Bureau.

In the evening, a capacity house viewed 8 high school marching band performances by 8 bands.

A highlight of the performances was the massed-band with 700 bandsmen playing the Star Spangled Banner.

A total of $3700 was taken in Saturday and the estimate with the pre-sale should net the band approximately $4500.

Public to have opportunity to meet Candidates

ST JOHNS - A "Meet the Candidates" meeting will be sponsored Oct. 24 in the community room of Central National Bank at 8 pm.

Sponsor of the meeting is the St Johns Woman's Club.

Ton of marijuana brings convictions

By JIM EDWARDS
County News Editor

ST JOHNS - As the judge said, the jurors in last week's Circuit Court trial in St Johns probably learned more about marijuana than they really cared to know.

That was the statement Circuit Court Judge Leo W. Corkin made following extensive expert testimony in the trial that ultimately wound up convicting Ramiro Rodriguez, Raul Cortez, Enrique Astron, Ygnacio Bernudez and Jesse Lopez for manufacture and possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance, namely nearly a ton of marijuana. In addition Rodriguez was convicted on another count of maintaining where controlled substances are kept.

Following testimony by a prosecution witness, Kathy Zameroski, chemist for Mich Dept of Public Health, that nearly a ton of marijuana confiscated in a raid April 15, 1973 in DeWitt Twp was indeed marijuana, defense attorney Michael Stafford of Farhat, Burns and Story, brought in Dr Ernest Sharp from the University of Tennessee who led off nearly a day of testimony about what is and what might not be marijuana.

According to state statutes, marijuana is described as Cannabis Sativa. According to Dr Sharp, there are experts who believe that is one species and that there are at least 1 or 2 other species.

Theoretically that could mean the Michigan statute does not apply to all marijuana.

The prosecution then brought in Millard Holton of the Michigan State Police Crime Lab, a man who has studied marijuana extensively for 5 years.

He said there may be more than 1 variety, but not species. In that case, the Michigan statute would cover all types of marijuana.

But, the prosecution wasn't quite through. The following morning, Dr Ernest Small, a research taxonomist with the Canadian Department of Agriculture and considered a leading expert testified.

After a 3-hour address to the court, he supported Holton's opinion that there is only 1 species.

Near the end of Dr Small's testimony, Stafford objected saying he "had never seen anything like it" in a courtroom.

He objected to the lecture type of testimony and complained that no questions had been asked during the lengthy testimony.

Judge Corkin, however, allowed Dr Small to conclude his testimony.

Afterward the 12-person jury was instructed to consider only the testimony of the 1st expert witness, Zameroski, in regard to the question of marijuana species and varieties. Judge Corkin ruled as a matter of law the intent of the statute was to cover all marijuana.

In his closing statement to the jury Prosecuting Attorney Jon Newman said a decision should be based on reason and common sense and that the 5 defendants were found in the house basement with the approximate 1900 pounds of marijuana in various stages of being processed.

Stafford contended the fact that all 5 were in the basement did not prove what each was doing with the marijuana and that being present did not constitute guilt.

After 2 hours, the jury returned with the verdict of guilty for all 5 defendants and an additional guilty verdict for Rodriguez, occupant of the house.

St Johns Womans Club reports on activities

The St Johns Woman's Club held its first meeting of the club year Oct 2, in the undercroft of the Episcopal Church. The theme "A Taste of Early America" was featured in a potluck luncheon. The food for this was prepared from recipes used in pioneer days. These were researched by the committee, Mrs Kenneth Jones, Mrs Manning Bross, assisted by Mrs George Judd and Martha Foust.

Past presidents of the club were honored and presented with corsages by the club president, Mrs Joseph Spousta.

There were 14 of them present. Mrs Jones and Mrs Bross conducted the club in singing many patriotic songs, telling the history of each and circumstances that led to their being written and adopted as national anthems. "America, the Beautiful" composed by Katherine Bates has been selected by the Federation of Women's Clubs as their national anthem.

A Memorial to our former member, Goldie Brooks, was given by Mrs Bross. Mrs Brooks, who passed away April 17, was a leader in many phases of community life. Her interests included The Grange, The Woman's Club, the Church, Music Club and politics. She held local and state offices in many of the groups to which she belonged. She worked always for a better community.

Reports were given by Sandy Nelson and Chris Shatley about their attendance at Girls' State which was held at Olivet. They felt that they learned much about our government and found their experience very worthwhile. They were sponsored by the Club and the Women's Auxiliary.

The St Johns Club will be hostess for the West Central District meeting to be held in St Johns, Oct 17 at the Congregational Church. Registration will begin at 8:30. Luncheon will be served by the Church women. The theme for the meeting is "Our Heritage, in God We Trust". An Arts and Crafts exhibit will be shown. St Johns Club members are urged to attend.

The Club is sponsoring a "Meet Your Candidate" community service Oct 24. This will be held in the community room of the Central National Bank at 7:30. This is open to the public and is a fine chance to meet your local candidates.

The next meeting of the Club will be a field trip to Lansing, Nov 6. This will include the Historical Museum tour and a visit to the State Capitol.

Notice of Hearing Before The Michigan Public Service Commission

On July 15, 1974, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission under §7 of 1919 PA 419 (MCLA 460.57), for approval of an amendment to Rule 10 of Michigan Consolidated's Schedule of Rules, Regulations and Rates Governing the Sale of Gas (M.P.S.C. No. 3) which would authorize procedures whereby certain of Michigan Consolidated's residential heating customers may elect to have their gas meters read only once a year. (Case No. U-4629.) Rule 10 now states that Michigan Consolidated makes "every reasonable effort" to read residential customers' meters at least once every three months. In practice, the Company attempts to read residential customers' meters once every two months.

The application states that over 300,000 of Michigan Consolidated's approximately 850,000 residential heating customers participate in a budget payment plan which permits such customers to pay their annual gas bills in 12 approximately equal installments adjusted annually for actual gas consumption. The application further states that the only meter reading which affects the bills of budget-plan customers is the one on which the annual adjustment is based. Applicant represents that it has received numerous complaints about bi-monthly meter reading from budget-plan customers who consider frequent meter readings unnecessary and annoying.

Accordingly, Michigan Consolidated proposes to amend its Rule 10 to provide that it will make every reasonable effort to read meters at least once in three months "except in the case of a customer (a) who is participating in a budget program under which he pays for annual gas consumption in approximately equal monthly installments and (b) who has made and kept in effect an election to have his meter read annually." Michigan Consolidated also proposes to amend its Rule 10 to provide that when a meter reading is for any reason unavailable it will render an estimated interim bill "unless the customer is participating in a budget program under which he pays for annual gas consumption in approximately equal monthly installments." Michigan Consolidated requests that the Commission approve the foregoing amendments to its Rule 10.

The application states that Michigan Consolidated's proposed Annual Meter Read Program would be offered to budget-plan residential heating customers on a purely voluntary basis and that customers who elect to participate would have the option of withdrawing at any time.

A public hearing will be held at 9:30 a.m. on October 24, 1974, in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913 for the purpose of determining whether the approval sought should be granted. St Johns undefeated, prepare for test against Waverly Kalem Latimer dashes for yards for the Redwings.

By John Phipps
County News Sports Writer

Don't look now but St Johns High is unbeaten and unscored upon in the West Central Conference thanks to Friday's 20-0 thumping of Ionia.

But there are no declarations of greatness coming from head football coach Joe Gonzales - at least not yet. He's pleased with his young team's progress to date but he sees a solid test just ahead.

"This game Friday at Waverly is going to tell us something about ourselves. Waverly is a Class A school and they've got the most speed of any team in the conference. You just can't disregard a team like Waverly."

Waverly has all kinds of reasons to be nasty Friday. The Warriors have suffered the indignity of 2 straight demoralizing losses while being outscored 57-12 against title contenders Grand Ledge and Alma. Any Warrior hopes for a WCAC championship - and they had them - are virtually wiped out.

Then there's the matter of St Johns' 9-0 triumph over Waverly last year.

And if that's not enough, Friday is Homecoming day at Waverly.

But if Gonzales is cautious, he's not running scared. After all, the Redwings are in the early running for the crown and only 2 others have zeroes in the loss column.

Waverly has one basic problem, says the Redwing mentor. "According to our scouting reports they've made offensive mistakes and gotten a lot of penalties."

Mistakes proved to be Ionia's downfall here last week. Four interceptions and a pair of fumbles neutralized the Bulldogs' efforts. 2 of the lost passes accounted for St Johns touchdowns.

"If they were a good team, better than their record indicated, and we found they hit us pretty hard," assessed Gonzales. "They're the biggest team we've played so far and they'll be tough next year if they keep playing like they are."

"We were a little slow getting untracked, but they were tightening up in the middle and we couldn't play our power game."

The Bulldogs keyed on power backs Kevin Knight and Harold Wellman, so Gonzales opted for more speed, inserting backup quarterback Keith Haske and calling upon quick swingback Kalem Latimer.

"That loosened up the game right away," said Gonzales. "They forced us to go outside. Haske has an edge over Brian (Pertler) in speed, so we used him for a while. Latimer came up with crucial yardage when we needed it because of his speed."

Haske finished with a banner night in the statistical summary and was chosen Offensive Player of the Week. But that didn't necessarily guarantee him a starting position at Waverly. Gonzales has the happy problem of choosing between 2 quarterbacks he feels are valuable.

"Brian might start Friday. He's a good quarterback, and remember he had a great night against Holt 2 weeks ago. We'll see how it goes in practice this week."

Pertler opened against Ionia, giving way to Haske midway through the 2nd period. He returned in the 4th period to gain 42 of his 47 yards rushing.

Haske, meanwhile, gained 27 yards himself, including a 1-yard scoring run that gave St Johns the only points it needed to win. He completed a pair of passes to Ken Randolph for 16 yards. One went for a 3rd period touchdown and came after Haske's 2nd interception of the night on defense. His 1st burglary netted a 30-yard return.

And to make his night complete, Haske deflected another Ionia pass, setting up Jeff Thornton's interception.

The other interception for St Johns came when Tim Knaus stepped into what seemed a sure-completion of a long touchdown bomb in the 2nd quarter. "The pass was right on the money to the receiver and it might have scored, but Knaus timed it right," praised Gonzales. The Redwing defensive back scampered 54 yards with the pass to score the 2nd St

Johns touchdown. St Johns got on the board at 5:55 of the 2nd quarter after Haske directed a relentless 71-yard drive. He capped it from the 1 yard-line and Knight kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead. The kick failed after Knaus' scoring runback 2 minutes later, but it didn't matter on the scoreboard. It was 13-0.

Haske's 3rd period interception gave it to the Redwings on the Ionia 29 yard line and Randolph took a 4-yard aerial into the end zone at 2:30. Knight's kick made it 20-0.

Ionia penetrated the St Johns 20 yard line several times but fumbled or bumbled before getting a chance to score.

Bulldog Marty Cummings finished with game honors in rushing, lugging the ball 33 times for 106 of the visitors' 132 yards. The Franciscos - Clyde and Shane - wound up with Ionia's most tackles, 15 and 12, respectively.

Knight, meanwhile, paced the Redwings with 39 yards in 19 carries. Wellman and Latimer each added 21.

Thornton, Defensive Player of the Week for the 2nd straight game, came up with 19 tackles from his linebacker spot (13 were 1st hits). Nick Koenigsnecht was outstanding at defensive halfback with 9 of his 11 tackles as 1st hits. Ted Luznak added 10 tackles.

The teams were even in most statistics. St Johns held a 12-10 edge in 1st downs, and a 16-9 advantage in passing yardage. Each team tried 7 passes; St Johns completed 2 and had a pair intercepted. Ionia completed 1 to Ionia and 4 to St Johns. Each team drew 3 penalties for 25 yards. Each team had the ball a total of 24 minutes.

St Johns out-rushed the visitors 193 yards to 132 and fumbled once without losing it. Redwing Mike Simon recovered 1 of 2 Ionia fumbles.

"I want to recognize the important role scouting has played in the season so far," said Gonzales. "We've had excellent scouting reports and that has helped us to prepare well for each game. And Jan Szymczak and Bob Tissot had done a real good job in coaching the defensive backs. Offensively I was very happy with the play of our tackles, Carl Bashore and Jeff Hazel and with Dan Whitmore on both sides."

Ionia has the dubious distinction of having suffered all 4 defeats by shutouts while yielding 114 points to the opposition.

Grand Ledge leads the WCAC with a 3-0 mark and is 4-0 overall. Alma and St Johns follow at 2-0 in the league and 3-1 overall. Waverly and Hastings are 1-2 in the conference. Charlotte is 0-2 and Ionia brings up the rear.

Grand Ledge has scored 90 points while allowing 18 in 4 games. Its most serious challenge in the near future may come at Alma Oct 18.

There goes the defense--there goes the pitch-out to Kalem Latimer--here comes yardage for the St Johns Redwings.

Rossow to the rescue for Ferris State Bulldogs

BIG RAPIDS - Dave Rossow would have made a great Boy Scout poster boy. The Ferris State center from Fowler has been staying prepared and it paid off. Rossow, shoved into a starting role due to an injured regular, passed his first test with flying colors.

"We were really pleased with Dave's effort against Ashland," said Robert Eiford, Bulldog offensive coordinator. "It was his first start at that position and he controlled his opponent most of the time."

The encouraging performance by the 5-11, 193-pound junior certainly eased the concern of the Bulldog coaching staff after the loss of vet Mark Sarver. Sarver suffered a knee injury against Hillsdale and will be out for the season.

Prior to Rossow proving himself, the center position was up in the air and could have been quite a problem. However, he displayed strong blocking and had only one bad exchange.

"He'll get better and better with experience," said Nick Cuso, Bulldog head mentor. "He's a smart player who adjusts rapidly."

Rossow spent some time at defensive end and nose guard and has overcome several injuries in his Bulldog career.

He again will be in the starting line-up when Ferris State travels to Pella, Iowa, this Saturday night to meet Central College. The Bulldogs host Franklin College at 1:30 pm on Sept 28 before putting their Great Lakes Conference lead on the line at Grand Valley State Oct 5.

Girls' varsity cagers nipped by Ionia

ST. JOHNS - The Redwing Varsity squad dropped their conference opener to a hard fighting Ionia squad 44-40.

Julie Harris put in 10 points to lead Redwing scorers while Linda Eisele put in 7 points.

The Redwings' next home game is Oct 8, they will be hosting Hastings. Game time is 6 pm.

The St Johns Redwing junior varsity girls basketball team opened conference play on a winning note, slipping past Ionia 26-25.

The game was sent into overtime when at the end of regulation play the score was deadlocked at 24-24. The entire squad saw action in that game.

Marcia Thelen led St Johns scoring with 7 points while Elvinda Martinez and Darlene Skym each put in 4.

The Junior Varsity have a 2-0 record.

It's a tough one, but Fowler remains unbeaten

LAINGSBURG - Fowler's powerful Eagle offense ran into some problems Friday night at Laingsburg, but Fowler preserved their undefeated and unscored upon record with a 14-0 victory over the Wolves.

Eagles have played this season, Laingsburg piled up 182 yards rushing to 56 for Fowler. However, in the passing department, the Eagles struck for 79 yards while Laingsburg finished the contest with 19 Fowler coach Steve Spicer had praise for the CMAC opponent "Physically," he said, "they beat us except for a ball club."

Laingsburg has had trouble getting untracked this season and, although expected to a strong contender, hold a 1-3 record.

Fowler scored 1st in the contest when Terry Thelen crashed in from the 3-yard line. He also took in the 2 point conversion for an 8-0 Fowler lead.

The only other score of the game came in the 2d quarter and, this time, Terry Thelen tossed an 11-yard scoring pass to Dean Schrauben. That score came after Keith Feldpausch intercepted a Laingsburg pass.

The Eagles then drove 30 yards and the score. The interception was 1 of 2 for Feldpausch.

For the 4th week in a row, the Fowler defense turned in an outstanding performance.

In the 3d quarter, Laingsburg controlled the ball for 7 straight minutes, but the Eagles didn't allow them to put the ball in the end zone.

Spicer praised the 4th straight shutout by the Eagle defense, the 4th coming in a game when the Fowler coach said, "Laingsburg had the ball most of the night."

Coming in for particular praise was the Eagle defensive backfield. The Laingsburg passing attack was unable to penetrate the backfield for more than 2 out of 13 passing attempts.

Three of those passes were intercepted. Keith Feldpausch had 2 of them and Dave Schmitt picked off another, turning in a strong performance at his safety position.

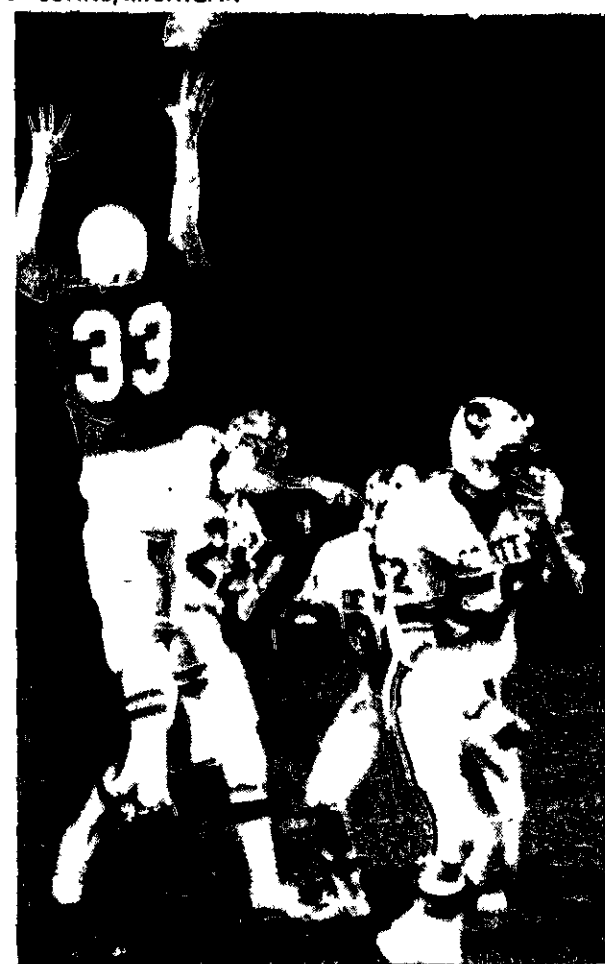

Ralph Feldpausch led the defense with 16 tackles and the defensive play of Ron Johnson, who played the 2d half at the nose guard spot, also earned the praise of Spicer.

Offensively, quarterback Mike Graff provided the most yards, completing 4-of-7 passes for 58 yards. Terry Thelen led the rushing with 26 yards and was 2-for-2 in the air for 21 yards. Thelen also aided the defensive cause with 11 tackles.

It's Little Brown Jug time Friday when Fowler travels to Potterville for the annual battle for the Brown Jug. Fowler has held the annual rivalry prize for the past 2 years.

Potterville is currently 0-4, falling Friday to Fulton 6-6.

Fowler is tied with Fulton and Pewamo-Westphalia for the CMAC lead with 4 victories and no losses apiece.

The pass beats the onrushing defense as DeWitt edges Bellevue in overtime.

Another overtime for DeWitt, this time they're the winners

DEWITT - Win or lose, the DeWitt Panthers give the fans their money's worth.

For the 3d week in a row, DeWitt football followers got a little more football for their money with the Panthers going into overtime the past 2 Friday nights.

It wasn't quite so enjoyable 2 weeks ago when they fell to Pewamo-Westphalia 3-0, but Friday was a happier story as they took a 12-9 overtime win over Bellevue.

As regulation time ended, the score was knotted up 6-6. Bellevue then took the lead with a field goal 9-6. But, DeWitt came right back when they took possession to go ahead for the win 12-9 on a touchdown.

Jeff Chandler had the game's first score when he put the Panthers ahead 6-0 on a 12-yard run in the first quarter.

Bellevue came back in the 3d period and scored on a 6-yard run to tie the game.

Following Bellevue's go-ahead field goal in overtime, Chandler again scored for the Panthers, going in from the 2-yard line.

DeWitt is now 2-2 in CMAC play, tied with Bellevue for 2d place.

Fowler, Fulton and Pewamo-Westphalia are tied for the lead with perfect 4-0 records.

DeWitt will take on 1 of those undefeated schools Friday night when they host Fulton.

Fulton defeated Potterville this past Friday 16-6.

Skorich leads Bath to 14-8 victory

PERRY - Montee Skorich tossed Bath to their 2d conference win of the season Friday with a victory over Perry and a share of the Ingham County League.

Bath had a little help on their way to their 2-1 record and a 5-way tie for the lead when Stockbridge knocked off previously undefeated Leslie 12-7.

Skorich led the Bees to a 14-8 victory, throwing for 2 touchdowns, and also tossing a 2-point conversion pass.

The Bees launched a 67-yard drive in the 2d quarter and Skorich capped it off with a 6-yard touchdown pass to Joe Green.

In the 3d period, Dan Bass set up another score when he recovered a Rambler fumble on the 28-yard line.

Shortly after Skorich threw to Steve Hawks for 6, he then hit Mark Graham with the 2-point conversion throw.

Perry got on the scoreboard in the final period on a 1-yard plunge and pass for the 2-point conversion.

The Bees travel to Pinckney Friday night.

Ovid-Elsie falls to running attack of Corunna's Lawcock

CORUNNA - Ovid-Elsie ran into a 1-man football team Friday as Ray Lawcock scored 4 touchdowns for Corunna as they upended the Marauders 28-21.

In the 2d half and put across touchdowns by Jack Bashore on a 15-yard run and Ted Geiger on a 16-yard score. Quarterback Perry Munson kicked the extra point to put Ovid-Elsie out in front 21-21.

However, Corunna chomped out a strong running game with Lawcock doing most of the damage.

Late in the 4th quarter, Corunna put together an 80-yard scoring march with Lawcock scoring the winning touchdown, going 10 yards around end with 4 minutes left in the game.

Coach Mark O'Donnell said he was disappointed in losing, but was encouraged by the team coming back after being behind 20-0 to almost pull out the win.

He added, "I don't like to make excuses for losing, but we had 3 starters out with injuries."

Dean Hibbler had 18 tackles the week before against Bullock Creek, but suffered a broken wrist.

Bryan Welton, who had 15 tackles at Portland, is out with cracked ribs.

The Marauder captain, Gregg Martin, also missed the game because of a knee injury.

Lawcock, who has been a starting halfback for Corunna for 4 years, picked up 309 yards during the game. He ran 80 yards for his first touchdown in the 1st quarter and later added a 12-yard scoring run.

In the 2d quarter, he went 55 yards on a counter play and, with his team behind 21-20 late in the 4th quarter, he picked up his final TD on a 10-yard run around end.

Ovid Elsie scored their 1st touchdown with only 2 minutes left in the 1st half and trailing 20-0. Ovid-Elsie punter Ted Geiger booted a high 60-yard punt that Corunna fumbled on the 10-yard line. On the 1st of tense play for the Marauders, halfback Paul Case went over for the touchdown and Jack Bashore ran in the 2-point conversion for a 20-8 score going into the 2d half.

Ovid Elsie came out roaring in the 2d half and put across touchdowns by Jack Bashore on a 15-yard run and Ted Geiger on a 16-yard score. Quarterback Perry Munson kicked the extra point to put Ovid-Elsie out in front 21-21.

However, Corunna chomped out a strong running game with Lawcock doing most of the damage. Late in the 4th quarter, Corunna put together an 80-yard scoring march with Lawcock scoring the winning touchdown, going 10 yards around end with 4 minutes left in the game.

Coach Mark O'Donnell said he was disappointed in losing, but was encouraged by the team coming back after being behind 20-0 to almost pull out the win.

He added, "I don't like to make excuses for losing, but we had 3 starters out with injuries."

Dean Hibbler had 18 tackles the week before against Bullock Creek, but suffered a broken wrist.

Bryan Welton, who had 15 tackles at Portland, is out with cracked ribs.

PORTLAND - The victory express continued for the Pewamo-Westphalia Pirates Friday night as they picked up their 4th straight win with a 32-6 romp over Portland St. Patricks.

Their record ties P.W. for the CMAC lead with Fowler and Fulton, all with perfect 4-0 records.

And the Pirates won't have long to wait to defend that record.

The Pirates take on Bellevue in their Homecoming contest this Friday and, then for the next 2 weeks, the schedule reads Oct. 18 - Fulton Oct. 25 - Fowler.

In Friday night's win over St. Pats, Larry Theis rapped the hosts for 3 touchdowns. He scored the 1st three touchdowns for the Pirates, the 1st coming in the 2d quarter for the only score of the 1st half.

But, the Pirate offense started invading the end zone in the 2d half, with Theis scoring the next 2 P.W. touchdowns, followed by Luke Pohl and Duane Weber.

The 1st TD by Theis came on a 76-yard run and he added 2 more, 1 from the 61 and the other from the 5.

Pohl scored from the 20 and Weber went in from the 45. St. Pats scored on a 5-yard scoring run by Bill Peakes.

Pirates unbeaten in 1974 Theis runs for 3 touchdowns, Pewamo-Westphalia rolls 32-6

Back Through the Years

From the Clinton County News files of 1973, 1964, 1949

ONE YEAR AGO
Oct 11, 1973

The Clinton County Board of Commissioners didn't say "no" Tuesday, but they certainly didn't say "yes". Members of the County Road Commission appeared at the meeting to ask the board for $300,000 for road projects, but the board suggested the Road Commissioner go to the people for money.

Bath Community School District voters go to the polls again Oct 15 to vote on a portion of the ballot omitted in last election. Bath voters by a 522-389 margin approved new school financing proposal July 30. However, the portion of the ballot explaining a new high school would be built was not included and a new election was required.

The E F Boron Co of St Johns will be celebrating their 50th year of serving St Johns and surrounding communities with a store-wide sale beginning Wednesday Oct 18 thru Oct 31.

A birthday party Saturday night at Jeanne's Beans in St Johns honored the 96th birthday of Mrs Theodore (Effie) Townsend, a resident of Rivard Nursing Home.

Gary L Light has been promoted to vice president and controller of Aero Mayflower Transit Company, Inc.

A St Johns area college student could be the recipient of a Rotary Foundation educational award in any of 1 to 4 types of fellowship categories. According to Brandon C White, Jr, St Johns Rotary president, the club is seeking young men and women in this area as candidates for special awards toward study programs abroad, during the 1975-76 scholastic year.

TEN YEARS AGO
Oct 8, 1964

Mass immunization against polio through use of the Sabin oral vaccine has been postponed for the time being in Clinton County by the county Medical Society.

Earl H Mitchell, 52, of San Angelo, Tex. was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor Friday after the truck he was driving hit another auto on north US-27. The truck was hauling one car and towing another when Mitchell rammed the rear of a car driven by Louie F. Sipkovsky, 42, of R6, St Johns. Neither man was hurt. Mitchell was fined $75 and paid $15 court costs to Justice of the Peace Robert Wood.

The Dog and Suds Drive-In at North Clinton Avenue and North US-27 was broken into early Thursday morning and a safe containing $200 was taken.

Nearly $5,000 has already been donated to the Clinton County Communities Chest as the drive toward the $29,000 goal begins to pick up steam.

More than 200 Clinton County people are expected to greet Mrs Lenore Romney, Michigan's first lady when she comes to St Johns next Tuesday noon Oct 13 to speak on the topic: "Politics and Principles"

James Burman, Jr, 30, of Grandville, was instantly killed Sunday at 10.15 am when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car driven by Miss Wanda Rouse, 32, of Bellevue, at the intersection of US-16 and M-100 in Eagle Township.

For the second time in two weeks an itinerant magazine solicitor was hauled into court here Tuesday on criminal charges. Both solicitors were employees of the Union Circulation Company of New York.

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS
Between the lines with Jim Edwards

President Gerald Ford's tact since taking office seems to be a form of "run-it-up-the-flagpole" diplomacy.

Recently he has announced intentions of 1 sort or another. When those intentions are met with a great cry of protest, it is announced that different measures will be taken.

I think it's a good system and I intend to put it to use myself.

For instance: "Good morning, I've come to demand a raise and if I don't get it this minute, I'm going to throw myself out the window."

Answered by: "You're out of your mind. And go ahead and jump - nobody ever got hurt too much jumping from a 1st story window." The result: "Yes, sir, you are perfectly right and anybody should be able to see that a raise is out of the question at this time."

The same tact could even be used on the home front: "Dear, the boys and I are getting up a little poker game tonight so I won't be here when your mother arrives. Don't wait up."

Answered by: "If you take 1 step out of this house before my mother gets here, I'll break your legs in 40 different sections. And, you can forget about leaving after that too. You got that?"

The result: "You know, you're right. I really don't feel like going anywhere tonight. I think I'll just hang around the house for the evening."

You might even use the theory in other areas of life. Take, for instance, when the man in blue pulls you over:

"Good afternoon, officer. Beautiful day isn't it? Say, you probably pulled me over because you think I'm exceeding the speed limit. Well, hah, hah, as a matter of fact I was. But, the truth is I've got a very important meeting with the mayor and I'm just a bit late, so I was pushing it a bit. I'll explain what a great guy you were about the whole thing, letting me go and all."

Answered by: "I don't care if you're going to see the Queen of England. You were going 15 over the speed limit and I'm going to write you up and I oughta give you another ticket for being such a smart guy and trying to hand me that line of baloney."

Result: "Of course, you're right, officer. By all means, I deserve a citation and, in fact, should be insisting upon receiving one."

"If It Fitz . . .
It's for my own good

"When he decided to give an international party in honor of his nation's birthday, the Shah of Iran dispatched agents across the world to buy a multi-million dollar collection of antiques to insure the comfort of his guests."

That's a quote from the society page of the Detroit Free Press. The article told how to entertain successfully. It was full of tips from "leading party-givers."

The Shah's party reminded me of my 40th birthday party. My wife dispatched an agent (me) to a local undertaker to borrow 6 folding chairs for the comfort of our guests.

ANOTHER TIP: "Belgian-born actress Mireille Wilkinson often entertains her guests with an invitation to meet the family pets, followed by a game of croquet on the front lawn of her Grosse Pointe home."

That's not such hot stuff. I gave a party starring a frog. It had escaped from my son's jar and I chased it all over the house, trying to capture it with a saucerpan. My plan was to slam the pan over the frog, thus jailing it to the floor. After dozens of abortive slams, a busted coffee table and a chipped sink, I finally pinned the frog to the carpet.

The next problem was to free the frog outside. Several guests said it should be killed, preferably flushed to death, but I insisted upon the humanitarian way while loudly singing "Born Free." I slid the pan along the floor toward the door. Unfortunately, there were tri-level complications. It wasn't easy to keep that frog in captivity while going upstairs. The pan had to be handled with great dexterity. But I made it to the front lawn. The frog lived to croak again.

Our guests, considerably impressed, offered suitable toasts and crowned me with a pith helmet hastily converted from a lamp shade. You didn't read about it on the Society Page, but that's how to entertain, man.

ANOTHER FREE PRESS TIP: "Mireille Wilkinson depends on complete advance planning to free her once the party gets underway. Her dinners are cooked well in advance and frozen until they are needed."

Big deal. My wife cooks once a year, on Thanksgiving. She wraps the left-overs in foil and stacks them in the freezer. This not only feeds guests, it also feeds the family. Of course, she also gets catering aid from Sara Lee, Swanson and Colonel Sanders. This wise planning gives her enough free time to mingle with the guests, monitor table manners, and run the world.

The Free Press recommends "dinners for groups that can be divided by eight for intimate seating."

We once had a party divisible by eight and the seating certainly was intimate - 8 people on every folding chair we sat around and counted off. Every 8th person was required to sit on the bottom. These people were indelibly marked by the success of this party. The name of the undertaker was imprinted in reverse on their buttocks.

ACCORDING TO THE Free Press, when Henry Ford II entertains, "his favorite guests call him Hank and he delights in leading the orchestra through 'When the Saints Come Marching In.'"

Me and Hank. That is also my favorite party song. I delight in playing a 33 rpm record of it at 45 rpm. If there are any saints around my house, I always say, they had better run, not march.

My favorite guests call me Stupid.

More energy--
more savings

Energy chief John Sawhill has told Americans that one energy restraint-a ban on outdoor Christmas decorations-will not be needed this winter. The general prospects for fuel supplies look good. However, as vigorously emphasized at the economic summit conference, the administration ought to take a strong lead in encouraging energy conservation as the new American way of life. The long-run reasons for conservation should constantly be kept in mind, along with the currently severe pressures at home and abroad.

In this light, we were encouraged by a recent Harris survey that showed Americans continued to conserve fuel through the summer even after former energy chief William Simon's unguarded remark last spring that there would be "plenty of gas" for the season.

Despite the availability of gasoline for motoring and the infrequency of power shortages around the country, seven in 10 families said they continued the conservation measures they had adopted during the February-March energy crunch. Two-thirds of the public have been holding to the 55-mile-per-hour national speed limit and have been curbing driving. One-third of the public eliminated a planned long auto trip. More than half of those families with air-conditioned home made cutbacks.

The survey showed that two-thirds of the country feel Americans waste energy. Their motive for conserving, then, is not simply to avoid shortage, but to avoid waste. This attitude provides a good base for the kind of continued national energy-conservation effort the administration should encourage.

ALMA -- Many successful hunters have a secret that pays off handsomely for them. If more of us used it we could all benefit.

These wise hunters understand that, despite the fact that thousands of acres of state land are open for hunting, some of the very best hunting conditions exist on privately held land.

One look at the proliferation of "No Trespassing" signs would suggest that the landowners are getting sick and tired of having uninvited guests on their farms.

Although the vast majority of hunters do respect private property, a hardcore, small though it is, of violators is present for every season.

They not only violate game and fish laws but with equal disregard, they violate private property. These are the same type of individuals who carry a pair of wire cutters. They cross fences in any fashion that suits their mood. "Why walk to a solid post when I can ride the fence down right here?"

These kinds of "Sportsmen" will always be with us, I don't mean that they'll be hunting with us, for in fact they are hunting "against" us!! Each of their selfish acts tends to give each and every real sportsman a black eye.

In spite of the fact, that we are not quite to that point in time when we will see nothing but "hunt-for-pay", some understanding sportsmen are already making modest cash contributions to owners on whose land they wish to hunt.

I'm not advocating that each time you approach a strange land-owner you should do so with a twenty in your hand, I am suggesting however, that if you think you would like to hunt a given farm on a regular basis it would be an excellent idea to stop and spend some time with your farmer-host. You may be pleasantly surprised to find that the same guy, who places those signs on every post, is in fact a pretty nice person.

Remember too, that the farmer is a businessman with a huge investment in land, buildings and equipment. In addition to the fact that he likes his life as a rural businessman, he also hopes to make a living for he and his family.

An offer to pay for hunting privileges on a non-exclusive basis, of course is always in order. Whether or not he accepts is something else! He will expect that you will always park your car where it can be easily recognized. He will also expect you will not bring hordes of friends when you hunt. I think you will find that, all in all, landowners are darn good folks, who respect the land and hope you will too. Good hunting!!

Vocational rehabilitation saves money for Social Security

The Social Security Administration has saved $189 million from 1966 to 1974 through vocational rehabilitation. Harold Anderson, acting district manager of the Lansing social security office, announced today that during this 8-year period over 56,000 beneficiaries have been provided rehabilitation services.

As a result, in excess of 14,000 beneficiaries have been rehabilitated, and their social security checks stopped. This means that 1 out of every 4 disabled individuals who are provided services are able to return to gainful work.

The Social Security Administration, by law, is required to refer disability beneficiaries for vocational rehabilitation so that as many as possible can be restored to useful, productive lives. Because of the effectiveness of this program, the Administration saves about $2.50 in benefit payments for every trust fund dollar spent for vocational rehabilitation, noted Anderson.

Obviously, not all people benefit from vocational rehabilitation. For this reason, only disability beneficiaries who appear to have potential for rehabilitation are referred to the Michigan Vocational Rehabilitation Agency for their services.

Further information on disability benefits or vocational rehabilitation can be obtained by going to the Lansing social security office at 838 Louisa Street, or calling 372-1910.

MRS RICHARD WELS WORKS ON A ONE-TO-ONE LEVEL WITH A CENTRAL SCHOOL STUDENT.

The Nixon Pardon

Editor's Note: The following was provided the County News by Paul A. Milich, special assistant to the president for public affairs.

President Gerald Ford's pardon of former President Richard Nixon jolted the Nation by its timing and suddenness. Why did President Ford take the action he did when he did? Although thousands of words have been written about the pardon and speculation has been rife, too little attention has been paid to the explanations given by Mr. Ford during his nationally televised press conference of September 16.

There may still be millions of Americans who are looking for other reasons to explain Mr. Ford's action, but the fact remains that he did — in fact — furnish them with a full explanation of his pardon decision during his press conference. It might be well to review his stated reasons when pulled together in one place. First of all, as he told the Nation, he was informed by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski that because of prejudicial publicity it would take probably nine months to a year or longer before a Nixon trial could get underway. Even then it might be questionable whether there could be a fair trial.

The President noted that the Special Prosecutor's Office was investigating 10 areas in which the former President may have been involved. The Special Prosecutor's Office pointed out that none of these areas of investigation "has risen to the level of ability" of the Prosecutor's Office to "prove even a probably criminal violation" on the former President's part. This list was made public by the White House Press Office. It was in addition to the Watergate cover-up matter, about which no comments were made by, or received from, the Special Prosecutor's Office.

In connection with that explanation, Mr. Ford went on to note that "the acceptance of a pardon can be construed by many, if not all, as an admission of guilt." The President further noted that "38 members of the House Committee on the Judiciary — Democrat and Republican — have unanimously agreed in the report that was filed (with the House) that the former President was guilty of an impeachable offense" involving the Watergate cover-up. The President flatly and unequivocally stated his chief reason for pardoning Mr. Nixon at this time:

"The main concern that I had at the time I made the decision was to heal the wounds throughout the United States. For a period of 18 months or longer we had had turmoil and divisiveness in American society. At the same time the United States had major problems both at home and abroad that needed the attention of the President and many others in the government. It seemed to me that as long as this divisiveness continued — this turmoil existed, caused by the charges and countercharges — the responsible people in the government could not give their total attention to the problems that we have to solve at home and abroad. And the net result was that I was all the more anxious to heal the Nation. That was the top priority. And I felt then and I feel now that the action I took will do that. The major reason for the action I took related to the effort to reconcile divisions in our country and to heal the wounds that has festered far too long."

The President felt that to delay the pardon until after Mr. Nixon had been tried would not serve the best interests of the American people. The turmoil, he felt, would continue until such time as Mr. Nixon was tried, throughout the trial, and for a long period thereafter.

In that vein, he commented during his press conference: "I most carefully analyzed the situation in the country and I decided we could not afford in America an extended period of continued turmoil and the fact that the trial would have lasted a year, perhaps more, with the continuation of the divisions in America."

He added: "I'm absolutely convinced when dealing with reality in this very, very difficult situation that I made the right decision. In an effort, an honest, conscientious effort, to end the divisions and the turmoil in the United States."

The objection is made that the President granted a full pardon to Mr. Nixon but only conditional amnesty to draft evaders and military deserters. In meeting that objection, President Ford noted that Mr. Nixon had been "shamed and disgraced" by having to leave "the highest elective office in the land. And so there really, he felt, was no comparison between the two situations.

Some Americans are contending that the full story of Watergate now will never be known.

In answer to that assertion, President Ford replied during his press conference:

"In the first instance, you have the very intensive investigation conducted by the House Committee on the Judiciary. It came up with volumes of information. In addition, the Special Prosecutor's Office under Mr. Jaworski has conducted an intensive investigation. And the Special Prosecutor's Office will issue a report at the conclusion of their responsibilities that I think will probably make additional information available to the American public. And thirdly, as the various criminal trials proceed in the months ahead, there obviously will be additional information made available to the American people. So when you see what has been done and what undoubtedly will be done, I think the full story will be made available to the American people."

President Ford is personally unshakably convinced that he made the right decision. He is trusting to time to bear him out in that belief.

Bucket Brigade--volunteers help learners at Central School

By Jim Edwards
County News Editor
ST. JOHNS — St. Johns' Central Elementary School has a bucket brigade, but it isn't for putting out fires.

The "Bucket Brigade" program at Central Elementary utilizes community volunteers to aid children experiencing learning difficulties.

The program was started by a group of mothers last spring to assist students in kindergarten through 3d grade in math, reading, spelling or helping youngsters cope with the classroom routine.

Currently, 4 adults are working in the program, but Bud Delavan, elementary counselor, says the school could use 20 more volunteers.

More volunteers needed. A total of 5 students are now benefiting from the program and Delavan said there are many more who could also benefit if there were more volunteers.

Conducted through Delavan's office, the program is coordinated by Maryann Welch.

An important concept of the Bucket Brigade is the one-to-one relationship of an adult aiding the child to overcome a particular learning problem.

Volunteer is "friend" However, the adult volunteer is not looked upon as a teacher, but a friend working with the child as a team to improve the student's learning performance.

A typical volunteer works with 1 student twice a week for about a half hour each time.

Ideally, a volunteer would work with only 1 student, but volunteers do work with 2 at a time. Delavan says, however, they try to keep the students per volunteer to no more than 2.

Volunteers determine which times they will work. Bucket Brigade benefits Central Elementary teachers as well as students.

By having volunteers to work on a one-to-one basis with those experiencing problems, the teacher is able to devote more time to the entire classroom.

Plus, in many cases, there just aren't enough hours in the school day for a teacher to spend time individually with members of the class experiencing difficulty.

Sponsor of the Bucket Brigade program is the Michigan Association for Learning Disabilities.

Under their sponsorship, Central receives materials and resource people to orient the volunteer with the program.

The most recent resource person to come to St. Johns to orient volunteers was Florence Curtis, former administrator of a similar East Lansing program and member of the Michigan Association for Learning Disabilities.

The length of time a student spends with a volunteer is not definite.

Although, a student usually works with the volunteer for several weeks, the number of weeks is determined by each individual situation.

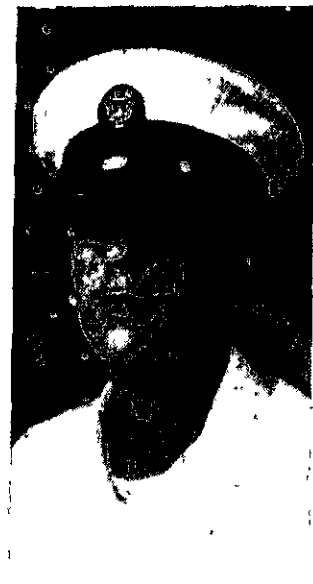

Another School Looks At Program

Currently, East Olive Elementary is considering the possibility of implementing such a program, but it is still in the studying stage at this time.

Community residents interested in volunteering a half hour twice a week may obtain more information by calling Maryann Welch at 224-2915 or Delavan at 224-2394, extension 235.

Volunteers are asked to commit themselves to the program for periods of 1 semester or a year.

Other volunteer programs are also being explored at Central School and persons who would be interested are asked to contact Delavan.

Who pays for extension

Jim Pelham

Clinton County Extension Director

Cooperative extension is listed under County Offices in the St. Johns' telephone directory, but when you drive up to the office on South Oakland Street you immediately see an emblem of Michigan State University. To confuse the matter further, you have been told the United States Department of Agriculture has something to do with extension and you're wondering how it all fits together.

Cooperative Extension is appropriately named, as it is the cooperative effort of all three that make the program possible. Michigan State University hires the professional staff and receives part of its funds from USDA. Agents receive a joint USDA-MSU appointment. Most educational materials are also furnished by MSU and the University assumes responsibility for leadership and training of personnel. Clinton County furnishes office space and equipment, utilities, clerical assistance, all kinds of supplies except University circulars and bulletins and pays agents' travel expenses.

Most information and assistance is provided to any county resident with no further expense, although occasionally it's necessary to pay a nominal charge for an expensive publication or one that was not otherwise funded.

What kinds of educational materials are we talking about? We have information pertaining to all phases of agriculture, but there is much more

At the very moment I am writing this article a scholarly gentleman is looking through our stacks of free educational material, and exclaims, "It's too bad more people don't know what's available." We agree with that statement; and as he leaves, you might be interested in the variety of publications selected. He has five different bulletins on the Harmony in Marriage series, a bulletin on the selection of sheets and pillow cases, Child Guidance Techniques, furnishing fabrics; a rather complete bulletin on improving household storage, several items on home decoration, Outdoor Cookery, Money Saving Main Dishes, insects and related pests of house plants, house plans, design of solar building, upholstery, a guide to selecting carpets and some materials on furniture. Not many people gather so many things at one time; but in visiting with this gentleman, we find he is a student by nature with a broad interest centering on homes and home decorating and remodeling.

Other people come in and pick the shelves for grounds and garden information. Some are interested in fruit production, vegetable storage or insect control or information on various aspects of the tourist industry in Michigan.

Extension agents try to keep up with legislation affecting people in the county and keep the public up to date. A sampling of extension activities can be seen in the "Extension Calendar," a regular feature in the Clinton County News.

Agriculture continues to take the number one spot and agents are visiting farms every week to help with current problems.

Synthia, the University of Michigan talking computer, is contacted by telephone and is used to solve many problems. A farmer trying to decide whether to spend a hundred thousand dollars on an expansion program wants to be sure he will be able to pay the costs and get a return on his investment. By carefully filling out some rather detailed forms, the complete problem can be fed into the computer. The best judgment of a number of specialists and benefit of hundreds of mathematical calculations is then transferred into answers that will greatly assist him in the decision-making process.

The most popular of some forty completely different kinds of computer-answered problems is the dairy ration. High feed costs have narrowed dairy profits to a dangerously low point. The computer figures out the best possible combination of feeds, based on quantities the farmer has and/or prices he has to pay.

Personnel of your county extension office will be pleased to provide you with materials or consultation. If you haven't gotten acquainted, you should stop in at 1003 South Oakland soon! There is a lot more work going on at that address than we can describe in this article!

Glass recycling in 5th year

By JOHN AYLSWORTH

The 4-H Glass bottle recycling project started its 5th year of operation on Saturday, Oct 5, with the Olive 4-H Projects members handling the project. The glass recycling project was started in Oct, 1970, as a community service project and collected 4,920 lbs of glass bottles the first month. The four years total of the 4-H glass recycling project now totals 692,280 lbs. The breakdown of glass bottles recycled by the Clinton County 4-H project is as follows: 1st year: 175,720 lbs; 2nd year: 197,300 lbs; 3rd year: 151,340 lbs and 4th year: 177,920 lbs for a grand total of 692,280 lbs of glass containers recycled into new products, instead of ending up in the landfills, dumps or along county roadsides.

When the 4-H teen leaders started this project 4 years ago, they were looking for a community service project that would benefit the total community, so they decided to collect disposable glass bottles. The idea of "Do Your Thing" for environmental quality improvement was to collect these disposable glass bottles and send them to the Owens-Illinois Glass Plant at Charlotte for recycling into new products. The recycling prevents the glass bottles from becoming a waste product and wasting our natural resources. Not only was this project a community service, but also it turned out to be a money making project as the 4-H'ers received $20 a ton or 1 cent a pound for the old glass containers.

The youngsters collect the bottles the 1st Saturday of each month, sort by color and remove the metal rings before the bottles are crushed. The group broke the first 200,000 pounds of glass bottles by hand using a sledge hammer before they had the glass crusher and elevator made by several 4-H leaders.

After 4 years, the enthusiasm is not as great as it was in the beginning and they are allowing other youth groups to take over different months of collecting glass. The group that handles the project that month gets all the money from the collection.

How successful is the project? It has people talking about what 4-H is doing for improving the community and environment.

Many families, besides 4-H families, have been very faithful saving their glass bottles for the full four years. Also, it has provided the youth groups with a money making project without asking people to buy something or donate to the cause, since people have to get rid of their glass bottles anyway. In four years, nearly $7,000 has been earned by the 4-H teen leaders, different 4-H clubs, Ovid 4th graders, 4-H alumni group, Fowler Senior class, St. Johns Honor Society and others.

Any group interested in taking over the glass collection for a month should contact the County Extension Office in St. Johns by calling 224-3288. The youth groups can "do their thing" by improving the environmental quality around us with the 4-H glass recycling project.

Roller Skating Begins

The 4-H Roller Skating Activity begins this fall on the third Thursday of each month at the Ranch Roller Rink in St. Johns from 7-10 pm. The following clubs have made reservations for Oct 17th: Lucky Riders (15), Snoopy Snoopers (15), Charlie's Gang (20), Fowler Fireballs (30), Riverside Riders (15), Fowler Big D's (35), Prairie (15) and Elsie 4 Corners (33) for a total of 178. Other clubs wishing to make reservations for other months from November to May should contact the Extension Office as soon as possible for your choice of months.

Beautification Project

4-H Clubs are contributing to the 4-H Fairground beautification project to provide additional shade trees and landscape plantings. The Elsie 4 Corners 4-H Club members have contributed $10 and the Green Acres 4-H Club members have donated $5 to this project. Any other 4-H clubs or groups interested in improving the beautification of the fairgrounds may send their contributions to the County Extension Office in St. Johns

Westphalia Officers

The Westphalia 4-H Club members held their organizational meeting and elected the following new officers: Rita Lenneman, President; Janet Rademacher, Vice President; Sue Klein, Secretary and Newsreporter, Leann Thelen, Treasurer; and Susie Platte and Eileen Theis as recreation leaders. Esther Pung, the organizational leader, suggested ideas to the members on buying patterns and material. The recreation leaders have planned a Halloween party. The club members have not yet set the dates they would like to go roller skating. Leann Thelen and Bernadette Weber were the winners of the club raffle.

Dogs Accepted

The Tail Waggers 4-H Club had 2 members' dogs accepted in Sept at the Leader Dog School for the Blind in Rochester for additional training. The two members and their dogs were: Cindy Thornton with Tigger and Scott Wilkie with Tor. The dogs will go through 8 weeks of training and an additional 4 weeks with the blind master.

Olive Elects Officers

The Olive 4-H Projects members have elected Kim Howe as their president for the Winter Program. Other officers include: Cindy Ward, Vice President, Cindy Wohlfert, Secretary, Sue Schneebarger, Treasurer, and Sally Howe, Newsreporter. The club handled the glass pick-up project on Oct 5.

The members plan on going roller skating at St. Johns in November, February and April. The members were informed of Spring Achievement Project Evaluation on March 15 and County Style Revue on March 22. The club has a lot of new members this winter as members signed up for winter projects. The club members will have a potluck dinner on Sunday, Nov 3 at Riley School.

Chloe's Column

Instant ancestors

Chloe Padgett
Clinton County Home Economist

What do your children know about your family's history?

In many families today, the father has a job that keeps the family on the move. This may give the child an opportunity to see other parts of the country and an exposure to others' values and attitudes. Yet it may also keep them from getting to know older family members who remember the good parts of the "good old days". They could tell children first hand experiences as surprising and interesting as they see on television.

Out of necessity the more mobile families tend to have fewer old family possessions. These can help to link family past with family present. Who could blame these families for being practical if they move often, the chances for breaking and scratching the heirlooms is great. And of course, many old pieces of furniture and accessories were sealed to fit in massive old homes, not efficiency apartments or mobile homes.

Some of you have lived in this area all your lives and your parents before you I wonder if your children have any more knowledge of or interest in your family's past than more mobile families do. Sometimes we appreciate least the opportunities closest to us.

Family history has a very cold sound. Maybe it sounds too much like a required course rather than a fun family activity. Nevertheless, many families that find this is of interest to most children over 9 and 10 and nearly always to the parents.

Children have access to excellent books that help them learn something about the attitude of people at the time that Great Uncle John went west with the Gold Rush. Ordinary happenings like Grandma getting a new fangled wash machine to replace the tub and washboard may not mean much if you've never seen Grandma or an old washboard. Yet, as these are identified the activities have more meaning.

What is the real value of helping children become interested in their family background? This may be one way to help children learn respect for their family and as a consequence, greater respect for themselves.

Among the hottest selling items in some large city antique stores are old family portraits of unknown people. They wouldn't sell at all until a sharp advertiser put the sign in the window "INSTANT ANCESTORS". Now they can't be kept in stock. Some people seem to be feeling a need to find out about their background but when they can't, they may invent the history they like.

We all have family history but like the people buying "Instant Ancestors" we may not know much about it. Could you be missing a chance to pass on to your children and grandchildren information that can help you have a greater interest in and respect for family life?

Our thanks to Yvonne Ridder, Missouri Extension Home Economist for some of the ideas used in this column.

Management Seminar in St Johns

A management seminar of interest to anyone who finds himself in a management role will be held at the Central National Bank in St. Johns next Wednesday and Thursday. It is being sponsored by the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Office and all inquiries should be addressed to that office.

Enrollment will be limited to the first thirty persons who send in the course fee of fifteen dollars which incidentally covers all expenses including lunches for the two day session. The seminar has been successfully conducted in many different areas and by a number of instructors since it was first developed by Dr. John Trocke about 4 years ago. Clinton County was fortunate in obtaining the services of Dr. Trocke who plans to personally conduct the program here.

The course includes a well balanced time schedule which delves into such topics as the managers role, management philosophy, principles of organization, leadership, changing management patterns, planning in perspective, analysis techniques, improving communication, the manager and teamwork and principles of motivation.

Bill's Column
Corn rootworm
By WILLIAM LASHER
Extension Agriculture Agent

The corn rootworm comes in three types: the Northern, Western and Southern. The Northern is by far the most common in Michigan and in the country, although the Western has been found in the southwest corner of the county.

The corn rootworm has two bad habits. First, as a larvae, he eats the roots of the corn plants, causing lodging and weakened plants, due to the loss of roots. Second, as an adult, he feeds on the silks of the ear and if he chews them off early enough in the season, the ear will have reduced seed set.

By far, the lodging caused by the larvae eating the roots is the worst of the bad habits. In most years he will emerge from the soil as an adult late enough in the year that nearly all the seed is set.

The lodging starts right at ground level, not part way up as is the case with stalk rot, and the stalks are usually curved (goose-necked) near their bases. This lodging starting at the soil surface greatly interferes with or prevents mechanical harvesting of the corn.

The rootworm has only one generation a year. It lays its eggs in the fall in the cornfield and they overwinter as eggs. Next spring if the field is put into corn again the larvae are ready to begin feeding.

Only if you are growing corn after corn will the rootworm be a problem. Planting the field to another crop, if only for one year, will break the corn rootworm's life cycle. The field could become re-infested when it is returned to corn, if there are plenty of rootworms in the neighborhood.

You can detect the presence of rootworms best by examining the lodged-goose-necked plants for lack of roots and evidence of root tunneling. Seeing the adult feeding on the silks in the fall is not a sure sign you'll have rootworm trouble next spring. If you have lodged goose-necked corn and adults in the fall, then if the field is corn next year, corn rootworms will probably be there.

There are two types of control for the corn rootworm. The cheapest is to rotate your crops because the rootworm can only be a problem of corn after corn.

The other way is to use chemicals at planting time or before. These insecticides must be incorporated into the soil. Planter box treatments do not work to control the rootworm.

Remember the insecticides used are poisonous and care must be used to handle, store and apply them.

Also, to keep residues out of milk, dairymen should avoid the use of chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides such as DDT, aldrin, heptachlor, lindane, chlordane, etc. Read the label before using any pesticide.

For more information and recommended insecticides and rates, get the Extension bulletin "The Corn Rootworm" free, from our office, 1003 S. Oakland, St. Johns.

Carland News

By Mrs Pudge Deming

A neighborhood weiner roast was held at the home of Mr and Mrs Dale Dumond of rural Carland recently with approximately 90 people attending.

Dale had cut a woodlot off, and piled the huge wood pile for a big bon-fire. Neighbors, friends, and relatives brought weiners, buns, the fixins' etc for the fun evening. A hay-ride followed the weiner roast, and a lot of singing was heard.

Everyone had so much fun that they talked of having it an annual affair each year.

The Dumond's daughter-in-law Maggie, made such cute signs to lead the people to the wood-lot, like arrows that read "Keep Sparkin'"—"Big Fire ahead," etc.

Carland's postmistress is home from Owosso Memorial Hospital where she recently underwent surgery and is doing well.

Special attention to all 4-H club members and leaders is urged, as the National 4-H Week is Oct 6-12. The theme this year is "We Can Make It Happen."

For those 4-H'ers who will be buying market steer calves this fall, you can obtain the lists of the different northern Michigan sales from Mr Al Root, the Shiawassee County 4-H agent, if you missed the listings in the paper.

The 4-H Dog Obedience clubs of boys and girls helped at the Shiawassee Kennel Club Fun-Match Celebration. Area residents earned placings in sub-novice, novice-A, and novice-B obedience classes.

Historical Society an active group

The Clinton County Historical Society is a recent active group in the area. At the present time they are recalling an interesting visit to Greenfield Village, are planning to reprint the 1880 County History, and are looking into the possible restoration of the old octagonal schoolhouse which is presently near Fowler.

On Sept 21, the Historical Society visited Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

The village contains restored houses and buildings of historical importance including the courthouse where Lincoln practiced law.

In this building is the chair in which Lincoln was sitting at the time of his assassination.

The Historical Society is in the process of re-printing the 1880 History of Shiawassee and Clinton Counties.

The society is offering this book to those who want an accurate account of the counties' beginnings as well as their progress through much of the 19th century.

Although many people are familiar with the book, it is virtually impossible to obtain a copy, and those copies which are in libraries are not circulated because of their rarity.

Because of this, the society decided to re-print the book. It will be an exact duplication of the old book including biographies of pioneers, pictures of homes of the time, and a most interesting account of the men from both counties who served in the Civil War.

The roster of these men, and the history of their action includes many familiar names, the names of many men who died during that war.

The society will also have bound with the book an inclusive index which was not included in the original history. The index will make it easier for people who are looking up family names and historical events. For information call Betty Moore 224-2025.

The Society has established a committee which is chaired by Judd Bancroft, and whose members are Maurice Apple, Ford Catesar, Doug Carpenter, John Rumbaugh and George Wiskenmann. This committee is looking into the feasibility of restoring the old "round schoolhouse" near Fowler.

This octagonal building is one of only a few such buildings left standing today and is the only schoolhouse of this type. Its historic value is well known and there is a possibility that the society will be able to restore the building.

Gail Foresch was appointed to look into finding federal or private grants to help with the project.

The next meeting of this active group will be Oct 24, at 8 pm in the Rochester Colony Methodist Church in the Rochester Colony. All interested persons are invited to attend. A program on 19th century will be given.

Shiawassee County Cancer Units wins the Goal Key Award of 1974. All participating people in the area should be proud of it's workers. Henry DeGood accepted the award on behalf of Mrs Runyan and the local unit. The award was in honor of the county of Shiawassee reaching it's fund drive goal.

Search to see if the school district owns the land where the Carland School is located is being made. The district owns land south and west of the building, but it is not sure of who owns the land that the school building is on, consequently the search continues.

Many area residents attended the funeral of Mrs William (Dallas) Morrissey this week. Mrs Morrissey of North Carland Road, passed away at the Owosso Memorial Hospital following surgery.
