City income tax under consideration here

A city income tax for St. Johns is under consideration by the city commission.

The tax would be 1 per cent of the taxable income of city residents and .5 per cent of the taxable income of persons who earn their living here but live outside of St. Johns.

The city administration reports such a tax would allow a reduction of at least two mills in the current property tax rate. It would raise approximately $100,000 annually.

City Manager Ken Greer, writing about the commission's consideration of the income tax in the fall issue of the administration's "Municipal Report" mailed to taxpayers this week said the proposal is being considered "as an approach and remedy for the pressing financial problems of St. Johns."

"A CITY INCOME TAX would appear to be the best overall answer to the problem of financial stability for the City of St. Johns," he writes. "Tax dollars raised through this method could be utilized to help support the water and sewer fund of the City of St. Johns which in turn would insure water customers of a reasonable minimum bill."

"At the present time it appears that, without some source of revenue or contribution from the general fund, the only alternative is to AT LEAST double the present water billing."

The commission may have an ordinance creating the income tax ready for introduction and formal consideration at their next meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17. It would probably not be voted on, however, until at least the following session, since the normal procedure does not allow passage of an ordinance at its first reading, or introduction.

The proposed 1 per cent and .5 per cent income tax would produce about $100,000, Greer told the Clinton County News—roughly about $18 per capita, on the average. But a lot of people would not have to pay any income tax because of their limited incomes.

"THE COMMISSION IN ITS investigation discovered there are approximately 24 per cent of the heads of households in St. Johns who are retired senior citizens living on a fixed income. A city income tax would primarily exempt this group of people, while the reduction brought about in property taxes would aid them.

"Investigation also shows there would be a reduction of at least 2 mills in the current property tax rate should the city institute an income tax," Greer wrote in the "Municipal Report."

"This income tax would also provide relief to those who have large families and to many small businessmen who would not have to pay an income tax but would benefit from a property tax reduction."

"The greatest benefit to the overall city would be through the levying of an income tax on the non-residents who work and earn their living in the City of St. Johns and utilize, but do not contribute, to the cost of street construction, repair, water, fire, police, etc."

"ALL OF THESE COSTS ARE PRESENTLY being borne, solely by the property owners of the City of St. Johns," Greer pointed out in the report. "A local income tax on those persons who do not live here but who derive their income within the City of St. Johns would help pay for city services which they use."

"Investigation shows approximately 65 to 75 per cent of the earned incomes within the City of St. Johns are being paid to those persons who work here but live elsewhere."

"Even these people, who although they would contribute to the support of the City of St. Johns, would benefit to some extent, and this local tax would be deductible from their state and federal taxes."

Greer continued his explanation of the possible income tax: "There are certain types of businesses such as the mail order houses, lawyers, dentists, doctors, and other professional persons who now pay only a very small personal property tax who would, because of their relatively high incomes, pay more of their share of the cost of operations of the city government.

"A city income tax is a deductible item from state and federal tax returns for all of those who pay state and federal income taxes."

"ONE OF THE PRINCIPLE advantages for a city income tax is that this is a more equitable and fair way to finance the services of a city, as it is based on the ability to pay. With the exemptions that are granted for retired persons on social security, pensions, gifts, retirement plans, etc., and with the exemptions for large families and a tax that is based on the income tax, insures a fair shake for those people who can least afford to pay taxes."

"An income tax for the City of St. Johns would be a local ordinance that is written into state law and which follows the general rules of the federal income tax and all of its exemptions. Pensions, insurance dividends, retirement benefits, gifts, etc. all would be exempt from this income tax."

"This ordinance would assure tax relief for senior citizens who

Schools ask more millage to finish building program

Another three-quarters of a mill in taxation will be necessary to complete the St. Johns Public Schools' building program, the board of education announced last Wednesday night.

The board voted to submit to voters on Nov. 20 a $250,000 bond issue proposal, the money from which would be used primarily to buy equipment for the new rural neighborhood elementary schools.

District voters will be asked to approve another three quarters of a mill in taxes for 10 years.

In May 1966 the voters approved 7 mills for a $5.4 million building program; in the face of inflated labor costs since that time, the $5.4 million won't quite do the job originally planned.

THE BOARD'S action has been anticipated since January when bids were opened on contracts for the neighborhood schools and they came in higher than had been estimated. The general,

Registration deadline Oct. 20

In order to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 20 school bond issue, property owners must be registered with their township or city clerk by 5 p.m. Oct. 20. Only owners of real or personal property—and husband or wife—may vote in the election, providing they are properly registered.

mechanical and electrical bids alone totaled $1,497,783, more than $32,000 over what the board had hoped to have to pay. The overage prompted them to immediately table bids on kitchen equipment and school equipment, and later many of the equipment items were taken out of the specifications in order to cut the cost even farther.

The board's thinking at that time was to build the buildings to their original specifications and attack the problem of furnishing them later, rather than to cut the quality of the building and be stuck with it forever.

High school bids came in about as expected, but the total overage on construction of all the new buildings and the necessary equipment is expected to be more than what the original bond issue

Call citizen's committee

The 110-man citizens advisory committee that worked with the school board prior to the May 1966 school bond issue is being reconvened next week to work on the current proposed bond issue.

A meeting of the citizens committee will be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the basement of the First Congregational Church.

The citizens committee worked with the school board last year in an advisory capacity and also to help spread information on the needs of the district regarding the building program.

and the interest the school will collect from its investment will provide.

THE INTEREST ON the invested $5.4 million isn't known for sure; it will depend on how quickly the schools will have to draw it out to meet payments to contractors. It could range up to $300,000.

Most of the $250,000 the board is asking for in the Nov. 20 bond issue proposal will be used to provide equipment and furnishings which had previously been cut out of the original plans for the rural neighborhood schools. But even then, some of the cut-out items won't be reinstated, school administrators said.

Also included in the $250,000 bond issue would be money to complete site development at the high school. This phase of the building program is costing more than originally anticipated due to the schools' participation in costs of sewer and street improvements on Slicks Street in the school area.

Chest drive opening

Businessmen, educators, housewives and professional people are on a long list of volunteers who will open Clinton County's annual Communities Chest fund drive next Monday. During the ensuing two weeks they'll be trying to raise $27,000 for the benefit of nine public agencies which do extensive work in the county.

Chairmen for the various phases of the fund drive were announced last week by Mrs. Alvin Thelen of rural St. Johns, Communities Chest president for this year.

They include Ed Idzkowski, Federal-Mogul plant manager, industrial drive; Milo Rowell of E.F. Boron's and Charles Huntington of the Clinton National Bank, business drive; Dr. R.L. Wohlers, DDS, professional drive; Rev. Gerald Churchill of the First Congregational Church, clergy drive; Mrs. Fred (Mary) Meyer, residential drive; Steve Bakita, administrative assistant in the St. Johns Public Schools, school drive; and Mrs. Donna Love, RN, of Clinton Memorial Hospital, hospital drive.

Out-county chairmen include Roman Koenigsnecht at Fowler, Charles Hengesbach at Westphalia, Arthur Newman at DeWitt, Harold Green at Ovid, and Stanley Loznak at Elsie.

The annual kickoff breakfast for the business and industry drive is scheduled for this Monday morning at 7:30 a.m. at Walker's Cafe.

County residents in the rural areas may have no direct contact with Communities Chest canvassers. Letters requesting contributions will be sent to all persons living in the rural areas of the county. The communities chest board is hopeful the direct-mail approach will make contact with every family in the county.

Should the Communities Chest goal of $27,000 be reached this year—it fell $3,000 short of the $26,500 goal last year—the money will be distributed in this manner to the following agencies:

Michigan United Fund $5,000; Michigan Children's Aid Society $600; Red Cross $10,000; St.

Horseshoe stakes damage school units

City police are continuing their investigation of vandalism at the city park and Swegles School last Wednesday night. School officials called to report that three steel spikes had been driven into the metal side of one of the portable classroom units at Swegles. Further investigation showed that they were horseshoe stakes that had been removed from the courts at the city park.

There are more than 80 varieties of trees in the St. Johns City Park.

This is the last week for the popular Newspaper Bingo game in the Clinton County News, and we sure would hate to get stuck with the $150 in prize money that remains to be given away.

The string of every-other-week winners was broken last week when no winners reported in for the second week in a row. That means this week's final contest carries $150 in prize money. Red cards are in play this week, and complete rules are on Page 4-B. Just to get you started we'll put a bug in your ear.

City-school land 'squabble' apparently resolved

GenTel modifies 'information'

General Telephone customers will hear a new greeting when they dial "information" beginning this Sunday, Oct. 15.

In response to the 8.5 million calls the General Telephone customers place to "information" annually, operators will answer with a new phrase more in line with the service extended— "Directory Assistance."

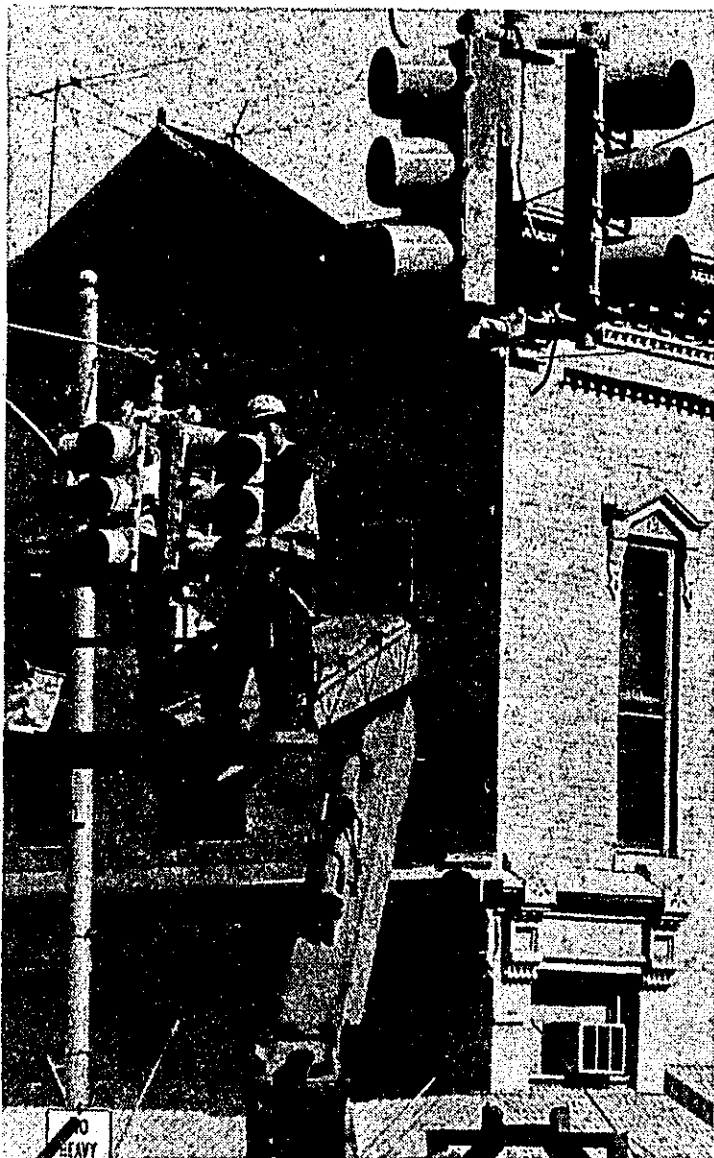

The answering phrase change will be made throughout General Telephone offices in Michigan on Oct. 15 and a gradual change in other "information" procedures will be made as new telephone directories are published.

THE CHANGE is being made to improve the service by reducing the number of requests for telephone numbers which are readily available in the directory and for miscellaneous information, according to R.D. Graves, traffic director for General Telephone.

Graves said "directory assistance" will provide telephone numbers as did "information" in the past; however, if the requested number is in the directory, the operator will advise the customer that the number is listed before providing it.

Although the name of the service has changed and the procedure for handling information-type calls has been altered, the same telephone number—113—will be used to obtain telephone numbers not listed in the directory, Graves added.

NEW TRAFFIC SIGNALS AT CLINTON AND M-21

Drivers at the intersection of Clinton Avenue and M-21 will notice some new traffic signals in the past week. Two lights have replaced the one that hung there previously, and the one hanging over the east-bound lane (away from camera in left picture) has a flashing red arrow at the bottom, permitting a right turn onto Clinton Avenue from State after the driver first makes a complete stop. The intricate insides of the traffic light can be seen more clearly in the right-hand picture. State highway crews installed the new lights last Thursday.

City OKs title insurance but not title search: mayor

A threatening squabble over final sale arrangements for land from the City of St. Johns to the St. Johns Public Schools was resolved Monday in a meeting of representatives of both governing bodies.

Mayor Charles Coletta said Tuesday it was the result of a misunderstanding of the terms used in city commission action a week ago in defeating a motion to provide the school district with a clear title to 6.5 acres which the schools made arrangements to purchase from the city.

"There was no disagreement among the commission as to providing the school with an upgraded title by insuring the title," Coletta said. "But we were not going to invest maybe $1,000 to have a complete title search. We'll give them a marketable, upgraded title."

NEWS REPORTS last week on the commission's refusal to provide clear title touched off a strong reaction from the school board, and Board President Ray Parr issued a strongly worded statement condemning the commission's actions as uncooperative.

"Last year when the purchase of the land in question was agreed upon, the school board assumed that we would be given clear title to the land," Parr said. "Yet now the city commission is refusing to do this. We (the school board) agreed to pay the city $1,200 an acre for the land purchased from them when we paid only $550 per acre for all the rest we bought."

"The board thinks a clear title is only good business," Supt. Earl Lancaster commented last week. The school will not buy the land until we get a clear title. We will accept either an abstract or title insurance."

This was where the misunderstanding occurred, Mayor Coletta commented later. The city is willing to provide the title insurance, but not a title search. The title insurance, it was learned, would amount to only about $72.

THERE WAS apparently some misunderstanding among commissioners concerning the problem, too. The motion last Tuesday night was to provide the schools with the requested clear title, but it lost on a 3-2 vote, with Commissioners John Furry and Mrs. Jeanne Rand voting yes and Commissioners Rex Sirrine and Gerald Irwin and Mayor Coletta voting no.

St. Johns City Atty. Harold Reed, who also serves as attorney for the school board, told the commission that as counsel for the school he would have to recommend that payment not be made until the school has a clear title to the land.

The land involved is somewhat over six acres in size and will be used primarily for a parking lot at the new high school south of the city park. Part of the new high school building, however, will be located on the land and is already under construction. Mayor Coletta pointed out that the $1,200 per acre price the city demanded was a price established by an independent appraiser.

Repair of sewer along tracks OK'd

Repair of three blocks of 10-inch sewer along the Grand Trunk Railroad tracks in St. Johns was approved by the city commission last Tuesday night, following the recommendation of engineers Williams & Works.

The approval, however, hinges on final school board approval in sharing in the cost of the project—$34,023.

The three blocks of sewer have been abandoned for several years but will have to be replaced, engineers say, as the logical way to handle sewage from the new high school on the other side of town. In earlier talks between the school board and commission, the schools had agreed to share the cost of that particular sewer project.

No monetary sum has been worked out as the school's share.

THE SEWER REPAIR will be handled by Smith Construction Co. of Lansing.

Commissioners Rex Sirrine and Mrs. Jeanne Rand were appointed as delegate and alternate, respectively, to represent the commission at the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal Employees Retirement Fund Oct. 18 in Grand Rapids. Robert Ott will be delegate for city employees, with Bob Harris as alternate.

Sirrine and City Manager Ken Greer were named to attend the next meeting of the Hayworth Creek Water Development District. A report indicated some $62,000 worth of cleaning and widening of the creek might be necessary. The northern half of the city would be in the special assessment district created to pay for such work.

The commission upheld a recommendation of the city planning commission denying a request for rezoning of property at 705 E. Railroad Street from residential to industrial. Mark Eaton had requested the change so he could locate a dog kennel there. He was permitted to pour a concrete slab for the three dogs he now has.

ALSO UPHELD WAS a planning commission recommendation denying a petition of Lyle Huntoon to rezone property at the corner of Morton and West State Street from residential to industrial zone. He wants to locate a car wash there. The commission sent the request back to the planners, however, for consideration of rezoning the entire area because of the number of commercial businesses there now.

Immunization clinic Oct. 18

The monthly free immunization clinic in St. Johns, sponsored by the Mid-Michigan District Health Department, will be held next Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the basement of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

The clinic will run from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Persons of all ages are welcome, but children must be accompanied by parents because of the need for signed permission for the free immunizations.

Immunization shots, including measles vaccine, vaccinations and tuberculin skin tests will be given.

Leaf pickup by city starting Rains during the past week have brought on a premature fall of autumn leaves around St. Johns, and city officials remind residents that the city's leaf vacuum will start traveling the streets daily, as weather permits, to pick-up leaves.

The vacuum can handle all leaves that have been raked into street gutters. The rubbish contractor will also pick them up if the leaves are placed in containers.

"Please remember that burning is not a recommended way of getting rid of leaves," the city points out in its municipal report mailed this week. "It irritates noses, eyes, and neighbors. If you still insist and must burn them, do not do so on the public streets."

Parents of youngsters are reminded that it is a dangerous practice to allow children to play in piles of leaves that have been raked into the gutters.

Train and equip yourself to win the prize—and let others explain why they lost it.

New zoning ordinance for county broached

The possibility of completely rewriting the Clinton County Zoning Ordinance was broached to the board of supervisors Monday.

William Rowden of the Tri-County Planning Commission talked with the board about the feasibility and cost of such a project. He mentioned no specific figures.

Rowden told the board Eaton County is having zoning ordinance problems similar to Clinton, and he said it might be possible to write a model ordinance that could apply to both counties. No action was taken by the board.

In related items of business, however, they approved zoning and building code changes in the present ordinance and approved several zoning changes.

The zoning and building code changes had been recommended by the zoning commission Sept. 14, and the supervisors merely concurred with them.

They approved rezoning from A residential to G industrial for a parcel of land in Section 36 of Watertown Township, as well as rezoning from Agricultural to G industrial for land in Section 25 of DeWitt Township.

Bond issue

bond issue would be used for a bus shelter for the district's bus fleet. Buses are presently parked out-of-doors. The school board would like to build two pole buildings, with an open front end, in the area where the buses are presently parked.

WHILE THE SCHOOL board has been giving the extra-money need some serious thought for about six months, their action last week came as a result of information from their bonding attorneys, Thrun and Thrun of Lansing, regarding the amount of millage needed.

The board decided on .75 mill for 10 years because of the savings in interest cost for that time period. Thrun and Thrun told the board that a $250,000 bond issue for a 29-year period (the length of time for the $5.4 million bond issue) would probably carry a 5 per cent interest, which would cost $22,250—or almost as much as the principal amount.

The same issue for 10 years at 5 per cent would cost $62,250 in interest and would require .8 mill in taxes. They felt an interest rate of 4 per cent would be more likely, and this would cost $49,800 in interest, payable in 10 years with a tax of .69 of a mill.

THE SCHOOL BOARD decided to play it safe with an interest figure somewhere between 4 per cent and came up with .75 mill. This would be the maximum tax under this bond issue, Supt. of Schools Earl Lancaster explained. The millage is based on the district's present state equalized valuation, and as the valuation goes up in the future, the millage necessary to meet the bond obligations would go down.

The taxes to pay the $250,000 issue would actually only be assessed for nine years, he said, from 1968 through 1976.

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors will meet again next Monday morning at 10 o'clock for their second session of October after disposing of considerable business in their required meeting Monday of this week.

Monday's meeting was scheduled by law.

The board is still involved in consideration of mental health services for the county. They have been negotiating for several months with Shilawassee concerning the setting up of a two-county mental health unit, and Monday they received a letter from the Lansing Mental Health Board requesting a joint meeting of health committees from Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties to discuss a joint program.

SUPERVISORS Reginald Nelson of DeWitt Township, Derrill Shimbush of Greenbush Township and Elden T. Smith of the City of DeWitt were appointed to a special committee which will meet with committees from Lansing, Ingham and Eaton counties to discuss a Tri-County Airport Authority. This is something the Clinton board proposed several months ago in light of plans by the state to give up control of the airport to the City of Lansing.

St. Johns representatives on the board of supervisors reported that the city has purchased a new air compressor to operate the civil defense siren atop the courthouse. They asked that the county install and hook up the compressor. The county's civil defense committee was asked to meet with the city civil defense committee to discuss the situation.

In other business:

*The board ratified clarifications made by the appropriations and finance committee in original loan details. The board is borrowing $200,000 to operate the rest of the year.

*SUPERVISOR Lorenz Tjeldt of St. Johns was appointed a delegate, with Supervisor Gerald Shepard as alternate, to represent the board at the Oct. 18 meeting of the Michigan Municipal Employees Retirement Fund in Grand Rapids. County employees, by secret ballot, elected County Clerk Paul Wakefield as their delegate, with Mrs. Theresa Lundy as alternate.

*The county equalization report was presented and then tabled until next Monday's meeting.

*County Treasurer Velma Beaufore was instructed to buy blanket bonds to cover township city treasurers in the collection of tax money.

*The board also discussed their search for a civil defense director to replace Charles Frost. Only one candidate has applied so far.

make up at least one-quarter of our total city population. It also would assure large family wage earners and small businessmen that they would not be required to contribute unless their income was such as to provide them with the ability to contribute.

"In order to solve the financial problems faced by the entire City of St. Johns, the community through its city commission must consider what is best and fairest for all concerned. A city income tax is one of the answers for this particular problem and appears to be the most equitable now and for the future," the "Municipal Report" on the income tax concluded.

An auto was torn in half early Sunday morning when it skidded into a Consumers Power Co. pole on East State Street in St. Johns, and its driver was seriously injured.

William J. Suchowesky, 21, of 202 S. Lansing Street, St. Johns, was listed in "serious" condition yet Tuesday morning at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing, with injuries received in the accident. He was alone in the car.

The crash occurred at 12:29 a.m. Sunday. Suchowesky was driving into St. Johns from the east and failed to negotiate the curve in the highway at the east city limits. His car went into a skid and hit broadside a Consumers Power Co. pole 100 feet west of Scott Road on the north side of M-21.

one was hurt.

Larry J. Shepard, 20, of Lansing, also escaped injury when he swerved into an open field to avoid a collision with a car driven by Harold Baker, 46, of Grand Rapids last Wednesday evening. The accident occurred on US-27 a half-block south of Townsend Road. Baker reportedly drove off Townsend Road from the east and headed south. Shepard told police he assumed the other car was going to yield right-of-way to him, but when it didn't he had to swerve to avoid a rear-end collision.

TWO CARS CAME together last Wednesday afternoon at the open intersection of Higham and Prospect streets in St. Johns. Again, no one was hurt. The vehicles were an east-bound pickup truck driven by Harry H. Delozier, 59, of Mio, and a northbound car driven by Alma L. Smith, 77, of R-1, St. Johns.

MAPLE RAPIDS—Safe use of firearms was the course of the day Saturday for 18 police officers attending a state police training school at Maple Rapids. The officers, under the direction of state police Trooper Leonard Speckin, practiced the right methods of shooting at a gravel pit near Maple Rapids.

The firearms instruction was only one of a series of topics being covered in a 40-hour course. The officers from Fulton, Maple Rapids, Essex Township, Elsie, Ithaca and Gratiot County are also taking up the subjects of: Patrol techniques, narcotics, vice investigation, handling abnormal persons, motor vehicle accident investigations, collection and preservation of evidence, crime scene search, criminal investigation, admissions and confessions, interviews and interrogation, laws of evidence, crime prevention, juvenile delinquency, testifying in court, and the laws of arrest, search and seizure.

The class is normally held Thursday evenings. Instructors are from the Michigan State Police training division staff.

THE POLE WAS snapped in two, and so likewise was Suchowesky's auto. It broke in two pieces right back of the dash board, with the front end winding up pointed east on the parking lot of Nick's Fruit Market about 10 feet from the back part of the auto.

Suchowesky was thrown out onto the pavement. He was taken by ambulance to Clinton Memorial Hospital and transferred to Sparrow in Lansing.

The accident was the most serious of a half-dozen or more which occurred inside the city limits of St. Johns during the week.

About 4:30 p.m. Saturday two cars collided at M-21 and US-27, resulting in no injuries but traffic citations for both drivers involved. They were Victor F. Pierce, 55, of Ithaca, and Herbert E. Joslin Jr., 18, of Traverse City. St. Johns police reported Pierce made a left turn east onto M-21 in front of Joslin's northbound auto. Pierce was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way, and Joslin was cited for failure to show registration or proof of insurance.

MARVIN J. Salter, 55, of R-1, St. Johns, was ticketed for failure to report a property damage accident that reportedly took place about 2:20 p.m. Saturday at "Higham" Street and Clinton Avenue in the business district. He reportedly made a right turn onto East Higham and struck the left front of a westbound car driven by Robert L. Sheldon, 20, of R-1, Fowler, No

5 weekend crashes hurt only 1

Clinton County sheriff's officers investigated a series of weekend auto accidents which brought only bruises to one person involved.

He was Henry Findlay, 25, of Howard City, a passenger in a car driven by his wife, Linda, 20. She told sheriff's officers a steering malfunction caused her to lose control as she was driving south on Wacousta Road south of M-21, and the car went into a ditch and overturned. Mrs Findlay and the couple's two children escaped injury. The accident happened early Saturday afternoon.

Clarence O. Mosher, 39, of Lake Odessa, told officers she was driving west on M-21 a quarter-mile east of Fowler when another auto came out of a driveway in front of Mosher. Mosher's car hit the other, but it did not stop.

EARL E. BEAGLE, 47, of 9430 Cutler Road, Eagle, escaped injury when his pickup truck skidded into a ditch on Francis Road a quarter-mile north of Townsend Road Sunday evening. He said the blacktop was slippery from rain.

Henry J. Anderson, 64, of Owosso was driver of a car which hit the left rear wheels of a tractor driven by Tony Fabus Jr., 14, of R-1, Elsie Saturday morning on Shepardsville Road near the Maple River. No one was hurt. Anderson was starting to pass the tractor and wagons it was pulling when the tractor started a left turn into a driveway.

Cars driven by Robert A. Russo, 16, of Lansing, and Wayne L. Heddens Jr., 23, of 5624 Chestnut, Bath, collided on old US-16 at Wacousta Road Saturday afternoon. Both were going west. Russo began a left turn, and his car hit Heddens' car in the right center. Heddens said he did not see the turn signal Russo said he had on, and he thought Russo was going to turn right instead of left.

Needed- 2 flag

poles to show

UN flag

United Nations Day, Oct. 24, will be marked throughout the world by display of the United Nations flag.

Is it proper, as many people believe, to display the Stars and Stripes above the United Nations flag? Not according to the Flag code's protocol section, which says "The flag of the United Nations shall not be subordinated to any other flag."

The United Nations flag consists of a polar projection map of the world, surrounded by two olive branches. The olive branch, of course, is the ancient Greek's symbol of peace and the world map symbolizes the area within which the UN is concerned with achieving peace.

When the U.N. flag is displayed with one or more other flag "on no account may any flag displayed with the U.N. flag be displayed on a higher level than the U.N. Flag."

So if you want to honor United Nations Day by showing the blue banner with Old Glory, better get yourself a second flag pole. You can't correctly fly them both.

Rain dampens scores, but 282 boys compete in PP&K

Rain may have dampened some of the scores, but it didn't hurt the enthusiasm of a record 282 boys who competed Saturday night in St. Johns in the fourth annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition.

The slippery football and a stiff wind into the faces of the contestants kept all scores well below the records set last year and in 1965, but the elements won't affect the chances of the top scorers to advance in the national PP&K program.

Last year the winners' scores were compared with others to determine a zone champion. This year, however, there will be actual zone competition, announced Bruce Fowler of Egan Ford Sales, the local co-sponsor of PP&K.

THE ZONE competition will be Oct. 21 at Lansing Sexton High School, with the winners here competing with top scorers from Lansing, Brighton, Charlotte, DeWitt, Durand, Elsie, Fowlerville, Grand Ledge, Howell, Mason, Owosso, Perry, Portland, Stockbridge, Webberville and Williamston. The Sexton zone winners will go on to area competition.

Here are the local winners in each age group, along with the runners-up:

8-YEAR-OLDS—Bill Nelson of St. Johns, 1st, 136 points; Lawrence Jandernoa of St. Johns, 2nd, 115 points; and Steven Bissell of St. Johns, 3rd, 115.

9-YEAR-OLDS—Eddie Gurski of St. Johns, 1st, 147 points; Randy Moon of St. Johns, 2nd, 141 points; and Ricky Atkinson of St. Johns, 3rd, 141 points.

10-YEAR-OLDS—Lee Thelen of Westphalia, 1st 160 points; Mark Green of St. Johns, 2nd, 157; Darrell Hebel of Ovid, 3rd, 155.

11-YEAR-OLDS—Kevin Knight of St. Johns, 1st, 214 points; Tom French of St. Johns, 2nd, 190; and Wayne Larson of St. Johns, 3rd, 185.

12-YEAR-OLDS—Kevin Witten of Fowler, 1st, 205 points; Bob Spencer of St. Johns, 2nd, 191; and Larry Halimann of Fowler, 3rd, 185.

13-YEAR-OLDS—Burnell Grieve of St. Johns, 1st, 220 points; Greg Lundy of St. Johns, 2nd, 217; and Richard Zapoll of St. Johns, 3rd, 205.

WHILE THE SCORES were short of record high point totals, competition was keen, and in three age groups there were run-offs to break a tie. In the 8-year-old division, Steven Bissell and Jeff Paradise tied for third place with 113 points, and then Bissell won a play-off.

Nine-year-olds Randy Moon and Ricky Atkinson tied for second with 141 points each, and Moon won the play-off, with Atkinson taking third place. In the 10-year-old division, Darrell Hebel won a play-off for third place with Charles Thelen.

Competing were 39 boys aged 8, 63 aged 9, 56 aged 10, 57 aged 11, 38 aged 12, and 29 aged 13. The 282 boys who showed up made the highest number in the four-year local history of PP&K, according to Gene Downing, competition director. There were 329 boys registered—also a record—but because of cold, blustery weather not all showed up to compete.

The younger boys actually had the best conditions to compete under. Only the wind and cold bothered them, but as the 11- and 12-year-old boys began to take their turns rain began to fall, lightly and sporadically at first and then in a hard shower just before competition was finished.

ed were treated to a soft drink and hot dog afterward by Egan Ford Sales. They were served by the St. Johns Jaycees.

Manning the tapes and other measuring devices and score tables were members of the co-sponsoring St. Johns Jaycees and other volunteers. Competition got under way about 6:45 and was completed in about two hours.

Marking a new record for the two-mile course at the Clinton County Country Club, Chenoweth of Charlotte came in first place with a very fast time of 10:09.

Other place winners from Charlotte were Bytwork, second; Wildere, third; Burton, fourth; McGillbra, fifth; and Bytwork, sixth.

St. Johns team captain, Armando Rositas, came in with a time of 11:15, good for seventh place. Simpson, Burgess, Holcomb, and Salazar finished ninth, 10th, 11th, and 12th respectively.

Webberville sweeps past Fowler

FOWLER—Webberville hasn't a very good record against Fowler football teams, but Friday night they made it just a little better than it had been. The Spartans romped to a startling 19-0 victory over Fowler, limiting the Eagles to only three yards rushing and three yards passing.

It was Webberville's Roy McFarland who led the attack against the Eagles. McFarland scored the first touchdown on a 16-yard run in the third quarter and later scored from eight yards out. Dan Force kicked the extra point, and it was 13-0 going into the last period.

Dan Chase got the final touchdown on a one-yard quarterback sneak in the last period.

Webberville, obviously keyed up for the game, was penalized 100 yards and had two touchdowns called back. McFarland picked up 220 yards rushing. Webberville's total yardage amounted to 267 yards.

Fowler and Webberville are both 2-2 for the season and 1-2 in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference.

Either take chances or take what is left by those who do.

St. Johns stays in league race

Redwings' first play kills Comets

St. Johns dealt Grand Ledge a fatal blow on the first play of their football game Friday night, then proceeded to bury them 25-14.

Grand Ledge made a mild attempt to renege in the third and fourth periods with their two touchdowns, but they were the result of a St. Johns fumble in one instance and 35 yards in penalties against St. Johns in the other case.

The Redwings weren't perfect in their ground and aerial game, but they kept things under control the whole game. Penalties hurt—the Wings were set back 101 yards in that category, including yardage that nullified one touchdown and one extra point. Three of Grand Ledge's eight first downs were gifts from St. Johns penalties. The Redwing defense played stout football, as the Redwings set the tone of the game early. Norm Love, the Wings' left end, circled into the St. Johns backfield on the first play, took a lateral and lofted a 34-yard pass to right end Don Palmer. Palmer, all alone on the Grand Ledge 30, scooted unhindered into the end zone for a TD. The score took only 35 seconds to make. John Salemi ran the extra point.

ST. JOHNS SCORED again before the quarter was over. It was set up by a short Grand Ledge punt that Terry Maier returned to the Comets' 16 yard line. Halfbacks Chuck Romig and Salemi picked up 10 yards to the six, and then Salemi swept left end and got the touchdown. Cary Hambleton's running attempt for the extra point was no good.

St. Johns made it 19-0 midway through the second period. They had threatened earlier with a pass interception at the Grand Ledge 19, but the Comets themselves pilfered a fourth-down pass from quarterback Tim Durner in the end zone and took over on the 20.

Grand Ledge was working from a spread formation when quarterback Bob Reedy fumbled a high pass from center and end Ed Molnet recovered for St. Johns on the 15 yard line. Two plays lost two yards, but then Durner connected with end Jon Berkhusen for 17 yards and a touchdown. A penalty nullified Bob Cochran's extra point, and a second try failed.

Score by quarters:

Grand Ledge 0 0 7 7 - 14

Limiting Grand Ledge to -14 yards rushing in the second half despite the touchdowns and to only a net 18 yards rushing for the whole evening.

ST. JOHNS, MEANWHILE, ground out a net 194 yards rushing, added 101 yards passing and had nine first downs.

It was an important victory for the Wings, keeping them definitely in the running for the West Central title, and it satisfied a large homecoming crowd at the St. Johns field.

That crowd came to their feet on the first play from scrimmage

JVs, Grand Ledge tie 13-13

By MIKE GALVACH

In their third conference game the Junior Wings of St. Johns, failed to get by the Comets of Grand Ledge winding up in a 13-13 tie.

St. Johns' Chuck Green took the opening kickoff to the Grand Ledge 30 yard line. Then on a short run by Jeff Slim the Redwings scored their first touchdown of the game in the first quarter. The extra point by Slim was good. In the second quarter the Comets scored on a short run. The extra point attempt for Grand Ledge was good on a run.

On another short run Grand Ledge scored for the last time in the fourth quarter. The attempt for the extra was no good. Then with two minutes left to play, St. Johns' Randy Atkinson threw a pass to Dave Gaffney in the end zone for a TD. The extra point attempt by Jeff Slim on a run failed.

Some of the outstanding players in the game included quarterback Randy Atkinson who played his first game in this position. Defensively Bob Smith and Dave Gaffney played well.

nullified by the penalty came late in the first half. Halfback John Markman exploded off the left side of the St. Johns line, slipped past a couple of attempted tackles, and outran everybody 87 yards to the goal line. The long run was called back because of an offside penalty against the Wings.

St. Johns drew first blood in the second half. Starting a drive at midfield, they picked up three first downs, highlighted by a 20-yard romp by Romig, and Romig finally got the TD from the one-inch line with 6:19 left in the period Mike Green's extra-point kick was wide, and the score was 25-0.

Grand Ledge scored just over four minutes later after recovering a St. Johns fumble on the St. Johns 23. The Redwing defense stiffened for three plays, but on a fourth-and-19 play, Reedy connected with end Paul Emick for a touchdown. Emick added the extra point, and the score was 25-7 at the end of the third quarter.

A bad pass from center on a fourth-down punt play put St. Johns in trouble in the fourth quarter, and Grand Ledge capitalized with the help of 31 yards in St. Johns penalties. The Comets started on the St. Johns 25 and got three first downs from there before halfback Mike Jorgensen bulled into the end zone from the one-yard line. Emick kicked the extra point and the scoring for the night was over.

St. Johns wanted another one on the board, however. They picked up two first downs before running out of time at the Grand Ledge 10 yard line.

The St. Johns offense was an explosive one, featuring some fine runs and pass plays. Halfback John Markman turned in runs of 34 and 23 yards and wound up with 66 net yards for the night. Romig was the workhorse, carrying 11 times for 53 total yards. Bob Cochran picked up 24 yards and John Salemi 21. Don Palmer was on the receiving end of that 64-yard TD pass on the first play, and Berkhusen hauled in another Pursuers include Mike Bashore (21), Tom Dingler (40) and Don Harley (29). Moving into blocking position for St. Johns is Ken Jakus (75). St. Johns won the game 25-14.

Sure hands of St. Johns end Don Palmer reach out to take in a long pass from teammate Norm Love as St. Johns scored on the first play of the ball game Friday night against Grand Ledge.

Ovid grid fan wins contest

Another Ovid football fan emerged the winner last week in the Clinton County News weekly football contest. This time there weren't any ties.

Mark 'Hose' of 206 W. Oak Street, Ovid, missed only two games out of the 16 and was the only contestant among several hundred with that clean a slate. Five others missed only three.

Hose incorrectly picked Holt to beat Okemos and Fulton to beat Carson City. That last game ended in a tie, and all the contestants missed it.

A check for $20 was mailed to Hose Monday. Another such check is waiting to be written out next Monday to the winner of the contest appearing in this week's Clinton County News.

Approximately 3 million units of blood were donated through Red Cross during 1966-67.

St. Pats crushes DeWitt

PORTLAND — The Shamrocks of Portland St. Patrick's, with the scent of a CMAC football title in the air, crushed winless DeWitt 60-0 Friday night at Portland to run their record to 4-0 for the year and 3-0 in the conference.

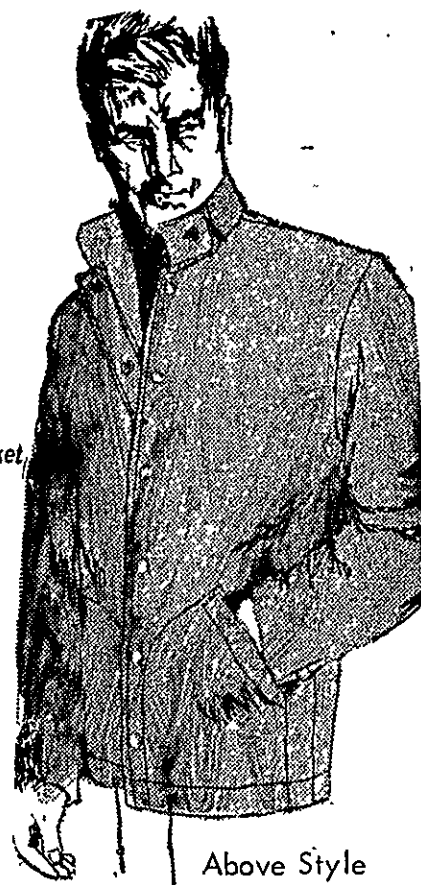

St. Pat's didn't wait long before starting the bombardment. Halfback Terry Morrison, a potential all-stater, scored touchdowns from 25 and 70 yards away the first two times St. Pat's had the ball, and Russ Lennemann's extra point kicks gave them a quick 14-0 lead.

Morrison tallied twice more in the second quarter with runs of 14 and 9 yards, and Charlie Schrauben ran 17 yards and Bill Brown 45 yards before the half was over. It was 40-0 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Art Baker passed 38 yards to Steve Wilcox for a touchdown. In the fourth period, Morrison passed 12 yards to Pat Weller for a score and Frank Denney ran 20 yards for a TD.

Bath, Laingsburg dealt upset losses

Passes bomb Bees 32-21

POTTERVILLE—The Bath Bees had their CMAC title hopes dashed Friday night as the passing combination of Mike Heinze to Mike Taverniti paced Potterville to a 32-21 victory.

It was Bath's first defeat of the year and leaves them in a three-way tie for second place in the league with Potterville and Laingsburg.

Heinze completed 11 passes against Bath's defense and gained 248 yards via the air routes. Taverniti caught six of the passes for 182 yards.

Heinze tossed scoring passes of 55 and 10 yards to Taverniti, and Vic Amey got two other Viking TDs on runs of five and one yards. Jerry St. Johns got the final TD on a three-yard run. Greg Rickle and Heinze scored the extra points. Potterville led 32-0 at halftime.

Bath fought back in the last two periods with their 21 points. Randy Tucker scored on a three-yard run, Warren Baird ran eight yards and Mike Woodruff got the third touchdown on a 13-yard pass from Elias David. Baird, Tucker and Woodruff got the extra points.

P-W raps Wolfpack hopes, 6-0

PEWAMO-WESTPHALIA—The Pirates of Pewamo-Westphalia fired a homecoming broadside at Laingsburg, handing the CMAC title contenders a 6-0 upset defeat.

Coach Bill Mark's Pirates played their best defensive game of the year and didn't allow the Wolfpack any closer to the goal line than the 35 yard line. Laingsburg managed to get 154 yards rushing and 46 yards passing, but it came mostly in short spurts that always died outside the P-W 35.

The Pirates played two-thirds of the game nursing that 6-0 lead that finally did hold up. Jim Bengel scrambled eight yards on an off-tackle play to get the touchdown early in the second quarter. The Pirates had recovered a Laingsburg fumble on the Wolfpack 22 to set the stage for the lone touchdown.

Bengel's attempt at the extra point on a run was no good.

The Pirates gained a net 123 yards rushing Friday night and added 10 yards in passing. Defensively Larry Fedewa and Pat Geller were outstanding in limiting the Wolfpack's game.

The loss dropped Laingsburg into second place with Bath and Potterville; all have 2-1 records. P-W is now 1-2 in conference play.

Time invested in building friendships is the best security.

Marauders roll over St. Louis, 47-0

OID-ELSIE-The Ovid-Elsie Marauders rolled back into the football winning column Friday night, trouncing Mid-Michigan B league opponent St. Louis 47-0 in front of a large homecoming crowd at Ovid-Elsie.

The Marauders scored in every quarter, and the defense, after allowing the Sharks' Rich Vinton to penetrate the line for 57 yards to the O-E 7 on the fourth play of the game, kept the visitors far away from the goal line.

L.D. Jones started the scoring parade with a five-yard run in the first quarter after quarter-back Richard Eastlick had set it up with a 48-yard run to the 5. Jones' kick for the extra point was no good.

AFTER JONES intercepted a St. Louis pass, the Marauders moved in to the Sharks 20 before losing the ball on downs. Ovid-Elsie took it back a few minutes later at their 39, and on the first play end Don Young hauled in a pass good for 50 yards to the St. Louis 11. Jones carried to the 8, and then quarterback Dane Fiegel went in for the TD. Jones ran for the extra point. Just before the half, Ovid-Elsie was on the scoreboard again. Taking over on the St. Louis 46, the Marauders picked up three first downs to the 1-yard line, highlighted by a 16-yard play to Dave DeBols. Eastlick sneaked in for the TD from the 1, and Jones booted the extra point, making it 20-0 at halftime.

A 38-yard touchdown run by Jerry Gazda in the third quarter was nullified by a clipping penalty, but the Marauders were not to be deterred, and minutes later Jones scored a touchdown from the 4-yard line. Lynn Binger ran the extra point.

QUARTERBACK Eastlick picked up his second touchdown of the night a little bit later when he ran 49 yards for the score. Fiegel ran for the extra point, and suddenly the score was 34-0.

But scoring was far from over. St. Louis quick-kicked on the next series of plays, and Ovid-Elsie started another drive from their own 40. Gazda carried 10 yards for a first down, and Jones went 17 yards for another. A series of running plays and a short pass worked the ball to the one-foot line, and Eastlick jammed his way into the end zone for another TD. Binger ran the extra point.

By this time the hour was late, and the Sharks filled the air with the football, trying to get on the scoreboard. Guard Don Wilson intercepted a pass, but on the next play, the Sharks' Rich Vinton swiped one back. Four plays couldn't get any yardage, and Ovid-Elsie took over with three seconds left on the clock. Don Young caught a pass from Jerry Weir for the final TD.

Explosive runs highlighted the game all evening. In addition to those which set up or accounted for touchdowns, Ovid-Elsie's Jones ran 45 yards early in the first period, but the Marauders lost the ball a few plays later on in a fumble.

Fumble recovery saves 0-0 tie

CARSON CITY - Fulton got the big break in their game with Carson City Friday night, recovering a fumble on their own three-yard line in the waning minutes to hold on to a 0-0 football deadlock.

The host Carson City team had a statistical edge, outgaining Fulton 274 yards to 110 yards. Fred Cunningham of Carson City picked up 121 yards rushing.

Unoccupied rural old home burns

Four fire trucks from St. Johns and DeWitt were unable to bring under control a blaze which destroyed a vacant home on West Price Road early Monday morning.

A leaking or defective oil stove in a bedroom of the house was believed to have been the cause of the fire. It was discovered about 5 a.m. Monday by a passing motorist, who woke up neighbors across the road. They called the St. Johns fire department.

The blaze had gotten such a head start that when St. Johns fire trucks arrived they immediately put in a call for stand-by aid from the DeWitt department. St. Johns Fire Chief Clare Maier said the flames were eating into the attic on the west side of the old two-story structure when they got there.

A westerly wind fanned the flames until they brought the whole building down. All that remained standing was a kitchen sink and oil tank.

The home, located on the old Waltz homestead, was on the south side of Price Road about a quarter-mile east of DeWitt Road. It was unoccupied at the time, but the Charles D. Saunders family had recently purchased the house and had planned to move in Monday. There was no furniture there at the time of the blaze, however.

The beet weighed nine pounds, was 25-1/2 inches in circumference and was seven inches from top to bottom. It was dug up Oct. 5 and is believed to be the largest ever grown in this area.

The question of renting and loading village equipment was again on the table for discussion. After much discussion it was decided that no strict rules could be established because of the varied needs, and the decision to be left to the discretion of Orson Hubbard water superintendent and Charles Bates the street superintendent. If the village crew is not using the equipment it can be rented out hourly rates to be set. The large equipment such as graders and compressors will have to be rented by the hour with a village employee to operate it, the hourly rate would also include the wages for the employee.

Audrey Bancroft Village Treasurer was appointed to represent the council when the Business Association goes to Frankenmuth next week to check into Christmas decorations for the village main street.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

by Dana Antes

Velvet is one of the most luxurious and versatile fabrics at a dress designer's fingertips. It is known as a "cut pile" fabric, and during cleaning and finishing the smooth pile threads must be kept in order. During wear the pile often becomes badly crushed and must be straightened and smoothed by the cleaner.

Pile threads differ in velvets. Some are merely anchored under one thread and are easily removed. Other velvets, where the pile is secured under two sets of threads, are much less vulnerable to shedding and damage. Velvet at its best is what is known as one of the "fragile fabrics" and should be shown extra consideration in wear as well as being cleaned frequently.

Many velvets today have been given crease or crush-resistance treatments and present less wrinkle removing problems in cleaning than those which have not been so treated. But all velvets require special cleaning care and handling.

You can safely send us all your "fragile fabrics" for thorough cleaning, to keep them looking new longer...and looking better on you. Remember, the best dressed people in town send their dry cleaning to us!

Rosemary Smith homecoming queen at P-W

PEWAMO - WESTPHALIA

Rosemary Smith is the 1967-68 P-W homecoming queen. The coronation took place during half time at the P-W football victory over Lainsburg Friday.

Rosemary received her crown, a dozen long stem red roses and a kiss from the former P-W Queen Miss Susan Thelen of Westphalia.

Rosemary and her proud parents, Mr and Mrs Carl Smith, are residents of Pewamo.

Among her numerous activities her most pronounced are:

president of the P-W student council, treasurer of the Central C League student council, president of Performing Arts Company, and the Future Nurses Club secretary.

After the victorious game, Queen Rosemary and her court—Sandra Bengel, Cathy Hopko, Mary Lou Platte and Claudia Welber—the lower class representatives and escorts went to the homecoming dance at which 350 students danced to the music of the Balloon Farm of Boston, Mass.

Just about the time a man begins to think he knows it all, he cuts another wisdom tooth.

Sewage plant site purchased

Contracts were signed recently for the purchase of 25 acres of land, which is located just north of the village limits where a lagoon sewerage system will be located if the community decides to go ahead with facility.

Elvan Pohl, president of the village, informed the council members $10,000 was the purchase price and the down payment was $5,000. $2,500 would be payable next year and in 1969 the rest of the balance would be paid, and an interest rate of six per cent will be paid on the unpaid balance. This land which had been under option by the village for some time, is owned by James Droste.

Recently 100 persons attended a public meeting where councilmen explained the sewerage problems. It was also recommended that the council purchase the property while it was still available and before the option expired and the price of the property rose.

Pohl also described the situation as a growing community with growing sewerage needs. He also stated that in 1964 facility estimates were $40,000 to $50,000, but would be increased by this time.

The village president also informed the councilmen that R.W. Petrie & Associates, engineers were given the go-ahead to make a study of community needs and determine the costs so that a sewerage proposal could be put to voters, perhaps this year yet.

At this meeting other action was taken: 1. A bid from Miller Brothers for snow removal services for the winter months. The bid is for $12.50 per hour and includes truck, plow and crew. 2. Enforce a no-parking ordinance between the hours of 2 to 5 a.m. on Main Street. Cars parked on this street during this time will be towed away. 3. Plans were made for councilmen to gather Thursday evening to re-paint parallel parking lines, mow weeds along roads, and sweep the major streets. 4. Permits were approved for Fedewa Builders for building an addition to a dwelling on Pine Street and also for an addition to a storage building on Westphalia Street.

New 'American Farmer'

Young Ovid farmer wins top FFA degree

OVID-ELSIE—The highest degree award the Future Farmers of America offer—the American Farmer Degree—has been presented to a young Clinton County Farmer.

Alan Miller, 21, a 1964 graduate of Ovid High School, received the coveted award Wednesday (Oct. 11) at the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo. He was one of 11 from the state to receive the highest degree of the organization.

Miller, who lives at 2800 N. Hollister Road with his wife Maureen, is involved in a partnership with his father, Jack Miller of 8812 Kinley Road. Until last spring Alan's grandfather, Ray Miller, was also in the partnership. He retired then from the business end but still works around the farm.

THE MILLER FARM operation involves about 150 acres of tilled land, about 80 acres of it used for alfalfa and 70 for corn silage. There's a 60-cow Holstein dairy herd, and the Millers have about 47 heifers coming along to bolster the herd.

Alan Miller has had an active interest in farming for many years. He was in 4-H and joined the Future Farmers of America in 1959 as a freshman at Ovid High. He had a couple of beef projects in high school and gradually worked into dairy interests.

He was vice president of the former Ovid FFA chapter as a junior and was its president in his senior year. As a senior he was also a junior director for the Clinton County Soil Conservation District, and the Millers are now cooperators in the SCD. Miller participated in basketball, football, baseball and track during his high school career.

AFTER GRADUATION, he took a two-year agricultural short course at MSU before going into full-time operation on the farm.

The Miller farm operation has increased in scope in recent years. New milking parlors were added 11 years ago, and a concrete barnyard has been increased in size every year. A large silo with a "lazy Susan" feeding

See RELATED STORY
on Page 9-B

arrangement was put up in 1963, and the Millers are contemplating another silo in the near future.

The major portion of their hay crop is put in the silo during the summer and is fed as haylage. Corn silage is stored for feed during the winter.

The Millers have a complete line of farm machinery available, including four tractors.

The new "American Farmer" is a member of the Farm Bureau and the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. He is also in the DHA owner-sampler program.

He is the first "American Farmer" degree holder from the Ovid and Elsie area since 1965 when James Vandyne of R-1, Ovid was selected. Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter advisors are Albert Ackley and Rodney Tulloch. For Ackley, Miller is the seventh FFA member to receive the top degree since he has been in the Ovid and now Ovid-Elsie school systems.

MILLER WAS IN Kansas City this week to receive the high honor. He was accompanied by Ackley and others from the Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter.

Awarding of the American Farmer degree is based, in part, on FFA membership in each state. Michigan was eligible for 11 American Farmers this year, and Miller was selected as one of the top 11 candidates in the state.

2 DeWitt students commended for test

DEWITT—Letters of commendation honoring them for their performance on the 1967 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to two students at DeWitt High School, Principal Anthony Drago has announced.

The commended students are Louis Green and Lynn Green, brother and sister. They are among 40,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper 2 per cent of those who will graduate from high school in 1968. They rank just below the 14,000 semi-finalists announced in September.

When people begin to think they soon begin to disagree.

Ways to break the breakfast barrier

by HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

New month, new season and a change of pace for family living.

As your students are now back in class it is well to review the results of an important study conducted in Iowa several years ago. Students who went off to school without breakfast showed a noticeable drop in energy and a lowered ability to concentrate by late morning.

In other words, for maximum learning kids need breakfast in their tummies as well as a textbook in their hand.

SO YOU have to break the breakfast barrier at hour house—no one has time to eat before bus time! Breakfast skippers all.

Just as blueprints and plans are needed to break the sound barrier you need a plan to follow in attempting to break the breakfast barrier.

Here is a composite plan, especially suited to teen age nutrition needs, but one which can be applied to all the family needs.

FRUIT—especially one rich in vitamin C, such as citrus fruit and juices, strawberries, melon and tomato juice.

Egg and/or breakfast meat—sometimes combined with cereal foods in a main dish for such treats as waffles and pancakes.

Bread and/or cereal—of the whole grain, enriched or restored variety.

BUTTER or margarine—for flavor, energy and vitamin A. Jams, jelly and sugars may be added.

Milk—since teens need four glasses a day, it's good to start the day with one serving.

This plan should be considered a goal, but it can also be used as a starting point for either beginning or improving breakfast habits. And because the plan is so flexible and offers so many possible variations, it can be adapted to answer any of the breakfast-skipping excuses.

FOR EXAMPLE... for the "no appetite-ers"—for one week, eat just one of the foods listed, such as a banana or glass of juice or milk. The next week add a piece of buttered toast. By adding one new food each week, a good breakfast becomes a habit in less than a month.

... for the "no-time-ers"—a glass of frozen juice and peanut butter on toast can be prepared and "downed" in a matter of minutes. Or try juice and cold egg nog. Just combine a well beaten egg with a cup of milk flavored with a tablespoon of sugar and 1/8 teaspoon of vanilla.

... for the "too fattening-ers"—remember that if skim milk is used, the entire plan can be followed for only 320 calories—about the same as a piece of plain cake. And the temptation to munch before lunch is eliminated.

LOOKING FOR A table of calorie values? Write or call the Cooperative Extension Service. Ask your Home Economist for Extension Bulletin No. 500, Home and Family Series. There is no charge. In addition to calorie values in common foods—a chart is included which lists usual daily calorie needs of various persons.

As an extension of service to the military, Red Cross offers certain services to veterans and their information and help in applying for compensation pension and government benefits, counseling, referral service, and financial aid.

ALL NEW FROM PONTIAC—Two of Pontiac Motor Division's newest and most distinctive 1968 models are shown above. In the foreground is the GTO convertible which features the exclusive Endura front bumper as standard equipment. The bumper is made of a special chemical compound which has an energy-absorbing quality. Also standard on GTO is a 400 cubic-inch engine and dual air scoops on the hood. Concealed headlamps and hood-mounted tachometer are among the GTO options. Also pictured is the Le Mans two-door hardtop coupe which reveals the new styling of all the 1968 Tempests. Featuring the popular long hood short deck styling, the Le Mans has a new roof line which blends into the rear section. Pontiac's overhead cam six cylinder engine is standard and there is an optional V-8, both with increased displacement and horsepower.

State income tax collection smooth so far

Michigan's new income tax went into effect Oct. 1, and preliminary reports indicate that although no one is enthusiastic about having to pay another tax, the collection machinery set in motion to handle the new tax is proceeding as smoothly as could be expected.

The Michigan Department of Revenue obtained from the federal Internal Revenue Service a list of approximately 220,000 names and addresses of Michigan employers who are withholding and reporting federal income taxes withheld from their employees.

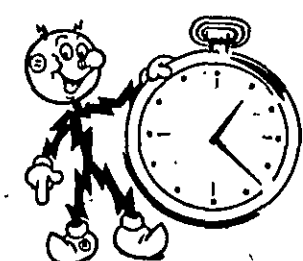

An employer's tax guide with instructions and withholding tables were mailed to each such employer early in September. The Michigan income tax statute provides that every employer who is required to withhold for federal purposes is also required to withhold and report for state income taxes.

THE DEPARTMENT reports that it is receiving a few calls from employers claiming that no instructions and withholding tables had been received. Failure to receive such material does not relieve the employer of his responsibility to withhold and pay the amounts withheld to the state. Therefore the department urges any employer who has not received these instructions and tables to communicate with the Michigan Department of Revenue, 200 Tussing Building, Lansing, immediately and such material will be forwarded by return mail.

Withholding is required on all salaries and wages paid on and after Oct. 1, 1967.

Last year Red Cross chapter workers assisted one out of every three service families, providing a total of nearly 1,400,000 services.

notes from the bookshelf

By HILA BROSS
Librarian
Bement Public Library

The tenth anniversary of the launching of Sputnik I brings to mind the marked increase in the number of books on science now available for children, as compared with a few years ago. Bement Public Library has recently accessioned a number of such books. Among them are four which were given in memory of the late Mrs. Zola Randall, who had a special interest in all natural phenomena and a real talent for relating the facts connected with these phenomena to others.

INSECTS AND PLANTS by Irving and Ruth Adler is aimed at fourth or fifth graders, and presents very clear explanations and descriptions. INSIDE YOU AND ME by Eloise Fain Turner and Carroll Lane Fenton is a child's introduction to the human body.

A PHYSICS LAB OF YOUR OWN by Dr. Steven J. Mark contains 70 experiments that can be performed at home. This book is geared to junior high level. Almost all the materials needed for these experiments are readily obtainable in most households or at the drugstore or hardware store. For any child with a scientific bent, this book will provide a firm foundation of laboratory techniques and methods. At the same time, it will show him in terms that he can see, control, and understand just how the laws of physics operate.

For adult nature lovers, Mrs. Randall has been memorialized with the book, NON-FLOWERING PLANTS. She was particularly interested in oddities of nature, and she would certainly have enjoyed this book.

Another science book for children, recently acquired, is part of the Science Parade series. It is LET'S MEET THE CHEMIST by Carla Greene. On the intermediate grade level, this book will surely attract future chemists and maybe just future housewives, since there seems to be a close relationship between cooking and chemistry.

ALSO NEW AT Bement Public Library are four books in the series entitled Science Projects and Experiments for the Junior Scientist. The individual titles include THE FIVE SENSES, NATURE AND ENERGY, MATERIALS AND ELEMENTS, and MACHINES AND ENERGY.

Last but not least are two new books on human biology, aimed at the small fry. A BABY IS BORN is the story of how life begins, written by Dr. Milton I. Levine, and Jean H. Seligmann. This book is very well illustrated and gives the facts in simple but scientific language.

The other book, I'M GOING TO HAVE A BABY by Laura Z. Hobson, is more human and more like a story. It depicts the delighted reaction of a little boy upon being told by his father and mother that there is going to be a new member in the family.

Tell Baby Sitter What To Do If A Fire Occurs

Do your baby sitters know what they should do in case of fire? It's your responsibility as a parent to inform them, the American Insurance Association emphasized today.

The Association urged parents to:

1. Select a baby sitter who likes children and has a sense of responsibility.
 2. Show her all the exits from the house or apartment.
 3. Provide her a flashlight in case of a power disruption.
 4. Tell her that her main job, if fire occurs, is to get the children out of the house or apartment quickly. Then she should notify the fire department, or ask a neighbor to do it for her.
 5. Leave with the sitter a telephone number where parents can be reached and advise her when they will return.
- It should be stressed that under no circumstances should the sitter or the children re-enter a burning building.

Nation will honor newspapers

There are three or four hundred "weeks" in the year, and one of them is National Newspaper Week. It is the one week in the year when newspapers pause long enough to report to their readers some of their accomplishments, their hopes and purposes, and their roles in the social and economic life of their communities.

Next week will be observed as National Newspaper Week "Newspapers Get Things Done" is the theme of National Newspaper Week, emphasizing the many activities in which newspapers are engaged in addition to gathering and distributing the news.

Since the first newspaper was published in the United States they have been "Freedom's Sentinels" by keeping a watchful eye on government, clarifying public issues, and using their influence as constructive forces for community growth and development.

Warning: Never Smoke in Bed

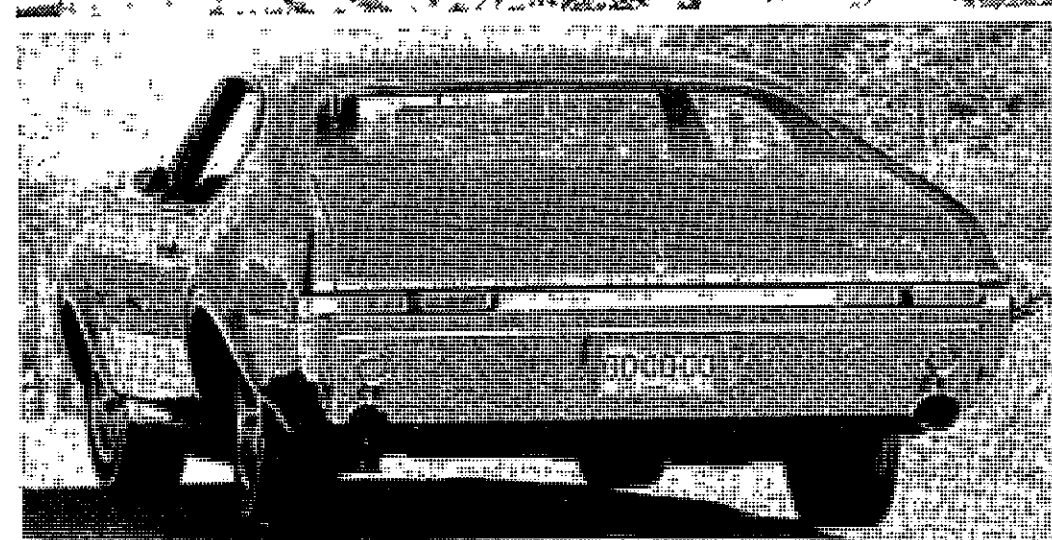

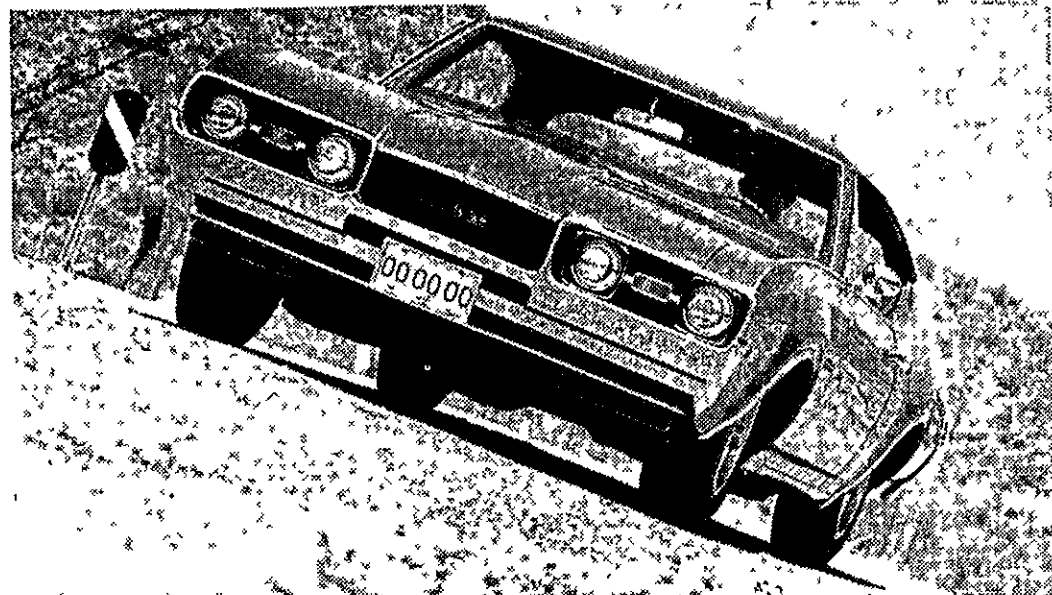

If you are a smoker, or if there are smokers in your house, heed this warning of the American Insurance Association. Never smoke in bed.

Too many persons lose their lives when they doze off while smoking and the bedding catches fire, says the Association.

Elderly persons who are forgetful should be reminded periodically of the danger of smoking in bed. A fire started in bed could take the lives of other members of the family, as well as their own — as well as damage or destroy the home.

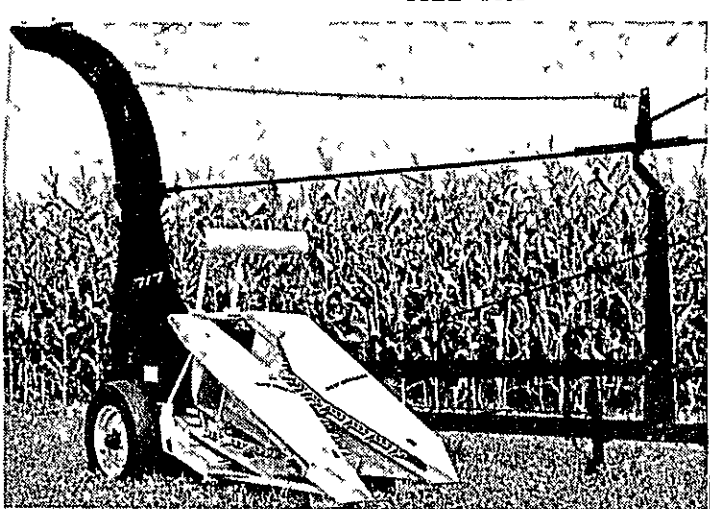

SAVINGS BONDS Q & A

Question: I have been buying savings bonds for more than 25 years. How can I determine their present value? Answer: Bond tellers at banks and many savings and loan organizations will be happy to assist you. However, you can obtain a "Table of Redemption Values" which will give the current value of any Series E, bond you own. These tables are issued every six months, and the current edition covers the period from July through December 1967. Or, if you wish, send in $1 and request a three-year subscription (six issues).

Study of Westphalia sewerage needs gets a green light

WESTPHALIA—Village President Elvan Pohl has authorized a study of current community sewerage needs to guide the village council in a decision concerning those needs.

The study will be done by the engineering firm of R.W. Petrie & Associates. If it turns up a positive need for a sewer system, such a proposal could be put to the voters in the near future, perhaps yet this year.

If a sewer system is decided on, Westphalia has the land for a lagoon. Pohl told the village council last Tuesday night that 25 acres of land just north of the village had been purchased from James Droste for a total of $10,000.

down, will pay $2,500 next year and the balance in 1969. Westphalia will pay 6 per cent interest on the unpaid balance. The property has been under option to the village for the past year.

Last month some 100 persons attending a public meeting on the village's sewer problems recommended the council secure the property while it was available and before the option expired.

Pohl said he anticipates the cost of a sewer system for Westphalia will be more than the $400,000 to $500,000 estimated in 1964. Hopes for a federal grant are slight at the present time.

In other action last Tuesday night, the Westphalia council: —Accepted Miller Brothers bid for snow removal services for the coming winter at $12.50 per hour. This includes truck, plow and crew.

—Stated that they would begin to rigorously enforce the no-parking ordinance between 2 and 5 a.m. on Main Street. Cars parked there between those hours will be towed away.

—Decided to approve building permits for Fedewa Builders for an addition to a dwelling on Pine Street and an addition to a storage building on Westphalia Street.

Sunday, Oct. 15, will be Layman Sunday at the Duplain Methodist Church. Kenneth Kiger will be in charge of the service.

Study classes are being held each Monday evening at 7 at the Methodist church. Class topic is "Encounter the Faiths" and different members of the church are taking their turn at teaching the class. Mrs. Raymond Thornton, Mrs. Jean Temple and Mrs. Kenneth Kiger have assisted so far.

Finding and fulfilling a place in the church and having proper perspective regarding it may be compared to the ingredients for baking a cake. All ingredients working together are necessary and each has an important place. To be of real service, Christians must give God something that cannot be bought or measured with money, a sincere heart. God has a place for every one of His people. If we seek His guidance, each Christian will find that place, Mrs. Burnham concluded.

Each officer was then instructed as to her duties and given a "tool" of her office. Food shower gifts for Great Lakes Bible College were brought to the meeting and will be taken to Lansing next week. The November meeting will be Nov. 7 with Mrs. Jack Schwark.

Lunar eclipse visible Oct. 18

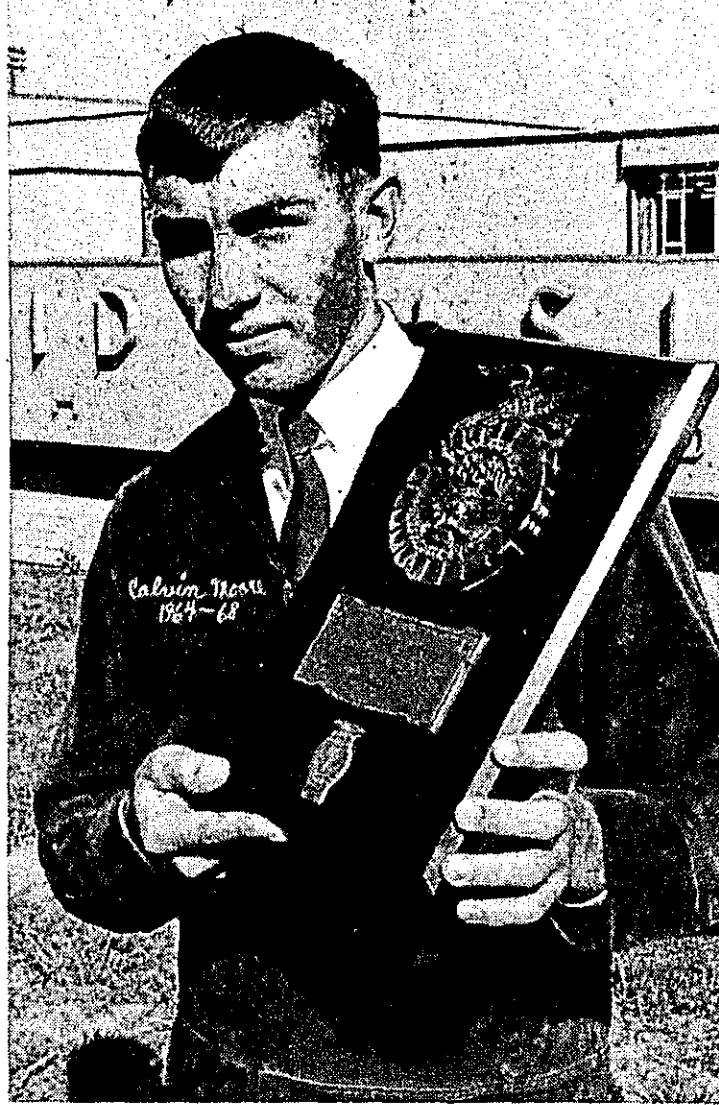

If you're willing to rise before the sun does on Oct. 18, you'll be able to view a total eclipse of the moon.

Robert Victor, assistant staff astronomer at Michigan State University's Abrams Planetarium, says that the lunar eclipse will begin at 4:25 a.m. (EDT) Wednesday, Oct. 18. That's when the moon begins to enter the umbra, or inner dark central portion of the earth's shadow.

The shadow will cover half the moon at about 5 a.m., and the total eclipse will begin at 6:46 a.m. Victor notes that the final stage of the eclipse will be interrupted at 8:01, when the moon sets.

Calvin Moore, president of the Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter, holds a chapter award similar to one won by the Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter this week at the national FFA convention in Kansas City.

O-E FFA wins national chapter award for year

ELSIE — The Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter was to receive a silver National Chapter Award — the second highest a chapter can receive — today (Thursday) at the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo.

On hand to receive the award were chapter Advisor Albert Ackley and FFA members Duane Whitmyer and Bryon Green. They left for Kansas City Sunday, along with Alan Miller, who will receive the American Farmer Degree.

The Ovid-Elsie FFA chapter received a gold award in the Michigan Better Chapter Contest last summer and was then chosen as one of the best three chapters

Elsie Holsteins earn 2-E body class awards

ELSIE—Duane and Velmar Green of Green Meadow Farms, Elsie, have been notified by Holstein-Friesian Association of America that Registered Holstein cows in their herd have received an "E" designation for body type conformation.

On the basis of their previous classification of "excellent," Athone Fobes Ada 4330498, Green Meadow Stella Pixie 4071972, Penlin Laird Bunny 6034123, Whirlhill Apollo Nanette 4227776 and Whirlhill Apollo Roxann 4334112 have been awarded 2E designations.

This new phase of the Holstein Association's long-time breed improvement program provides additional recognition for "excellent" cows that are reclassified "Excellent" beyond the age of maturity. A cow may be designated 2, 3, or 4E according to her history of previous "excellent" classifications within specified age brackets.

Among the 75,000 Registered Holsteins scored for body type each year, only slightly more than one per cent attain "excellent" status. Thus, the achievement of multiple "E" designation makes the individual cow a more valuable asset for herd improvement purposes in the dairyman's breeding program.

in Michigan. A report was sent to national headquarters and was the basis for the award presented today.

ONE OF THE major projects of the Ovid-Elsie FFA is the work on the land laboratory where about 12 acres of corn is raised annually. On the 12 acres of corn many varieties are planted, weed control demonstrations are carried on, planting depths and rates are varied, and fertility demonstrations show amounts, kinds, and time and place of application.

The Ovid-Elsie FFA cooperates with many other organizations for a multitude of projects. Through the wide range of cooperative activities they received the American Institute of Cooperation State FFA Award for Michigan. The Ovid-Elsie FFA also received a gold award in the National FFA Safety Contest. The chapter has been active in many areas. Following the program of activities that was made out early last fall.

Yellow vegetable-try Michigan squash

HELEN MEACH
Extension Home Economist

Are you trying to think of what to have for a dinner vegetable sometime this week? Well, how about having some baked squash.

Acorn squash is called pepper squash or table queen by some folks. The rind is dark green and hard with deep ridges. When you cut the squash in half the inside is yellow and fibrous. One acorn provides you with "squash for two." For a "meal-in-one" place the squash cut side down in a flat pan and place in a 350 degree oven. Bake 15 minutes. Then turn cut side up and fill the center of your squash with sausage or other cooked meat and seasoned crumbs dotted with butter; continue baking till browned to a turn.

BUTTERNUT SQUASH—another favorite—is bell or gourd shaped with smooth, thin, light beige to orange skin that is easy to peel. The flesh is orange, fine-textured and sweet flavored and cooks more quickly than other hard shelled squash. It is excellent for pies and as a vegetable.

Butternut is an excellent all purpose squash. Turban shaped with a distinctive top knot. Skin is fairly smooth, dark green in color. It has a nutty-type flavor and a smooth textured flesh.

OK conditional equipment rental

OVID—Street and water Superintendents Charles Bates and Orson Hubbard have been given authority by the Ovid Village Council to rent out village-owned equipment to local residents when the equipment can't be obtained locally and when it isn't being used for village work.

Hourly rates for the rental of equipment will be established. For motorized equipment, the rate would include the wage of a village employee who would operate it.

Mrs. William Yates was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Lattimer last week.

Friends of Ira Peck will be pleased to learn from recent visitors at the Clark Memorial Home in Grand Rapids, that he is well, in good spirits and is becoming well adjusted to his new surroundings, but is still eager for news from Hubbardston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langdon left Oct. 2 by air from New York City for a tour of Europe, including Portugal, Spain, Italy, Mallorca, Greece and some of the Greek Islands and the Holy Lands.

Mrs. Dorothy Langdon Yates, daughter of Charles Langdon, was honored recently at the centennial banquet of the Memorial Presbyterian Church in Midland, Michigan for writing the history of the church, a book which required two years of work to complete.

Miss Judy Skinner of Lansing spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnes and son of rural Ithaca were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Boomer.

Mrs. Iva Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Billings attended the wedding Saturday of Miss Mary Lee Thelen and John R. Kowatch at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church of Fowler.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hollis Hendrick.

Dr. John Kingsley Lattimer of Englewood, N.J., is spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Lattimer, on their centennial farm, between medical meetings in Kansas City and Chicago. FIRE PREVENTION WEEK QUIZ . . .

Q — Is it true that the Great Chicago Fire of 1871 was caused by a cow who kicked over a lantern?

A — That's the popularly-accepted story. However, don't put the blame on the cow, but on the person who should have known better than to leave the lantern where the cow could kick it!

Q — Who is responsible for Fire Prevention Week?

A — Fire Prevention Week, which this year will be October 8-14, is internationally sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association, the independent non-profit educational and technical organization. NFPA may be the international sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, but responsibility for fire prevention October 8-14 and year-round lies with each and every person old enough to understand the importance of fire safety.

Q — How can I keep young children safe from fire?

A — The two best ways are 1) never leave them alone, even for a few minutes, and 2) keep matches and lighters well out of their reach at all times. One in five fire victims is a child under five years of age.

Q — How do most fires start?

A — From careless use or disposal of cigarettes, matches and other smoking materials. Be cautious about where you smoke; be sure you are alert enough so you won't fall asleep while smoking; be careful where and how you discard matches, smoldering butts and pipe tobacco; and be sure all ash trays are of fire-safe materials and design.

Nearly 48,000 teachers in 17,000 U.S. and Canadian junior and senior high schools are using newspapers regularly as textbooks in their classrooms.

Fire Prevention Week, which is Oct. 8 to 14, will make its 45th international observance. This is probably the only such week which began by simultaneous proclamation by the President of the United States and the government of Canada. It was suggested in 1911 to mark the Oct. 9 anniversary of the great fire in Chicago in 1881, and to arouse public interest in fire safety. In the Chicago disaster, fire killed 250 persons, destroyed 17,430 buildings, and cost $168 million.

Now, 56 years later, 12,000 people lose their lives in the United States annually in fires, and it is estimated that from 1-1/2 and 2 billion dollars worth of property is destroyed each year by fire. Of these losses, farm families lose between 800 and 1,000 persons and farm property loss is estimated at between 1-1/2 and 2 million dollars annually.

MOST RESIDENTIAL fires and deaths occur in the months of October through March and between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. when most people are asleep, and that most of those people who lost their lives were trapped by fire.

Every family should be prepared for fires in order to prevent property damage and death if a fire should occur. The following programs should be prepared and practiced regularly in every home:

First, fire safety training; second, fire prevention; and third, fire protection. Safety training should be a family group program. The following are some suggestions that should be included in such a program:

1) Plan two escape routes from every room in the house; 2) Plan on halls and stairways being blocked by the fire; 3) Train every member of the family to use the planned escape routes; 4) Don't stop to dress yourself or your children or to save valuables; 5) Feel of closed doors

-If they are hot, don't open! Keep them closed and escape another way.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS for fire prevention are:

1) Have the home heating system inspected, paying particular attention to chimneys and stackpipes and insulation around the heating unit; 2) Keep your home free of all fire hazards by regular inspection; 3) Avoid carelessness with matches, oily rags and smoking; 4) Remove grass, weeds and dry vegetation from around buildings and along fence rows; 5) Burn trash regularly in a safe place a safe distance from buildings.

Families that are building new homes or remodeling their present homes should build in as many fire prevention devices as possible, such as fire barriers of gypsum, cement or asbestos. Use fire-resistant materials, such as asphalt for roofing. Have wiring installed by a qualified electrician.

A GOOD FIRE protection plan should include:

1) A telephone extension installed in the bedroom where adults sleep, with the number of the local fire department on it. 2) Fire detection and alarm units, which are worth many times their cost should a fire break out; 3) A 50-foot length of garden hose connected for ready use inside the house, which can be used on all fires except those of a flammable nature such as gasoline, fuel oils and electrical; 4) A water or carbon dioxide fire extinguisher. Instruct all members of the family in its use.

In case of fire, don't panic! The first thing to do is spread the alarm and make sure everyone gets out of the burning building immediately. Then call the fire department, giving the exact location of the fire. If you don't know the number of the fire department, dial the operator and ask her to call them. Children, even four-year-olds, should be instructed how to dial "0" in case of emergency, as there have been many instances cited in journals where a child who had been taught to dial the operator was able to save his life or the lives of others. After the building has been cleared of all occupants and the fire department called, start to fight the fire but make sure you have an escape path.

It will be just a short time before the days will be getting cooler and heating units will be turned on. As furnaces and other types of home heating devices are the major cause of home fires, I would suggest and urge that everyone have their home heating units inspected by a professional to determine that it is in proper working condition for the coming year.

Just a reminder - fires don't start; they get started.

Mechanization for processing?

Near the Sacramento River, at the end of a majestic lane of palm trees, lies the headquarters of Mills Orchards. Surrounding the ranch-style office is an array of other buildings; workshops, equipment store, and a prune packing plant.

Beyond these buildings are 1,500 acres of trees, set in neat 10-acre blocks divided by access roads. On these trees oranges, pears, prunes, and olives are grown nine months a year. From April when the Valencia oranges are picked, to December, the end of the navel orange season, is the harvest season. One crew is utilized for these four crops.

MILLS ORCHARDS have tried to balance their plantings in order to spread labor requirements over the longest possible period, with the fewest possible conflicts between crops.

The key factor in the success of the Mills operation is vertical integration. All the crops are packed in an ultramodern packing plant on the ranch. This system uses the same washing vats, conveyors, and grading-packing tables for the fruit and can be converted from one fruit to the other very quickly. The plant has a capacity of 10 carloads a day, which ranks it among the largest in the state.

Fifty men make up the full-time work force, not including office or seasonal field help. The labor force swells to nearly 300 during September when both pears and prunes are being picked. Prunes are picked using a mechanical harvester. Each set replaces about 25 handpickers.

The next major mechanical breakthrough will be in the citrus harvesting. Experiments are now underway, but no solution is in sight at the moment. There does not appear to be any mechanization in the near future for the pear crop either.

4-H Club Chatter

By JOHN AYLSWORTH
Extension 4-H Youth Agent

Last week three Clinton County 4-H members who had attended the Career Day "Explore '67" program at Michigan State University appeared on the "Harvest" television program over Channel 10. They were Lois Miller of Fowler, Kathy Davis of DeWitt, and David Harper of St. Johns.

The members were interviewed by Lindi Rich, hostess of the TV Harvest program regarding the career sessions they had attended, projects taken in 4-H and what they planned to do following school graduation. It was a real experience for the members to appear on television and see how a television program is prepared.

The Career Day "Explore '67" at Michigan State University met with such enthusiasm by the youth in the state that the program will be repeated on Saturday, Nov. 11. Anyone is welcome to attend this program even though they attended on Sept. 30. Many of the members said they wanted to find out about careers in other areas than they attended before.

Letters were sent out last week to over 500 4-H members who were enrolled in the TV science project pointing out the many opportunities available to them in a regular local 4-H club. Some of these members are now enrolled in a local club and I hope before the Nov. 11 deadline that many more of the youth will want to enroll in a regular 4-H club.

A county 4-H leaders meeting is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 16 at 8 p.m. Smith Hall in St. Johns. Fair premium money, pins, and certificates from the summer program will be presented to the leaders as well as the new leaders project guide, the new 210 members achievement record, the new weather project plus many of the programs set up for the coming year. I hope that all leaders, both summer and winter, will be able to attend this meeting.

Last weekend Bruce Amos, Dean Austin and Rex Teffertiller attended the 4-H saddle horse leaders conference at Camp Kett. They learned how to conduct a saddle horse clinic, effective demonstrations, disease control in horses, how to be an effective club leader, programs and awards in the saddle horse project.

The Parker's Workers held their organizational meeting and elected the following officers for the winter program: President Billy Parker, Vice President Larry Lyman, Secretary Shirley Wyrick, Treasurer Linda Squiers and Reporter Barbara Kurnez. Dues will continue at the rate of 10 cents per meeting. Linda Squiers, Michelle Maag and Clara Kurnez were enrolled as new members.

The Jolly 4-H Canning Cooks 4-H Club held a Halloween party at their meeting Tuesday night, Oct. 10. Officers were elected and members enrolled for their winter projects. The committees for the meeting were as follows: nominations - Kathy Halm and Cheryl Bancroft; Halloween party and recreation, Brenda Russell and Mary Mihalay; and refreshments, Jane Devereaux and Debra Spedel.

The County 4-H Service Club

Kathy Davis of DeWitt, Lois Miller of Fowler, and David Harper of St. Johns appeared with Linda Rich (center), hostess for the "Harvest" TV program on Channel 10.

will hold a hayride and Halloween party on Saturday, Oct. 21, starting at 8 p.m. Details on the place to meet will be sent to the members later in a letter. Members are asked to attend if they have any interest in continuing the 4-H Service Club.

The County 4-H teen leaders will be held Thursday, October 12th, 7:30 P.M. Smith Hall, in St. Johns. This will be an area or inter-county meeting of teen leaders from Clinton, Gratiot and Shiawassee Counties. Any 4-H member 14 years or older interested in teen leader project should plan on attending this meeting.

Several workshops for leaders have been scheduled for Camp Kett on the weekend of Nov. 3-4. These workshops will be for leaders interested in the weather project and leaders interested in plastic and metal craft workshops. The objectives of the plastic and metal craft workshop include: to develop skills in working with plastics, metal etching, copper tooling, copper enameling and metal engraving; and to provide information on the sources of information and material needed in plastics and metal crafts. The quota for Clinton County will be one car load of leaders.

The objective of the weather project conference will be to acquaint the leaders about the project, visuals available, exhibits and demonstrations and a trip through a weather station.

An electrical training meeting for leaders and members is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 27, at 7 P.M. Truman Surbrook, Extension specialist in agricultural engineering, will be the speaker. Details as to place and program content will be sent later to the leaders. If leaders would like any special subject matter covered at this meeting they are asked to contact me at the Extension office.

Over 3 1/2 million certificates were issued last year to persons completing courses given by the Red Cross in first aid, small craft, and water safety.

Buick Skylark Features All - New Body

Buick's popular Skylark model introduces an all new body in 1968 with the emphasis on a shortened rear deck and a longer hood. A sculptured body sweepline predominates the side view. The new grille is reminiscent of the Riviera and the new taillamps are designed into the large rear bumper. In the Skylark Custom model, such as the four door hardtop shown here, a 230-horsepower V-8 engine is standard equipment.

More corn drying equipment on farms

Since much of Michigan's corn crop is used on the farm where it's harvested, more farmers are purchasing their own corn drying equipment.

Robert G. White, Michigan State University University agricultural engineer, says volume is the best key to determine the method of drying needed on any particular farm, but it should not be used alone as the basis for making the choice. Existing equipment and storages, labor available, expansion abilities, and market outlets need consideration.

In general, White makes these suggestions:

1) Select drying equipment that has the capacity to dry in 16 hours the amount of corn that can be harvested in 10 hours or one day.
2) Select harvesting equipment that has the capacity to harvest the crop in 15 days or one-half of the allowable harvesting period of 30 days.
3) The rate of drying depends on temperature of the drying air, humidity of the air, rate of air flow and to a lesser extent, the moisture of the grain kernel.

Investments for drying equipment will depend on capacities, drying rate, and the number of automatic controls and conveying equipment.

Operating costs run from one-half to one-fourth of a cent per point of most moisture removed.

Cattle on Full Feed the Very First Day?

Right! With new Purina Cattle Starters, that is. Now, under normal conditions, you can start your calves the very first day. This was proven in an 84-day report from 7 major midwest stockyard demonstrations where cattle were put on public feeding demonstrations. These cattle weren't hand-picked, cream of the crop cattle. They were average type cattle like any farmer in the area might feed.

The cattle were started on full feed of new, Complete Purina Cattle Starters the very first day. There was no warm up period, no founder, no tedious daily increases in grain. The cattle just walked up to the big self-feeders and started eating. Cattle Starter I the first week, Cattle Starter II the second.

At the end of only two weeks, the cattle had averaged consuming more than 20 lbs. per head per day . . . gained an average 3.91 lbs. per head per day . . . and the feed cost had averaged only 15.5¢ per lbs. gain.

No doubt about it, New Purina Cattle Starters proved they can help start "green" cattle fast, safe, and easy.

Put the years of Purina research to work for you today. Give us a call, or stop by our store and place your order for Purina Cattle Starters.

Cleanliness, records a must for large- scale hog production

It is not a startling fact that better than 3,000 hogs can be produced annually, but it can only become a reality by keeping accurate records and setting up definite procedures and re-evaluating these periodically.

Bill Tanner, manager of the farm owned by Reelfoot Packing Co. of Union City, Tenn., explains "We admit that a sow is a good pig producer—up to a point, but shortly after farrowing, we believe the sow becomes inefficient. This is why we wean pigs moderately early and rebreed the sows as soon as possible."

BREEDING IS scheduled so that every 17 days a group of 18 sows farrows. In order to assure that the three farrowing houses are being used at maximum intensity a rigid schedule has been set up. First, the No. 1 house is filled with sows three days before they are due to farrow. Seventeen days later, house No. 2 is filled. After another 17 days, sows are put into house No. 3. At the end of another 17 days, house No. 1 has completed its 51-day cycle and is filled with another group of sows.

A complete cycle of 51 days moves a sow from farrowing, suckling, weaning, and on to moving out. The day the sows are moved into the farrowing house and the day of weaning are not flexible. These dates must be adhered to in order for the schedules to work. This also permits the rebreeding of these sows to be uniform.

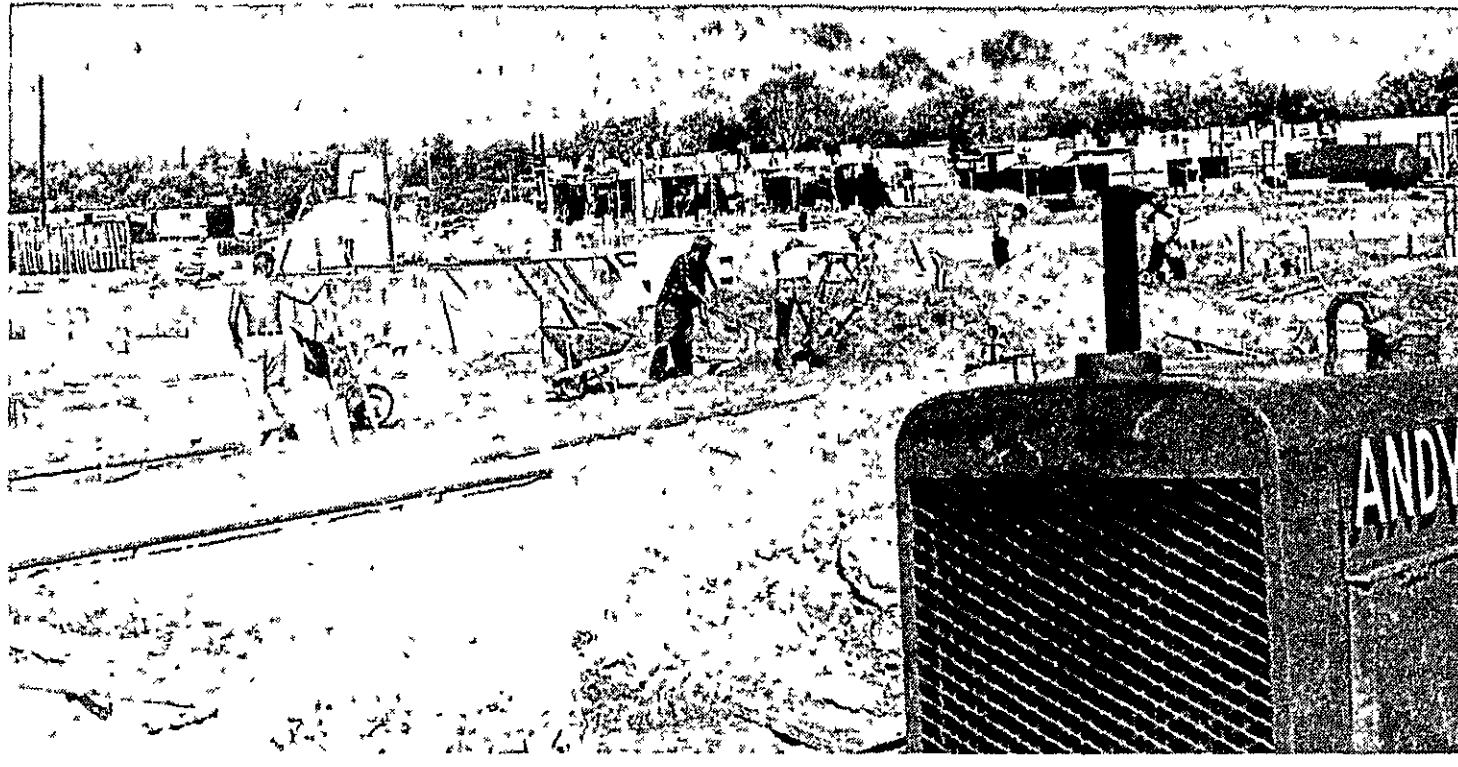

The breeding program allows sows to average nearly two and one-half litters per year. A sow is usually kept for six litters and then culled out. If defects are apparent or if the sow becomes too heavy, it is culled out early.

Records and cleanliness have proven to be a must. With proper records it is possible to determine the exact number of sows on the farm at any given time. Complete cleaning is the key to successful use of the farrowing houses. In order to avoid disease problems, medicated feed is used and super-cleaning is employed.

Note to Mom

Be sure to scour the oven next Sunday before putting the turkey — or whatever meat you're planning — in it to roast, says the American Insurance Association.

Grease allowed to collect in an oven could cause a fire — and maybe also singe the bird. Faulty or neglected cooking equipment is among the principal causes of fire, the Association pointed out.

Rye good cover crop for winter

Others get quick results with Clinton County News classified ads—you will, too!

Farmers not planning to put wheat on soybean and field bean land now being harvested may want to consider planting rye for a cover crop, advises George McQueen, Clinton County Agricultural agent.

He says that while Oct. 1 is near the "late" period for planting rye, it often makes good growth before freezing sets in and makes excellent growth in early spring.

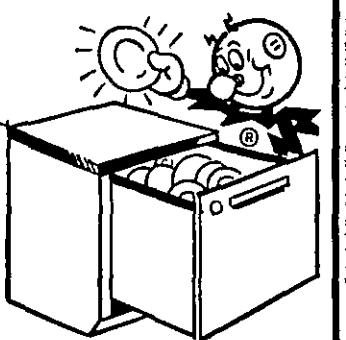

The county Extension agent says farmers planting rye late for winter cover may want to use from 1 1/2 to two bushels of seed. Balbo is the recommended variety for cover.

"If you have had the soil tested recently, use the same fertilizer program recommended for small grain," the agent suggested.

Heavy spring winds, run-off of water from melting snow and spring rains often cause erosion that rye can help control. Flowing down the rye just ahead of crop planting next spring will add humus to the soil and help make fertilizer more effective, explains the agent.

Aerial seeding of rye increases

Aerial seeding of rye in corn to provide a winter cover crop has doubled each year for three years in Branch County as a result of a joint program by the Soil Conservation District and the Branch County Extension office.

These agencies are coordinating the sign-up of farmers wanting to use aerial seeding in corn after the crop has grown too high for ground seeding.

The use of rye as a cover crop in corn benefits the soil in many ways, according to Michigan State University crop scientists. The rye, when plowed down in the spring, adds organic matter to the upper soil level. This prevents leaching, soil washing and protects the soil from both wind and water erosion in the spring. It also prevents packing during heavy rains, the agricultural authorities say.

With more land being planted continuously to corn in the better corn producing areas of the state, they explain, more farmers recognize the importance of making use of rye as a cover and green manure crop.

In the past some farmers have hesitated to plant rye in corn because they thought herbicides used to control weeds in corn would affect germination. The Extension Service informs farmers of the level of herbicide that will control weeds, yet not inhibit germination of the seed.

More calves from your cow?

In his laboratory at Washington State University in Pullman, Washington, Dr. E. S. E. Hafez, a scientist born in Egypt, is working on what may be a major breakthrough in livestock production. His work, and similar investigations by other scientists, indicate that there is a new way to multiply the number of offspring from large farm animals.

Refinement of the techniques is all the remains to be done to enable us to cause a dairy or beef operation to have only their superior cows produce the offspring for their operation. The rest of the herd would exist only to sustain the fertilized eggs and give birth to calves which have the genetic makeup of the superior stock.

One scientist says "Methods such as superovulation could someday enable a cow to have as many as 150 to 200 calves in her lifetime." Many researchers are optimistic and believe practical usage may not be too far away.

TRANSPLANTING embryos has been highly successful in sheep, rabbits, and other laboratory animals. As of now, three cows have carried transplanted embryos to birth. One of these successful transplants was made in Japan. With such methods as superovulation and embryo transplants it is believed 15 or 20 calves can be produced a year more than a cow might produce in an entire lifetime under normal breeding methods.

Make the best of everything and you're guaranteed a market.

NFO Views

By ELMER SMITH
Clinton County NFO

There is no doubt left that the Aug. 16 meeting at Des Moines established the NFO as the leader in the fight to attain fair prices for farmers. The 35,400 members present were unified in their desire for justice at the market-place. They have the momentum and leadership necessary for complete victory.

Many farmers feel they can solve their problem by buying up their neighbor and borrowing more capital. The Wall Street Journal recently reported that corporations were buying tracts in excess of 10,000 acres spreading from the Rio Grande to the Canadian border. No farmer is big enough to walk in such company. In comparison, you are a small peanut. Corporations cannot gain control of these tracts of land when farmers receive low prices. So they need low prices. When you sell at those low prices you are saying "I am on the side of the corporations, and against family type farms."

"We started to battle for fair farm prices and we will continue to battle for justice at the marketplace. We will not be satisfied with a few scattering crumbs. We want the loaf of bread.

At the Des Moines meeting we voted for an all-out holding action. Many question the use of the holding action. It is a necessary weapon. Without the holding action you cannot bargain. Without it you would go to the processor and say "Give me my price or else." "Or else what?" "Or else I will let you have it at your price."

In this battle you cannot be neutral. You are either for justice and fair prices or you are for low farm prices and the ruin of the family farm system in America.

Silo gas can kill

Silo gas is becoming a more serious problem, contends Richard Pfister, Michigan State University extension farm safety specialist.

The gas, nitrogen dioxide, is commonly present the first few hours to two weeks in corn silage made from heavily fertilized soils, says Pfister. Drought seasons seem to encourage formation of the "silo gas," which has caused death or permanent damage to the lungs of a number of Michigan farmers.

Pfister says there may be no warning signs such as unusual odor or bleached corn, and seldom is the brownish-yellow gas seen. Many times the first indication the farmer has that something is wrong is a cough, weakness or shortage of breath after working in the silo.

"Every silo must be treated like it had silo gas in it for the first 2 or 3 weeks after being filled with corn silage," says Pfister. "Operate the blower for 10-15 minutes before going into the silo. Leave chute doors open near the silage level to allow an exhaust down the silo chute."

"If a silo room connects to your barn, close the door to the barn and open a window in the silo room. Exhausting this heavier-than-air gas through the silo room and into the barn could poison cattle," Pfister concludes.

Freedom of the Press Belongs to the People

By Theodore A. Serrill

Executive Vice President, National Newspaper Association

Who ever told that nosy editor he had a right to pry into what happened at our council meeting? What gave that reporter any idea that he could write about the school directors the way he did?

The answer is that there is no law, rule, regulation or order that specifically requires a newspaper reporter to cover city council, school board or court sessions. The Constitution says "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of the press." One can search out all of the laws of the Federal Government, right down to the Freedom of Information bill passed by the 89th Congress, and find nothing further about "the press."

The same can be said of state law. Most state constitutions recognize freedom of the press to publish news, but none particularize these rights, or set down any press responsibilities.

The newspaper is not required to report the city council meeting or send someone to the school directors' sessions. The reporter could stay home. Nor do laws specify that "the press" be accorded any special treatment before any public body. "Open meeting laws" never mention newspapers, reporters, or news media. They simply affirm the right of the public at large to attend and observe meetings of governing assemblies.

Mrs. Smith, then, can "cover" the city council — for her club, her neighborhood, or just for herself. The principle of open government meetings was established for the people — the resident, the voter, the taxpayer, all the governed — not solely for the press or its representatives.

Then why is it that "the right to know" and "freedom of information" always seem to be linked with the press?

In the very early days of American settlement all of the people of a local community would gather in the town meeting and determine the affairs of the community. Almost everybody attended, and those who didn't, soon learned from the informed majority.

But villages soon grew into cities, and the "pure democracy" of the town meeting gave way to representative democracy. Government was growing more remote from the people. It was also growing more complicated. Yet the citizen, as a voter, had the same responsibility to keep himself informed.

It followed naturally that the Nation's fledgling press should fill the role of reporter and commentator on public affairs. No one passed a law requiring it. The Founding Fathers simply had faith that a private press, given the guarantee of freedom to do so, would accept the responsibility. And of course it has. For nearly two centuries newspapers have attended meetings of governing bodies, reporting and interpreting in behalf of the public.

The reporter attends city council meetings as a member of the public. He has a right to be present only if the public retains that right. The editor comments on the council's decisions — or lack of them — as an ordinary citizen. While he is aided in his function by the printing press at his disposal, it gives him no special rights. He can comment only so long as the public has a privilege of commenting.

The "right to know" and "freedom of information" are concepts with which the newsman works every day. The same professional tradition which sends him to the city council meeting compels him to resist inroads on these public rights. For he knows, and the public should always realize too, that in all that he does, the newspaperman acts as a citizen, in behalf of his fellow citizens.

NEWSPAPERS GET THINGS DONE!

Human spirit best hope for 'building' America

In spite of the best—or worst—efforts of the political promisers and planners, the human spirit still lives. Unfortunately, it usually takes a disaster of some kind to reveal the unlimited capacity of the spirit as well as the limited ability of the planners.

A little over three years ago, a disaster of classic proportions was visited upon Alaska. An earthquake reminiscent of the San Francisco quake and fire brought destruction to such cities as Anchorage, Valdez and Seward. As the news and pictures trickled out of the stricken area, the immensity of the catastrophe was revealed. For a short time—a matter of hours—destruction and shock immobilized all efforts except for an elemental struggle to survive. Then the great submerged force of the human spirit came to the surface.

The rebirth of the stricken area during the past three years was lately the subject of an interesting story by Jessie Ash Arndt in The Christian Science Monitor. He observed that many Alaskans expressed the sentiment that, "As long as it happened, it's best that it happened here: We're used to taking care of ourselves."

As time went on, federal aid, of course, played a major role in rehabilitation, but the incentive and initiative to get started and keep moving came from the local citizenry. As a local businessman remarked, "We can't wait for Uncle Sam to do it for us. We must start helping ourselves."

Now, according to Mr Arndt, "In Anchorage, new homes along Turnagain Arm have replaced the 80 which slid into the sea in 1964 . . . There are new and vastly improved port facilities, the new Captain Cook Hotel, and many new stores and other business buildings as well as more than 100 new homes in various parts of the city." The story is the same in Seward and Valdez.

The human spirit, in the final analysis, is the greatest builder of all. The recent disastrous floods that have wreaked such havoc in major Alaskan communities such as Fairbanks will put that spirit to the test again. Rebuilding is a race against the inexorable approach of the bitter northern winter. Despite all outside help that can be given, the life of these communities will depend largely upon the sheer strength and determination of individual citizens.

This is National Newspaper Week and we here at the Clinton County News are joining thousands of other newspapers throughout the nation in blowing our own horn.

I suppose as far as the large papers who daily hit the streets with the up-to-the-minute national and state headlines, that our function here in our area is of little consequence. But actually, the function of a weekly such as ours is of much more importance in our area than the large daily.

FOR ANY WEEKLY newspaper is the reflection of a community. It is the record of local happenings, births, deaths, school progress, church doings, club functions and the many other items that can only be of value to those in the community. These are the things the dailies tend to overlook, especially for the small areas they are supposed to serve.

Here at the Clinton County News, we work for you. We are here to serve the county with the news that is important to those in the county. We also are here to work for the merchants, to give them the best vehicle in the area in which they may display their wares.

TO PUT THE CLINTON COUNTY News on the streets and in the mail every week takes the combined efforts of a staff of 21 people, both full and part time. This does not include the 41 correspondents throughout the county, who every week, continue to help us keep our readers informed of what is going on in their areas.

Every week, 52 weeks a year, our payroll from our employees goes into the businesses and services available in our area. This payroll is in excess of $100,000 per year.

To put the Clinton County News into your home every week takes many hours of work. For instance, last week your Clinton County News contained 38 pages of informative and interesting news, plus the many items available in the many retail and service establishments, in our county to make your living more enjoyable.

To put those 38 pages of information together took over 700 man-hours of labor. This included the reporting, writing, editing, layout, composition of both ads and stories, the taking and developing of pictures and the clerical work of the girls in the front office. This did not include the hours spent by our many correspondents in the county. All these tasks were essential in putting your Clinton County News in your mailbox.

THIS WORK IS BEING done by your friends and neighbors who are employed here, and who work to the best of their ability to make your county paper the fine product that it is.

Here at the Clinton County News we try to be just what our name implies, a county newspaper. We try to bring to you, each and every week, a complete coverage of all the important news and services throughout the county.

OUR NEWS COVERAGE goes beyond the headline stories and covers the many aspects of the Clinton County area that is ignored by other papers and mediums.

We here at the News are proud of the product we publish every week. We are proud of the service we offer to our community and the county.

We know that basically our business is service, and that we work for you, our readers and advertisers. We hope that our service to you has been satisfactory and that as we both grow our service will improve as will your understanding.

Warren reader comments on zoo

Editor:

I feel I must write in protest of St. Johns' recent proposal to do away with the zoo at the city park.

Although not area residents, my family does go to the St. Johns park frequently for picnics, and our family reunion has been there for several consecutive years. Visiting the zoo has been an important part of these occasions for both children and adults. Knowing what it has meant to us, I can well imagine how its elimination will affect the townspeople and surrounding area residents.

Whatever the reasons or reasons for deciding to abandon the zoo, we do hope those in charge will reconsider. I wonder if St. Johns residents, and officials in particular, realize they can boast a park and pool to be envied by communities of much larger population, not to mention a zoo, unheard of, I'd wager, in most cities five times St. Johns' size. Take pride in and hang on to your assets.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Charles W. Hodan
30011 Blanche Drive
Warren, Michigan

(Editor's Note: You'll be happy to know, Mrs. Hodan, that no action was taken to abandon the zoo. Such a plan got no farther than the talking stage.)

Alcoholism not disease, writer says

Editor:

"Alcoholism: Why It Isn't A Disease!" This thought-provoking article that I read in a magazine impressed me so much that I would like to see part of it published.

"Sure the effects of alcohol appear like a disease. That a person needs some outside rehabilitation is undeniable but must be viewed in the same light we used to view narcotics addiction."

"With the case of booze the cause probably was the first drink. In what sense is alcohol-

RAMBLIN' with Rink

By LOWELL G. RINKER

I have always had a mild passion for neatness and completeness. I try to keep my desk and my work area as neat as possible, with the idea in mind that I can do better work under those conditions than with my desk a jumbled mess.

Many times I will pass up a fragmentary story one week and run it the next week when I have more details. When a newspaper comes out once a week, people look to us for more details in a story than what the daily press or the radio might have time or space to get. So, I seek completeness.

A big help in having a "complete" story is a good newspaper file. One of the first things I did when starting here three years ago was to start my filing system, keeping it up-to-date with stories that we run about people, clubs and events. Most dailies have their own "morgues" kept up-to-date by a separate staff.

WE, OF COURSE, don't have nearly the amount of information in our "morgue" that the bigger papers do, and so I'm my own librarian. Every Wednesday night I take a couple of papers home, sit down and start cutting out articles that contain information that may be of some use in the future. Each item is dated with the publication date.

It became apparent right away that there should be several different files. So I set up one that contained stories about people, with biographical information the stories contained. Those went into small white envelopes and over the past three years the file has grown to 542 envelopes.

Another file contains stories on events of a continuing nature—such as bloodmobile visits, city commission news stories, major accidents, Maple River Watershed, Communities Chest, supervisors, etc. In writing new stories on these topics, I have the past files right at hand. These are in larger envelopes and contain a multitude of stories.

STILL ANOTHER file is my future file. A story in this week's paper may refer to an upcoming event in the next week or maybe not-for-a-month. I clip these every week, paste them onto a sheet of paper and file them according to the week before the event so that they can be used for the basis of another story that week. When the current story is about something taking place within the week, it is filed in my day-to-day future file and comes up for attention on the proper day.

There is also a general file that contains a lot of everything, such as material for special pages and sections of the paper, feature stories and pages that we've run. I also keep another file of notes I have taken and received on news stories each week, and these are kept about three months before being thrown out.

WHAT IT ALL BOILS down to is that my files are getting complicated, and on more and more occasions I look for are lost in the file, usually not misplaced but filed in a section or under a different title than what I look for it under.

The problem has become compounded by the weight. Everytime I go to push a file drawer closed the drawer stays put and I go scooting backward into the partition wall. And when I have the top two drawers open the whole cabinet begins to teeter on the front edge, threatening to overturn.

Whether I combine the "morgue" files or keep them separate, they will continue to grow and become more complicated.

What kind of monster hath I wrought?

FIRE DEPARTMENT, ST. JOHNS, MICH. 85-20

FIRE PREVENTION AND CONTROL AT START OF CENTURY

This being Fire Prevention Week, it is a good time to reminisce about the old days and the equipment firemen had then. These men were on the St. Johns Fire Department at the turn of the century, but only two of them could be identified by the time we went to press. They are Eugene Lake (uncle of Lester Lake) on the wagon seat and George Andrew Talmadge (second man standing). The picture was reproduced from an old postal card dated November 1912. It was taken in front of the present fire hall looking southwest, with the present Legion Hall in the middle background. Glenn Davis of 1223 E. Centerline Road brought in an identical post card, but this was one contributed by someone whose identity we don't know.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

COMMENTS FROM OTHER PAPERS

SCOTLAND NECK, N.C., COMMONWEALTH: "Ruling by the Federal Communications Commission that radio and television stations which accept cigarette advertising must give a significant amount of time to opponents of cigarettes to air their views is in every sense of the word an act of stupidity. This is a dangerous ruling, and the trouble is that it represents the assumption of bureaucratic power which was never intended. If the FCC is permitted to take this stand on the advertising of cigarettes there is no telling what it will try to do next with respect to advertising."

LOVINGTON, N.M., LEADER: "One of the reasons the U.S. has been stable, prosperous and secure for almost two centuries is that we have taken to heart the spirit of the philosophy of 'government by law and not by men.' We have always been a people who obeyed and respected the law—at least until recently."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

States doctors have good record as volunteers abroad

MICHIGAN DOCTORS have an outstanding record contributing their services around the world. Only California, where more doctors are licensed, can match it.

The Hope Hospital ship, which visits countries inviting it, has 31 physicians and two medical students from Michigan on its staff. For this volunteer service, medical personnel receive no pay and only moderate living expenses.

Ill and injured Vietnamese are cared for by a separate program sponsored by American Medical Assoc., and supported by the Michigan State Medical Society. Eight Michigan doctors are currently working in Viet Nam to help fill the gap left by their need for military service. Viet Nam has only 1,000 in the whole country and 650 of these are in the Viet Nam army. The remaining 350 care for the country's 15 million civilian population.

AMERICAN PHYSICIANS receive a $10 per day living expense, and travel expenses to and from Viet Nam. They serve for two month periods in one of the 16 provincial hospitals.

MEDICO is another plan which involves Michigan physicians overseas. It is administered through CARE. Six doctors from the state participated in MEDICO in Asia and Africa.

Many other physicians volunteered their services under church-sponsored medical missionary work.

Dr. Charles H. Moseley, director of the AMA plan, explains, "This program has done more to improve the image of the American physician than any I know of. The Vietnamese people know that a physician who closes his office and comes as a volunteer to their land is making a sacrifice for them."

NINE MILLION BOOKS must be added to state school libraries to meet minimum standards. Michigan has 4,484 school buildings, but only 1,095 have central libraries with full time librarians. Only 640 have space adequate for quality library service.

If Michigan schools are to attain recommended standards, 3,389 school librarians must be added.

Expenditures for library materials should total $6 per elementary pupil and $8 per secondary pupil. In 1965, Michigan averaged $2.13. These are findings reported by the Joint Committee on School Library Development.

SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENT results from federal funds. The state receives a annual allotment of $4.7 million. This has been used to:

*Establish 20 area-wide centers to distribute instructional material to schools.

*Catalog books so schools without library supervisors can file volumes according to the standard Dewey Decimal classification.

*Provide consultants to train school personnel in proper library procedure.

*Make available scholarship funds for students desiring library careers.

*Extend use of a mobile unit to counties which need facilities to train teachers on the use of audio-visual aids.

The State Department of Education feels these improvements are helpful, but the level of library services are still less than they should be.

SCHOOLS NEAR ghettos can be used to fight injustices of inner-city life under a resolution adopted by the State Board of Education.

The nine point program, proposed by the State Supt. of Public Instruction Ira Polley, would require an $11.8 million legislative appropriation. It would begin in fall of 1968.

Polley's plan includes using school facilities after normal school closing hours for additional teaching sessions and recreational programs.

He proposes class reductions to 15 students from kindergarten through second grade for personalized student attention, and a pre-school program for four-year olds to accclimate them to the school environment.

THESE SPECIAL courses would be offered for 10 weeks during the summer. Federal funds could provide student employment for youths in work-study programs.

High school students who have demonstrated ability to do college level work would be eligible for $800 grants to help them continue their education.

Polley proposes a "College Service Corps" to enlist the aid of college students in tutoring and working with youths from underprivileged homes. He also feels consideration should be given to relaxing academic eligibility requirements so more youngsters can participate in school athletic programs. Polley sees athletics as a positive influence in keeping student interest in the school and a means of giving underprivileged youth self-pride and incentive to stay in school.

The budget proposal to activate the programs will be submitted during the 1968 legislative session.

ism a disease? Ralph C. March in a recent WCTU pamphlet summarized it up point by point as follows:

"1) Does it come on without warning? 2) Is it the result of exposure to the elements? 3) Is it a result of occupational hazards? 4) Does it strike suddenly like polio? 5) Does it strike like tuberculosis from exposure, from environment or from contamination? 6) Does it strike like scarlet fever or like any epidemic?"

"7) IS IT LIKE cancer, some subtle microbe attacking unseen? 8) Is it like typhoid fever? 9) Is it like heart disease, the result of faulty organs, or of over-exertion and strain? 10) It does resemble a disease in that it puts one out of commission. 11) If it is a disease, instead of just nursing the victim, why do we not take the usual steps necessary to eradicate the cause? 12) If it is a disease why do we sell the privilege of promoting this disease as a commercial enterprise with profits to the promoter, who uses every device of advertising and of propaganda to increase the spread of the disease? 13) Isn't it time we sobered up about alcoholism?"

May it never happen in our U.S. as it did in Orilla, Ont., Canada. When a minister in a religious broadcast wanted to present his views on a liquor referendum, he was suddenly cut off the air and the station replaced him with recorded music. It happened twice on the station's regular Sunday service hour, and ministers found they were talking into a dead microphone.

You probably know by this time who I am. Yes, I am the lady who, with the help of Sheriff Patterson and his secretary, Mildred Rahl, tabulate each month the arrests in Clinton County. As this is the end of the year for WCTU, we have totaled the arrests from alcohol. Of course we must remember all are not convictions. Drunk and disorderly lead with a total of 103. There were 38 under-the-influence, 22 furnishing to minors, 14 drunk on highway and 81 minors in possession, making a total of 258 arrests, 53 less than last year.

DR WILLIAM HADDER on Aug. 15 told the press that statistics are very clear that far more fatal accidents are caused by excessive drinking. About 25,000 are killed annually by drunk drivers.

The Michigan Temperance Society is asking an additional $3,000 to put pamphlets in the hands of all high school students, entitled "Common Sense Answers Concerning Alcohol." This is also sponsored by the State Department of Education and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

The "Low Down"

From the Congressional Record
By Joe Crump

Straight talk from Mr McNamara

Rep. Carl Albert (Okla.) "The Honorable Robert S. McNamara, the secretary of defense, delivered an important address . . . before the United Press International editors and publishers meeting in San Francisco, Calif. . . . I am inserting his address in the Record." (Excerpts from the address follow):

No sane citizen; no sane political leader; no sane nation wants thermonuclear war. But merely not wanting it is not enough.

The cornerstone of our strategic policy continues to be to deter deliberate nuclear attack upon the United States, or its allies, by maintaining a highly reliable ability to inflict an unacceptable degree of damage upon any single aggressor or combination of aggressors, at any time during the course of a strategic nuclear exchange—even after our absorbing a surprise first-strike.

OUR ALERT FORCES alone carry more than 2,200 weapons, averaging more than one megaton each. A mere 400 one-megaton weapons, if delivered on the Soviet Union, would be sufficient to destroy over one-third of her population, and one-half of her industry.

Now what about the Soviet Union?

Does it today possess a powerful nuclear arsenal? The answer is that it DOES. Does it possess a first-strike capability against the United States?

The answer is that it DOES NOT.

Can the Soviet Union in the foreseeable future acquire such a first-strike, capability against the United States?

The answer is that it CANNOT. Does the United States possess a first-strike capability against the Soviet Union?

The answer is that we DO NOT.

WE DO NOT possess a first-

Social security signup for insurance starts

A new enrollment period for social security medical insurance began Oct. 1 and will run through Jan. 2, 1968. Persons who are 65 years of age and not already enrolled for the doctor bill insurance may now sign up for this protection.

This applies to persons who failed to sign up during their initial enrollment period and those whose coverage under this insurance terminated for one reason or another. They may also re-enroll if they are still eligible for coverage.

Interested persons who do not have the medical insurance should contact the Social Security office. Roger W. Seamon, Lansing district manager, stressed the need for people to discuss this serious matter with the people at the social security office, union officials and their insurance agents and not rely only on the recommendations and information supplied by relatives and well meaning friends.

MEDICAL OR DOCTOR bill insurance is different from hospital insurance. Hospital insurance is not voluntary and is paid for out of social security taxes. Medical insurance does require premium payments. This insurance covers medical and surgical services by a physician wherever they are furnished, diagnostic tests such as x-rays and laboratory test, surgical dressings, prosthetic devices and certain ambulance services. To get exact information about what is covered, persons may contact the Lansing social security office in the federal building.

Putting in a new water well?

If you're having a water well installed on your property there are certain facts you should know about, according to the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Before you agree to have someone drill your well make sure the contractor is registered with the state health department. The law requires that a decal bearing a current year date and the firm's registration number appear on the company's vehicles.

The registration provision also applies to water well pump installers, although in most cases the same firm may drill the well and install the pump.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT engineers advise that you make sure that the well casing terminates at least 12 inches above ground level. This will protect the well against any possible source of contamination, such as flooding, and also make it easy to locate if there is any trouble.

Well pits are no longer permitted under the new rules unless approval is first obtained in writing from local health officers. Only in special rare instances will such approval be granted. The problem with the use of pits, according to public health officials, is that they accumulate all kinds of debris and are susceptible to flooding. A flooded pit is a serious health hazard and in addition causes economic losses due to burned-out motors.

State law also requires that a well must be located at least 50 feet from any source of contamination, such as a septic tank, subsurface disposal field, dry well, outhouse or barn yards.

THE WELL DRILLER must provide you with a copy of the water well record showing the complete history of the well and pump installations. The driller must also file copies of the record with the local health department and the Michigan Geological Survey.

If you feel that your well has been improperly installed, first contact the driller who did the job. However, if there is still a problem, you should call the local health department. The department will require the driller to correct any work done not in accordance with state law.

Schools buy boiler insurance

While the school board made some big news last Wednesday with their bond issue proposal and their stand against the city on the title of part of the high school site property, they did take some other formal action that was of a more routine nature.

Mel Warren Insurance was awarded a three-year contract to provide boiler insurance for four schools in the city. Warren offered the insurance for $562 for three years. Other bidders were McKenzie Agency $602, and A.T. Allaby Insurance $740.

The board discussed continued participation in the educational programs of television Channel 10, Lansing, but tabled the matter for further study. Past participation, school officials said, has been primarily because of the Spanish language course offered on TV, a course which the schools felt was extremely useful in the elementary grades.

CHANNEL 10's programming for this year does not include Spanish, so the board is re-examining its participation.

The board also tabled until next spring a request from the city of St. Johns for the construction of a roadway from the high school building site south to Townsend Road. The city requested the schools study the possibility of such a road in order to keep heavy truck traffic off city residential streets.

Dear friends,

It has been our privilege to serve members of nearly all religions. Some require specific rituals as part of the funeral service. We are well aware of those requirements and meticulously fulfill them.

We are also most willing to comply with personal variations in the conduct of the funeral service.
