

County to study density

An expenditure of $41,100 was approved by Clinton County Board of Supervisors Monday for the purpose of conducting a survey in the county that will study trends in population density, water and sewage requirements, sanitary landfill needs and land use.

Gerald Wilcox, county engineer appeared before the supervisors on behalf of the Department of Public Works with the recommendation that the expenditure be approved for a Jackson firm which will conduct the survey.

Wilcox pointed out that information gathered in the survey would be of benefit to future planning and zoning as well as the DPW and that of four bids submitted that of Commonwealth of Jackson was the most realistic.

According to information during the discussion, the DPW has already retained the firm on other matters and is satisfied with their performance.

In other business a directive to the Equalization Committee to spread a millage of 5.85 on the state equalized value of property in the county was tabled until final approval of the budget at the Oct. 22 meeting as a policy recommendation by the special committee for the operation of Smith Hall.

No secret now

The ladies may not want to admit it, but according to Labor Department records, the median age for women workers has risen from 32 years in 1940 to 40 years in 1968.

treatment because we have allowed time off for families going to Florida."

Principal C. Gordon Vandemark said the school had from 160 to 180 requests last year and "already we've had some requests for duck hunting," he added.

"Those who are going to go, go anyway," he said. "Our job is to keep them in school with good solid programs and hope they don't miss too much."

Parr noted that the board is required to table any motions calling for a change in policy for one month.

If approved in its present form, the new hunting policy would require students to "have a note from home stating the reason for and the length of time they will be gone."

Students would then be required to take an absence slip to each of their teachers and make arrangements for work to be made up. The slip would then have to be signed by each teacher involved and returned to the principal's office two days before their absence.

It is expected the board will make a decision at their next meeting.

The board also set a public hearing on the proposed 1969-70 budget for Wednesday, Oct. 22. The board is not allowed to approve the budget until a public hearing has been held. But the board did grant tentative approval for the $2,540,933 budget.

In other action, the board: —Approved monthly bills totaling $45,995.38.

—Tabled until next month a policy concerning eye safety for vocational classes following an appeal for such a policy from Ken Lashaway, vocational director.

—Denied a request from the Hoe-down Club for use of the high school cafeteria Saturday nights twice a month. It was estimated from 75 to 125 people would be using the facility.

"I don't know exactly how much of this time is needed for our own school programs," said Parr. "I would hesitate on this for a year—until we get into the swing of it."

Discussed two property transfer requests; one in Greenbush Township wishing to transfer to the Ovid-Elsie School District and the other in Victor Township to the Laingsburg District. A hearing on the matter is set for Oct. 23 at the Intermediate School office. Board members indicated they would oppose the requests.

No Letting Talk
dry cleaning

by Dana Antes

Today I would like to get just a little bit personal with the ladies. I want to talk about deodorants and perfumes and anti-perspirants. Now I will admit that all these products do give us a sweeter smelling world. And, I will also admit that a whiff of perfume can turn a man's head in a hurry.

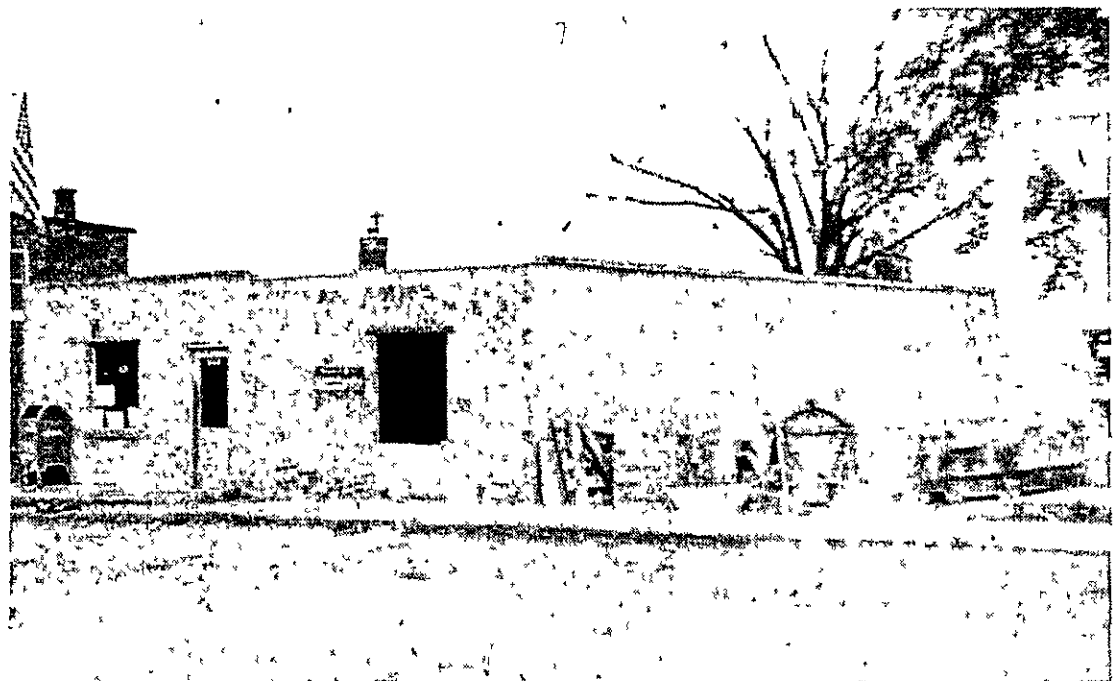

I think you should use these products, especially if you are like most of us and tend to perspire a bit, especially in hot weather. But, when you do use them, there are a few precautions you should take to protect your lovely clothes. Most of these products, and even perspiration can damage fabrics or leave stains that are almost impossible to remove.

So remember these simple rules. Let anti-perspirants and deodorants dry before dressing. Wear dress shields to protect your clothes. And, when you add that final touch of perfume, be sure to keep it off your clothes.

If you will follow these simple rules, your clothes will not be risking stains that may never come out.

Remember, good home care of your clothes goes hand in hand with expert dry cleaning care. For more value of your clothing dollar, be sure to have your clothes cleaned regularly.

Ovid considers new curfew ordinance

Police Chief Paul St. John, appeared at the Ovid council meeting Oct. 6, in regard to the curfew ordinance. At present the only village ordinance in effect requires juveniles 12 years old and younger be off the streets by 10 p.m.

St. John said there is nothing for the 12 to 16 years olds to do between 10 and 12 p.m. except on special activity nights, (such as dances, or sports events). He then recommended the curfew be set for youths under 16 at 10 or 10:30 p.m. except on the activity nights.

Officials referred the matter to the village attorney for an amendment to the old ordinance or the preparation of a new one for council consideration.

In other action officials, —Heard a request from Bob Sturba, representative of the Ovid-Elsie Jaycees, that the water fountain in the park be moved closer to the pavilion, and the Jaycees be permitted to run, maintain and supervise the village ice rink. Officials granted tentative approval and suggested they work with the Park committee.

—Reported examination of the poll books for the last election showed no names for Mr and Mrs Glen Schmidtfrenz. Neither was an application filed by them to vote and they are not presently registered voters of the village.

—Announced that the village hall office would be open Monday through Friday all day, to facilitate the large number of sewer permits being granted.

AT O-E

Teacher contract pending

Teachers in the Ovid-Elsie Education Association called in a state mediator last Monday to arbitrate major issues concerning, binding arbitration, salary, insurance, and a Girls' Athletic Association program and director.

Contract negotiations began in March but were suspended during the summer months by mutual agreement of the school board and association. Some progress has been accomplished on minor points, but major issues are still pending.

A member of the negotiating team says, "the Ovid-Elsie Education Association feels that issues at stake are in the best interests of the board of education and the teachers group. We are striving to receive gains that are equitable with the schools in the area, but are finding the settlement difficult to achieve. The teachers have found it necessary to request the aid of a state mediator to help resolve these differences."

The negotiation team for the teachers is composed of Nick Lakari, Virginia Chamberlain, Charles Price, Robert Lloyd, and Leota Kaldas. Robert Beauchamp, school superintendent, represents the board of education and utilizes other school officials on the board's negotiation team.

It's unsafe

Westphalia ready to raze building

Westphalia village officials voiced concern over a number of issues at their council meeting Oct. 7, but placed emphasis on a building considered "unsafe" for many years.

The structure located on Westphalia Street, south of the main four corners has been abandoned by its owner, Charles Schmidt of Lansing, for several years. Councilmen have tried repeatedly to force some kind of improvement without success.

On another occasion a group of citizens signed petitions requesting the owner make improvements, when they thought the structure dangerous for school children passing by. Again nothing was done.

Officials have now vowed a "get tough" policy and Alvin Bohl, village president, ordered the clerk to inform the owner that improvements be made at and decided to send them a letter of complaint.

—Heard a request from John Sinterop, owner of Tri Aml Bowl that the restriction placed on the bowling alley concerning liquor be removed five nights of the week, (Friday and Saturday were the exceptions), when there are no minors in the bowling alley. The present license approval was granted with the stipulation that the alcoholic beverages served on the premises be consumed in the bar section only. Council tabled the matter.

—Discussed supervision necessary for Halloween.

—Estimated for the Clinton County Department of Public Works, the village growth would be five to eight homes per year and the present population at 780 residents.

DeWitt delays action on joining Development Assn.

DeWitt City officials received an invitation from the Lansing Metropolitan Development Association to become a member of the organization at their Oct. 6 meeting.

Councilmen decided to wait on the decision until they have a definite area "set aside" and zoned industrial.

Others were in favor of waiting the outcome of the educational reform bill which if passed might change the industrial needs of the community. If the state provided the necessary school funds, the factories could then stay in Lansing and the city remain a residential area.

In other action city officials, —Stated they will have a new numbers system for residents in the near future. When plans are completed officials will notify the public and post office department.

—Will take under consideration the possibility of providing life insurance for City employees.

Fluoridated water seen in St. Johns

Residents of St. Johns may soon be drinking fluoridated water if action taken at Monday night's commission meeting is followed with the enthusiasm generated by the tone of discussion.

In a unanimous vote city commissioners passed a motion by John Hannah authorizing City Manager Harvey Weatherwax to contact the Michigan Public Health Department regarding initial requirements to install a fluoridation system at the local water plant.

Action came following a letter read to the commission by City Clerk Tom Hundley from the Public Health Department encouraging the city to move toward fluoridated water.

Dr James Grosi, who supported Hannah's motion, added emphasis to his second by commenting that "We've talked about this thing many times but we still don't have it" (fluoridation). He pointed out that there is no longer a trace of doubt as to the value of water treatment with fluorides and encouraged council action by stating "We can't wait any longer."

According to the letter read by Hundley, the estimated cost of a fluoridation program in St. Johns is $2,100 per year. State figures indicate this averages out at approximately 30 cents per person and reports suggest that even this amount could be less because of natural fluoride already existent in St. Johns' water supply.

No indication was made as to when a program would be underway but Commissioner Charles Coletta explained that present equipment is adequate to handle the system. It was estimated that less than $1,000 would need be spent to install a fluoridation program with present water facilities.

St. Joe council holds meet

The St. Joseph Home-School Council held their initial meeting of the 1969-70 school year Oct. 6. President Dean Henning announced the installation of a policy which calls for regular programs to accompany the business sessions with speakers presenting comments on various subjects of general interest.

Plans for the annual school carnival were given. The event, slated for Saturday Oct. 18, will be highlighted by the awarding of a Sno-Jet snowmobile as grand prize. Mr and Mrs William Asher are in charge of ticket sales. Chairmen of the carnival are Mr and Mrs Rollin Hurd and co-chairmen are Mr and Mrs Leon Miller.

A new marking system for grades three through six was announced by Sister Margot. In place of the traditional A,B,C, method, ratings will be satisfactory (S), improving (I) or not satisfactory (NS). Sister Margot indicated that one of the purposes for the new system is to create a closer relationship between parents, teachers and students. In addition, it is believed that students under the system will be competing with themselves rather than with other children who, in some cases, exhibit greater learning capacity.

Father Hankerd spoke briefly on the parochial issue explaining that Gov. Milliken recognizes the need for this aid and is acting upon it. Fr. Hankerd pointed out that without public aid private schools cannot function properly and it is conceivable that within a short—possibly two years—parochial schools will be forced to close. Parents were urged to contact their government representatives, encouraging support for school aid.

County officials tour Clinton roads

A group of about two dozen supervisors and other Clinton County officials were given a day-long tour of county roads last Friday with road commission members and employees pointing out aspects of various projects underway or completed in the last 12-18 months.

Directed by Road Commission Engineer-Manager Donald Haske, the group departed from the court house shortly before 9 a.m. and proceeded along a course which called for a total of 26 points of interest including a lunch stop at Daley's Restaurant in St. Johns.

The morning tour included various projects on Francis, Wright, Colony, Tallman, Lowe, Meridian, Hollister and Welter Roads along with stops at a gravel processing site at Grange and Dexter Trail.

The latter stop was to show the group the reclaiming of a mineral extraction site which was formerly thought to be expended of useable materials. According to Commission Chairman Paul Nobis the water table at the site was lowered through the creation of a runoff ditch and as drying occurred more gravel and other materials for road use was made available.

The excavation bringing about the renewed gravel processing area was under the direction of Ray Pung.

Materials from the site are used for maintenance of county roads throughout that general area.

Afternoon points of interest included projects on Alward, Clark, Herbison, State, and South Francis roads as well as a number of bridge sites on local roads.

The tour began on a stretch of county road which drew much interest late last year after a number of accidents, one involving three deaths, occurred in the area.

The location is Francis Road between M-21 and Townsend Road where the entire mile stretch has been torn up and is presently in the process of being reconstructed.

According to Pung over 5,000 yards of sand have been deposited along the route to effect leveling and expand the width of the road to 22 ft. Haske pointed out that plans for next spring include a bituminous surface on the road.

Total cost of the project was quoted at $37,000 with $25,000 of that being spent before the surface is laid.

Another stop on the tour was made at Wright Road and Dexter Trail where Haske pointed out an experimental project currently underway.

A section of the road had been torn up and earlier surfacing was mixed with new tar then spread on the roadbed. Haske explained that the stretch was merely an experiment and studies would have to be made to determine if the process would prove enduring.

The reconstituted surface material is laid in the bed and then will be covered with a seal coating this fall and a bituminous mat next spring.

Participants in the tour were advised by Nobis that a new policy established by the road commission this past summer provides for assistance by the commission on main county roads which run through cities and villages.

In discussing Wright Roads it extends into Fowler from the south Haske introduced the new policy explaining that most of the needed repairs on these thoroughfares would be prohibitive in cost to be carried by the city or village alone.

He stated that on a two-lane road a community would be charged 25 per cent of the total cost and on four lane projects the city or village would pay 35 per cent. He emphasized that these costs would be based only on the portions within the corporate limits of the community. Wright Road from the city limits of Fowler to M-21 is slated to be four-lane.

Nobis expressed the commission's view on the new policy by explaining that "We feel we should provide a direct route through the cities and villages. This will cost us more money, no doubt, but we feel it's our duty to provide a direct route through."

He cited other communities in the county where primary county roads pass through and indicated that a similar offer will be extended when such roads need major maintenance. Mentioned were Maple Rapids, Elsie and Westphalia.

Throughout the tour Nobis and Haske pointed out and described various projects and improvements in all categories of county roads from primary to local. In addition railway crossings, were visited where unsafe conditions had been alleviated, and local roads where hills and valleys had been leveled and filled for safer driving conditions.

Bridge projects and needs were pointed out and Haske, in looking ahead, suggested to the supervisors that a good possibility exists that the road commission will ultimately be burdened with replacing the old, one-way bridge across the Maple River at Maple Rapids.

Perhaps the most costly project visited during the tour was the new Tallman Road bridge which spans the Maple River in Lebanon Township.

In discussing the project, which called for a new bridge site and relocation of the roadway, Nobis questioned justification for the $240,000 expense on a project which seems somewhat remote from the patterns of heavier traffic flow.

He replied to his own question by pointing out to the group that the Tallman Road bridge was the only legal load-bearing bridge across the Maple River between US-27 and the western portion of the county.

The straightening of the road and new bridge provided effective and safe north-south travel across the river.

Similarly, the tour continued throughout the day with explanations on various projects being given to questions asked.

Generally, the tour provided a revealing insight into the accomplishments being made throughout the county and the improvements underway.

In addition, the cooperation of various townships, individuals and other counties was brought to the forefront in such areas as the Meridian Road improvement project.

In this area Clinton and Shiawassee road commissions joined together along with townships involved to undertake the project. Haske explained that costs were agreed to be split between the counties on a 50-50 basis then Clinton County's share was again split with Duplain Township and this cooperation the expenditure for all agencies involved.

County Road Commission Engineer-Manager, Don Haske, on left, and Commission Chairman Paul Nobis examine area along roadway where crews have buried discarded grader blades to inhibit erosion of road shoulders and ditch banks. Several roads in the county with similar conditions are among those scheduled for reconstruction to provide greater safety and sounder roadbeds.

State program helps blind recover life

By JANE MORRIS

It is not necessary for a blind person to lead an empty, dependent life. For those who have been blind from birth, special schooling is available.

The State of Michigan sponsors a program called Blind Services, through which a blind person may participate in several rehabilitation programs, as dictated by his needs and desires.

One need not be completely blind in order to qualify for the program. A person is declared legally blind if he has eyesight of 20/200 or worse after correction; a field of 20 degrees or less; or if he suffers from a progressive condition.

Those applying for aid are given free eye examinations to determine whether they qualify to participate in the program.

In addition to supplying the means for vocational training, Blind Services are able to supply, such non-vocational aids as talking books, free advice, food labels and Braille instruction.

Often, Blind Services are able to refer an individual, whose needs are not met by their program, to an organization which is able to supply the needed aid.

Clinton County participates in the state program, though currently, the county has no record of any blind persons who might benefit from such aid. Mary Lehnert, who leads Blind Services in five counties, spends every other Thursday morning at the Clinton County Welfare Office on South Oakland Street, St. Johns.

Mrs. Lehnert is busy caring for about 89 blind people throughout the other four counties.

The person who has been blind since birth or early childhood, and has no other defects, can attend Michigan School for the Blind in East Lansing, and even go on to college. For those who lose their sight in later life, Blind Services send them through a 12-week orientation program, which assesses their skills and teaches daily living, at either Kalamazoo Institute for the Blind, or the Detroit Rehabilitation Clinic.

The blind are trained for such vocations as transmission repair, dictaphone typing, computer programming, and home-making.

Recently, Blind Services have

been placing rehabilitated workers with out-state industries, where the supply of skilled workers is low and where the blind person is more able to live a normal life.

For the blind woman, an annual homemaking institute is held at Michigan School for the Blind, which can be attended free of charge with a recommendation from the blind services.

For the home-bound blind individual, a teacher is available, who comes to the home and teaches Braille, daily living and cooking. As this home-teacher is usually blind herself, she is able to offer first hand advice and encouragement.

Anyone knowing of a person who might benefit from the Blind Service Program, is asked to contact the Clinton County Department of Social Welfare.

Missionary writes of life in Korea

Dear Friends:

After a busy and interesting summer, I have now begun my second semester teaching at Ewha University in the College of Music. Except for the addition of a few more organ students and a conducting class, my schedule is pretty much the same as last semester. The language barrier continues to be a challenge, but somehow we do manage to communicate fairly well.

Perhaps you have read some about the student demonstrations taking place here as in other parts of the world. Most of the major colleges and universities here are closed indefinitely in an effort to prevent further clashes between students and police. Ewha has been relatively unaffected although just this week more than 1,000 students from nearby Yonsei University held a demonstration on the Ewha campus with about 2,000 Ewha students applauding and encouraging them in their losing battle against some 200 well-equipped riot policemen. The "pepper-fog" remained in the air for a full day afterwards. The Ewha students themselves decided to stage a "silent protest" by wearing white blouses and dark skirts as well as holding a couple of on-campus rallies and a "save-the-nation" prayer service to show their opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment.

As you may know, the problem here is the prospect of a third term for President Park Chung Hee. The majority party and Park himself seem to think this country won't survive under any other leadership. The constitution allows a president to be in office for only two terms, however, so the issue at present is a proposed amendment to the constitution that would allow President Park to seek a third term. The students and the intellectual community in general are opposed to this; they think democracy should be given a chance to work in this country where there has not yet been a peaceful transfer of power. You can see that the political situation in Korea is a bit tense at present.

I had a wonderful month in Japan this summer. It is a beautiful and modern country. I must admit that Korea is still a contrast in the latter respect although it is changing and developing very rapidly. I am really glad I'm living here where things aren't yet quite westernized. Japan is certainly a nice place to visit, however. I especially enjoyed Kyoto, the old capitol of Japan, which boasts some 1500 temples and 200 shrines—the loveliest places for me were the gardens adjoining those I saw. The Japanese certainly have a special skill in the art of gardening and landscaping.

Since my arrival back in Korea I have moved from the mission house where I was living into a Korean apartment with another American girl. We live on the second floor of a house with a Korean family living downstairs. We have four small rooms—living room, study, bedroom and kitchen. The living room and bedroom have tatami floor, a padded matting that is actually Japanese style. We sit and sleep on the floor. Actually, sleeping is quite comfortable—both Koreans and Japanese sleep on a thin mattress and is folded up during the day. Our "kitchen" consists of a kerosene burner and an electric frying pan. All of our water is carried up by the "ajumoni" the lady who works in the house full time; fortunately, we do have a drain. We share the bath, toilet, and a shelf in the refrigerator with the family downstairs. There are a few inconveniences, but I really think it is worth it to live in a Korean community and a little more in Korean style.

This should catch you up on at least some of what's happening in Korea. Best wishes to all!

Open Letter from VAN W. HOAG

Dear friends,

As soon as reasonably possible after death, the funeral director and the clergyman should be contacted. These two persons are working together ever more closely as a team to meet the physical, spiritual and emotional needs of persons at the time of death.

When a death occurs in a family, it is natural to promptly notify other members of the immediate family.

Respectfully,

STUDENT CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING

Side walls are up on the house under construction by the St. Johns High School building trades class and most of the inside partitions are in place. "We are trying to beat the weather," says Ken Lashaway, vocational director. He says it is hoped the house at 606 S. Lansing St. will be enclosed so a heating unit may be installed which to allow students to work inside during the winter months. The boys have 18 new hard hats donated by the carpentry contractor, Norm Rademacher, who is a member of the project's advisory committee.

Bath officials express views on 'Home Rule'

Officials and residents attending the DeWitt Township Board meeting Monday night voiced "loud and clear" opinions on the proposed Home Rule City vote set for Nov. 4. Roy Andrews, supervisor of District 10, DeWitt stated, "I'm definitely against it. A 'yes' vote will split the community into three sections. Al Johns, board member agreed with Andrews' statement, as did board members William Purves, Herbert Hardtke, Ronald Zeeb, Donna Syverson, and township supervisor Oliver Angell. They gave a variety of reasons for their objections including: The high costs of maintaining fire and police departments, road building programs and school construction, coupled with public utilities. Most stated it would "break up" the community and residents didn't fully understand what they were getting into, while others questioned how the remainder of the township could survive. Frank Plyman said, "I think if it goes through it will mean financial disaster for the Home Rule City and the township." Roger Pline said, "I'm not for or against it, but the public has not been given enough information on the issue. I feel the people should be given a choice." Hampton Hobson, volunteer fireman, stated, "If we go to a fourth class city or stay a township, either way, we could not be annexed to Lansing without a vote of the people. Some residents would like to maintain a rural type atmosphere here and the low taxes that go with it, but we can barely support ourselves now. If we become a Home Rule City we would have an even lower tax base, and wind-up with two organizations trying to accomplish the same thing." Getting out the vote was stressed by officials, though some felt residents in the entire township should have been allowed to vote on the issue. Instead, only those living in the Home Rule City area will be casting ballots. Area of the Home Rule City includes property bordered on the north by Sheridan Road, Williams and Brown Roads on the east, Round Lake Road on the south, and half-way between DeWitt and Turner Roads on the west, for approximately a one-third area of the township. The election will be by paper ballot because of write-in space needed for nine charter commissioners, (as no one filed petitions). This procedure will be used as recommended by the state election commission. In other action officials, Received a letter from the State Tax Commission stating the appeal filed on tax assessments had been denied after extended deliberation of records and reports. The infinitesimal amount involved was the reason given for the rejection. Individual cases are still pending. Heard a report by Herbert Hardtke on the police committee which stated total costs for the department were $527,22 for the month, and the police committee will meet the later part of October to discuss problems with the township police and County Sheriff's Dept. Heard complaints concerning Clark Road, which was opened late this summer and is "bumpy" to drive on with lapmarks visible. Oliver Angell, supervisor, recommended Tom Nitzsche to fill the term of Joe Donahue on the planning commission, which expires Jan. 1, 1970. The recommendation was approved. Distributed budget data for March 25, 1969 to Sept. 22, 1969. Discussed the request of the newly formed Clinton County Planning Commission in regard to financial contributions. Angell stated he felt at the present time County planning should not be financed by township funds, but through the County. Roy Andrews' chief stated "we can't benefit from a comprehensive plan and if the group could offer some kind of contribution it would help. The townships are only asked to contribute what ever they can afford," no action was taken. Discussed the "terrible condition" of Herbison Road with one visitor describing a 100 foot section as a "sand trap" with holes already appearing in the new road construction, (which was done on an experimental basis). Angell said he would contact Mr. Haske on the matter. Approved the purchase of a tarp for the fire department at a cost of $50 and the request of three volunteers for 'outside' telephone bells installed at their homes.

Michigan Lions Clubs reach beyond state

The Lions Clubs of Michigan have a long reach and the good their members do extends far beyond the borders of their fortunate and beautiful state. Today, the words "Michigan" and "Lions" carry a special meaning to men, women and children burdened with a heritage of centuries of poverty. By contributing $3,221 to CARE during the past year, Michigan Lions have contributed to the welfare of mankind in three countries around the world. In Guatemala, Michigan Lions provided materials to build two new schools in the villages of Rio Blanco and Chapulco. In Malaysia the Lions of the Wolverine State participated in a special CARE relief and rehabilitation fund, established after a fire destroyed 500 homes in the fishing village of Jualak-edah on March 14, 1968. In Korea, the Choong Ang Orphanage was provided with food and tool kits through the Lions' generosity. Lions Clubs throughout the nation contributed $147,666 to help support CARE projects in 23 needy countries. Farmers were provided with seeds and hand tools; school children were given school supplies; the tools of the trade were supplied to carpenters, masons, shoemakers, auto mechanics and other skilled craftsmen; midwives were equipped with modern, sanitary supplies to deliver healthy babies; seamstresses were given CARE sewing machines—all through the generosity of Lions Clubs, through CARE. In all, Lions built 81 schools last year, and provided school desks for more than 1,600 children, installed water systems in four Central American villages, and an artisan well in the Philippines. Lions aided the blind of India, Pakistan and Ceylon by providing educational aids, Braille typewriters and duplicating machines.

With these gifts, Michigan Lions and Lions across the country affirmed the brotherhood of man, and their faith in their own motto: "We Serve."

Bath blanks Dansville, 12-0; runs conference mark to 3-1

By RON KARLE
Editor

A couple of weeks ago Rick Smith promised that Bath's Bees would bring Perry's homecoming floats back with them.

The result was Bath's first defeat in their new circuit, the Ingham County League.

Well, Smith set things straight Friday at Dansville.

The junior guard was a key factor in ruining the Aggies' homecoming as he blocked two punts and made a pair of interceptions to set up both Bath scores as the Bees stung Dansville, 12-0, and ran their conference record to 3-1.

The Bees thwarted a fine Dansville goal line stand and put their first six points on the scoreboard with only 3 1/3 seconds remaining in the first half and then iced the game by adding six more in the final period.

After a scoreless first quarter Smith set up the first Bath touchdown when he intercepted Dansville pass and the Bees took over on the Aggies' 35 yard line. Then a 29-yard pass play moved the ball to the Dansville six with about 20 seconds left in the half.

A determined Aggie defense dug in and held the Bees for three downs—all incomplete passes.

But on fourth down with 3 1/2 seconds remaining, quarterback Paul Stell flipped a screen pass to Dave Ankeny, who pitched to his trailing back Don Adams and the junior halfback took it in.

In the third quarter, Smith blocked a Dansville punt which was recovered by Captain Dick King on the Bees' 46 yard line. Bath moved the ball to the Dansville 22 but was unable to turn the break into points as the Aggies took over on downs.

Dansville was unable to move the ball and was forced to punt but Smith blasted through to block his second kick of the day to set up the second Bath touchdown.

With the Bees on the Dansville 30, Stoll again passed to Ankeny who passed to Mark Dunkel for the score early in the final period.

A pass play attempting the two-point conversion was no good.

Dansville was able to mount an offensive drive and was moving steadily toward Bath goal line when Smith intercepted his second pass of the day to deflate the Aggies.

"We hit—that was the difference," said Head coach Ron Skorich, whose charges lost their only conference game the week before to Perry after shutting out two consecutive Ingham County League foes.

Skorich was especially pleased with Smith and he also singled out the hardrunning Adams, and tackles Rusty Swart and Larry Feguer.

"Offensively, I think Stoll did a good job," said Skorich. "He was 10 for 21."

"Don Koenig helped us run up the middle—he made the offense work," added Skorich. "Our punting was good as usual. Adams is leading the league."

The Bees then dashed off to scout undefeated Leslie, next week's conference opponent. Leslie, by the way, crushed Pinckney, 62-0. Earlier this season Bath beat Pinckney, 22-0. "If we stop the bomb, we'll beat Leslie," Skorich predicted. Against winless Dansville, the Bees allowed 12 completions in 24 attempts.

The Aggies rushed for 135 yards for a total of 159 yards, while Bath picked up 62 yards. In the air and rushed for 76 yards for a total of 156 yards.

The Aggies picked up 11 first downs to nine for Bath and the Bees were penalized 50 yards to 25 for Dansville. The Aggies didn't fumble at all while Bath lost the ball three times and recovered two of the bobbles.

Bath	0	6	0	6	—	12

Head Coach Ron Skorich and his assistant Mel Comeau, to his right, look concerned. But when it was over, Bath had their third shutout. That's tackle Larry Feguer (No. 70) behind them.

Panthers win, 26-6

DeWitt dumps Webberville, but shutout string is broken

By RON KARLE
Editor

"I'm sick — they scored six points on us."

That was the reaction of DeWitt Head Coach Gary Roberts after his Panthers powered to their fifth victory in a row Friday night, 26-6, over Webberville.

Until Friday, the Panthers had not been scored on, winning by scores of 18-0, 12-0, 18-0, and 47-0.

The fourth quarter touchdown was about the only bright spot in the Spartans homecoming. That came on a 78-yard pass play from Chuck Coe to end T. J. Dalton.

But the Spartans were no match for the Panthers paced by a pair of touchdowns by junior halfback Jim Ashley—his seventh and eighth of the season—and two others by fullback Brian Wood and quarterback Joe LaMacchia. LaMacchia passed for 53 yards in replacing starting quarterback Mike Botke who suffered a shoulder separation a week before against Laingsburg.

Nearly 10 minutes were gone before Webberville ever got hands on the ball and when they did, the Spartans were on the short end of a 6-0 score.

The Panthers took the kickoff and marched 60 yards downfield in 15 plays with Ashley battering over for the score from the two-yard line.

The drive was highlighted by Ashley's 15-yard run to Webberville turf on the third play of the game and another 15-yard scamper by Wood who carried to the two before Ashley picked up the first six points.

Before the period was over Webberville took advantage of a high center and took over on the DeWitt 37 and marched for a first down before fumbling. Steve Tews recovered for the Panthers on the DeWitt 28-yard line.

Although the second quarter was scoreless, it didn't lack excitement.

With Webberville on the DeWitt 36, a 33-yard pass play brought the Spartans to the Panther three-yard line. But the DeWitt defensive unit was not to be denied and after slamming into the Panther defense on four runs, Webberville lost the ball on downs on the two-yard line.

Later in the second period, with about a minute left in the half, Webberville's Don Lunsted hit end Dan McCoy with a 30-yard pass to bring the ball down to the DeWitt 15.

But two plays later, with 18 seconds remaining, Mike Ashley ended the threat when he intercepted a Spartan pass and carried out to the 30.

The ball exchanged hands once more as Webberville's Dalton intercepted a pass as the gun went off.

With about five minutes gone in the third period, DeWitt tried a field goal but was unsuccessful.

Three plays later, however, the Panthers recovered a Webberville fumble on the Spartan five. Jim Ashley carried to the one and then two plays later, with the ball on the six-inch line, Wood bombed over for the touchdown.

Three plays later the Panthers recovered another Spartan fumble on the Webberville 25 but lost the ball on downs.

Webberville took over on its own 22 and moved 10 yards in four plays before junior tackle Roger Wardell stormed in, picked up a ball jarred loose by Mike Thelen and rambled 29 yards to the Spartan four-yard line.

On the next play, with little more than two minutes left in the period, Jim Ashley scampered into the end zone. LaMacchia hit Marty Lankford for another two points and the Panthers led 20-0.

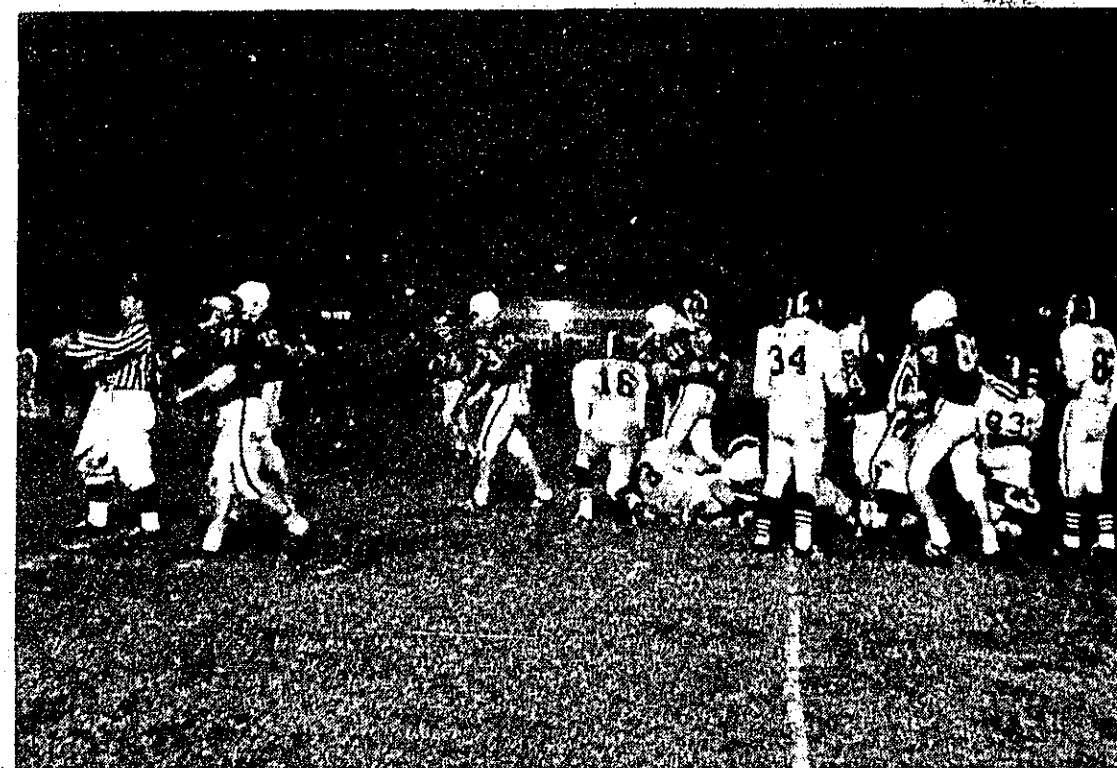

Late in the third period Lankford sparked the Panthers on their way to a fourth touchdown when he dashed 25 yards down to the Webberville 30-yard line. Then halfback Dennis Theroux carried from the 18 down to the three to set up the final touchdown.

DeWitt fumbled on the next play but recovered on the two before LaMacchia scampered around right end on a keeper for the six points to make it

This is the opposition you face when you're six inches from a touchdown. That's the flag marker on the right. But moments later DeWitt's Brian Wood smashed over (below) for a third period touchdown as the Panthers thrashed Webberville, 26-6.

Hastings ties up Redwing title hopes, 12-12

One of many turning points in the game.

Twelve to twelve is usually a tie.

But when it happened to St. Johns Friday it was like a defeat.

Three points strategically placed over the first five games would have meant a flawless season up to now.

The tie against Hastings when added to a one-point loss earlier to Ionia all but snuffed out Redwing hopes of repeating as West Central Conference champions.

Probably no one took it quite as hard as Head Coach Jeff Smith, who placed much of the blame on himself.

"I didn't get the boys mentally ready for the game," was all he would say.

"Except for 'no comment' when pressed for more.

"Nobody was ready for the first half," said center Bob Knight after the game.

"Our boys wanted to play too late," added assistant coach Phil Desper.

The Wings were shut out completely in the first half while Hastings put six points on the board early in the first quarter.

That came on a 21-yard dash by halfback Newell Heath.

The Saxons increased their lead to 12 points in the third period when veteran fullback Wes VanBenburg carried in from the two.

★★★ Penalty kills 'winning' TD with four minutes to play

JEFF SMITH

Shoulders blame.

In that drive Hastings held the ball for the first seven minutes of the third period and didn't relinquish until VanBenburg scored.

The Redwings finally put one together late in the same period when Tim Durner hit Charlie Green for a touchdown on a 21-yard pass play.

The attempted conversion was blocked.

Then in the final period Durner added six more on a one-yard sneak.

A two-point conversion attempt failed when a pass went astray.

With about four minutes remaining, Durner hit Green for a touchdown on a 40-yard pass play.

But a penalty nullified the effort.

"We felt we were very fortunate in tying St. Johns," said Head Coach John Clarey, adding he thought there was "good determination on our part."

Statistically, St. Johns rushed for 94 yards and picked up another 68 in the air for a total of 162 as Durner completed four of 12 attempts losing two on interceptions.

Hastings threw six passes, completing none and losing one on an interception but rolled up 191 yards on the ground.

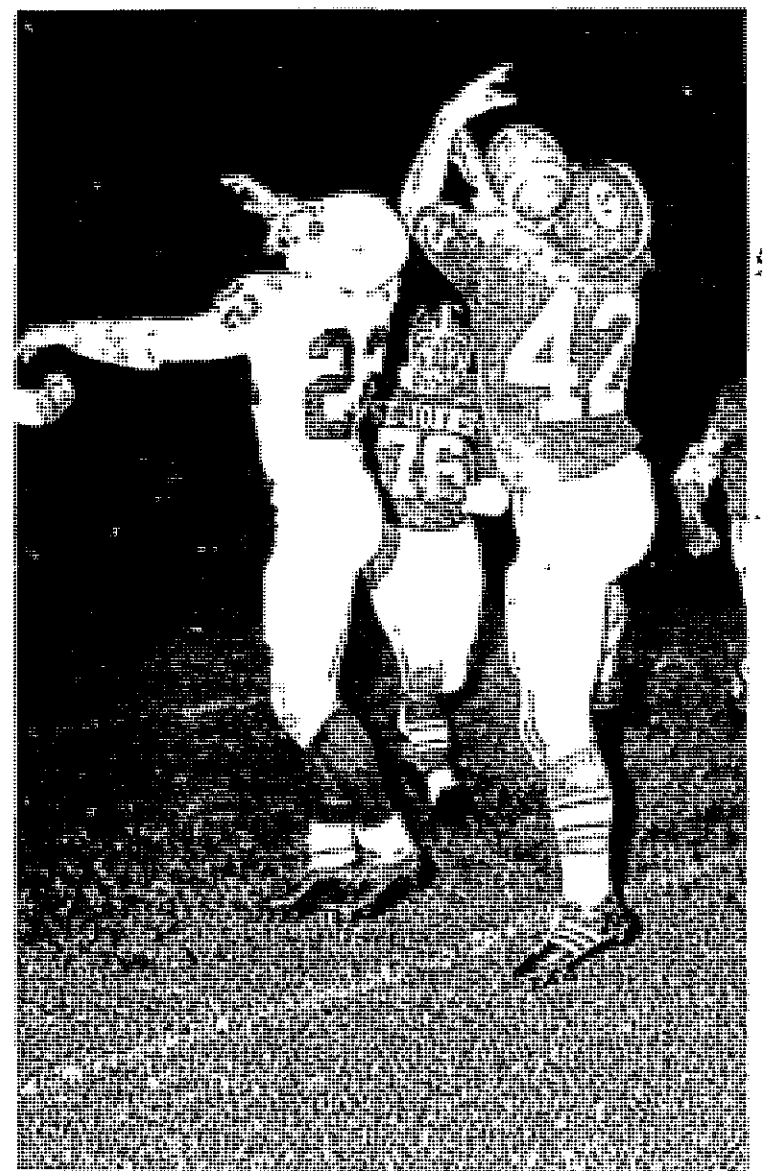

The Redwings picked up nine first downs to 14 for Hastings.

Neither team fumbled but St. Johns was penalized 45 yards to 40 for the Saxons.

The Redwings are now 2-1-1 in conference play and 3-1-1 overall while Hastings is 1-2-1 in the league and 1-3-1 on the season.

This week St. Johns hosts Grand Ledge which shares the league lead at 4-0 with Ionia.

Rumor spiked: No replay of Ionia game

By RON KARLE
Editor

If you've heard rumors concerning a replay of the St. Johns-Ionia game--forget it.

Supt. Earl Lancaster and an official of the Michigan High School Athletic Association Monday both said they had no knowledge of a rumored replay of the game.

Ionia upset St. Johns by a single point--20-19--Sept. 26.

"I just think that's somebody's wild dream," said Lancaster when asked if he knew of any plans for a possible replay of the game.

Lancaster, who is a registered official himself, said he talked to the State Athletic Association after viewing the films of the game and asked about a protest.

"They said no," he said "And that in 40 years they've never yielded to one and that they probably never will.

"They put their faith in these officials and every time somebody lost a game they would be hounded."

"This is the first I've heard about it," said Al Bush, the association's director of athletics. "The superintendent talked with me about it briefly but no protest was filed."

Bush added that he "wouldn't want to encourage anyone" into thinking that a replay would occur.

"It's up to the league," he said.

Bush said that a game could be replayed if the league approved, however, the association allows only nine games to be played each season and each school is limited to a combination of not more than 25 football and basketball games.

St. Johns has a full nine-game schedule.

"Even though errors are made," said Bush, "all of us are human. It's unfair to officials to sit in your office with a handbook while officials have to make decisions before a crowd of people.

"If it's a judgment call, there's nothing we can do," he added.

There have also been rumors that an official or officials in the Ionia game had been fired.

Bush said, however, that officials are hired by the schools themselves and their opponents have to agree on who's hired.

When asked if the association ever bans officials, Bush said, "It's possible if he fails to fulfill his contract or something of that type" but the committee probably wouldn't relieve an official "just because he made a couple of bad calls."

Bush said all officials must be registered by the association and are examined.

Pewamo-Westphalia falls to Potterville, 30-14

Sherman's tanks rolled into Pewamo - Westphalia Friday night.

And then his air force.

When the siege was over Potterville's quarterback Mike Sherman and his troops had laid waste to the Pirates undefeated season, 30-14.

Sherman hit on 16 of 26 passes for 294 yards, three touchdowns and three two-point conversions.

The senior signal-caller also rushed for 78 of Potterville's 180 yards on the ground as the Vikings won their fifth in a row against no losses and maintained the top spot in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference standings. Early in the first period Sherman hit a halfback Kin Van Tilburg on a 56-yard touchdown pass and added two more on a completion to halfback Bruce McMurray.

In the second quarter, Sherman set up another score when he hit McMurray on a 55-yard pass play. McMurray then carried over from the one.

The Pirates put one on the board before the half ended when fullback Dan Weber plunged over from three yards out.

But the Vikings got it back before the half was over when Van Tilburg scored on a 20-yard pass from Sherman who then hit end Rick Metzmaker for another two-point conversion to give Potterville a 22-6 lead at halftime.

In the third period Sherman hit McMurray for another touchdown from eight yards out and then completed to Metzmaker for a two-point conversion.

Weber picked up his second touchdown for the Pirates, in the fourth quarter, dashing 15 yards for the score. Quarterback John Bengal hit end Don Pohl for two more to conclude the scoring.

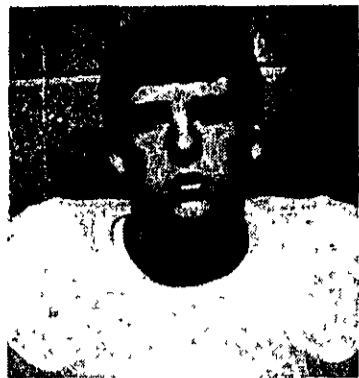

All this at homecoming, yet. But Nancy Bengal helped P-W supporters take their minds off the Viking invasion at halftime when she was crowned homecoming queen. Nancy is a cheerleader and the daughter of Mr and Mrs Julius Bengal of Westphalia.

The Pirates, defending CMAC champions, are now 3-1 in conference play and 3-1-1 overall. Next week's conference match takes the Pirates to DeWitt for a battle against the undefeated Panthers.

Fifth loss

St. Paul stops Fowler

Steve Feldpausch—who has rushed for more than 100 yards in every game—scored his fourth and fifth touchdowns of the season Friday night but the Fowler workhorse and his mates couldn't overcome a steady Owosso St. Paul attack and dropped their fifth in a row, 28-24.

Feldpausch, who rushed for 136 yards, banged over from four yards out for his first score. The junior halfback picked up another on an 86-yard kickoff return.

Junior quarterback Gene Messer accounted for two other Eagle touchdowns when he scored on a 47-yard quarterback sneak and later fired a 28-yard scoring pass to Gary Pung.

St. Paul scored 14 points in the first half and picked up another 14 in the second half to win the Central Michigan Athletic Conference game.

Fowler had two touchdowns called back on penalties.

"One was for backfield in motion," said Head Coach Blaine Douglas. "The referee never did tell me what the other penalty was for."

Only once this season have the winless Eagles lost by more than eight points—that against a powerful Pewamo-Westphalia squad, 30-14. Fowler came close in their first three outings, losing 12-6, 14-8 and 14-6.

Statistically, the game was fairly close with Fowler picking up 11 first downs to 12 for St. Paul.

The Eagles completed eight of 15 attempted passes for 138 yards and added another 99 on the ground for a total offensive effort of 237, while St. Paul completed eight passes in 20 attempts for 152 yards and added another 97 rushing for a total of 249. Both clubs had two passes intercepted.

St. Paul fumbled four times and recovered three times while Fowler lost its only fumble, Fowler was penalized 70 yards to 50 for St. Paul.

Another tough conference game is on the schedule this week as the Eagles host Potterville, undefeated in five games this year.

Corunna trips Ovid-Elsie, 22-14

The Ovid-Elsie Marauders tried hard to chalk up victory No. 101 for Coach Mark O'Donnell last Friday night but a stubborn squad delayed that opportunity with a 22-14 victory.

For a while it looked as if the Marauders would give their mentor another win to add to his career skein of 100 when O-E leaped into the lead by a 14-6 count after trailing 6-0.

O-E's Don Mulder tallied the tying touchdown on a five-yard scamper around end and quarterback Dave Long flipped a toss to Cai Woodard to account for a two-point conversion.

In the third period Ron Lover crashed into pay dirt from three yards outstretching O-E's advantage to the 14-6 margin.

Corunna, however, seemed determined to maintain their conference string of no losses and a fourth quarter pair of touchdowns set their ranking at the 3-0 mark.

Don Butcher and Tony Hornus accounted for the late game scores, each tallying from the two yard line. Hornus hit Butcher with a pass for one conversion and then ran the other himself.

Butcher also accounted for Corunna's opening quarter touchdown.

Although the Marauders out-gained Corunna in total yardage, 311 to 214, O-E fell victim to three lost fumbles.

The Marauders are now 1-4 on the season and 1-2 in Mid-Michigan B Conference play.

This week Ovid-Elsie travels to Chesaning for another league battle.

Mike Wierman displays an eight point deer, which he dropped with an arrow shot from his 58 pound bow, Monday evening. He and Terry Cressman came across the deer north of DeWitt. Though Wierman shot the deer, it was Cressman who chased the deer into range, and helped lug the carcass back to the car.

Mandatory safety program initiated for young hunters

Michigan's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is pointing toward July, 1970, to start the state's new mandatory program of hunter safety training for youngsters which was enacted into law earlier this year.

Launching of the program next July will provide more than a year of lead time before Sept. 1, 1971, when Michigan youths will be required to have completed such training or meet other alternatives to qualify for buying firearm hunting licenses.

The DNR is now calling for instructors to train, working our administrative details, and generally gearing up for the first year of the compulsory program under which it hopes to reach about 125,000 youths with a four-hour course of hunter safety schooling.

Aside from passing that required course, there are several other ways that Michigan youngsters from 12 through 16 can become eligible to buy 1971 firearm hunting licenses under terms of Act 43.

Each youth in this age bracket may also qualify for a 1971 license if he can present a license from a previous year which proves he has had past hunting experience. In that case, he will not be required to have completed the mandatory hunter training course.

As a substitute for the training requirement or the ability to show proof of past hunting experience, youths may also qualify for 1971 licenses by passing an examination of the DNR which will test their competence in the safe handling of firearms and knowledge of hunter etiquette.

Firearm licenses will also be sold in 1971 to youths under 17 who have successfully completed the DNR's voluntary hunter safety training program. Some 135,000 youngsters have passed that program since it was introduced in Michigan in 1960.

Under those provisions of Act 43 which take effect 90 days after the yet-unscheduled final adjournment of the State Legislature, youngsters under 12 will no longer be allowed to buy firearm or archery hunting licenses. As in the past, however, youths will be able to hunt on their own premises without licenses.

The new law sets a $2 fee for the training course and a $1 charge for the examination which will serve as one alternative to taking hunter safety instruction.

The DNR is seeking out experienced hunters which it needs as voluntary instructors to launch the training program next July. Those interested in joining its ranks of trainers are urged to contact conservation officers in their local areas.

New rules guide hooking salmon

Michigan fishermen are reminded by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) that salmon foul-hooked with "normal" angling gear are legal catches in all Michigan waters under liberalized rules adopted earlier this year.

The relaxed regulations were put into play this season to promote the sport take of coho and chinook, particularly from the state's inland streams. They still carry the previous creel limit of 5 salmon per day or in possession.

Under the new changes to promote better angling opportunities with standard tackle, the legal size of salmon fishing hooks for inland waters has been raised to 1/2 inch, measuring between the point of the hook and the shank.

Treble hooks not attached to "commonly-used" artificial lures have been outlawed to discourage intentional snagging and, for the same reason, it is illegal to use more than one single-pointed hook or one artificial lure on any line when fishing salmon in inland waters.

To further control snagging, inland salmon fishermen cannot:

- 1) Attach a weight to any lure or hook;
- 2) Attach a weight exceeding 1/2 ounce to any line within 18 inches of the hook or lure; or
- 3) Place a weight on a line so that it will trail the lure when retrieved.

DNR fisheries men are hoping that the new rules will enable anglers to make the most of Michigan's salmon fishery yet protect the sport from being spoiled by wholesale snagging.

DeWitt rips Webberville as shutout string ends

Then with 3:06 remaining, Coe unleashed a pass to Dalton for an 78-yard touchdown play.
Coach Roberts said he was especially pleased with the play of Bill Thelen "who caused seven fumbles and Mike Ashley did his usual good job."
When asked about this week's game against Pewamo-Westphalia, Roberts, said, "I don't know. We haven't played them yet. But our kids will be ready."

The game was expected to be a showdown in the Central Michigan Athletic Conference since P-W was also undefeated going into Friday's action. But Potterville won their fifth in a row by trimming the Pirates 30-14 last week.

Forest maps available

New township-sized maps showing state forest cover types in the Upper Peninsula are now on sale through a commercial printing firm in Lansing, reports the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).
The maps, prepared from a four-year field study recently completed by the DNR, may be obtained by writing to Commercial Blueprint, Inc., 523 East Shilwassee Street, Lansing 48912.

Each copy, when folded and mailed in an envelope, is priced at $1.30, including state sales tax. A rolled map sent in a mailing tube costs $1.82, which also covers the tax charge.

All of the new maps are scaled at four inches to the mile. Persons ordering them should specify by town and range the specific area they want covered by each map. They may inspect maps covering state forests in their locales at offices of DNR area and district foresters.

FUN TIME IS STORY TIME AT BATH

A new project at the Bath Elementary School for pre-school children has met with great success. The children are invited to visit the library each Tuesday and Thursday from 10 to 10:30 a.m. Mrs James Hixson, reading consultant and Mrs Kenneth Harwood, elementary librarian, plan the day's activities which may include story telling, short films, or coloring. The class also gives the children an opportunity to check out library books and become familiar with the routine of a kindergarten class. No attendance records are kept and no pressure exerted on the child.

DeWitt librarian on Australian journey

Travel, reading and language study have been important assets to Mrs Faye Hanson who for the past 10 years has served as librarian for the DeWitt District Library.

Her husband, Leo, is a dairy farmer, who doesn't reap the enjoyment from travel his wife does, consequently, she goes by herself and has learned to enjoy it.

For her latest adventure Mrs Hanson left Oct. 5, on a one-month tour of Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii.

"When I travel I try to avoid Americans," said Mrs Hanson. "I see them all the time and I like to order things off the menus I've never had before. I also enjoy participating in the normal everyday activities of the people."

"People travel abroad today to visit antiquities. Here we have none. There's no heritage and nothing to show our kids," she says. "Often we tear down a building just to make a parking lot. That's why I'd hate to see the State Capitol demolished."

Mrs Hanson has traveled extensively in Europe, Canada and the United States, and throughout the past 10 years the Hanson family has played host to exchange students from Scotland, India, China and other countries. She counts among her close friends Hindus, Moslems and Jews and has familiarized herself with their customs, language and foods.

In the future she hopes to visit Greece and Yugoslavia. Her present journey will take her to San Francisco, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Sidney and Perth, Australia. On her return flight she will spend four days at Waikiki Beach in Hawaii.

Swegles P-TA meets Tuesday

The first meeting of the year for the Swegles School parent-teachers association will feature Parker Sells, of Lake City who has traveled the United States from Los Angeles to New York City by bicycle.

He began his unusual travel history with bicycle trips totaling 25,000 miles and touching 48 states.

In 1965 Sells walked 2,350 miles from Seattle to Fairbanks, Alaska in 90 days. In 1967 he rowed a 12-foot rowboat, the "Cherry Bell" 1,700 miles down the Mississippi River from St. Paul to New Orleans in 107 days.

Besides his unusual travel experiences, Sells is a professional ice sculptor at the nationally famous St. Paul "Winter Carnival" for the past several years and annually has his ice work on display at Houghton Lake's "Tip-up-Town festival".

Robert D. Dimer, president of the Swegles P-T-A says that Sells will present a program of color slides and narration at the Oct. 21 meeting in the new high school cafeteria on the Seattle to Fairbanks walk. Entitled "Five-Million Steps To Mrs Faye Hanson left Oct. 5 on a one-month visit to Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii. She travels alone on her journeys and enjoys it. Her worldwide travels have made her career as librarian and writer beneficial to DeWitt residents and students throughout the community.

"hits the deck" at 6 a.m. each morning. She takes early morning jaunts by herself and feels this gives her the opportunity to make new friends and see the country.

When asked her views on today's youth, Mrs Hanson offered these comments, "Kids today are great. Long hair is no different than our generation swallowing goldfish, but there's too much pressure on our students, and I worry a great deal about the dope situation. "We should give authority back to our police departments and teach our kids respect for others," she added.

Mrs Hanson has lived all her life in DeWitt and supplements her work at the library with a writing career with the Lansing State Journal. She received her education at Alma College, MSU, and by correspondence from Utah State University.

Fulton to sign fire contract

After several months of negotiation Fulton Township officials have verbally agreed to a fire contract with Maple Rapids Volunteer Fire Department.

The agreement was reached last week and signed by the Maple Rapids unit. The contract has now been sent to Fulton officials for final signature.

Meetings between the two units have been conducted since the July 1 expiration date of the annual contract.

Residents of the Rainbow Lake area were most affected by the agreement which stipulates a $300 retainer fee and $125 per-run to the township. Only labor costs will be paid when the department makes a dry-run.

In other action officials, —Purchased a 285 gallon gas tank for police car use from Orville Reader, of the Mobile Oil Co., of Carson City at a cost of $55, with Reader furnishing two new pumps.

—Robert Antes, street commissioner, stated he felt the Hicks Co., of Alma, should honor their contract regarding prime coat on the north approach to the village and reported the section in "bad shape." Village officials agreed.

—Received word from the Scorsis Club stating they will donate $43 to village Christmas decorations.

Sr. citizens hosted

A delicious chicken dinner was enjoyed by 60 St. Johns Senior Citizens when they were entertained by the Owosso Golden Agers, Sept. 30.

Following the noon meal, the St. Johns group presented a program entitled "Parade of the Gay Nineties." Readings, harmonica duets and vocal and piano solos were used to spice the program.

Chicken can be deadly

Barbecued chicken—delicious or deadly?

It can be either, depending upon the handling of the product. The Michigan Department of Agriculture is becoming increasingly concerned with the mis-handling of such convenience foods by consumers.

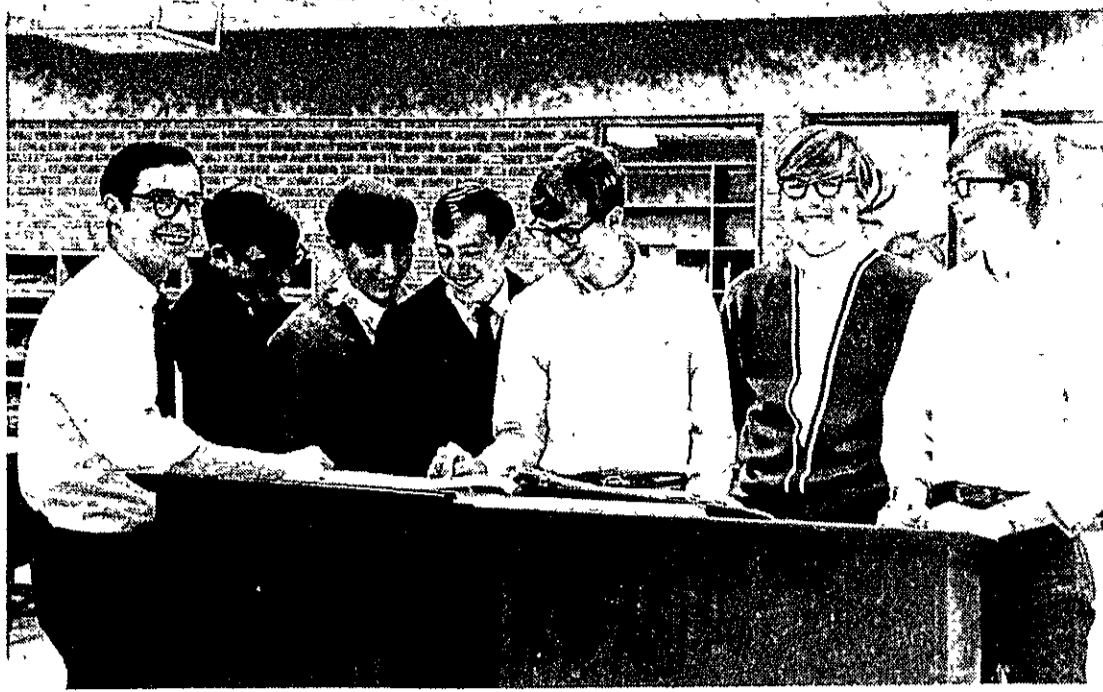

In recent weeks, 24 persons in four separate outbreaks became ill after eating barbecued chicken, says B. Dale Ball, director. Eleven of the 24, ranging in age from two to 75 years, were hospitalized for an average of six days. The remainder were treated in doctors' offices.

Samples of the barbecued chicken, in each case, contained Salmonella bacteria, a food poisoning type organism associated with symptoms of gastroenteritis. The samples were analyzed in the department's laboratories.

Housewives who purchase the already-cooked chickens are urged by Director Ball to serve the meat piping hot and at once, or take it home from the store and refrigerate it immediately if it is to be eaten later.

He explained it's the in-between temperatures which are hazardous, and refers to a frequent department admonition: "Keep it hot, keep it cold, or don't keep it."

The department is asking retail stores that handle the rotisserie-type meat products to use consumer packages giving printed instructions on proper handling and storing at home.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

College is back in session and it is hoped that student clashes this school year will be limited to the sports field.

In Michigan, our 11 state universities, 29 community colleges and 56 private universities and colleges have an enrollment of more than 300,000 students. Militant student organization membership totals about three or four per cent of the student population.

Indeed the unrest, violence, disorder and destructive activities on campuses is of grave concern. When we consider recent headlines focused on Ferris State College, Western Michigan University and the University of Michigan, little space need be taken attempting to justify the need to curb campus disorders.

President Nixon said recently, "It is time for faculties, boards of trustees and school administrators to have the backbone to stand up against this kind of situation."

Answering the President's challenge, the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce recently adopted policy supporting educational institutions against disruptions.

The goal of the chamber is to help in the solving of the problems on university campuses to the degree that each student is assured maximum opportunity for a sound, uninterrupted education.

One section in the eight point policy release clearly states what we believe is the farming and non-farming public's viewpoint on college disorder.

It recommends, "Establish firmly that the university is not a sanctuary for law breakers and that the same laws do and will apply to lawlessness on the campus as they apply in any other part of the community."

Campus law breakers should not be given amnesty merely because laws are broken by students. Strict enforcement of the law should be a policy that is understood by all concerned."

The policy recommendations for educators also stresses that non-violent protest and dissent be a legitimate expression, however such orderly protest should not be confused with efforts that are designed to create confusion, disorder, destruction of property or physical injury to other people.

If student clashes are not restricted to the sports field this year (and it is doubtful), and foul play should be penalized. Law and Order must be upheld.

EXTENSION REPORT

Grain drying

By GEORGE McQUEEN

Here are some guidelines that farmers should recognize in buying grain-drying equipment.

First, grain-drying equipment will not perform miracles.

It takes approximately 2,000 BTU's to evaporate a pound of water from grain.

The wetter the grain the more water there is to be removed. There are no shortcuts. So the agent advises farmers to look carefully at the information on drying equipment.

Most Michigan farmers will start harvesting corn when it is 30 to 32 per cent moisture and must dry to 14 per cent or below to hold it on the farm.

This means a removal of 16 to 18 points of moisture, or 13 to 15 pounds of water per bushel of dried grain. The equipment should be large enough to dry in 16 hours what can be harvested in eight hours with a combine or picker-sheller.

The agricultural authority says it is easy to acquire more harvesting capacity than drying capacity.

The major difference in the drying systems available is the potential volume a machine can handle. Usually the more dollars invested, the more drying capacity the equipment offers.

Here are the common types of drying units in use on Michigan farms:

(1) Continuous Flow—Wet Grain goes in the top of the dryer, and dry grain comes out the bottom. The equipment needed for operation includes a dryer with two fans and motors, wet holding bin, handling equipment for both wet and dry grain, automatic control equipment to control grain flow and dry grain storage bins.

(2) Batch—Wet grain is put in a bin, dried and removed. Sizes range from a 200-bushel portable bin to a 2,000-bushel round bin, 40 feet in diameter. Drying air temperature is limited to minimize the damage to the grain. The volume is increased by increasing the bin size. Stirring devices are of little assistance in these drying units. Equipment needed: batch drying bin, handling equipment to move grain in and out of bin and dry grain storage.

(3) In-Storage—Wet grain is dried and stored in the same bin. This is a low volume operation, perhaps 300 to 400 bushels a day on the average. Equipment needed: bin for drying and storing, and equipment for filling and removing.

four-fifths mark. Some stands of early seeded fields are up and look very good despite the lack of adequate moisture supplies.

Some harvest of legume seeds took place during the week as did harvest of fourth cutting of hay.

The lack of adequate fall moisture has resulted in below average supplies of pasture forage for livestock. Some livestock farmers have resorted to supplemental feeding.

Apple harvest is progressing nicely. In the Southwest the MacIntosh crop is about harvested with most growers concentrating on the Red and Yellow Delicious varieties. Picking of Rome, Winesap and Northern Spy varieties is expected to begin next week.

Entry deadline nears for state livestock show

Michigan farm youth are reminded that Friday, Oct. 17, is the closing date for steer, swine and lamb entries in the Detroit Junior Livestock and Horse Show to be held Nov. 7-9 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

For the first time in 40 years, horse classes have been added for juniors. Closing date for horse show entries is Oct. 31.

Premium lists and entry forms are now available from Robert McLachlan, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 48203.

Rules for the 40th annual market livestock division of the show remain the same except that cattle will be mouthed to determine the showing of senior calves, summer yearlings and junior yearlings without regard to actual age limits as in the past.

For the first time, trophies will be awarded by the Michigan Junior Shorthorn Association for the reserve grand champion Shorthorn steer and by the Michigan Polled Hereford Association for the champion Hereford steer, if it is a Polled Hereford.

Also this year, exhibitors are offered supervised heated housing on the grounds for $1.00 per night but they must furnish their own bedding. Accommodations for approximately 200 will be assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Youths, ages 10 through 18, may enter animals in the show. The public is invited to the three-day program, including the horse shows, free of charge.

Are you eating less and enjoying it more?

Who says they are eating less food but enjoying it more? Many families.

You don't believe it? Well if the average American family purchased the entire year's supply of food at one time, it would take a lot of trips to get it all home. But the load would weigh less than it would have a year ago, in spite of the increase in the number of items available today.

Statistics prove that each person in today's average size family of 3.7 persons, requires slightly more than 1,400 pounds of food each year. This would total more than 5,200 pounds for the entire family. In 1940 the figures were 1,500 pounds of food annually for each person. So we're carrying a load about 100 pounds lighter today.

The demands of the American appetite continually bring about changes in the variety and form of foods, and these changes in themselves have helped decrease the weight of each person's annual needs. The chicken that was once reserved for Sunday dinner, and the turkey that was associated with special holiday meals, have now become everyday foods, and the family is served only the parts it likes best.

The small can of frozen orange juice has now greatly replaced the big bag of fresh oranges, and the heat-and-eat convenience foods bring no waste home from the grocery store except the package.

Most folks are eating more meat these days. While half our meat consumption was beef last year—two thirds more than in 1948—we ate less pork, lamb and mutton or veal than we did twenty years ago.

Beef's dramatic rise is due mainly to the consumer's preference and to his rising purchasing power which allows us to indulge our preferences.

Mrs. Homemaker is buying more poultry than ever before. Purchases have doubled from 1948. One reason is the lower prices which have resulted from mass production and efficient feeding of the birds.

By HELEN B. MEACH
Extension Home Economist

The long term decline in our use of potatoes has halted. We still use less fresh potatoes than in the past but we more than make up for this with use of processed chips, dehydrated and frozen potatoes.

The American consumer is eating more cheese and frozen dairy products today than he used to, but individual use of fluid milk and cream was more than a tenth less than in 1948.

Non-dairy products have taken a growing part of the market for cream, and in the process they have enlarged the total market for substitute coffee creamers and whipped toppings.

All this may help you to take a look at your family's food consumption. How do you measure up to the changes shown by statistics? Are you eating fewer pounds of food at your home but enjoying a better variety and selection?

Don't neglect leather this fall

By LORRAINE SPRAGUE
Extension Home Economist

A chill in the air brings thoughts of Fall and Winter clothing.

It's been a lovely, comfortable summer in our sleeveless skimmers of soft, lightweight fabrics. Now we turn to those fabrics which continue to provide comfort plus an added feature of warmth.

Ready-to-wear departments and yard goods counters are real teasers right now. It's hard to decide just what you really do want—and need.

One offering we should look for includes the extremely popular simulated leather. Introduced a year ago, they've taken the fashion world by storm.

Man-made leathers are of two distinct types. It is very important that you know which type you are buying so you may give it the proper care.

One type of simulated leather can be successfully washed in water, but it stiffens when dry cleaned. The other type can only be dry cleaned.

If a leather garment cannot be dry cleaned, your dry cleaner can still give it "professional" care. It can be wet-cleaned, which is a process involving hand brushing, if your dry cleaner is so informed when you take the garment to him. It becomes your responsibility to save and observe all hang tags and labels.

Expanded vinyl fabrics are never to be dry cleaned. Such fabrics are identified by examining the wrong side. They always have a knitted background.

Polyurethane-coated simulated leathers have a woven cotton background. This type can be dry cleaned.

When purchasing simulated leather garments, or garments with simulated leather trim, be sure you know which type you are buying. When you cannot see the backing, as in case of trims, your labels will be your only source of information.

Since modern fabrics and finishes require special care and since most homemakers find it difficult to identify proper care for all the garments for each family member, it's wise to devise some sort of a ready reference system for labels, instructions and hang tags.

Pepper pests

Scientists have discovered the formula for writing the epitaph for the corn borer which raises havoc with Michigan's pepper crop.

The key ingredient is timing. Growers have to hit the borer with pesticides within 24 hours after the pests start hatching.

"It took us five years to come up with this control practice, but it really works," says Dr. Ray Janes, Michigan State University extension entomologist.

"Too many growers thought the borer acted the same way on peppers as it does on sweet corn and potatoes. On these crops, you can't treat any time up to five days after hatching and still get effective control.

"But to do the job on peppers, you have to start spraying just before the borers hatch and treat the crop every five days so the insect doesn't have a chance."

Janes says farmers who are following these practices are getting almost 100 per cent control. Those who aren't are losing a lot of yield or having some of their crop rejected because borers are present when they sell the peppers.

The breakthrough came only after MSU entomologists Janes, Gordon Guyer and Art Wells determined the life cycle of the corn borer and tested many spray materials for effectiveness. They finally concluded that the pesticide sevin or rothane used in combination with dilrom or diazinon would do the best job.

Specific recommendations are available through county Cooperative Extension Service offices.

Tests stopped

The Mid-Michigan District Health Dept. serving Clinton, Gratiot, and Montcalm counties announces that soil borings and perc tests will be discontinued during the winter months. The tentative time span of the discontinuance is from Dec. 1 to April 1, depending on climatic conditions.

This move is to assure the potential property buyers, suitable soil for home sewage disposal systems.

The Work Incentive Program administered by the U.S. Labor Department moved 50,000 welfare recipients into jobs or training programs in the six months ending last June.

USDA food program helps 191,000 in state

More than 191,000 low-income persons in Michigan received food assistance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture during August, according to Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest regional director of Food and Nutrition Service.

The total included 47,229 persons in 33 Commodity Distribution Program projects and 143,947 in 49 Food Stamp Program areas.

Michigan participants in the stamp plan received more than $2.6 million worth of coupons during August of which nearly $855,000 were bonus coupons.

The average bonus per person was $5.94.

In 11 Midwest states, more than 1,135,000 persons received USDA food assistance. Of the total, about 318,000 were in 300 commodity programs and 817,000 in 575 food stamp projects.

The Food Stamp Program enables low-income families to buy more food by exchanging the amount of money they normally spend on food for coupons worth more than they paid.

The coupons are spent like cash at authorized retail food outlets for any domestic foods.

The Commodity Distribution Program provides more than 20 USDA-donated foods to supplement the diets of needy people.

WHAT A COMPUTER CAN'T DO

We'd be lost, wouldn't we, if suddenly computers were withdrawn from our daily life? We have become dependent on them to schedule airplane flights, point out scholastic aptitudes and aid the Internal Revenue Service in checking income tax returns.

But there are things a computer can't do. It can't make a home a better home or a man a better man. A computer can't heal sorrows and disappointments. It can swallow up a lot of statistics and clank out a lot of conclusions, but it can't direct a man to God's love.

As today's world is run more and more by automation, we need the help of the Church to guide us in the spiritual realm of life. We need to experience God's great love for all men. In our mechanical world, only the Church can help us find God's love.

Fowler High School offers new courses

By DEBI WITGEN
FOWLER HIGH SCHOOL
CORRESPONDENT

Several Fowler High School students are enrolled in two new courses, offered for the first time this year. The additions to the curriculum include Industrial Computation, and family living and development.

Industrial Computation is a survey math course, which deals with the mathematical aspect of industrial arts.

Family living and development teaches skills useful in family living. Dealing with special problems confronting the homemaker, it also offers advice on child birth and child care.

Business English was dropped two years ago, but it has been returned to the curriculum this year. It is a course that teaches general business skills, applicable not only to future employees, but useable for anyone wanting to develop skills dealing in business problems incurred within any household.

Fowler changes bus schedules

A group of citizens appeared at a school board meeting in Fowler Thursday night to discuss bus transportation for elementary students located for the most part south of M-21. A petition regarding this matter had been presented to the board at the October meeting.

Don Smith, superintendent, said, "I think this can be worked out without too many problems."

Letting off bus students on Wright Road was also discussed and some voiced concern with the heavy traffic conditions.

Tentative plans now call for picking up the children on the corner of Maple and Third Street, and letting them off on the southeast corner of the Fowler Hotel. Isadore Fink, school crossing guard will be on duty to assist the children.

The possibility of Mrs Pettit transporting the seven kindergarten students during the noon hour using the mini bus was also discussed. Final plans for the new schedule should be complete by today, Oct. 15, and parents will be notified on the exact time and locations.

Smith, then thanked the group for attending the meeting and invited them on a tour of the new elementary school with board members and four student guests, present from the high school government class.

In other action, the board:

—Approved the request to borrow $5,200 from the State of Michigan loan program for the 1968 debt retirement which will drop from 9.6 mills to 8.73 mills, for 1969.

—Discussed the school budget which will now be revised and presented at their next meeting. Officials have exact enrollment figures and final adjustments have been made in the school's staff requirements.

—Approved the purchase of fuel oil for the old elementary school from Standard Oil at 13.9 cents per gallon. Smith estimated they would use three to four thousand gallons during the year with a minimum of heat maintained in the building.

—Discussed items still pending at the new elementary school which include: glass for the entry doors, baskets for the all purpose room, paint touch-up, and heat regulation in some of the classrooms. A dedication date has not been set for the new facility but school board members are aiming for a November or December open house celebration.

—Distributed year books to school board members.

Senior Dawn Eastlick heads the Bath twirlers this year. The girls have twirled at Traverse City's Cherry Festival, at Jackson's Rose Festival, and at the DeWitt Ox Roast. # Federal library funds cut, 'Friends' told Finances and recent future plans were discussed at the annual meeting of Friends of Bement Public Library.

Elizabeth Lindsey, library consultant with the Michigan Department of Education, Marvin Mounce, director of the Ingham County Library, and William Ballenger, state representative of the 37th district were present to discuss these matters with local members including, Mrs Hugh Bannings, club president, and Mrs Hila Bross, librarian.

Support of the library is largely financed through penal fines which amounted to $30,312.99 last year.

"The penal support of libraries dates back to 1837 when government leaders felt that if people had books available and could educate themselves they wouldn't get into so much trouble," said Mrs Bross. "So fines paid by lawbreakers were channeled to library use with the hopes those who paid them would avail themselves of the books their fines bought and so become better citizens."

Ballenger pointed out that library support has increased annually, but officials here said the total received here amounted to five cents per capita last year which came to a mere $281.45.

Mrs Bross then asked how far federal funds to libraries would be cut.

Ballenger said it could be drastic. The federal library program under the administration of the Health, Education and Welfare Department totaled $7.2 million in 1967 and $7.3 million last year. This year it is expected to be cut $4.1 million.

Mounce stated he felt the proposed cuts detrimental and said, "at a time when we are spending money to try to educate the poor and upgrade those in poverty, they cut library funds."

In St. Johns there is no city millage or tax money allotted to the Bement Public Library and they operate only on penal fines and whatever other fees they can obtain. Ballenger then said he disagreed with other state officials who want to curtail the state library funds or reduce it to serve state officials and employees only.

He said he would continue his efforts to not only retain the public library aspect of the state but would fight to have it improved.

Friends promote use of library

Friends of the Bement Public Library hopes to better acquaint the public with the library.

At a regular board meeting, Oct. 6, the board discussed plans for making up a series of narrated slides depicting local library facilities. These slides will be made available to local clubs.

The slides will be made by Betty Minsky, and the narration will be written by Hila Bross.

It was also decided that brochures explaining the functions of the library would be made available for distribution to interested groups and individuals.

These projects are pending approval of the library board. The Friends voted to continue the sale of plastic bags and covers for the convenience of library patrons.

The Friends say that children that are read to, will want to learn to read. The biggest problem found in high school drop outs, is their inability to read well. They feel that the use of the library can become a good habit; a habit that could be developed by everyone, in the St. Johns area.

Officers of the Friends of the Bement Public Library are president, Mrs Louise Smith; recording secretary, Mrs Ora Fish; treasurer, Mrs Irene Zeeb; vice - president, Mrs Maxine Parmelee; corresponding secretary, Mrs Mildred Countryman; historian, Mrs Maxine Devereaux; press reporter, Mrs Margaret Paige, and parliamentarian, Mrs Hila Bross.

Members include Mrs Mildred Brown, Mrs Dorothy Maki, Mrs Marilyn Wood, Mrs Joan Kemper, Mrs Elizabeth Millman, Mrs Rhea Lancaster, Kurt Becker, and Fraser MacKinnon.

A united appeal

The official opening of the annual campaign for United Fund contributions begins this week with a goal of $27,600.

During 1968 alone, the last year for which complete figures have been compiled, seventeen Clinton County agencies served a total of 6,147 residents at total costs of $88,141.

The United Community Chest of Clinton, Eaton and Ingham counties, is seeking a total of $2,050,000. The greatest percentage of this amount is returned to 57 local, state and national health, welfare, recreation and character building agencies.

Volunteers have already branched out among county businesses, government offices and private homes.

Attention, concern

Each month a number of Clinton County youths are selected to perform their obligation of military requirements by either completing a physical examination or reporting for induction into the armed forces.

For some time now the early morning departures of Clinton County boys have been attended by a comparatively scant few.

It seems a pity that more representatives of the official mechanisms which determine such activities cannot see fit to be on hand.

Some of the currently generated impressions are directly the opposite.

CHARLESTON, Mo., ENTERPRISE-COURIER: "This is the generation of instant everything... Even instant diplomas although they are unearned... Many of the fanatic militants are not college material."

HARRISONBURG, Va., NEWS-RECORD: "Those who find money harder to borrow and costs as represented by interest rates, etc., even higher, have nothing to blame but the prime rate."

BARTOW, Fla., DEMOCRAT: "Probably no one else in the world gets as much free advice as the President of the United States."

From the state house

By DICK ALLEN, 88th District Representative

The legislature is beginning its special session on education. There's nothing like a few weeks change of scenery and activity to refresh one's spirits.

During the recess I spent a couple of days in Lansing attending meetings, helping constituents with problems with state agencies, and answering letters.

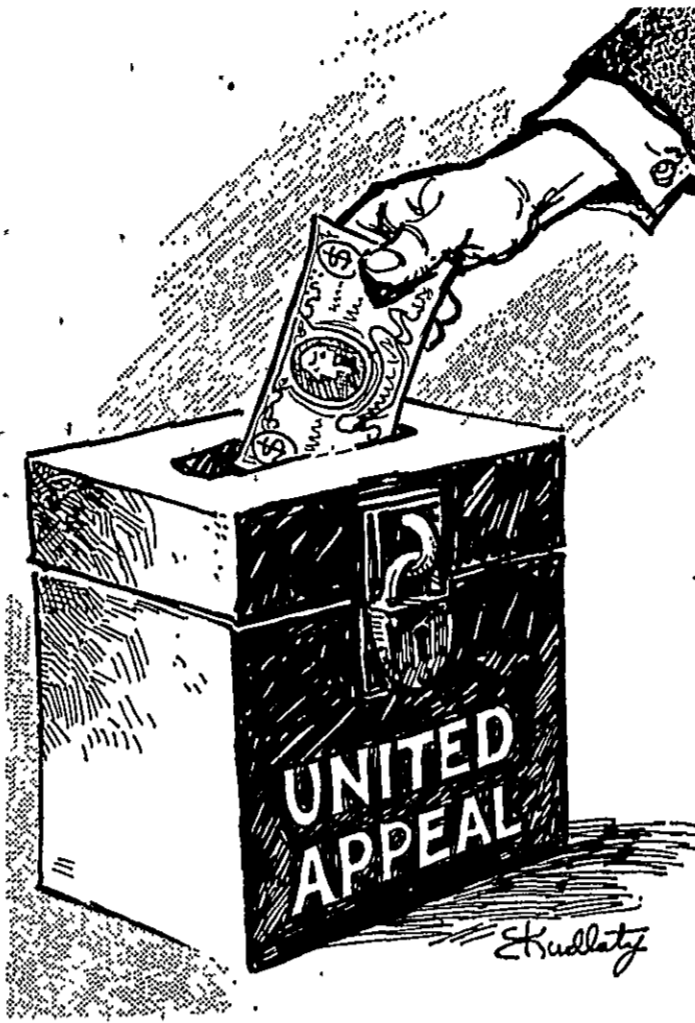

I spent time in my veterinary practice so my associate could have a vacation and helped out some on the family farm.

They are promoting this as property tax reduction since the state average is about twenty-five mills.

Alma, 16.46; Ashley, 15.96; Breckenridge, 14.96; Bullock Creek, 22.8; Coleman, 28.3; Fowler, 21.5; Fulton, 16.98; Grand Lodge, 18.8; Ithaca, 16.96; Midland, 21.3; Ovid-Elsie, 29.0; Pewamo - Westphalia, 21.0; St. Johns, 22.5; St. Louis, 13.96.

As you can see, twenty mills would not be an appreciable reduction for many of our taxpayers. It would actually be a sizeable increase for a good number of them!

TAKING FIVE

What's obscene?

By RON HUARD

A man in Ann Arbor, I believe, has won a law suit which could cause a few more headaches to be thrown into the already spinning social hopper.

Now this is fine but the headache he's generated is the determination of what, exactly, constitutes an obscene piece of mail.

This must be discouraging to fashion designers and advertising people who, for years, have worked diligently to present these things in such a manner that we had begun to accept them almost as casually as stocking caps.

But now comes this guy crying "obscene" and burdening the Post Office with erasing from his life all mailed literature he finds offensive.

Heading the list of offensive pieces of mail would be bills, followed closely by invitations to join record or book clubs.

Other offensive offerings of the mailbox would be requests for contributions, reminders of meetings and notices of dental appointments.

Contributions I can't stand because after the kids put the bite on me each morning my benevolence is exhausted.

Dental appointments are usually mine alone and this is why reminders of them are not desirable.

It's obvious what the Ann Arbor sharpie is trying to do but the only way he could stop the flood of unwanted mail was to fall back to an element of personal rights and declare some pieces received were suggestive or obscene.

But then I guess the pieces fit. Not having all that mail to go through provides a lot of time to put the card to use. Might just consider that myself, but I've been too busy listening to records, reading books and returning stickers waiting for my first month's million.

They didn't hook me on the reducing machine, though. It's not that I couldn't use it, but the Beatles hurt my ears and I don't like Brahms. Besides they're both obscene.

Kaboom?

By RON KARLE, Editor

Good old Wheaties. The venerable "breakfast of champions" really has guts.

Apparently most grownups have shaken the cereal habit because of the 49 kinds of cereal I counted on the shelves of a local supermarket.

When I was a kid we had our basic cereals to choose from. Among the old standards were Cheerios, shredded wheat, puffed wheat, corn flakes, rice krispies and, of course, Wheaties.

But we chose our cereal primarily based on taste. We liked cereal.

Today, even with all the new sugar-coated cereals, the stuff inside the box is secondary.

For example, Sugar Frosty O's, "the super-charged oat cereal," has a contest going in which the lucky boy or girl can win a fleet of linka toys.

Trix, a sugary outgrowth of Kix, I suspect, is going with an inside-the-package deal.

I suppose any eight-year-old with a degree in aeronautical engineering understands all that.

Cap'n Crunch, "the sugar sweet cereal that stays crispy even in milk," (of all things) is offering a deal on a coloring book, while another new cereal, Apple Jacks, the "cinnamon-coated cereal," for only 50 cents and one boxtop, has a deal where you can send away for banana splits.

Now if you've been reading the newspaper at breakfast you've probably got this one all wrong. Banana splits are little animal-humans named Fleeble, Bingo, Drooper and Snorky.

Another new cereal to come along since I quit snipping box tops is Frosted Flakes and they're offering a Tony the Tiger bank for only 75 cents and two Tony the Tiger stamps—one to a box. And, Mom, there's a coupon inside good for seven cents off on your next stamp which comes with a whole box of cereal.

But even the old favorites are in there battling for young minds in the Great Cereal War.

In my day, Rice Krispies were pretty much limited to snap, crackling and popping. But now if you send in a dollar you can get "an eight-inch long" jet-powered fire boat with a "fire hose that squirts real water," and a "siren that sounds as it races under its own jet power."

Somebody must have sold the folks over there in Battle Creek on water toys because if you buy a box of their corn flakes, you're in line for a "Sea Doo," That's a jet-powered aqua scooter for 75 cents and two box tops.

The people over at Cheerios got a drag racing game going for the usual two box tops and a buck twenty-five. Included are two Ford Mustang Mach I models and a battery-powered electric motor that "vibrates the track to move the cars down and back. (Size D batteries not included)."

It was a bit of a shocker when I picked up one old favorite, shredded wheat, and discovered they were offering can-tree stockings—two pair for a buck and two box tops. No secret codes or anything like that here—just silky, feminine stockings.

Geeze, what's a guy going to do? But the classic had to be a new cereal called "Kaboom."

I nervously turned to the back of the box, half expecting to read something like: "Kids! Be the first in your block to start World War III... just send 50 cents in coin (no stamps, please) along with the detonator sealed in the box and we'll send you The Button—Act now. Supply limited."

Good old Wheaties, they just taste good.

'IF IT FITZ . . .

No reservations

By JIM FITZGERALD

A fellow columnist, the Rev Lester Kinsolving of San Francisco, stopped in my office long enough to remind me how great it is to be a hick.

Kinsolving had phoned a few hours earlier from Alma (Mich) to say he was due to make a speech in Flint at 11 a.m. that day, but could squeeze in a short conference with me in Lapeer at 10:15.

His first call went to Metro Airport in Detroit. Kinsolving explained that he was to board an airliner there at 12:45 p.m. He would fly into Metro in a small plane but was worried about making connections.

Kinsolving's next call was to a Washington hotel. He reserved a room for his luggage. No kidding. He told the room clerk he had to speed directly from the airport to a speaking engagement but he would have a cabbie drop his baggage at the hotel. He hoped to be able to rejoin his suitcases sometime later in the evening.

"I kept hoping Kinsolving would phone President Nixon with instructions to leave the back door unlatched but he didn't have time. He was already hopelessly late for his Flint engagement and he swooped out the door before I had a chance to tell him I was impressed.

Which I was. I am always awed by these movers and shakers who jet about the world, breakfast in New York, lunch in Los Angeles, and friendly relationships with 253 stewardesses.

I go home for lunch every day. It's not that my wife's cooking is so great. Any clown, even me, can make a peanut butter sandwich. And it's not that my family is so great to be with. I'll match our domestic chaos (2 cats in the toilet, for instance) against yours anyway, Buster.

I just like to go home for lunch. I like working 4 minutes from my house. I quiver at the thought of working in a huge city. The last time I got an offer from a big newspaper, I got lost on my way to the job interview.

I don't really know why I'm such a small townner. The reason might be something esthetic, such as a love of hitching posts. More likely, it's something practical, such as indignation.

At any rate, to each his own. I'll never write for as many newspapers as Kinsolving. No airport will hold planes for me, and when I visit the White House, it'll be on a guided tour.

But at lunch the other day my hippie-haired daughter told me she liked my new tie. And my wife, as always, collected a kiss before and after.

For this kind of corny kicks, you don't have to phone ahead for reservations.

By WILLIAM S. BALLENGER
State Representative

Probably no recent topic has sparked as much furor as the idea of sex education in the public schools.

And rarely, from what I have read and heard and from the letters I've received, have I encountered as much abysmal ignorance and misunderstanding of an issue as I have of sex education.

Needless to say, certain irresponsible citizens and members of the State Board of Education have so fanned the flames of controversy on this emotional subject that I have come to believe that nobody really knows what's going on.

The State Board of Education's bungling of the sex education controversy may well prove to be the last nail in the coffin of that spectacularly incompetent body. Gov. Milliken has recommended abolishing the Board, and I personally support this recommendation.

But let's look at what the state law says on this explosive matter.

P.A. 44 of 1968 for the first time presented a legal definition of sex education and reaffirmed the right of school districts to engage competent instructors of sex education to aid in the establishment of programs of "wholesome and comprehensive...instruction in sex education for students in elementary and secondary schools..."

The last section of this act confirms the fact that neither the parent who wants his children to have sex education in the school, nor the parent who does not wish to have his children participate in such programs should or would, under the law, be denied his preference.

P.A. 216 of 1937, which is still a part of Michigan's School Code, also grants parents or guardians the right to have their children excused from classes where sex hygiene is to be discussed and prohibits giving any information or advice about birth control.

Perhaps the most important provision of P.A. 44 of 1968 is its recognition that curriculum determination is primarily a responsibility of the local school district through its Board of Education. In this instance, no school is mandated to provide a sex education program at any level. But if it wants to, it can receive leadership and services from the State Department of Education which it can use as it sees fit.

Despite the state's guidelines, despite the local board's decision, the individual parent still has the final word.

I feel local schools in Shawassee and Clinton Counties should welcome questions and constructive criticism by informed groups and individuals on the sensitive topic of sex education. But they should not allow themselves to be taken advantage of by extremist critics who counter the school's responsibility for directing the educational process by trying to stifle free expression of views opposed to their own. Some of these groups have made irresponsible, uninformed and even libelous attacks on individuals, institutions and organizations that disagree with them. Their goal is apparently to undermine and disrupt the democratic system through coercion, intimidation, and even violence to either prevent or force change.

You'd think that from all the recent flap, this is the first time in Michigan history that the idea of sex education had ever been brought up. This is far from true. I, for one, attended classes in sex education with my 8th grade classmates (male) at Zimmerman Junior High School in Flint back in 1953-54. The 7th grade girls were attending similar classes at the same time. My main conclusion about sex education in the mid-fifties was that it was certainly not

By Mrs Thelma Woodbury
Mr and Mrs Fred Niemen and Mr and Mrs John Woodbury helped Brian Hulbert celebrate his fourth birthday Monday evening, Oct. 8, at the home of his parents Mr and Mrs Douglas Hulbert.
Mrs Joan Smaltz and children Connie and Marty were Sunday dinner guests of Mr and Mrs Douglas Hulbert and family.

morally corrupting and was almost certainly morally beneficial in that it dispelled schoolyard gossip, rumor, and old wives' tales and brought 13-year-olds face to face with the sense of responsibility which only comes through true understanding of the cold, hard facts of human sexuality.

As the social critic Michael Harrington has noted, the sincere opponents of sex education in the schools—not the Birchers or the lunatic fringe but the genuinely concerned parents—seem to have very little faith in the religious and moral values which they proclaim.

Sex as it is taught in the schools, they say, should not be presented as ethically neutral, or even as its own justification. If it is, they continue, the children would be indoctrinated with the view that a sacred aspect of human existence really is amoral, a source of pleasure for pleasure's sake. And having learned such theories, there is the very real danger that they will begin to practice them.

In effect, their argument holds that sex educators propose giving academic credit for preparing the young to be immoral.

The real debate, then, is over whether a straightforward presentation of sexual reality necessarily subverts morality. And it is at precisely this point that a curious lack of faith on the part of people who are fervently religious is detectable.

The primary source of ethical training is and should be the home because, for one thing, in the public schools, where the young profess so many different creeds, the teacher is constitutionally forbidden from giving instruction in theology or ethics.

But if you assume that a course in the biological facts of life will necessarily deprave the innocent, you simultaneously are saying that parents are failing in their duties as religious and ethical teachers. It seems to me that if the mother and father really are confident in their own convictions and have succeeded, by word and example, in passing them on to their offspring, then they have nothing to fear from a truthful presentation of scientific knowledge about sex.

A public school does not, and should not, tell its students whether pre-marital sex is good or bad. The parents are the ones to whom the Constitution—and common sense—assign that very important task.

Sadly, however, many parents still indoctrinate their young with guilt, superstition, and faulty information about pregnancy, venereal disease and other crucial aspects of human sexuality. That is why the classroom may well be the ideal place for teaching scientific facts about sex and combatting the dangers of misinformation in a crucial area of life.

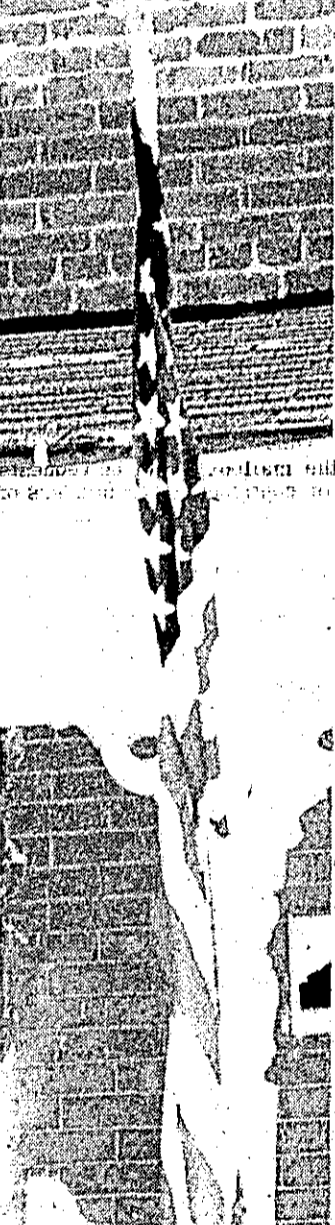

Like Harrington, I believe in the value and function of the home and the duty of the parents to help form the conscience of the very young. If that is properly done, if you really have faith in your ethic, then there is nothing to fear—and much to welcome in the teaching of sexual facts in the schools.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Cholera returns

By ELMER E. WHI TE

Hog cholera is a disease which is probably unknown to most urban residents.

Yet the dangers presented by it are so great that both the federal government and state governments across the country, including Michigan, are spending money to try and eradicate it once and for all.

The disease has no effect itself on humans. Neither does it bother any animals other than hogs. But it is highly fatal to pigs and also is highly contagious. There is no cure for it.

The danger it presents to both the rural economy and, in the long run, to the nation's pork supply, has prompted the joint state-federal effort to get rid of it.

In Michigan, the state veterinarian's office had succeeded in securing a "hog cholera free" rating for the state. It appeared the state's swine industry might never have to worry about the disease again.

Then a case of cholera was reported on the James Rentfrow farm near Jones July 12.

Rentfrow had a total herd of 1,800 hogs worth $61,000.

Since there is no cure for hog cholera and since it is so highly contagious, state law requires that all pigs on a farm on which it is discovered be slaughtered and buried on the farm. The law also provides that the state and federal government each will pay the farmer half of what the hogs killed are worth.

Several days later, a farmer who was a good friend of Rentfrow discovered hog cholera in his swine herd and his 503 hogs were killed, too. Officials had expected the cholera to show up on the second farm.

They did not, however, expect it to hit a third farm in the area. This happened a month after the first farm was hit. The state veterinarian's office said the virus apparently was carried to the third farm by a vehicle which drove past the two farms but never entered either one. That's how contagious the disease is.

The outbreak was traced to an area near West Plains, Mo., a state which has not advanced as far as Michigan in its cholera eradication program.

It remains to be seen, and it will be at least late in September before officials can be sure, whether the outbreak has been stemmed in Michigan. And though they may not be aware of the fact, urban dwellers, in both the roles of taxpayer and of consumer, have a stake in stopping it.

SMOKING UP

Those frightening facts being uncovered about the dangers involved in smoking cigarettes apparently have little effect on Michigan smokers.

The state treasurer's office says cigarette taxes in Michigan brought in a record $81 million in tax revenues last year. That's nearly $10 per resident. And that averages about 150 packs per resident for the year.

The increase was only a 1.19 per cent increase over the previous year, however, while the state's population was estimated to have risen 1.9 per cent last year. So it's possible there was a slight decline in the frequency of smoking.

If the Legislature follows the lead of other states around the nation, it may become more expensive to smoke in Michigan.

Of seven states which recently raised taxes, six raised the cigarette tax. Connecticut now has the highest tax in the country; a whopping 16 cents per pack.

Michigan smokers pay the state 7 cents currently for each pack of cigarettes they smoke. Though the tax figures in the various states change rapidly, there are at least 33 states which tax cigarettes more heavily.

And at least 20 states charge 10 cents a pack or more. After Connecticut's record high levy, Florida charges 15 cents and New Jersey charges 14 cents per pack.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., HERALD-PRESS: "Continuing debate over the Safeguard antimissile defense is at last focusing on the real issue—the question of disarmament . . . The way in which it is decided may well determine, not only the sort of future America is to enjoy, but whether the nation will have any future at all."

Electric Heating

PROVIDES A "SPECIAL" KIND OF COMFORT

The warmth of electric heating is something really special—so clean, quiet, even-tempered and draft-free . . . like bringing the sun indoors. But more than that, it's the kind of heating comfort that caters to your personal needs with individual room thermostats, a wide variety of heating systems to choose from — or even a combination of various systems. It's thrifty heating, too. The equipment is so simple and compact it costs less to buy and install. Maintenance is practically nothing. When you build or modernize why not get electric heat and make your comfort complete?

'Don't Drink the Water'

First Nighters prepare to open new season

The lights on the second floor of the E. F. Boron Co. have been burning late in recent weeks as a group of little theater enthusiasts go through their paces in preparation for the opening of the First Nighters' 1969-70 season.

The play under rehearsal is "Don't Drink the Water" and like most of the previous First Nighters' offerings is a rib-tickling comedy that promises area play followers two evenings of laughter when it is presented Nov. 13 and 15 at Rodney B. Wilson auditorium.

The play is based on the difficulties of an American family touring Europe who are forced to take refuge within the American embassy of a Communist country.

The plot evolves around the father who desperately wants to return to his laundry business in the states, his wife who is concerned over a son left at home and their daughter who shares a growing mutual admiration between herself and a not too politically savvy American ambassador.

The interplay of these principal characters knitted into the fabric woven by some dozen other personalities provides a firm base for laughter from the time the houselights dim until the curtain closes.

Participating in various roles are Theresa Smith, John Martin, Tom Fowler, Howard Gentry, Wayne Gossett, Martha Lear, Gene Livingston, Lee Ludwig and Carla Vincent.

Other cast members are John Bradley, Glenn Hills, Sue Ludwig, Henry Dellar, Joan Gentry and Richard Cramer.

The current casting for the First Nighters; presentation comes from a line of predecessors whose initial offering of "See How They Run" was made in January 1965.

Membership in First Nighters at that time stood at 60 and the cast of that first play included Anita Masterson, Joan Davidson, Gene Livingston, Barbara Rann, Steve Hopko, Jim Moore, Henry Dellar, Wayne Hicks and Terry Foster.

Of this lineup only Gene Livingston and Henry Dellar appear in the upcoming play but several of the current members were among those listed on the original membership rolls.

The First Nighters' group was an idea of a former St. Johns resident, Mrs. C. W. (Doris) Cramer who presented the suggestion to then city recreation director Roger Kowalski. First officers of the group were Roy Brisendine, president; Mrs. Cramer, vice president; Donalee Williams, secretary and Wayne Hicks, treasurer.

In addition to the officers and cast of that first play a production staff of more than two dozen was involved.

From that time until the current season, the First Nighters have presented numerous plays and skits with the most recent being last December when "Come Blow Your Horn" was staged. Cast in that play were Gene Livingston, Alyce Cramer, Phil Anderson, Wayne Hicks, Barbara Rann, Vicki Rowell and Jean Mary Bartholomew.

Other well known plays presented through the years include "The Cradle Song", "Goodbye Charlie", "The Man Who Came to Dinner", and "Never Too Late."

During the span, a good, old-fashioned "Meller-dramer" was thrown in for kicks.

"Don't Drink the Water" promises to follow in the tradition of First Nighters by offering an experienced cast presenting a very funny play.

Area residents who have followed the development of the little theater group are aware of the able talent among the membership. This play should bring out the best in each of the cast members.

"How horrible it is" could be (but isn't) the line expressed by Martha Lear as she observes John Martin who cradles a leg wounded at the hands of Richard Cramer. Action from this scene is stolen from one of the highlights of the play "Don't Drink the Water," slated for presentation by the First Nighters Nov. 13 and 15.

Caught in the midst of a rehearsal reading are, from left, Henry Dellar, Howard Gentry and John Bradley. The three perform roles in the First Nighters' upcoming play "Don't Drink the Water" slated for Rodney B. Wilson auditorium Nov. 13 and 15.

Cancer reports given

The annual chairman reports for the Clinton County Unit of The American Cancer Society were given at their meeting Sept. 25. The unit met at the home of Miss Gracia Sexton on Round Lake Road, for the 1968-69 year.

Paul Jopke presented the treasurer's report showing the County was allotted $6,475 for the year and the unit spent $4,213.11, leaving a balance of $2,261.89.

A break-down of expenses showed: office expenses $877.67; printing (literature and crusade) $470.66; meetings and travel $1,043; transportation of patients $165; dressings $280.54; nursing services $21; medical care $714.14; and awards $41.10.

Louella Canfield, public education chairman reported 60 volunteers active in public education with 14,514 pieces of literature distributed and 300 educational posters. The unit placed 25 literature display racks, gave 6 club programs with 160 women attending and used 8 films in the elementary schools, that reached 436 pupils.

Three lay speakers informed 96 women on the disease and 19 films were used in the secondary schools reaching 2,460 pupils.
